

Chapter 93

This was a group for intermediate mystics.

When the group admin posted a video, everyone lazily clicked on it.

After watching the entire process of drawing the talisman, they were all shocked and became serious.

"Is this a combination of an evil-warding talisman and a protective charm?"

"Even without considering the fusion and modification, her talisman drawing skills are very high!"

"Indeed, her drawing is much smoother than mine."

"Will modifying the talisman like this be effective?"

"How can this young girl be so reckless?"

The group admin chimed in at this moment: "She isn't reckless. It's truly effective."

He then posted a link to the variety show's live stream: "See for yourselves. Also, make sure to check the playback from earlier in the day."

Since the show was live-streamed all day, the playback was very long.

The production team cut the playback into three-hour segments and posted them on the official website below the live stream.

Seeing the admin's message, everyone in the group clicked into the live stream.

They saw the child clinging to Lindsay, laughing happily, with the talisman hanging around his neck, visible outside his clothes.

While watching the live stream, they quickly scrolled through the playback.

Over half an hour later...

After watching the playback from earlier in the day, they noticed, "This child had a major misfortune in his face, but now, during the live stream, it's gone."

"This young girl wasn't drawing randomly; her modified talisman is very effective."

"It's the first time I've seen someone combine an evil-warding talisman with a protective charm so seamlessly."

"Her method of using the Five Emperor Coin to ward off evil is quite unique and impressive."

"This girl has great skills. Could she be from that school?"

"Very likely."

"With such high-level talisman drawing skills, why did she become a celebrity?"

"Indeed, it seems a bit of a waste."

"Such a talented individual, not pursuing the right path, what a pity."

"But this girl is very appealing to me. I find her delightful."

"I like her too."

"Maybe we can find a chance to contact her in the future."

As they watched the live stream, they kept chatting in the group.

Then they noticed the barrage of comments calling Lindsay their bias.

This left them puzzled.

The group admin posted the video of Lindsay boxing and explained the meaning of bias.

Soon, the live stream comments started to show some peculiar remarks.

"I feel a strong connection with this girl; let me acknowledge her as my protégé."

"I admire talented youngsters like her. Lindsay, I'm rooting for you."

"I recognize her talent. She shouldn't be a celebrity; she should return to our divination circle."

"I can't read her face at all, which shows her power. I, too, will acknowledge her as my protégé."

Seeing these mystics and elders crashing the chat, Lindsay's fans and others were a bit bewildered.

They couldn't help but ask:

"What's with all this protégé talk?"

The elder mystics in the group started commenting.

"I'm over eighty years old; it's not suitable for me to be a fan calling someone my bias; so, I'll just be a senior supporter."

Others followed suit.

"I'm seventy-eight this year; I can only be a senior supporter too."

"I'm almost ninety, so calling her my bias would be inappropriate. I'll be a senior supporter."

"I'm ninety-six this year, officially a senior supporter."

"Even though I'm only sixty-eight, I'll be a senior supporter."

"Don't underestimate our age; we always keep up with the latest trends."

"Yes, we often help celebrities and entertainment companies with divination, so we know a lot about this stuff."

The fans and viewers watching the live stream were left speechless.

SURPRISE GIFT: 100 BONUS FREE FOR YOU

GET IT

Comments

Support

Share