

Chapter 89

The audience and fans were all filled with curiosity.

Everyone started speculating about the relationship between Lindsay and Alex.

The topic "What is the Relationship Between Lindsay, Alex, and Olivia?" quickly trended on social media.

Many people who hadn't watched the variety show clicked in out of curiosity.

One by one, they were all drawn in, curious, and eager for gossip.

Previously, there had been several rumors about Lindsay clinging to Alex, with their relationship appearing ambiguous.

Everyone believed Lindsay was trying to climb up to Alex, hoping he would help her get offers or something similar.

But after the show started, Lindsay's attitude towards Alex was surprising.

Not only did she not cling or fawn over him, but she also behaved with a domineering and indifferent attitude.

Instead, Alex often approached her, seeking her out despite the risk of being rebuffed.

At that point, everyone felt that their relationship might not be as rumored.

However, no one guessed they were biological siblings.

Instead, they speculated that Lindsay might be some close relative of Alex.

At the Harper family residence.

Grace and Richard went to attend a banquet, and Raymond locked himself in his room to write songs.

Brandon was busy arranging a new drama.

At this moment, only Edmund and Oliver were watching the live broadcast.

Oliver frowned and said, "Alex really doesn't have a brain."

He kept seeking Lindsay's attention.

Now everyone was speculating about their relationship.

Edmund furrowed his brows. "If the public were to find out about the relationship between Lindsay and Alex, wouldn't it be bad for Via?"

Oliver nodded. "Yes, both in terms of identity and relationship, it will be bad for Via. Previously, there were rumors suggesting that Alex and Via's relationship didn't seem like siblings but rather like a couple. During the live broadcast, they often acted too intimately.

"If they were real siblings, although some people might feel uncomfortable watching them, they wouldn't overthink it. But if the true relationship among the three is exposed, it's likely that people will start speculating about an inappropriate relationship between Alex and Via."

He sighed. "That's what worries me the most."

Edmund pondered for a moment. "Why not hire some people to fabricate the narrative, suggesting that Lindsay is Alex's cousin? Just don't let anyone uncover their true relationship."

He paused and said, "From watching the live broadcast, it seems Lindsay doesn't want to reveal their relationship either. As long as she doesn't say anything, we can resolve this issue."

He continued, "After this episode of the variety show ends, let's treat her better and try to win her back."

Previously, he received messages from Lindsay almost every day.

For instance, reminding him to eat well and regularly.

When he worked for long hours, he would get messages from her reminding him to get up and move around.

When he came home exhausted, she would use special techniques to massage his shoulders and back.

It always made him feel much more comfortable and relaxed.

Before, he didn't take it to heart and even found her reminders annoying.

But now, not receiving those messages made him feel uneasy.

After a day's work, without Lindsay's massages, he felt uncomfortable all over.

Waking up the next day, he felt tired, unlike before when he felt refreshed after a night's sleep.

Oliver said, "Alright, once the show is over, let's give her a chance to come back home. She has a recording from the day she left home. Once she returns, it's best to coax her into deleting it."

Otherwise, if it got out, it would harm Olivia and everyone involved.

Edmund nodded. "Alright. You should go handle the online narrative now."

Oliver said, "I'll take care of it right away."

He quickly arranged for some people to fabricate a post about the relationship between Lindsay and Alex.

The post stated that Lindsay was Alex's cousin.

It mentioned that they had a pretty good relationship before.

After Lindsay entered the entertainment industry, Alex took good care of his cousin.

But recently, Lindsay had asked Alex to get her some offers several times, and Alex didn't give any to her.
