Chapter 51 A Boyfriend who Drives a Taxi

The taxi stopped below the apartment.

Anaya opened the car door and got out. Hearst followed.

“Aren’t you going home?”

Hearst said calmly, “I’ll help you change your dressing.”

Anaya was caught in the rain, so the gauze on her shoulder was wet. Her wound would get infected easily if she did not attend to it in time.

“I can do it myself.”

“Are you sure?”

She didn’t say anything.

Because she wasn’t.

Since she was wounded, she couldn’t get her hand up on that side of the shoulder. It was difficult for her to wrap herself in gauze. What was more, her back was wounded as well. She could not see the wound on her back and could not change the dressing by herself.

But she did not want Hearst to enter her apartment again.

It was OK in the past. However, he had just expressed his feelings for her not long ago, and she would feel a bit strange letting him enter her place.

As if seeing through her, he said, “Don’t worry. I will not touch you.”

Anaya did not say anything.

Hearst sighed, “I will help you change at the door.”

Anaya was silent for a long time. Then she said, “OK then. Do not set foot in my apartment.”

“OK”

Anaya was always stubborn at some weird point.

Hearst kept his word and did not enter the door.

Anaya stood in the corridor with her shoulders exposed, and she felt a little awkward.

The neighbor came back. Seeing the strange behavior of the two, he couldn't help but glance at them a few more times.

Anaya's face was flushed with embarrassment.

She thought, am I nuts or what? Otherwise, how could I do something so stupid?

Karen became confident

Lexie told Karen that Joshua had withdrawn his investment from Riven Group for Lexie herself, and Riven Group was not doing well right now.

With the company going down, Anaya would soon have no one to rely on.

No matter how domineering Anaya looked right now, she was just bluffing.

"Anaya, don't be so arrogant. I know your secret!"

"Really? What secret?"

"Stop playing dumb! Don't you have a boyfriend who drives a taxi? Come on! You are the daughter of the Dutt family after all. Won't you be humiliated if words get out?"

A boyfriend who drove a taxi?

Anaya thought for a moment and remembered that she and Hearst had helped a driver change shifts before.

Did she and Hearst look like a couple?

Where did Karen have such an idea?

“He is not my boyfriend.”

“Yeah, right! I saw you that day! If he was not your boyfriend, why did you two pull over and talk? What is it? Are you ashamed that you find yourself a boyfriend with such a low income, and you won’t admit it?”

Karen simply sounded more and more ridiculous. Anaya pushed open the door and got out of the car.

Anaya was wearing white shoes with flat bottoms, but she was as tall as Karen, who was with high heels.

When Anaya wasn’t smiling, she somehow made people feel oppressed.

Karen couldn’t help but take a step back due to Anaya’s gaze and said, “You... You want to get physical?”

“Don’t worry. I won’t if you won’t.” Anaya’s lips curved slightly, but her eyes were cold. “I heard that you have been a mistress since college and cheated several old men out of money. What is it? Wasn’t the money enough for you? That’s why you come here and blackmail me?”

Karen flared up since Anaya hit her sore spot. “You’re a mistress! They gave me their money willingly!”

“Really?” Anaya leaned against the car. “I don’t know if you have heard of it, but a new law has been issued recently. Whoever becomes someone’s mistress and gets involved with financial transactions of more than 8 thousand dollars shall be counted as a criminal. And they shall be imprisoned for at least three years. Ten years, most. I happen to know a few private detectives. Maybe I’ll make some calls to see your relationship with them.”

Karen was so furious that her face went red, but she didn’t dare to provoke Anaya anymore. She braced herself and said. “If you don’t want to pay me, just say it. There’s no need to beat around the bush! You know what? I don’t want your stinky money!”

She turned around and was about to leave when Anaya grabbed her wrist. “Ms. Birken, you scraped our car and haven’t paid for it yet.”

“What the hell? You hit my car!”

"I see. You want me to do some digging about you, right?"

After a pause, Karen said, "How much do you want?"

"32 thousand dollars."

"You want me to give you 32 thousand dollars for a bit of car paint? This is a rip-off!"

"What is it? Are you saying no?"

Chapter 52 - Reborn: Another Chance To Leave Up

Chapter 52 Class Reunion

Karen ground her teeth and said with hatred, "Fine. I will transfer it to you when I get back."

"Do it now."

"You..."

"Hurry up. Don't waste my time," Anaya said after telling Karen her card number.

Karen took her phone out. She was so angry that her hands that were making the transaction trembled.

The money was transferred. Karen gritted her teeth and said, "Can I go now?"

"Yes. And drive your car away. This is our spot."

Karen became even angrier, looking like she was about to eat Anaya alive. After a long while, she said through gritted teeth, "Fine!"

"Thank you, Ms. Birken." Anaya stood up straight and smiled brightly.

Anaya opened the door and got into the car. After Karen left, Aracely parked the car.

After that, Aracely hugged and praised Anaya, asking, "Why haven't I heard of the law you mentioned?"

"I made that up. She was so gullible," Anaya said with a sly smile.

“Tsk! Anaya, you are so bad,” Aracely said. Then she also smiled, “Karen was stupid enough when we were back in school. And now she’s more stupid. Has she degenerated into an ape? How could she believe that? Damn. That’s so ridiculous.”

“Let’s go upstairs.”

“OK!”

By the time Anaya and Aracely arrived at the scene, there were already a lot of people present.

Those familiar with each other gathered and formed a few small groups.

As soon as Anaya and Aracely entered the door, they were pulled over by a woman and stood with several old friends.

“Come on!”

More people echoed. Lexie maintained a smile on her face. She glanced at Anaya meaningfully and suddenly made Anaya become the limelight.

“I went to the Maltz’s place today and saw a piano in the villa, which must have been used by Anaya before. If she has been practicing, she should be better than me. Maybe she can play a song for us.”

Lexie deliberately raised her voice so that everyone could hear her.

Anaya smiled. Her teeth looked even whiter against her rosy lips. Her voice sounded lazy as she said, “Ms. Dunbar, are you deliberately provoking me? You should know who used that piano better than me.”

Lexie used to like playing the piano, and she kept the hobby after she entered university. She often went to the music classroom.

The piano in the Maltz’s villa was the one Lexie often used in the music classroom.

The piano belonged to the school. At first, the people from the school refused to sell it. Joshua doubled the price twenty times, and the department head asked someone to send the piano to the Maltz’s villa right away.

Ever since Lexie went abroad three years ago, Joshua often sat down at the piano alone and played slowly, though he was not proficient in music, and what he played was simply crap.

Anaya had known the significance of that piano since a long time ago. Every time she saw that piano, she would realize that the man she loved had been thinking about another woman.

The crap that Joshua played made her and her feelings for him look like a joke.

Now that Anaya thought about it, she was only amused.

Anaya thought, Joshua was married to me, yet he was still cheeky and narcissistic enough to sit by the piano and play a few songs, recalling the romantic times he and Lexie used to share. He was deliberately making me sick!

I can't believe that in my previous life, I endured him for three years.

I praise myself.

Lexie played dumb. "I don't know. Joshua didn't tell me where the piano came from."

As she spoke, she deliberately turned her head to ask Joshua, "Joshua, did you buy that piano for Anaya?"

Joshua pursed his lips and looked down at Lexie.

He thought, she forgot the piano she had used for two years?

He couldn't tell if she was acting or not. He suppressed the weird feelings in his heart and replied, "It was the one you used in college."

Lexie covered her mouth in disbelief. She was both surprised and touched. She controlled her expression perfectly. "Really? You have been keeping it for me?"

"Yes."

Chapter 53 That Piano Piece

Lexie looked at Anaya with a hint of triumph in her eyes. "So, Anaya can't play the piano. Then I will..."

"I didn't say I couldn't," Anaya stood up and smiled. "I didn't play the piano in Mr. Maltz's villa, but I learned it myself."

"Really?"

Lexie obviously did not believe Anaya.

As far as Lexie could remember, Anaya was just a love-struck woman who swooned over Joshua.

Anaya knew nothing but please Joshua.

Lexie looked at Anaya with ridicule in her eyes. “Ok then. Why don’t you go up and give it a try?”

“Maybe not. I’m not as good as you. Ms. Dunbar. Why don’t you play first and set an example for me?” Anaya said calmly Thinking that Anaya got cold feet, Lexie smiled even brighter. She said, “Anaya, since you’re so modest, I might as well go first.”

Lexie sat next to the piano, opened the piano lid, got herself in the mood, and moved her fingers.

Although playing the piano was just a hobby, Lexie had played it for eight years, and her skills were good. She didn’t play the wrong note.

But she was overconcentrating on the accuracy, and her performance was stiff and emotionless.

Yet it had to be admitted that, in amateurs’ eyes, she was good enough.

Lexie finished playing, and everyone applauded and praised her.

Lexie enjoyed the praise of the crowd and looked at Anaya complacently. “It’s your turn.”

Anaya smiled, smoothed the folds of her dress, and sat down on the leather stool.

She sat straight. Her neck was slender, and she put her fair hands on the piano keys.

After a few seconds of silence, her slender fingers rose and fell, and beautiful notes flowed out from her hands

Many people slowly closed their eyes and listened quietly.

The theme of the song was calm and peaceful, like the distant sky after the sun settling pale blue light, tranquil and elegant.

The people around were a little embarrassed.

Who Anaya was referring to was very obvious.

Joshua and Anaya had been married for a year. Shortly after the divorce, Joshua brought Lexie everywhere together with him to get her familiar with others. Tonight, he was always by Lexie's side and didn't say a word to Anaya. Whoever wasn't stupid could tell that something was not right.

The person who asked the question, however, was completely unaware and continued, "Anaya, tell me. I will make things right for you."

"No need. I have nothing to do with that person anyway. Thanks."

Joshua and Lexie stood together, and they were very close to Anaya and the others. He heard Anaya and the others' conversation easily.

Anaya looked like a whole new different person after divorcing him.

She looked so carefree and outstanding, which made him frustrated.

He clenched the glass in his hand as if to break it.

After the meal, the male monitor proposed to sing karaoke and drink.

There was a similar event last year where the group partied until midnight.

Anaya followed everyone out.

She wanted to go to the hospital to bring Adams his midnight snack, and she was planning on saying goodbye to others in the parking lot.

Joshua and Lexie were behind Anaya not far away.

Karen followed by Lexie's side, staring at Anaya all the time.

Karen thought, I just checked. The law that Anaya mentioned is not real!

She was fooling me!

Karen wanted to make Anaya angry, so she deliberately raised her voice and said, "Lexie, when are you and Joshua getting married? Don't forget to let me know."

Karen brought this up out of the blue to upset Anaya

The people around were chatting at first, Hearing her words, they all quieted down and looked at the protagonists

They became onlookers at once.

Lexie glanced at Joshua shyly and said, "Joshua and I just got back together, so maybe not anytime soon. It's up to him. I'm OK if he is."

There was a bit of expectation in her eyes, and she wanted Joshua to make a statement.

However, Joshua had no intention of opening his mouth at all. He just continued walking forward in silence.

Lexie was a little embarrassed.

Chapter 54 Spot Anaya at One Glance

Since many people were here today. Karen acted as she pleased. She said arrogantly, "That's true

It won't be so quick. After all, Mr. Maltz just divorced someone not long ago."

As she said this, Karen deliberately looked at Anaya, "Someone used to be so attentive to Mr. Maltz. Now that you are divorced, she's probably so jealous of you. Well, some people tend to forcefully occupy things that don't belong to them, thinking they can occupy the things for a lifetime."

Her words carried a sense of ridicule. Everyone felt as if the air was full of gunpowder

After Anaya married into the Maltz family, she faded from public view. They all remembered that she would seek revenge for the slightest grievance.

Even if Anaya suddenly turned around and slapped Karen, no one would find it strange.

However, before Anaya could say anything, Aracely couldn't help but say, "Karen, don't be so shameless. Anaya has a good temper and won't argue with you. I'm not so kind. If you continue to do something evil, I will slap you again."

She definitely had a mental problem.

She had just suffered a setback not long ago. She quickly forgot about the pain.

"Are you angry now? You're like a back-seat driver..."

"That's enough. Shut up." Joshua said with a sharp gaze.

"Mr. Maltz, I'm speaking up for you and Lexie," said Karen, a little dissatisfied.

Joshua glanced at her and said in a displeased tone, "No need. When did an outsider like you have the right to meddle in my business?"

Karen's efforts ended up in vain. She shut her mouth resentfully after being scolded by Joshua.

They walked to the entrance of the hotel.

Several people stood by the roadside, probably waiting for a car

Anaya noticed the man standing in the middle. She didn't intend to greet him, preparing to leave directly Aracely also saw Hearst and called out his name, "Mr. Helms!"

However, no one believed her at all. They surrounded Anaya and gabbled.
They didn't get close to Hearst...
He had a strong sense of alienation. No one dared to talk to him.
Anaya felt a headache from the noise and explained, "He is not my boyfriend."
Everyone's eagerness to hear some gossip instantly disappeared.
Anaya did not want to explain anymore and pulled Aracely away.
After they left, someone plucked up the courage to ask Hearst, "Is what Anaya said true?"
Hearst stared in the direction where Anaya disappeared and said lightly, "Not for now."
Everyone understood.
It turned out that he was still pursuing Anaya.
Hearst left.

Lexie held Joshua's arm and said, "Joshua, my belly is a little uncomfortable. Let's go home."

Joshua paused for a moment and said, "Wait for me here. I'll need to talk to Hearst."

Then he pushed away Lexie's hand and quickly went to chase after Hearst.

Lexie looked at his back. Her fingers curled up and her nails dug deep into her palms as if scratching her skin into bleeding.

"Hearst."

Hearing Joshua call him, Hearst turned around, his voice as cold as ever, "Mr. Maltz, what's up?"

Joshua asked in a low voice, "Who are you? Why are you lingering around Anaya?"

Hearst had appeared by Anaya's side many times. Joshua had asked people to investigate Hearst's identity but still found nothing.

His identity was hidden so deeply. It was highly likely that he was someone who could not be exposed to the public

If Anaya was related to this person, something would definitely happen to her

— "I don't need to explain who I am to you. As for the second one," Hearst thought of Anaya. The frost in his eyes melted. "I'm pursuing her."

Joshua did not believe it at all, "Before I divorced Anaya, you never appeared in Boston. You suddenly came out just for love? Is this some kind of fairy tale?"

Joshua said confidently, "You have other intentions!"

Hearst said, "It is all up to you whether to believe me."

Joshua warned him, "No matter what purpose you have, I advise you to stay away from her.

Although I have divorced her, I will not watch her suffer. If you dare to hurt her, I will never let you go!"

The person who hurt her is you, right?" Facing Joshua's warning, Hearst remained calm . "Before she married you, you ignored her and despised her sincerity. You had an affair after getting married, allowing the people around you to bully her. After the divorce, you withdrew your investment from her company. putting her into financial straits.

"If not for her, I would have punished you long ago."

Joshua was stunned.

He did not expect that Hearst would be so clear about his relationship with Anaya.

Joshua couldn't help but think that Hearst pursued Anaya out of love and without any other purpose.

"Punish me? Mr. Helms is so arrogant." Joshua sneered, "Not to mention whether you can punish me or not, you won't be able to touch Anaya.

She has loved me for ten years. Even if she has divorced me now, she hasn't let me go.
Do you think you have a chance?

"It's only been ten years. Hearst normally wouldn't argue with others, but now he broke his rule. "In the next ten years, twenty years, till the end of her life. The only person in her heart will be me."

Joshua was flustered, but he concealed his feelings. "Where did you get the confidence?"

Hearst didn't want to waste time with Joshua He turned around and got in the car.

Joshua still wanted to say a few more words, but Hearst said, "Anaya is no longer your wife. You

Soon, the news of the necklace being auctioned off was revealed

The auction house refused to reveal the private information of the buyer, so everyone shifted their focus to the people participating in the auction that day.

“Lexie, are you saying that the necklace was bought by Anaya?”

Bria Aucher was Joshua’s cousin. The Aucher family relied on the Maltz family to survive. In the past few years, their business prospect had been bleak. If not for the Maltz family, they would have gone bankrupt.

If the Aucher family could cooperate with McKlein Inc. this time, the Aucher family might be able to reverse the situation.

To get the distributorship of McKlein Inc. in America, Bria had to get that sapphire necklace.

She heard that Lexie and Joshua went to the auction that day and immediately came to Lexie’s place.

Lexie brought a cup of coffee to Bria and sat down beside her.

“Yes, Joshua and I were both at the auction site that day. It was indeed Anaya who bought it.”

Bria said, "I was worried that I wouldn't be able to get the necklace. Since the necklace is in Anaya's hands, it will be easy."

Bria often went to the Maltz's home to look for Cecilia. She was an acquaintance of Anaya.

She was familiar with Anaya.

Anaya was a submissive person who had no ability. Every time someone scared her, she would immediately chicken out.

It was easy to take things from Anaya.

If it didn't work, she could just use Joshua to persuade Anaya.

Anaya had been abandoned by her cousin. She must be feeling upset. When the time came, Bria would promise to help Anaya say a few good words in front of Joshua. Wouldn't Anaya rush to please her like before?

Lexie saw what Bria was thinking and reminded her, "Anaya has divorced Joshua. She might not be as easy to persuade as before."

"So what? It's difficult to change her nature. I don't believe she can be tougher than before," Bria said disapprovingly

Lexie tried to persuade Bria, but Bria wouldn't listen, so she did not say anything else.

She couldn't wait for Bria to irritate Anaya. She liked it when they were on no-speaking terms.

Chapter 56 Who Do You Think You Are?

Bria called Anaya to meet, but Anaya did not agree and directly hung up.

Bria didn't wanna give up and called a few more times, but she could not get through.

Anaya blacklisted her.

Bria gritted her teeth.

This bitch! She actually dared to hang up my phone!

She did not hesitate and immediately went to Riven Group's office building.

Bria did not know which floor Anaya's office was on and was ready to ask a passerby.

Someone behind her shouted, "Bria!"

After a few seconds, Mark appeared in front of her.

"Are you here to find me?" Mark asked with a polite smile.

Mark had seen Bria at the banquet held by the Maltz family before and had taken a fancy to her,

Bria was Joshua's cousin. She was pretty, and in terms of family background, she was slightly better than Mark.

Although Mark was a playboy, he still felt that only a woman like Bria could be his wife, and he had been pursuing her for half a year.

He had chased Bria for more than half a year. Bria did not refuse or agree. However, she accepted all the gifts he sent. Occasionally, she would even agree to dine with him. It always made him feel that he still had a chance, so he never gave up.

When Bria saw him, a hint of disgust flashed through her eyes.

This man called her and flattered her every day. If he wasn't generous enough to send her gifts or invite her to high-class restaurants, she would have kicked him away.

She hid her thoughts and smiled sweetly, "Mark, I'm here for Anaya. Can you tell me where her office is?"

"I'll take you up."

You deliberately stopped the Aucher family’s business!” Bria did not listen to Anaya at all. It seems that I have not taught you a lesson for a long time. You’re getting bolder! Hand over the necklace or don’t blame me for being impolite!”

Bria looked like she was about to fight, and Anaya directly called the security guards.

It infuriated Bria. Bria pounced on her and tried to snatch her phone.

Anaya reacted quickly and subdued her, pressing her face down on the table.

She recently increased her training in the gym, and it seemed that it was quite useful.

Bria shouted with all her might. She said that she would complain to Joshua, and then she said that she wanted to find someone to deal with her.

Anaya felt annoyed and pulled out the fruit knife from the drawer with one hand and stabbed it into the table before Bria.

“Say one more word, and I’ll cut off your tongue.”

The fruit knife was so close to Bria’s eyeball. Bria was so scared that her whole body trembled and her pupils contracted. She no longer dared to shout.

Who knew if this crazy woman would really kill me?

Soon, two security guards came in from the outside and grabbed Bria from both sides.

Aman and a woman followed behind the security guards.

Yarden walked out from behind the security guards. “Anaya, there are so many people.”

“Why are you here?”

“I want to ask you for something.”

Anaya was stunned.

Yarden should have found out that the necklace was in her hands.

She wanted to talk to him tomorrow, but it would save her a lot of trouble if he came to her personally

Are you Yarden? Bria, who was being controlled by the security guards, looked up and recognized Yarden.

“Yes Who are you?” Yarden looked at her.

Chapter 57 - Reborn: Another Chance To Leave Up

Chapter 57 None of Your Business

“I am Bria, the general manager of the Aucher Group. I visited you and Kim yesterday,” Bria said with a flattering smile.

“Oh. I remember now.” Yarden said coldly. Then he looked at Anaya and smiled, “Anaya, can you take me to get the necklace?”

“Wait a moment. I’ll take you after sorting out the information.”

When Bria saw that she was about to lose the chance, she was unwilling and said to Yarden, “Mr. Simpson, Anaya clearly knew your identity, so she deliberately approached you. If you do business with this scheming woman, something bad might happen! Why don’t you choose...”

Yarden glared at her and rudely interrupted her. "Anaya wants my money. I am willing to give it to her. It's none of your business."

Bria was speechless.

Bria was quickly dragged out by the security guards.

Anaya walked in front of Yarden and leaned against the table. She raised her eyebrows and smiled,

"She said that I approached you because of your money. Don't you doubt me?"

"I don't believe the words of a crazy woman." Yarden snorted. "Moreover, from the moment you went to the garbage dump with me, you are a friend who had a hard time with me! Friends should trust each other."

Yarden did not know any schemes, but after all, he was the son of the Simpson family. There were many people who had fawned over him for the sake of benefits since he was young. He had seen many things, so he knew how it worked in this world.

He could tell what kind of people he was talking with.

"Let's go and get the necklace," said Anaya with a smile.

When she first married into the Maltz family, you brought a friend over to play. You broke the antique vase in the living room and framed her. She talked back and you made her kneel for the whole night as you lied to my mother. Have you forgotten?"

Bria was stunned, "You... How did you know..."

When that happened, Joshua was also at home but did not say anything. She thought Joshua did not know the truth

She felt a little guilty and whispered, "Since you know, why didn't you tell the truth?"

Joshua's entire body shook, and he didn't say anything.

Because at that time, he hated Anaya

He was annoyed that she was always pestering him. He hated that she kept Lexie out of the country. He was annoyed that she married into the Maltz family with 800 million dollars and saved the Maltz family. At the same time, it hurt his self-esteem as the Maltz family's eldest son.

He was unhappy, so he wanted her to suffer together.

Everything she had suffered was all because she had done all the bad things and deserved it.

In the year of marriage, he had seen her crying in her room more than once.

However, he had never once stepped forward to comfort her.

As Anaya had once said, he always looked coldly at her sorry state

Hearst was right that night. The one who hurt Anaya had always been Joshua.

Joshua didn't answer Bria's question and turned to go upstairs.

Just as he returned to his room, he received a call from property management.

"Mr. Maltz, I'm sorry to disturb you. You haven't paid the property fee for Belcourt Mansi on this year. Could you pay for it?"

Joshua had many properties in Boston. Usually, the assistant was in charge of them. Only Belcourt Mansion was personally managed by him.

It was the dowry that Adams had given to Anaya as her wedding gift.

Cecilia felt that it was a shame to let them live in Anaya's house, so she called Anaya back to the Maltz's house the next day of the wedding.

At that time, the Maltz family still needed the Dutt family's help. Cecilia showed a very good attitude toward Anaya. She was worried that Anaya was dissatisfied with the matter and insisted that Joshua personally manage the property. This would show how much he valued that house. She also promised Anaya that when everything was settled, the two could move back at any time.

Cecilia was just fooling around, but Anaya believed it and kept the room clean and tidy at all times, waiting to move over with Joshua one day and enjoy their sweet moment.

Two months ago, she happily had someone move a half-ball hanging chair in and take photos to share with him, wanting him to stay with her for a few days.

At that time, he only felt that she was annoying and ignored her. He rejected her with a cold face.

Chapter 58 Sit Alone Until Dawn

After being scolded by him, Anaya was a little depressed and left in a daze, never mentioning this again.

Joshua had never paid attention to her emotions before, but at that moment, her sad expression was clear in his mind.

The woman who only cared about him was no longer watching him.

It was he who had personally destroyed the woman who loved him the most.

Joshua felt suffocated. He could have asked Alex to go over and pay the fee, but he somehow said, "I'll go over tomorrow."

At night, Cecilia went upstairs to call Joshua downstairs for dinner.

She went upstairs but found that the room was empty.

She called Joshua, but Joshua didn't say where he had gone but told her he had something to do.

Cecilia only thought that he was busy with work and told him to remember to eat.

Hanging up the phone, Joshua pushed open the door and got out of the car.

In front of him was a single villa near the river.

He also did not know why he came to Belcourt Mansion

By the time he came back to his senses, he was already here.

There was light on the first floor of the villa, and it seemed that someone was inside.

Only the people from the cleaning company would send people to come over regularly to clean here Other than the owner of this villa, no one would go in.

So, was Anaya back?

Somehow, he actually felt a hint of joy.

Sure enough, she still loved him

There was a password lock on the gate of the villa. He raised his hand but found that he could not remember the password

He only lived in this house for one night

No, he hadn't lived here for the entire night

On the wedding night, after sending off the guests, he only sat in the room for less than ten minutes before leaving Anaya behind.

That night. Lexie's friend called him and said that Lexie was drunk too and went to the hospital.

So he got someone to book a ticket and flew to Lexie's city.

Lexie was lying in the hospital, unconscious and begging him to not marry Anaya.

However, it was done. The situation at that time did not allow him to divorce. He could only promise her that he would never touch Anaya.

"Perhaps... I'm favored?"

"Get lost"

Aracelys phone rang. She picked it up and glanced at it. Then, she looked at Anaya. She sniffed her snot and walked to the side to answer the phone. It seemed that she was deliberately avoiding Anaya

After three minutes, Aracely returned and sat down.

Anaya looked up and asked, “Whose call?”

“A new friend

“Do I know your friend?

“I will introduce my friend to you later.”

She deliberately hid it, so Anaya did not ask any further.

After eating and drinking, the two went to the counter to pay the bill.

As she approached the counter, Anaya looked at the back of a figure that was paying and found it somewhat familiar.

The man was tall and strong, looking cold and noble, which was incompatible with this restaurant.

She was thinking it would not be so coincidental when the man turned around.

It was Hearst

“Mr. Helms, what a coincidence,” she greeted him as they looked at each other.

Hearst’s expression was cold and indifferent. When he looked at her, there was a hint of gentleness.

In fact, how could there be so many coincidences?

He had planned everything.

Anaya asked, “You came here alone?”

“Samuel is paying the bill. Do you like the taste here?” he asked as he glanced at the place a few steps away

“Well, this is the hottest one in Boston. I like spicy food.”

“I know that a place is hotter and better than this one. We can go together next time.”

Anaya was about to say the word “good”, but she stopped.

She almost failed to resist the temptation of delicious food.

She shook her head,

* still prefer the taste of this restaurant.” She paused and asked, “Are you free later?”

Aracely teased, “Anaya, are you asking him out?”

Anaya rolled her eyes and added, “I haven’t found a chance to return your clothes. Why not today?”

Chapter 59 - Reborn: Another Chance To Leave Up

Chapter 59 Hearst Chases Anaya

“Wow, you still have his clothes? You guys... Ouch!”

Anaya slapped her on the back of her head and said, “Hurry up to settle the bill and then scram!”

“You’re so heartless. You just dump me after you use me!”

Aracely complained as she went to settle the bill. After that, she separated from Anaya and the others in the parking lot.

Before she left, Aracely gestured at Anaya to cheer the latter up.

If they weren’t in public, Anaya would definitely kick her.

Back at the apartment, Anaya got out of the car and said, "Wait a minute. I'll go upstairs to get the clothes for you."

Anaya was polite, but Hearst knew that she was deliberately keeping a distance from him and did not want to let him go upstairs.

He didn't expose her mind and said, "Alright."

Anaya quickly went to get his coat and handed it to him.

Hearst did not open the bag to check it. He casually put it in the car and took out a bottle of candy from his pocket

It was the same kind of candy he brought back from Australia last time.

"Do you still want this?"

Anaya's eyes lit up when she saw the candy.

Hearst only gave her a small bottle of candy last time, and she finished it in two days.

The candy was sweet and addictive.

Anaya had asked someone to look for the candy, but they did not find it.

She thought that the candy was made by some private candy shop and was not famous, so there was little information available

Anaya had been craving the candy recently whenever she thought about it, but she was too

She tossed her phone to the side.

Aracely didn't know how to reply.

Anaya didn't want to be in love anymore.

It seemed that it would be difficult for Hearst to win Anaya's heart.

In the Dunbar's house.

"Lexie, I'm sorry. I have changed your room into a studio. How about you just make do with the servant's room? Anyway, you only stay for one night."

Marisa came down from upstairs and looked condescendingly at Lexie.

Lexie knew that Marisa deliberately made things difficult for her, but Lexie still calmly said,

"Alright."

The current Mrs. Dunbar, Danica, was Lexie's father's second wife, Dunbar played some tricks back then. She got pregnant and gave birth to Lexie. Therefore, she married Dominic Dunbar and became Mrs. Dunbar. She was no longer a maid.

However, Danica was originally a servant. She had no status or someone to support her, so she and Lexie were not respected. Lexie was not liked and had been marginalized by Marisa since they were kids. Therefore, Lexie developed a tolerant personality and was hypocritical.

Lexie was not as lucky as Anaya, who was born into a rich family, so Joshua became her only way to climb the social ladder.

Only by marrying Joshua could she be respected in the Dunbar family.

Lexie stood up from the sofa and lied, "Joshua just sent me a message asking where I was. I'll reply to him when I go back to my room."

Hearing this, Marisa and Dominic were shocked

Dominic hurriedly said, "Lexie, Marisa doesn't know that there is an empty guest room upstairs. I'll get someone to bring you there."

"Really? Thank you, Dad, Lexie smiled a fake smile

Lexie went upstairs to the room, followed by Danica.

After closing the door, Danica pulled Lexie to the bed and said, "Lexie, did you see Marisa's face? We can finally hold our heads high! I have waited for this moment for too long!"

In front of Danica, Lexie did not try to hide her pride and said, "This is just the beginning. When! become Mrs. Maltz, not only Marisa but also Dad will have to curry favor with me!"

"Yes, you have to marry Joshua as soon as possible. Did he mention your engagement to you later?"

"He said he would give me a reply as soon as possible. It should be soon."

"Get it done quickly. I won't feel at ease until you really marry."

"I see."

Chapter 60 He Is Getting Engaged to Lexie

Danica was worried that her husband would be upset, so she only sat there for a while before leaving Lexie took out her phone and called Joshua, but his phone was off.

She knew that Bria was staying in the Maltz's home today, so she called Bria

The answer Lexie got was that Joshua went out in the evening and hadn't come back.

It was almost midnight. Where could Joshua go?

Lexie suddenly remembered when Joshua and Hearst confronted each other at the class reunion. Her heart sank, and she hurried out.

She borrowed Danica's car and drove to the vicinity of Anaya's house. As expected, Lexie found Joshua's car in a corner.

The car was hidden in the darkness, and she could not see if there was anyone inside.

But no matter what, Lexie could be sure of one thing.

Perhaps Joshua really had feelings for Anaya.

Lexie's hands that were holding the steering wheel tightened slightly. She drove around and stopped nearby

It wasn't until dawn that Joshua's car drove off into the distance.

Lexie stared in the direction Joshua left and gritted her teeth.

She thought, he actually stayed at Anaya's house for the whole night!

Why?

What does he see in her?

It seemed that Anaya's reputation wasn't bad enough.

Lexie must completely ruin Anaya's reputation and make Joshua give up on this bitch!

When Joshua returned home, he found that his phone was off.

He found the charger and took off his suit

The news that Anaya had taken the agency of McKlein Inc. spread throughout the company. The faces of Frank and his son were a little ugly at the morning meeting.

In the past month, Anaya had already undertaken several major projects. The attitudes of everyone in the company towards this vice president, who appeared from nowhere, had changed from contempt at the beginning to admiration. The board of directors had also started to distance themselves from Frank and Mark and get close to Anaya.

After the meeting, Mark entered Frank’s office.

*Dad, have you seen Anaya’s proud face? It’s just a few projects. What is there for her to be proud of? I will definitely do better than her!”

Frank looked at his good-for-nothing son and wanted to slap him on the head. “In the future? Do you think we still have a future?”

“More than half of the shares in this company are already in the hands of Anaya and Adams. Anaya can now take charge of the company. If Adams gives all his shares to her, we will not stand a chance!”

In the past, Anaya was slack and had no idea how to manage the company. Adams had never given her the right to manage the company. Instead, he had Frank and Mark help manage the company.

Frank’s original plan was to win over the hearts of the people first, and then he would find a way to get the shares from Adams when he was too old to make good decisions.

But in this situation, how could Frank still have a chance?

“Then what should we do? We have been in charge of this company for more than half a year. We can’t just return it to Grandpa and Anaya for nothing, right?” Mark was a little flustered,

“Of course not! It wasn’t easy for me to become Acting CEO. I still need to be the CEO first!”

Frank paced back and forth in the office. Suddenly, he thought of something and stopped.

The biggest obstacle in his plan was Anaya, and this obstacle would appear eventually because this woman had divorced and started to care about her career

Since that was the case, wouldn’t it be fine if Frank found someone to marry Anaya off?

Family affairs would be enough for Anaya to be busy at that time. She would not have the time and energy to go against Frank.

Frank said, “Your grandfather’s seventieth birthday is in a few days. Invite Mr. Hank Baker over.”

“What do you have to talk about with that dandy?” Mark was confused,

“We’ll talk about him getting married.”
