

Chapter 98

This was clearly a deliberate hint to everyone that they were related by blood.

It wasn't that he didn't want to acknowledge Lindsay as his sister, but it wasn't the right time to make it public yet.

They needed to wait until Olivia no longer feared being abandoned.

Once Olivia felt secure and had firmly established herself in the entertainment industry, it would be more appropriate to reveal the relationship.

Why couldn't Lindsay wait just a bit longer?

"You really won't abandon me?" Olivia looked at him with teary eyes, needing reassurance.

Alex felt a pang of sympathy seeing her like this.

He bent down and kissed her forehead, as he often did, and said firmly, "Of course, we won't abandon you. You'll always be our precious one. Don't worry."

Olivia finally smiled through her tears and said, "Then after this episode ends, please make sure to bring Lindsay back. No matter what, she is the Harper family's biological daughter. I don't want her to leave because of me. I haven't felt at ease lately. If she doesn't come back, I'll feel it's my fault which made me want to leave too."

Hearing this, Alex's eyes softened as he looked at her. "My Via is so kind and considerate. She left because she was being stubborn. It's not your fault, so don't overthink it. Of course, she's still a Harper. We will bring her back.

"Don't worry. Once she learns her lesson and returns, she probably won't try to compete with you anymore."

They all hoped Lindsay and Olivia could coexist peacefully at home.

Maybe after this episode, once Lindsay had calmed down, they could achieve that.

Hearing Alex's reassurance, Olivia felt relieved.

She leaned in and kissed his cheek. "I knew you would understand me, you're the best!"

Since coming to the Harper family, Olivia had deliberately engaged in many intimate gestures with her brothers to ensure their affection and closeness.

She even asked them to kiss her forehead and cheeks to comfort and reward her.

She would also initiate kisses to show her approval and affection.

As she had hoped, as they grew older, she and her five brothers maintained this closeness, and their relationships grew stronger.

In Olivia's mind, her five brothers belonged to her, and she didn't want anyone else to come between them.

Neither of them noticed that the courtyard door was open and the camera equipment was already on.

Their embrace and actions had been recorded live since the moment they hugged.

However, due to the distance, their voices were deliberately kept low.

The viewers could only see their intimate actions but couldn't hear what they were saying.

Not hearing their conversation made the audience even more shocked by their closeness.

The previously ended live stream suddenly resumed.

The production team announced they were doing a surprise stream to show the guests' nightly routines.

No one expected the stream to start with such an intense scene.

The cameraman couldn't stand at the door for too long, as that would seem too obvious.

Since the intense moment had already been live-streamed, the cameraman carried the camera into the courtyard.

Behind him were other members of the production team.

Their entrance startled both Alex and Olivia.

They quickly let go of each other.

Alex frowned at them. "What are you doing here?"

Then he noticed the camera was on.

His expression changed slightly, "You're live-streaming?"

Hearing this, Olivia's expression also changed.

She was worried that their conversation had been broadcast.

Both of them silently cursed the production team for being so sneaky.
