

Chapter 95

After examining the faces of Alex and Olivia, the mystics felt exasperated.

"We said we couldn't read Lindsay's past and future from her face, not her family connections."

"Exactly, determining sibling relationships is still within our expertise."

"And you're the ones making stuff up. The man in the blue shirt and the girl in the blue dress don't have any blood relation based on their facial features."

"I agree. They don't share any blood relation. You're just talking nonsense."

"My protégé and this young man are definitely biological siblings, and he has no blood relation with the girl in the blue dress."

"Yes, I can confirm that too."

"We have certification from the Divination Association and recognition from special government departments. We can't be wrong or lie."

"If you don't believe us, they can take a DNA test."

Both fans of Alex and Olivia, naturally, didn't believe this and were convinced that these people were hired by Lindsay to spread lies.

They started hurling insults and accusations in the comments.

The mystics were infuriated. When it came to arguments, they weren't afraid of anyone.

They often debated with real frauds on divination forums, so they were ready to take on these detractors.

The two groups clashed fiercely in the comments.

Meanwhile, the other viewers felt like they were getting a huge scoop.

Listening to these elders boast about their divination skills, many believed they might be real mystics.

Divination was highly regarded, and the Divination Association was an official organization that only certified true experts.

Most people also knew about the special departments that handled supernatural events. Being recognized by these departments meant someone was truly an expert.

So, many started to believe the elders' claims.

However, if Lindsay were Alex's biological sister, and Olivia wasn't related to Alex, that was a huge revelation.

The paparazzi became overly excited and full of energy like they had been injected with adrenaline.

Previously, the paparazzi had been searching in the wrong direction, but before they could dig deeper, numerous online sources had already exposed the supposed cousin relationship between Lindsay and Alex, leaving the paparazzi with nothing to uncover.

However, if what these elderly mystics were saying was true, then the exposed cousin relationship was a fabrication.

The paparazzi had a keen sense for big scoops.

They suspected that if Lindsay and Alex were merely cousins, it wouldn't have caused such a commotion.

The sudden surge of topics and posts, along with multiple trending searches, seemed suspicious.

It now appeared likely that someone had hired fake accounts to fabricate the narrative that Lindsay and Alex were cousins to divert attention and smear Lindsay's reputation.

The paparazzi quickly began investigating from the angle of biological versus non-biological relationships.

They started digging into Alex and Olivia's backgrounds but found that their histories had been deliberately concealed, indicating that powerful backings were involved.

They then turned their attention to Lindsay's background.

Charles watched the ongoing heated debate in the comments, feeling somewhat stunned.

He hadn't expected that the relationship between Lindsay, Alex, and Olivia would be accidentally exposed by a group of senior fans claiming to be mystics.

It was a case of truth being stranger than fiction; even fate seemed to be on Lindsay's side.

With the statements from these self-proclaimed mystic seniors, the paparazzi would likely find the right direction to dig deeper.

And this matter was bound to ferment further.

On the other side, the people in the courtyard were unaware of the heated debate happening in the comments.

They all stood up to get ready for their evening routines as the live stream ended.

Fans of Alex and Olivia, feeling frustrated, challenged the senior fans to continue the argument in the comments section after the live stream ended.

The two groups moved their battle to the comment section under the live stream.

Lindsay's fans, unsure of the true relationship between Lindsay and Alex, remained silent and watched.

They only believed what Lindsay said.

However, compared to the cousin narrative and the derogatory terms like "ungrateful" and "leech," they found the senior fans' assertions more credible.

SURPRISE GIFT: 100 BONUS FREE FOR YOU

GET IT

Comments

Support

Share