

Chapter 96

Fans of other groups and casual viewers watched the heated argument in the comment section, munching on metaphorical popcorn.

Despite the large number of Alex's and Olivia's fans and their harsh comments, the senior fans held their ground without using any offensive language. They were surrounded but not overwhelmed.

One of the senior mystics, who often live-streamed face reading and divination, couldn't resist and posted a link to his live stream.

He challenged fans of Alex and Olivia to join his live stream and let him read their faces to prove his skills.

Everyone quickly clicked on the link and moved to the new live stream.

Even Charles couldn't resist and followed the link to watch.

Once inside, they discovered that this live stream was indeed hosted by a certified mystic.

Hubert Bishop, dressed in traditional attire, appeared on screen with a kind smile.

"Those who insulted me in the comments, do you dare to come forward and let me read your faces?" he challenged.

He was annoyed by the insults and doubts, determined to prove himself.

Other mystics joined the live stream to support him.

Fans of Alex and Olivia, seeing the official certification of the live stream account, began to feel uneasy.

However, they still didn't believe the so-called mystics and thought they were actors hired by Lindsay.

However, they still didn't believe the so-called mystics and thought they were actors hired by Lindsay.

They assumed Lindsay's skills in divination meant she could have connections with these older men.

Then, a die-hard Alex's fan connected to Hubert's live stream.

A beautiful young woman appeared on screen, looking disdainfully at Hubert. "Go ahead, read my face. I don't believe you."

Hubert glanced at her and said, "Your makeup is too thick, and you're using a beauty filter. How am I supposed to read your face? Turn off the filter and remove your makeup, then come back."

The die-hard fan, used to living with beauty filters and heavy makeup, was infuriated by Hubert's comment.

"Ridiculous! You call yourself an expert, but you need me to remove my makeup and filter? What a joke!" she retorted angrily.

"Not being able to see through this just shows how low your skills are. You fraud, you're definitely a hired lackey of that hypocrite Lindsay. Ugh."

After her outburst, she immediately disconnected, clearly unwilling to turn off the beauty filter and remove her makeup.

This left most of the viewers speechless.

Anyone with a bit of common sense knew that one could only do face reading accurately by looking at someone's bare face.

With heavy makeup and beauty filters, the face would get altered. Even the best mystic couldn't read it accurately.

The fan's rude behavior and lack of common sense caused many to develop a dislike for Alex's and Olivia's fans.

Following this, none of Alex's fans dared to go on camera without makeup and filters.

They were afraid Hubert might actually read their faces and reveal their traits publicly.

Hubert was exasperated and didn't want to argue with such disrespectful fans, so he ended the live stream.

Other viewers also felt that Alex's and Olivia's fans were just guilty and afraid.

Despite this fiasco, the atmosphere heated up.

Everyone was discussing whether the exposed cousin relationship online was true or if the face-reading mystics were right about them being siblings.

While Charles was reading the comments, his phone suddenly rang.

It was his assistant calling.

He had previously instructed this assistant to keep an eye on Alex and Olivia in the courtyard to see if there was anything noteworthy.

He answered the phone, and an excited voice came from the other end.

"Mr. Barker, there's something going on with Alex and Olivia. It's really interesting. Should we start a live stream?"

Charles's eyes lit up. "Start it now."

"Just tell them because tomorrow is the last day of this episode, we're doing a surprise night stream. Let's see what the stars are up to at night and chat with them about their thoughts on this episode."

At that moment, he admired Lindsay even more; she seemed to predict everything perfectly!

SURPRISE GIFT: 100 BONUS FREE FOR YOU

GET IT

Comments

Support

Share