

Chapter 26

Seeing such a handsome young man acting pitiful, the lady of the house suddenly felt less nervous about being on camera.

She smiled and said, "It's just a simple breakfast, no problem."

She stood up to start cooking, but Lindsay noticed the partially eaten sandwiches on the table and smiled. "Ma'am, why don't you show us to the kitchen? We can cook it ourselves so you can continue with your breakfast."

Under normal circumstances, the woman would have felt awkward letting her guests cook. But since Adam had mentioned that these celebrities were here to experience life, she nodded. "Sure, follow me."

The four of them followed her to the kitchen. She pointed to the stove and showed them how to use it, providing flour, four eggs, and some bacon strips before returning to her meal.

Once she left, Lindsay asked the others, "Do any of you know how to make American breakfast?"

Elric and Leslie shook their heads in unison, "No."

Wendy raised her hand, "I can only fry an egg."

Lindsay nodded. "Alright, let's divide the tasks, okay?"

The three agreed, "Sure, we'll follow your lead."

Lindsay pointed to the bacon, "One of you wash the bacon, another one of you can help me heat up the pan, and someone else can fry the eggs."

"I'll make dough with flour."

She didn't take on all the tasks herself. Besides not wanting to set a precedent where her teammates would always expect her to cook for the next two weeks, she also didn't want to hog the camera.

Having the others do tasks would create more engaging content.

The three had no objections and even thought Lindsay was quite considerate. She didn't try to do everything herself, which would have been easy for her, and steal all the screen time.

Elric took the initiative to wash the pan and put it on the stove to heat up, while Leslie went to wash the bacon. Wendy, who could fry eggs, found it easy to cook them.

The three of them got to work, creating some interesting moments.

For instance, Elric initially put too little oil in the pot, and Lindsay had to guide him on how much was needed.

Leslie just placed the bacon strips in the pan lightly, and Lindsay taught him how to flip the strips until they were crispy and golden brown.

Wendy used too little oil for frying the eggs, so Lindsay showed her how to fry them perfectly, with a runny yolk and crispy edges.

By the time Wendy finished frying the eggs, Lindsay had already made a dough out of flour.

A moment later, Lindsay poured the thinned-out dough into the pan and cooked it, before taking the pancakes out and placing them next to the bacon and fried egg on a plate. The presentation was appealing, making everyone's mouth water.

Then, each person grabbed a plate and dug in.

Elric and the others' eyes lit up after the first taste. "Delicious!"

With that, they all dug in eagerly.

Lindsay was already a great cook, and her travels to various worlds had honed her skills even more. Even though it was just a basic American breakfast, the way she seasoned everything just right, the fluffy pancakes and the mix of flavors made it absolutely delicious.

The viewers in the live stream watched intently as the three of them devoured their breakfast.

"I wasn't hungry before, but now I'm suddenly starving."

"I already had breakfast, but now I'm hungry again."

"I'm so touched that Elric actually helped out with the cooking."

"Your Elric just heated a pan..."

"Ahem, it's the thought that counts."

"Leslie was so careless flipping the bacon. Lindsay might have appeared strict when teaching him to do it right, but it didn't come off as annoying."

"I just tried frying eggs the way Lindsay showed Wendy, and they turned out crispy on the outside and soft on the inside. Delicious!"

"It's just a simple American breakfast, but watching the three of them eat, it looks like the most delicious thing they've ever had."

"The way they're eating so heartily seems really genuine. You can tell they think it tastes great."

"Exactly, it's not like last night with the other team where the top star and the actor were pretending the food was good. They barely ate any of it themselves."

Comments

Support

Chapter 27

"I really want to eat that! Lindsay's cooking skills are amazing!"

"No wonder Alex wanted Lindsay to cook; he must have known she was a great cook."

"So, Lindsay and Alex not only know each other but seem to have a close relationship? Otherwise, how would he know?"

"It feels like there's some juicy gossip here. Could it be true that Lindsay is clinging to Alex behind the scenes?"

"I don't think Lindsay is interested in Alex. Her behavior doesn't match what Alex's fans are saying about her playing hard to get."

"Lindsay isn't trying to hog the spotlight. She's bright, considerate, and easygoing. The person being criticized online seems like a completely different person."

"You can't believe everything you read online. It might be intentional slander. I have a good impression of Lindsay."

"Speaking of hogging the spotlight, I can't help but feel sorry for Sharon on the other team."

"Yesterday, that angel tried to take over cooking, and when Sharon wanted to help, she didn't let her. Instead, she had the top star and the actor help wash and chop vegetables."

"Sharon was left watching awkwardly, unable to join their conversation. I felt embarrassed for her."

"From what you all are saying, I can imagine the scene. It does sound awkward."

"I've got both live streams open. Sharon is still being unintentionally excluded by the other three."

"That angel has the top star on her left and the actor on her right, protecting her, while Sharon follows behind like an unnecessary extra."

In this live stream, the fans of Lindsay's team didn't have a good impression of Olivia. Even the casual viewers didn't warm up to her.

Meanwhile, in the other live stream, Sharon's fans were increasingly annoyed with Olivia for stealing their idol's spotlight.

Most of Justin's fans saw him as a potential husband or boyfriend. They had never seen him be so considerate and attentive to any other female star, so they didn't like Olivia either.

After finishing their breakfast, Elric, Leslie, and Wendy couldn't resist licking their forks as well. Elric took out his phone and snapped another photo.

Elric opened his messaging app and clicked on the group chat that included all eight of them. He uploaded the photos he had taken earlier.

Elric posted, "Today's breakfast was amazing! It's the best American breakfast I've ever had."

He then sent the latest photo.

Elric continued to post, "It was so good that we even lick our utensils."

He tagged Alex and asked, "What did you have for breakfast? Share a picture."

Alex and his team had just been turned away by a household when they heard the notification sound. They pulled out their phones and checked the group chat.

The four of them were speechless.

Elric was being incredibly annoying. They hadn't eaten anything yet and were still hungry. Seeing the photo of the breakfast suddenly made their hunger pangs worse, and they felt an urge to punch Elric...

Unable to hold back, Alex tagged Elric and sent a "Go away" emoji.

He could tell from the photo that his sister had made the breakfast. That lucky bastard Elric got to enjoy her cooking.

Elric replied with a "Hehe" emoji, successfully infuriating Alex even more.

As Elric and Alex exchanged messages in the group chat, the cameraman focused the live stream on their phones, allowing viewers from both live streams to see what was happening.

In Elric's live stream:

"LOL, Elric is being such a troublemaker."

"Elric is so bad, but I love it."

"This is blatant showing off. Alex must want to punch him right now."

Chapter 27

"I just realized Elric isn't just sharp-tongued; he's also mischievous."

"I'm starting to like him..."

In Alex's live stream:

"Elric is so awful."

"That's too much. Lex and the others haven't even had breakfast, and now they have to see Elric showing off."

"They must be so angry and hungry. I feel so bad for them!"

"Elric, please, be a decent person."

The comments in the two live streams were completely opposite—one side was having fun, while the other was filled with frustration and complaints.

Comments

Support