Reborn as the Dragon King's Son-In-Law

Chapter 2: Heir of the God King

1 year has passed since I was taken by that woman into the Dragon Realm. My current life can be considered very comfortable. It's just that I didn't get the recognition of the residents of the Dragon Realm. Most of the looks given by the guards were of disgust and displeasure after seeing my presence.

I've heard some rumors from within the city about me. Many people vilified me as a prostitute who wanted to profit from the Princess. But I cannot defend myself from the defamation of my good name.

However, all the residents in the city hated my status as the Crown Princess's fiancé. Therefore, I cannot completely judge those who try to slander me.

Walking around the park, one of my feet accidentally tripped over a small rock. The top of my head was hit by a large rock. For some reason, my consciousness started to fade away, and I sank into my subconscious.

"Is this the place that Athena said? This really is my subconscious world. I heard that this is also the key to how I discover my true power." My eyes turned toward the entire void and empty room. When I went looking for an object that could awaken my talent, I heard a faint voice in my head.

"Come here... come here, O next heir of the King of Gods..."

The voice was so faint that it made me speechless for some time. I actually couldn't really hear the voice. But the longer I walked, the voice in my head became very clear.

I didn't want to miss this opportunity to follow the direction of that voice. 1 year in the Dragon Realm was no different from torture. Actually, Athena is a good and beautiful woman. But unfortunately, the people in the castle were very unhappy with my presence.

If it weren't for the slander from the people in the palace, I wouldn't feel so useless as Athena's lover. My dream before being taken by Athena was to become a strong and tough warrior.

It's just that I have to accept the fact that my talent will not be awakened if I don't dive further into my subconscious. But there are two methods to awaken one's talent. The first method is to get help from someone who has already awakened to awaken their talents. The second method is that the person must use their own method to awaken their talent.

The first method was common for living beings to awaken their talents. But the second method was much more effective and very efficient, simply awakening one's talents with their own power. To imagine the reason why a human is weak, they usually awaken with the help of an expert.

But the small number of humans who use their own power to awaken talents are extraordinary humans. And Athena has also offered me help to awaken my talents with her power. But I don't want it.

The assistance that Athena has provided has really helped me in making my life much better than before. I am very indebted to Athena. The only reason I rejected Athena's offer was that I wanted to stand by her side and help her develop this city.

After a year of studying how I could awaken my talent with my own power, I almost gave up on my thoughts. Luckily, I accidentally fell unconscious from the impact of the large rock and managed to enter my subconscious.

"Who are you?" My steps stopped in a place filled with countless stars. Those stars gave me the feeling that they were endlessly staring at me. But I didn't want to think nonsense in my head.

The voice came back. This time it became much clearer than before. For some reason, that tone of voice gave off a feeling of nervousness in me.

"This inheritance must not be kept silent any longer. You are the last heir of the Velvet God. I beg you not to die in this life." After those words were spoken, millions of stars began to enter the depths of my soul. As time passed, my body began to glow a bright golden color.

Velvet Prostitute Physique began to activate and resonate with the power of the stars. A blue window appeared before me. But I didn't focus too much on the blue panel in front of me.

My focus right now is only on the power of the stars. The situation of the sky in the real world showed mysterious changes. The color of the previously bright sky within the Dragon Realm turned golden, as if it were welcoming the awakening of an incredibly powerful being.

[Ding! The host's soul has improved to reach the B+ rank. Congratulations! You have successfully activated the Supreme King System!]
