

Chapter 61 - Reborn: Another Chance To Leave Up

“Mrs. Maltz and Ms. Aucher are having breakfast in the dining room.”

Joshua went back to his room to wash up before heading to the dining room

In the dining room, Cecilia and Bria seemed to be talking about something interesting as they covered their mouths and laughed.

Seeing Joshua enter, Cecilia put down the freshly squeezed juice and asked casually. “Where did you go last night?”

Joshua pulled out a chair and sat down. The maid standing at the side served him food.

“I had something urgent to do at work. I slept in the company.”

Cecilia felt a little strange but did not ask further and continued the topic with Bria.

Joshua did not touch the breakfast in front of him. He called out to Cecilia, “Mom.”

Hearing this, Cecilia was shocked. She said with a displeased expression, “I don’t agree. The Durnbar family is just a humble family in Boston. What’s more, Lexie is an illegitimate daughter.

How can she be married into our family?

Joshua had already expected Cecilia’s reaction. He calmly said, “Mom, I’m here to tell you my decision, not to discuss it with you.”

“What’s with your attitude?” Cecilia reprimanded in a low voice, “When you divorced Anaya, you also didn’t even ask for my opinion. Do you still think of me as your mother?”

“No matter who I marry, you will always be my mother.”

Both Cecilia and Joshua were stubborn. Cecilia had a different opinion. Even if they sat down calmly to negotiate, it would be difficult for them to reach an agreement.

In that case, Joshua would not talk about it.

“I don’t think you regard me as your mother at all! If you cared about me, why would you humiliate me over and over again?” Cecilia snapped.

There are so many girls in Boston who come of wealth and are ready to get married. Any one of

Anaya walked behind him and found that there were two rotten eggs thrown on Hearst’s expensive suit. The disgusting and thick liquid flowed down the suit, emitting a stench.

The smell would probably not dissipate even if the suit was washed,

Although Hearst had said that he was not a neat freak, he would definitely still feel disgusted with such a dirty thing stained his suit.

Anaya said apologetically. "I will buy a new one for you."

"No need," Hearst said gently.

Anaya did not want to argue with him about that. She would directly buy a new suit for him later.

He had to take it anyway.

She asked, "What are you doing here?"

Hearst took off his suit and threw it into the trash can beside him. "I'm here to check on you," he said.

It didn't sound like what he would usually say.

Anaya thought of the trend on Twitter.

Did he come here to make sure whether she would be depressed because of the online comments?

Anaya asked uncertainly, "Did you see the trend?"

"Yes." Hearst looked down at her and said in a casual manner, "Can you handle it?"

"Yes, I know a lot of things about Lexie, which is enough to take her down." Anaya said.

When the public voice reached its peak tomorrow, Anaya would show the public Lexie's true side. Lexie would be notorious after tomorrow.

She paused and added, “I don’t need your help.”

There was no direct evidence that what happened to Mia and Bryant had anything to do with Hearst. However, Anaya got a hunch that it was this man who caused Mia and Bryant’s injury.

Hearst nodded.

Since she asked, he would not interfere.

“Let me take you back,” he said.

“I’m take a taxi.”

Hearst did not insist.

He knew that Anaya wanted to keep a distance from him.

It was already her concession that she did not push him away.

If he were too pushy, Anaya would probably get scared and escape from him.

The losses outweighed the gains.

After a while, Samuel and the bodyguards came back with the few people who just threw the eggs.

Lexie's voice was as gentle as usual. "Maybe people just love to gossip about the little secrets between the rich and powerful families. Stop playing with your tablet and go wash your hands.

Breakfast is ready

Bria nodded and got up to wash her hands.

Lexie sat down at the dining table when Joshua called.

“Lexie, what are you doing?” he asked in a tired voice.

“I just cooked and was about to eat breakfast. What’s wrong?”

“It’s about our engagement. I’ve decided to hold the engagement ceremony next month.”

Joshua had been busy the whole day and had no time to look at his phone. Now that he finally had a break, he immediately told Lexie his decision.

He had been restless and always felt that something would happen if he kept stalling.

Lexie was delighted and thought that Joshua had this idea because he was influenced by public opinion.

It seemed that she had made the right move.

Anaya’s reputation had been ruined. Who would want her now?

Lexie asked in surprise, “Joshua, have you really decided?”

Yes, I was wrong before. I didn’t know that you might feel insecure if I didn’t give you a promise.”

Joshua rarely yielded to others, but Lexie was an exception,

This woman had saved his life and was worth him putting down his pride to make her happy.

It was what he ought to do

Lexie pretended to be considerate. “I’m fine. What’s important is what you think. If you’re not ready yet, you don’t have to force yourself.”

I didn’t force myself I just want to get engaged to you as soon as possible.” Joshua leaned against the wall of the corridor and looked out at the night sky “Lexie, I want to take you to choose

"No, but I can take leave."

"Okay, that's it. I haven't finished my work yet. I need to go now."

After hanging up the phone, Lexie could not help but grin.

She was finally going to become Mrs. Maltz!

Today was the weekend.

Anaya slept an hour longer than usual, and she didn't wake up until seven-thirty.

When she woke up, she found that she had a message from Lexie.

"You there?"

Anaya: "What's up?"

"I'm going to get engaged to Joshua next month. Will you come then?"

Was she showing off?

However, Anaya did not feel envy or hatred at all.

She didn't bother to reply to Lexie and threw her phone aside.

After washing up, she found that Lexie texted her a few more messages.

"I heard that when you and Joshua got married, you went to buy your wedding ring on your own and paid for it with your money. Is that true?"
