

Chapter 65 - Reborn: Another Chance To Leave Up

Chapter 65 Buy a Suit

After breakfast, Anaya packed up the tableware and took Sammo out for a walk. When she returned, Aracely was still playing with her phone on the sofa.

“Are you still debating with them?”

Just clean up the mess.” Aracely seemed to have thought of something and suddenly jumped up from the sofa, “Anaya, when you were having breakfast, did you say that Lexie was going to pick an engagement ring with Joshua today?”

“Yes, what’s wrong?”

“She was showing off to you. Don’t you want to fight back? Let’s send a message to greet her. Since such a thing happens, I think Joshua will break up with her!”

“They won’t break up,” Anaya sat down next to Aracely, hugged Sammo, and lay lazily on the back of the sofa.

‘Seriously? Men all care about their reputation. Lexie has such a big scandal. How can Joshua still be with her?’

Joshua has seen the evidence I put on the Internet before.”

“What the fuck? Why don’t they break up?”

Joshua’s feelings for Lexie are much deeper than you think.”

Anaya said it casually, but Aracely suddenly felt sorry for Anaya.

For Anaya to say this, it was clear that her marriage this year was not happy.

Joshua’s heart never belonged to Anaya for a moment.

Aracely grabbed Anaya’s arm and rested her head on Anaya’s shoulder. “Joshua was taken away by Lexie just like that. Are you willing to accept that?”

“For something I don’t like anymore, I don’t care if it is lost. I can accept everything, can’t I?” Anaya changed the topic, asking, “Are you free later? What about shopping with me?”

“What do you want to buy?”

“Suit”

“Let me guess. Did you buy it for Mr. Helms?”

Yes. Anaya was afraid that Aracely would misunderstand, so she added, “Yesterday, he helped me block a few rotten eggs. His suit was ruined. I have to compensate him.”

“Well, I didn’t doubt your relationship. Why are you in such a hurry to explain?”

Anaya slapped the back of Aracely’s head and said, “Get changed, and let’s go.”

Riven Group owned a luxury clothing brand. To promote its sales, Anaya and Aracely went to a retail store of that brand.

The shop assistant recognized Anaya and thought that she was there for an inspection. The shop assistant was a little nervous as she asked, “Ms. Dutt, shall I call the store manager over?”

“No. I’m a customer today.”

The shop assistant asked with a sigh of relief. “Do you need me to introduce the new arrivals to you?”

“No, thanks. I’ll just look around.”

In the past, Anaya had never bought clothes for Joshua, which were all prepared by Cecilia. This was the first time Anaya bought clothes for a male. She was a little uncertain, so she chose a low-key black suit. The style was similar to Hearst’s clothes from yesterday.

Aracely suddenly chuckled and asked Anaya in a low voice, “Do you know the size of Mr. Helms?”

Anaya looked at Aracely and knew what she was thinking in her mind, "Could you please be serious?"

Anaya dialed Hearst's number, and the phone was picked up as soon as it rang.

Hearst was cooperating with her pace.

Last time, the wound on her shoulder had split open, and Hearst even rushed back from Australia

far away

Hearst was not a talkative man and rarely said sweet words to her.

But Hearst did something that no one else had ever done for her silently.

Perhaps, Hearst was more sincere towards Anaya, not simply out of lust.

Hearst was powerful but knew his limits. When Anaya was with him, she actually felt very comfortable.

If Anaya did not experience a failed marriage, she might have really liked this man.

It was a pity that there was no if.

She only wanted to keep single now, do a good job, and spend quality time with her family.

Anaya collected her thoughts and drove to Cloud Villa.

She did not notice that a Maybach had been following behind her.

Joshua's car stopped by the side of the road. He watched Anaya enter Cloud Villa, scratching his hair in frustration.

When did Joshua become a stalker?

This was the third time Anaya had come to Hearst's place. She walked to Hearst's house and pressed the doorbell.

In a short while, Hearst came over to open the door.

Hearst was dressed in casual clothes, wearing an apron, and seemed to be cooking.

Hearst was born with a cold and elite face. The gray apron was tied around his waist. He was too homely, and there was always an indescribable sense of incongruity.

“Come in,” he said, leaning to the side.

“Sorry for the disturbance.”

Anaya entered with a shopping bag. Hearst’s house was as tidy as before.

She smelled the fragrance of food in the air.

Hearst closed the door and asked, “Would you like to have lunch together?”

“No, thanks, I’m not hungry yet...”

Just as she finished speaking, her stomach rumbled.

No one spoke for a second. It was quite awkward.

Hearst smiled but did not tease her. “I’ll go and serve the dishes.”

Anaya no longer refused. She nodded, put the shopping bag with a suit on the sofa, and entered the kitchen to help serve the dishes.

The dishes were served and they sat down at the dining table.

There were not many dishes, only three, but they were all dishes that Anaya liked.

Anaya took a sip and was surprised by Hearst’s cooking skill, “I didn’t expect you to be so good at cooking! Have you especially learned it?”

Hearst’s cooking skill was better than hers.

“Yes, I have had some lessons since last month.”

“It hasn’t even been a month and you already cook as well as a chef. You learn pretty fast.”

Anaya picked up a piece of potato and put it on her plate, casually asking, "Why did you learn how to cook? You should be quite busy at work, right?"

Hearst looked calm, and his voice was very light. "Because you might come to my house for a meal"

Anaya's hand that was holding the fork paused and she looked up at him.

Hearst continued to eat slowly as if he had just said something irrelevant

Chapter 66 He Offers Compensation

Ariaya put down her fork and knife. "Maybe I didn't make it clear before. I think we should..."

Hearst interrupted rudely, "Anaya, I won't push you, and I hope you do not intentionally avoid me."

His handsome face was as calm and indifferent as usual, but his words did not allow any comment

Looking at Hearst, Anaya was a little at loss about what to do. She did not say anything else but silently ate.

After lunch, Anaya got up to leave.

Hearst came out of the door with Anaya. "I'll drop you home."

Anaya stopped at the door. "Thank you, but I'm good. I drove here."

"Has the injury on your shoulder healed?"

"Almost. It'll be fine when the scar disappears."

Anaya had been applying medication for scar removal recently. The scar would leave no trace after a while.

Hearst nodded. "Take care."

"See you next time."

Anaya left Cloud Villa for the hospital where Adams was staying.

When Anaya arrived at the hospital, she contacted the doctor for a general checkup.

In her previous life, she had been tortured by stomach cancer for a few months. Anaya did not want to experience the pain a second time.

In this life, Anaya would do her best to prevent it. If it was discovered earlier, she would treat it sooner.

Of course, it would be best if there was nothing.

The results of the checkup came out, showing that everything was normal.

Anaya threw the checkup report into the trash can and returned to Adams' ward.

The bodyguard at the door said, "Ms. Dutt, Mr. Frank is here. He informed Mr. Dutt in advance, why we let him

Joshua was stunned by Anaya's question.

Joshua had imagined many of Anaya's reactions, including feeling wronged, surprised, angry...

Joshua had never expected her to be so calm.

It was as if what Joshua said had nothing to do with her.

She made light of her image in Joshua's mind.

Anaya did not take the folder but said decisively, "I don't need it."

“Don’t you even check out how much this is worth?”

Anaya forced a smile and said, “Mr. Maltz, do I look like a person who gives in easily? Even if it could make me a billionaire, I wouldn’t take it as long as it’s from you.”

Anaya did lack money, but she would earn it on her own.

She would not take Joshua’s charity.

It had been long enough for Anaya to be humble in front of Joshua. Anaya wanted to end this situation.

Joshua clenched his fingers, and the folder was wrinkled from his pinch. “Anaya, businesspersons strive for profit. Why do you have to go against money? It is a big no–no in the business field to bring personal feelings to work.”

“I’ve never been a pure businesswoman. A year ago, if there were only benefits in my eyes, I would not have exchanged for a ridiculous love with the 800 million dollars loan.”

When the past was brought up, Anaya was frank and open, but Joshua felt a sudden pain in his heart.

Anaya brought 800 million dollars to marry into the Maltz family, which desperately needed the money

Anaya was the savior of the Maltz family. However, Joshua regarded her as a thorn in his side, and let her bear his cold violence for a whole year without a reason...

Joshua kept silent for a long time before speaking again. His voice was hoarse, and he said with difficulty. I am willing to compensate you for withdrawing Investments, as well as other things in the past. Whatever you want, I can...”

“No need.” Anaya was determined and calm. “This is not the only thing you have done wrong to me.

If you have to make it up for all of them...

“How can you make it?”

With that, Anaya bypassed Joshua and went upstairs. Joshua stood still there for a long time.

Chapter 67 Teddy Bear

Although Adams entitled Frank to take care of his birthday, Anaya still made some time to monitor it to prevent Frank from playing tricks.

However, during the entire process, Anaya did not discover any problems.

From the selection of the ingredients and the arrangement of the banquet, Frank did it himself, looking like he sincerely wanted to hold the birthday party well.

On the day of the birthday party, Anaya took a leave and went to the hospital to fetch Adams back to the Dutt’s house.

When Anaya entered the ward, Adams had already changed. He was packing up.

A few days ago, the doctor said that Adams could be discharged. However, Anaya was still worried, so she asked Adams to stay in the hospital until today.

Anaya walked over and put down the fruit basket in her hand. “Grandpa, you just recovered. Leave these things to others to do.”

“It’s fine. The doctor told me to exercise more when I have time. Packing up my stuff can be taken as today’s exercise.”

Adams was stubborn, so Anaya had no choice but to help him pack up.

There weren’t many things that needed to be packed up. Soon, it was done. Then Adams and Anaya got into the car together.

Adams had stayed in the hospital for more than half a year, and he finally left today. He was in a good mood, talking and laughing with Anaya along the way.

When they arrived at the Dutt's house, it was just noon. Frank's family had already made lunch ready and waited for them.

During the meal, Frank asked about Adams's plan next. "Mr. Dutt, since you have recovered, are you going to go back to work?"

Adams nodded, "Yes, I haven't worked for more than half a year. It's time to resume work. Many thanks to you and Mark for everything you have done these days."

An imperceptible ruthlessness flashed through Frank's eyes, but he smiled warmly, "Don't mention

Her parents passed away and her brother went missing. Anaya, who was at a young age, found it too hard to accept. So she ran away from home and tried to find her brother.

Anaya thought that at least she had one family with her.

Back then, she did not know how big the world was. She stubbornly believed that as long as she kept walking, she would find her brother.

Unknowing how long she had walked, Anaya was chased by a dog, injured her leg, and fled into a manor in a panic, where Anaya met a sickly boy wearing a half-golden feather mask.

The boy treated Anaya's injured leg, cook food for her, taught her to make flower baskets, and finally, went with her to the funeral of her parents.

. When her parents were buried, Anaya rushed out of the cemetery in the rain, walking while cravina.

Blood oozed from the wound on her leg that had not yet healed and soaked the hemlines of her Princess dress with the rain.

The boy followed behind her and silently accompanied her for miles and miles.

When Anaya couldn't stand steadily because of the pain, the boy rushed over to hug her and patted her little head tirelessly, comforting her and telling her not to be afraid, that he would protect her in her parents' place.

And he gave Anaya this teddy bear at that time.

However, he did not keep his promise to protect Anaya in the end.

Anaya was greedy for the warmth given by the boy in the rain, so she asked someone to inquire who the owner of the manor was.

She was told that it was the Maltz's manor.

Back then, the son of the Maltz family, Joshua, happened to be in the same class as her.

Afterward, the eldest daughter of the Dutt family in Boston became a follower of the son of the Maltz family

Anaya missed the boy of that year and stubbornly followed Joshua for a full decade.

In the end, nothing remained.

That lie "I will protect you in your parents' place" caused Anaya to suffer in her previous life.

'Anaya, are you ready?'

When Adams knocked at the door, Anaya's thoughts were pulled back.

Yes, I'm ready

Anaya put the teddy bear back into the small box and hid it under the bed. Then she put on a smile, opened the door, and walked out of her room.

Chapter 68 - Reborn: Another Chance To Leave Up

Chapter 68 Keep Humble

At night, the Dutt's house was brightly lit and guests arrived one after another.

Anaya, dressed in a white dress, looked noble and elegant. She stood beside Adams and greeted the guests who came and forth.

Today, many of Adams' old friends came over one by one to greet Adams. Occasionally, they would talk to Anaya, and Anaya only responded politely and wouldn't say too much.

Previously, when Joshua withdrew his investment, Anaya had come to these people.

Anaya could understand their difficulties, but it did not mean that she was willing to be close to them.

There were some connections that only needed to be maintained on the surface.

It was not worth it to be too intimate,

When the Tarleton family entered, Anaya noticed that Yarden was also with them.

Catherine and David exchanged greetings with Adams, and the juniors gathered together.

"Why are you here with Aracely?" Anaya asked Yarden.

Aracely and Yarden had nothing to do with each other, and Anaya really couldn't figure out how they got so close

Yarden grinned. He was full of youthful vigor. "Of course, we agreed on it."

Aracely explained, "That time when you went on a trending topic, I united with him and fought with a lot of righteous' haters on the Internet. Then I found that we were quite compatible and often hung out together."

Aracely raised her hand to put it on Yarden's shoulder and Winston quietly came up and stood between them.

Aracely mistakenly put her hand on Winston's shoulder, but she did not think too much about it. She took the opportunity to hold Winston's hand and found a comfortable position. She lazily leaned on Winston.

Aracely was so comfortable that she narrowed her eyes and continued to say to Anaya. "He was reported and had more than 30 accounts banned that day. Even a few more than me."

Anaya could not help but laugh.

She thought that Aracely and Yarden were quite persistent.

Anaya looked behind Yarden. Kim did not seem to come with them. "Where is Mr. Simpson?"

Joshua argued almost reflexively, "What did I do wrong?"
In his heart, Joshua knew clearly that he had wronged Anaya before.
But he could not control his mouth.
As soon as the matter of Anaya was involved, Joshua could not calm down.
Robin was too lazy to argue with Joshua and changed the topic. "Have you been in contact with Lexie recently?"
Joshua replied somewhat irritably, "No, I haven't contacted her yet."
After such a big incident, he still somewhat minded it in his heart, not knowing how to face Lexie.
He couldn't bear to lose Lexie.

But if he had to get back together with her, the grudge in his heart would still remain.

Robin saw through Joshua's hesitation and sighed. "I really don't understand you. If you like Lexie, just be together. If you don't like Lexie, you should break up with her. But you can't even make up your mind. No wonder Anaya doesn't like you anymore."

Joshua glared at him and didn't respond.

Robin stuffed the gift box back into Joshua's arms, "Forget it. You may think about it yourself. I'll go find Anaya and ask about something."

"What's the matter?"

"Bryant asked me to ask her about the whereabouts of a woman. The woman came out of Anaya's house a while ago, I think Anaya should know her."

"Shiloh?"

"He didn't say who it was, but I think it was most likely her."

After all, there was only one woman who could make Bryant so concerned.

Robin turned around and walked over to Anaya. "Anaya, I have something to say to you."

Among Joshua's friends, only Robin was kind to Anaya and occasionally they would talk

Robin treated Anaya well, so she naturally wouldn't embarrass him.

"What do you want to say?" Anaya followed Robin to the side.

Robin asked, "Do you know a woman?"

"I know a lot of women."

Robin was speechless.

Chapter 69 The Shoes Are Broken

Robin was stunned for a moment, and he was amused.

He didn't expect that Anaya would be so humorous.

"I'm talking about the woman who left your house that night when Bryant and you were in conflict."

Anaya naturally knew who he was talking about. "Did Bryant ask you to come here?"

Robin nodded. "That person is very important to Bryant. If you know about her, please tell me."

"I have nothing to tell."

It meant she did know who that woman was.

Robin tried to persuade her, "Anaya, Bryant has been looking for Shiloh for two years. In two years, he has searched almost every place in America.

"I know that you're angry with Bryant because of his behavior, but this matter..."

"Bryant searched every place in America to find Shiloh," Anaya interrupted him, "But have you ever wondered why Shiloh was so desperately avoiding him?"

Robin only knew that Bryant was looking for Shiloh everywhere, and Shiloh had once been his girlfriend

And he had no idea about other things.

However, judging from Anaya's attitude, Robin guessed that Bryant had done something guilty to let Shiloh down.

He shook his head honestly. "Bryant didn't tell me about it."

Anaya did not like to criticize others behind their backs, so she did not explain to him. She only said, "Please go back and tell Bryant that I won't reveal anything about Shiloh to him.

"And it seems that she does not want to see him again."

Seeing that she was unwilling to tell the truth, Robin did not insist and left.

Anaya was about to return to Adams's side when Albert walked towards her.

'Ms. Duti, here's a phone call for you.'

He handed her cell phone over and Anaya glanced at it.

It was a call from Hearst

The phone rang for a long time, and it was automatically hung up, so Anaya called him back.

Soon, Hearst answered the phone, asking, "Are you free now?"

"What is it?

I'm outside your house."

"I'm not at home. It's my grandfather's birthday today, so I went back to the Dutt's house."

"I'm at the entrance of the Dutt's house."

Anaya continued, “At a time like this, the sudden movement makes people touched.”

“So you are teaching me to chase after you?”

Anaya kept silent

The laughter came again. She was held by him and felt the trembling of his chest.

It was the first time that Anaya had seen him smile so many times in such a short time.

Perhaps he didn’t even need to learn any flirting techniques.

He was a walking hormone himself.

Anaya lowered her head and whispered, “Hurry up. Don’t let anyone see us.”

“Okay.”

Hearst said with a smile.

Anaya buried deeper into his arms.

Hearst walked along the path that Anaya had pointed out and went smoothly.

When they came from the back door to the second floor, Joshua saw them.

He pursed his lips and glared at them with a darkened face.

‘Anaya, how dare you flirt with another man on the birthday banquet of your grandfather,’ Joshua tried hard to suppress his anger and said.

Hearing the words, Anaya looked at Joshua’s cold eyes.

If Anaya bumped into someone else, she might be nervous and worried that she might ruin Hearst’s reputation.

But it was Joshua. That was a different case.

In Joshua’s eyes, she and Hearst were both despicable, so what did she have to worry about?

Anaya asked Hearst to put herself down, stepped on the smooth floor with one foot, stood firmly against the wall, and asked leisurely, “Did you see I’m flirting with him?”

Joshua sneered, “Weren’t you preparing to enter the room to have sex?”

“My shoes are broken. Can’t I go back to my room to change shoes?”

“No one would believe in such a lame excuse.”

Joshua had been paying attention to Anaya when he was in the hall. He saw her leave after she answered a call

She had left for half an hour,

What had Anaya been doing for the past half hour...

Joshua looked at Hearst next to Anaya and clenched his fists.

Hearst nodded and helped her pass Joshua

Is there anything else?" Anaya asked, turning her head to Joshua,

Joshua did not answer. He grabbed her hand even tighter as if he was going to break her hand, Anaya felt a little pain.

If it wasn't for the fact that her foot was hurt, she would definitely kick him.

When Anaya was about to ask Joshua to let go, Hearst also grabbed her hand.

Hearst's expression was cold and his voice was indifferent, but it was inexplicably intimidating. He said coldly to Joshua, "Let go of her."

You are the one who should let go of her," Joshua said without any intention of giving in

As the stalemate persisted, two more people came up the stairs.

'Anaya, I've been looking for you..."

Yarden saw the situation in front of him and stopped.

This atmosphere ... looked so tense.

Beside him, Aracely's eyes lit up. She lowered her voice and said excitedly, "Oh! Two men are fighting for a woman. That's a classic plot in romantic dramas!"

She then was about to take out her phone to take a photo.

Hearing Aracely's words, Joshua immediately released Anaya.

He didn't want people to misunderstand that he had anything to do with Anaya.

After he let go of Anaya. Hearst also withdrew his hand.

Hearst saw that there was a red mark on the hand that Joshua had grabbed her. His eyes darkened Does it hurt?

With a worn-out face and dul eyes, Hank looked Anaya up and down and smiled maliciously.

Anaya felt uncomfortable being looked at by him. She did not know what Frank was up to, so she replied, "I have naturally heard something about Hank."

Frank put on the airs of an elder and said earnestly, "Anaya, you have divorced Mr. Maltz for a long time. And you're single now.

"Mr. Baker is from a well-off family. He is upright and honest. Thus, Aria and I want to make a match. Go on for a date and see if things work out between you guys."

Anaya laughed and said casually, "Frank, do you think he's an upright person? Or do you pay more attention to his wealthy family?"

"Of course, I value Mr. Baker's upright personality a lot. Everyone knows his character." Frank didn't even feel guilty when he was lying Anaya looked at Hank, whose face looked haggard. "Yes, everyone knows his character. You are the only blind one."

Frank couldn't continue his smile after being mocked by Anaya,

The reason he brought Hank to see Anaya today was that he felt Anaya would not embarrass him in front of so many people, and she would at least try to contact Hank

If Anaya didn't refuse in front of so many people, Frank would try to let them have sex when the news was spread later. At that time, Anaya would have to marry Hank even if she did not want to

However, he did not expect Anaya's words to disrupt his plans.

Before Frank could say something. Hank, who was at the side, couldn't wait anymore. He asked Aria, "Aria, Mark pleaded with me to come over and have a blind date with Anaya, so I came. But what is going on now?"

Aria smiled apologetically, "I told Anaya that I would bring you here today. She was really happy when she heard it before... Maybe she is in a bad mood."

"Forget it. That's also attractive. I won't argue with her." Hank looked at Anaya again. "I suppose you haven't given birth yet, right?"

*I can't get married to a divorced woman who has any children."

Aria replied, "No, she has no children."

That is good." Hank approached Anaya, adding, "So pretty. No wonder so many men chased after her back then..."

He reached out to Anaya's face, wanting to touch it.

Anaya's eyes suddenly turned cold. She twisted Hank's hand and kicked his leg, Aria screamed and everyone was shocked. At the same time, Hank fell to the ground in an extremely sorry posture.

As Hani let out a scream miserably, the originally noisy hall suddenly became quiet.
