Chapter 201 - I'm Finished

Chapter 201: Chapter 201 - I'm Finished

Back in Las Vegas, a group of Dons was involved in a fierce argument. "What do you mean he's still alive, and how did he disappear from the hospital? No wolf can survive a silver bullet, so how come he did not die and even escaped our assassin?"

Don Viggo's eyes were red as he questioned the men who brought the report, not caring about those who had died due to the crossfire with Don Denzel's men. He already knew what was coming if Don Denzel survived the gunshot.

The four men trembled as one of them made himself the spokesperson, speaking on behalf of the rest. It was Jack.

"We did as Don Mario instructed, but Don Denzel showed up before we could take the woman. Thinking he was going to deal with us himself, he called Godic to handle it."

Everyone who knew Don Denzel also knew about Godic. Wherever Don Denzel could not be, Godic was, and he learned so much from his boss that seventy percent of the time, he took decisions on his own.

Don Viggo did not like this. Godic was the one who even did most of the killings and torture for Don Denzel, so he was no better than Denzel himself. Fear wedged in his heart, as the other Alphas had grim looks.

"Oh no. Don't tell me about that beast. Is he a bodyguard, an assistant, or an assassin? He does more than a mere bodyguard would do and knows everything about Don Denzel's businesses," Don Viggo lamented.

Men like Godic were few, and yet he was loyal to Don Denzel. Thanks to him, their plans were always sabotaged. Godic was Don Denzel's eyes, ears, and nose in the human world.

Jack was clueless about the reaction he was getting from these great Dons since he was human and thought about explaining the details of the situation to them.

"That is right. Due to the situation, Don Mario showed up and offered to be taken in so we could be free. He sent a message earlier about how your snipers and assassins tracked Aurora to Don Denzel's manor, adding that we should observe and send you the report after Don Denzel's death."

Don Mario was certain that Don Denzel's death would be the end of Godic, for which reason he offered himself.

If Don Denzel died, his escape from Godic would be easy since the latter would focus on protecting the businesses.

Not being a Don, he would not be able to do much and might lose everything altogether. If the Dons gang up together, they could take everything Don Denzel worked hard for, but that would only be after his death.

"Everything was going well before that fucking beastly Godic appeared with his men. Even the snipers were taken down together with the assassins. The ambulance came in, and we saw Don Denzel unconscious on a stretcher. That woman by his side was crying." Jack was narrating the incident through gritted teeth.

"We followed them to the hospital and disguised as nurses. We were supposed to give him a lethal injection when suddenly the alarm blew, and in the midst of the chaos, he disappeared."

It ached him so much that they failed when they were this close to success. Did Don Denzel and his men suspect that something like that was going to happen? How could he escape like that?

"His chopper is still parked where it was, and the same with that of Godic. Same with all their cars. I'm sorry, but we can't find them." He finally lowered his head in defeat.

He never failed a job but did so this time, and this was equally the first time they went against someone like Don Denzel.

Those who went ahead were all dead, and somehow, he feared he might soon follow them to their graves.

"Fuck! So where is Don Mario?" Don Viggo finally asked. The other Dons were too depressed to utter a word. All they continuously did was puff on their cigars.

The VIP room in which they were in one of the clubs was already thick with the smoke of cigars.

"I don't know where they kept him either," Jack replied, destroying their last hope. Don Viggo was lost for solutions and spoke in a painful tone.

"Just wait outside. We'll call you when we need you."

The four men strolled out of the room and Don Viggo hurled the drinking glass in his hand against the wall. "I'm finished," he hissed.

This was his master plan after the humiliation Alpha Denzel caused them and their Lunas during Troy's coronation. The level they reached was too dangerous, and the failure of it would only bring them dread.

"Don Mario is going to sell me out too because of his woman, so I'm also dead here," Don Commander added his voice. He never stopped puffing his cigar, wondering if going by Don Viggo's idea was worth it.

He first thought about the consequences of failure since their predecessors failed at such attempts already. It was just that Don Viggo's plan seemed flawless, and the people he had on board were the best at what they do.

"Did you forget that the sniper was sent by me?" Don Eskimo expressed his worry as well. They came together to put their plans into use from their resources, but things still went south.

"What do we do now? Do you think he's gone to the pack?" Don Commander asked, fear rising in his voice.

Don Denzel was the most vengeful Don that ever lived. There was nothing like forgiveness in his dictionary, or should they say encyclopedia?

Don Eskimo was shaking his head. "We can't possibly know that from here, but if he's at the pack, then we have to execute plan B. Alpha Denzel would have to be killed, or Valerie taken from him. Let's launch plan B. Call Alpha Kendrick," he said seriously.

Alpha Kendrick was their only hope at the moment. If things worked out with him, then they would be back on track.

Chapter 202: Chapter 202 – Luna, we are close to the pack

Alpha Commander dialed Alpha Kendrick's number and spoke in a depressed tone. "Our plan failed from here. She still has not been marked, so this is your chance. You said that you had a special wolf, right?"

"Yes, I have a special wolf, and she is gifted with great abilities. I would get her help and be on my way," Alpha Kendrick's voice sounded at the end of the line.

When the call ended, his beta, Ludwig, advised him. "Please don't do this. No one has ever succeeded in going against Alpha Denzel. He loves blood, and I don't want to see yours spilled."

Alpha Kendrick of the Black Fur Pack was rather upset. No one liked to be under the shadow of the Evergreen pack. It would have been good if the gap in terms of wealth, power, and strength was just a little between them, but no.

The Evergreen pack was ten times more powerful than most of the packs. It was not fair and safe for one Alpha to radiate so much power.

"Shut up. I can take your position and give it to another. If you can't support me, then you are useless to me," he barked. Ludwig pursed his lips and did not say anymore.

The four Alphas in Las Vegas did not like this plan but did not have a choice. Should things work out, Luna Valerie would belong to Alpha Kendrick instead of any of them since he was not mated yet, but they also felt it was better than for her to remain with Alpha Denzel.

"It would also be better if we return to the pack, don't you think?" Don Eskimo asked, afraid that Alpha Denzel might send Godic to burn down their houses as soon as he recovers, but Alpha Viggo had other plans.

"I was thinking about relocating to any country in Asia for now. Did you forget how Alpha Denzel attacked the Yellowstone pack with just a few men? We don't have allies in his pack anymore, and as soon as he recovers, we shall be in deep trouble."

"What about our Lunas?" Luna Commander asked. Weak as they may seem, their packs were in the hands of the betas and Lunas at the moment.

Alpha Denzel was not one to have anything to do with their Lunas, so Alpha Eskimo was unfazed about that bit.

"Forget them. Let's think about ourselves first."

At an unknown location, Valerie was disturbed. "Why did we stop here? He's already burning up, and ten minutes have already passed." She was applying all the first aid methods she could think of, both science and herbal.

The injuries were deep, and they could not afford to lose Denzel on the way. Godic explained politely to her.

"We don't want to be tracked, so we had to buy a new chopper in the name of one of my men to ride to the pack. We won't be able to stop on the way to use a car." As he spoke, he heard the sound of a helicopter from afar. "It's already here."

Valerie let out a relieved sigh, wondering when Alpha Denzel would be free from so many enemies. A lot of people were envious of his wealth and power, but only if they knew what he went through just to enjoy a little peace.

As soon as the chopper landed, they carried Alpha Denzel to it, and the rest of his men stayed behind. They had to monitor the businesses, especially the managers.

"Keep an eye on everything and keep me updated," Godic said, and they nodded in agreement. The pilot got off the chopper and equally joined the car after Denzel was moved to the chopper.

"Here, it would be very cold, and it would even get worse when we begin the journey." Godic removed his jacket and gave it to Valerie.

She was about to take it when she remembered Denzel's warning not to smile at any man. Most certainly, he would not be happy that she wore another man's clothes and refused.

"No. I'm fine. It's just a little cold. I would be fine," she politely refused, though she indeed felt cold.

She might forget to take it off before Denzel wakes up, and she feared what he would think. This man took multiple bullets for her, so what was a little cold compared to it? She laid beside him on the mobile hospital bed in the chopper.

Godic did not force her and took the pilot's position. A lot of bosses feared to equip their staff, but it was not the same with Alpha Denzel.

Whatever he knew, he thought Godic, and that was why he trusted that should he not be there, Godic would always know what to do without being told.

Valerie's heart warmed, and a smile bloomed on her lips when Denzel wrapped his arms around her, even with his eyes still closed.

At one of the manager's offices in Las Vegas, Aurora was disturbed and went to speak with Codelia as soon as she arrived at work.

"Last night, I went to clean Don Denzel's house. He arrived with a woman and told me to leave. I lingered around and heard gunshots."

Codelia was not disturbed about something like that. Mafias and guns were normal activities, but Aurora had more to say.

"Godic and his men arrived, so I hid. An ambulance came to take Don Denzel away, but he wasn't at the hospital when I went to check on him this morning. Neither Godic nor his men are answering my calls. What could be happening?"

Hearing that her boss was taken in an ambulance, Cordelia was now interested in the conversation and also disturbed.

"You are a manager, so why did you go to clean his house? And who is the woman? Was it his wife?"

At the thought of the woman she saw with Don Denzel, bitterness laced her taste buds. "She was so haughty and spoke to Don like they were friends. She arrived, and Don got injured. Isn't she bad luck?" She asked, Codelia was speechless.

Valerie had no idea for how long they slept until she heard Godic's voice. "Luna, we are close to the pack. You have to inform the beta so they would give us access. This is the first time we are going to fly a chopper there."

Chapter 203 – Mate?

Chapter 203: Chapter 203 – Mate?

The sleep cleared from Valerie's eyes as she checked Alpha Denzel's pulse. There was still life in him, and she was excited, taking out her phone, but the battery was low.

Her hands shook a little as she took her chances and instantly dialed Alessia's number, lest the phone go off. Valerie had handled a lot of emergencies as a Luna, but Denzel's situation felt different.

It was as if their hearts were somehow intertwined, and she was living in constant fear of the what-ifs.

"Val, how is Las Vegas? Are you having fun?" Alessia asked as soon as the call connected. She was excited for Valerie's return, eager to hear about her experience in the human world.

Alpha Denzel had promised that she would go after their return, but the news she heard shook her a little.

Valerie sighed with relief and overlooked the pleasantries, speaking in a serious tone.

"Alessia, Denzel is injured. We are coming with a chopper. Inform the pack."

"What is a chopper?" Alessia asked. Valerie was only concerned about her battery. She was not sure if Godic had Alessia's number and had to ensure her message went through before the phone battery died.

The battery was already blinking, so she summarized it the best way she could. "It flies in the air. Just tell the warriors to give access to anything flying in the air. We are close."

Alessia was even more confused about anything flying in the air. Was it a bird? How could they come in a bird? "I don't understand. What are you saying? Hello?"

The line had disconnected, and Valerie felt helpless. "She doesn't know what a chopper is, just like me before," Valerie said aloud.

Godic was hopeful that as long as she mentioned that they were on their way, that was enough.

"At least she knows we are coming, and that is enough. Isn't Adira the beta? Who is Alessia?" Godic asked with interest. freewebnovel.com

Valerie was surprised that Denzel had not informed her, but after what she experienced during her short time in Las Vegas, she could not completely blame Denzel for it.

Seemed like aside from pack wars, the human world was more bustling with businesses than them. Unlike the pack where 'all for one' meant 'one for all,' the human world sang a different song with the message, 'everybody for himself, God for us all.'

"Seems you have been away for a very long time. Adira is mated to Troy, the beta of the Night Shade Pack. He is now the Alpha, and she is the Luna," Valerie summarized the best way she could.

Godic nodded his head in agreement. It seemed a lot had really changed since he left the pack years ago.

"I see. I've been out of touch, but we are here now. Oh, shit. The trees. We can't land in front of the pack house."

Valerie panicked as the understanding sank in, but she thought quickly and suggested, "Then land at the training ground. We can use a vehicle to get him to the pack hospital."

At the pack house, Alessia did not know what to expect and did not even know how to inform the warriors.

She ran out of the pack house, sat in one of the cars, and drove to the pack gate. Before she reached there, she received a mind link.

'Beta Adira, there is something flying over our pack. Should we prepare for war?' One of the warriors at the gate asked through mind link. She instantly guessed it was what Valerie talked about.

'No. No war. Can you tell where it is?' She asked seriously via the same channel. The warrior narrated in response.

'It's like it's going to the training ground.'

'I will take care of it,' Alessia said and disconnected the mind link. She made a U-turn, and as she got close to the training ground, she saw something like a car coming down, except it was bigger and with some kind of a huge fan on top of it.

"Is this what Valerie was talking about?" She asked no one in particular, but due to the wind accompanying the machine, she pulled over at a distance.

Pack warriors were already closing up as well, though there was no call for war. The sound of the chopper caused even the pack members to gather around.

They were only relieved when they saw their Luna. "Luna," they began to yell, but Valerie could only force a smile before Alessia ran towards her and hugged her.

"What happened?" Alessia asked after pulling away.

It was obvious from Valerie's demeanor that things were not as they seemed.

"Bring the car. He was shot protecting me, and can you mind link them to go away? I don't want them to see him like that," Valerie said pleadingly. Without the mark, she was not privy to mind link.

Alessia ran back to the car at the same time mind linking the pack members and warriors.

'Everyone, it's fine. Go back to your duties.'

Not having satisfied their curiosity, they were reluctant but eventually turned and began to leave.

"Tell her to mind link the pack doctor," Godic spoke from inside the chopper, feeling a strange unease. Before Valerie could pass the information, Alessia responded,

"I heard him, but who is he?" She was equally feeling uneasy and mind linked the pack doctor.

'Get to the training ground with some staff and a stretcher. The Alpha is injured.'

She had not seen the level of injury, but not seeing Alpha Denzel come out only meant it was severe. She was already panicking but tried to stay strong.

It was not up to two minutes when four medical staff ran towards them. The doctors were already checking on Alpha Denzel and moved him to the stretcher before Godic disembarked from the chopper.

His eyes landed on a woman he had never seen before, and his wolf came alive after being away from his pack for many years. "Mate?"

Chapter 204 - Our Luna is his mate

Chapter 204: Chapter 204 - Our Luna is his mate

Valerie was momentarily stunned, but Alessia was stupefied for a moment. Godic was good-looking and fierce but had a tired look on his face.

Alessia longed to meet her mate, and now that he was here, her joy knew no bounds, and her wolf was doing a joyful dance.

"I'm Godic, Alpha Denzel's most trusted bodyguard and confidante. I am based in Las Vegas," Godic introduced himself, ready to pull her into his arms before he halted at Alessia's introduction.

"I am Alessia, Beta of this pack, and sister of the Alpha."

She could feel the mate bond so strongly that if not for her injured brother, she would have dragged Godic to her room to begin the mating process.

Godic was speechless. His mate was more beautiful beyond anything he ever imagined, but her birth concerned him greatly.

Though being Alpha Denzel's right-hand man, he doubted that he would entrust his sister to her. Thus, Godic was scared.

His wolf, who had been asleep for long because of all his time in the human world, began to urge him.

'She's ours. Let's mark her.'

'The Alpha would be upset. Stay down,' he said to his wolf before focusing his attention on the stunning woman before him.

"Alpha Denzel has a sister?" Godic seemed surprised as he never knew of this secret. Alpha Denzel had told no one until that massacre day.

Valerie, being a Luna with experience, could already discern Godic's thoughts. "Like I said, you have spent a lot of time in the human world. I would join the medical team," Valerie said and ran off.

Godic waited for his mate to the point where he gave up. In as much as he was ready to claim Alessia, he feared because of Alpha Denzel.

Alessia was beginning to have mixed feelings because of Godic's behavior. It was as if he did not want her or was she reading wrongly?

'Shall we be marked tonight?' Her wolf excitedly asked. Alessia was lost for words but heard Godic asking, "Shall we go?"

Alessia smiled shyly. "Of course."

Due to the hours spent in transporting him, Alpha Denzel was still unconscious and was rushed to the intensive care unit. Valerie waited right in front of it. No matter what, she was determined to stay by his side all through.

The gamma and delta, Burke and Gandolf, arrived. Seeing Godic, they were stunned and yelled together, "Godic?"

Alessia frowned a little but gave them some space, though her ears were attentive to their words.

She and Godic had very important things to discuss, and until that was done, she did not want to let him out of her sight.

"Burke, Gandolf, how have you been?" Godic hugged his former comrades, his heart thumping wildly.

Alessia was too good for him, but he could not reject her but was also afraid of what Alpha Denzel might say.

"Things have been good. I'm now the gamma, and he is the Delta," Burke spoke, pointing at Gandolf before asking, "did you fly that thing? Wow, the Alpha must be treating you well."

"Yes, he does, but I don't think I can stay for long. There are a lot of things to take care of on the other side," Godic responded curtly.

To Alessia's understanding, Godic was going to leave without marking her and asked directly,

"What do you mean you can't stay?"

Godic did not know how to express his fears to her, but Valerie intervened in the awkward moment.

"Alessia, did you not talk about wanting to go to Las Vegas? Godic, at least you should wait until Alpha Denzel wakes up. I know there is a lot to do, but don't you trust your men?" She asked Godic keenly.

Perhaps, Alessia could travel with her mate for the first time. Godic might be busy, but Alessia was equally tough and smart.

Since she was already managing the pack business, she could also be trained to manage the business there.

Valerie would still have to seek Alpha Denzel's approval, so all she could do at the moment was to make Godic wait.

"I do have competent men, but I have to charge my gadgets," Godic said nervously, doubting that Alpha Denzel would allow Alessia to go with him.

"So, let's go to my room," Alessia proposed. Seeing her mate, she wanted to at least be marked, and so did Godic.

However, Godic knew that should he be in a closed space with Alessia, not even his fear of Alpha Denzel would stop him from marking her.

"Your room? No. I would check on my family first and charge the gadgets there," he said and left with Burke. He was afraid that if he stayed, he might just change his mind.

Alessia was saddened, seeing him walk away with Burke and Gandolf. She asked Valerie. "Do you think he would reject me?"

Valerie shook her head and patted her on the shoulder. "He dares not. I believe he's just afraid of your brother."

"Oh." Alessia hummed. She forgot that her brother was the Alpha, and naturally, Godic would be afraid of him.

Valerie did not enter the pack house since her return. Alessia had to bring her food and clothes as she showered at the hospital washroom.

It took forty-two hours before Alpha Denzel opened his eyes, and even without knowing, the only word that escaped him was, "Val."

"Denzel. You are awake." Her lips instantly met his, but he was very weak. "I will call the doctor," Valerie said as she had eagerly waited for this moment.

The doctor arrived, and after careful examination, he said to Denzel, "It would be good if you can shift. The silver is completely out of your system, and your wolf needs strength.

"What are you talking about?" Alpha Denzel asked, slightly confused. He could not move and could not understand why. The doctor explained.

"The bullets were silver bullets."

He stiffened instantly, and his mind went back to the events of that night. He would find the culprit for as long as they breathed the same air as him.

It would not matter which part of the earth they were located. "No wonder. I felt weaker than I ever did after being shot. I have to call Godic."

"He's around. I told him not to leave. There is something important he has to tell you," Valerie said seriously at the same time, Alpha Denzel heard a mindlink coming through.

"Alpha, Alpha Kendrick is here. Says our Luna is his mate."

Chapter 205 - I Only Came for My Luna

Chapter 205: Chapter 205 - I Only Came for My Luna

Valerie couldn't help but notice the change in Alpha Denzel's demeanor. "What's wrong?"

Alpha Denzel responded through the mind link. 'Have him wait at the gate. Alessia will come and meet him.'

Seeing Alpha Denzel's eyes roll back, Valerie was slightly annoyed. "I told them not to disturb you. If anything, Alessia can handle it."

Alpha Denzel shook his head, relieved that this matter had reached him before it was too late. "It's not that simple. Another Alpha is here to claim you as his. Please get me Alessia."

Valerie stiffened slightly before regaining her composure. Why won't these men leave her alone?

"She's right outside the door," Valerie replied before raising her voice. "Ales." Alessia entered with Godic, Burke, and Gandolf. Alpha Denzel was pleased to see all the people he wanted to see.

"Good, you're all here. Come over, Ales." Alessia approached and embraced him. Godic was even more apprehensive. Alessia's bond with her brother was strong, so how would he fit in?

Alpha Denzel whispered something in her ear. Alessia frowned and glanced at Valerie before he added, "Go with Burke."

"Sure," Alessia responded and gestured to Burke. "Come with me."

Godic was confused as Alessia didn't even look at him. She was the one who had come to get him at his family's house and had been affectionate towards him until now. She had even brought gifts for his parents and siblings.

"Are you sure you don't want me to handle it?" Valerie asked. Alpha Denzel shook his head. He feared charms because of the seductive spirits and hadn't forgotten the warning about them turning Valerie against him.

He would never allow her to face Alpha Kendrick alone. "It's not safe for you. Godic, Gandolf, help me into the woods," he said, determined to regain his strength.

This time, he was determined to rid himself of these seductive spirits once and for all. "Do you want me to come along?" the doctor asked, confused about all the discussions going on. He was there but everything they said, sounded strange.

Alpha Denzel shook his head. Valerie grabbed a few clothes and followed them.

Godic and Gandolf each took one of Alpha Denzel's arms and helped him walk into the woods, as there were hospital staff and a few pack members at the hospital.

It was already uncomfortable for Alpha Denzel for anyone to see him like this. He couldn't even feel his legs, so they used Gandolf's car until they reached the thickets of the woods where the car couldn't go any further.

"Val can take it from here," Alpha Denzel said when the car stopped. He hoped that his shift would trigger her wolf and wanted her there, but Godic wasn't comfortable with the arrangement.

"Alpha, please let me carry you inside. You might be too heavy for her," Godic suggested. Alpha Denzel didn't refuse, so Godic lifted him from the car onto his shoulder.

Gandolf waited by the car as they walked deeper into the thickets before Godic returned and said, "Let's go check on Alessia." He was worried because of how she had left without saying anything.

At the gate, Alpha Kendrick was growing impatient. He had waited for almost thirty minutes for Alessia to arrive without Valerie.

"Beta Alessia, I only came for my Luna. She is my mate."

The mention of Luna and mate on Alpha Kendrick's lips repulsed Alessia. Alpha Kendrick was a respected Alpha, but the way he presented himself made Alessia's respect for him diminish.

She knew it was impossible for Valerie to be mated to anyone because she didn't have her wolf. She could only fall in love naturally.

"How can anyone feel the bond over two hundred kilometers away?" she asked sarcastically, making Alpha Kendrick uncomfortable. But the only hope he had was the bond.

He knew that if he saw Valerie, Alessia would be shocked. "If you doubt it, then let me see Luna Valerie. She can confirm it."

Alessia's expression was unwelcoming as she stood in front of her car, facing Alpha Kendrick, who stood beside his car.

"I didn't say I doubt it, but you forgot our pack rules. No one comes here without prior notice."

Alpha Kendrick remembered that the Evergreen pack had strict rules. Well, they weren't so strict. Apart from close allies, Alpha Denzel wouldn't just barge into any pack unannounced unless he was there to attack them.

"I'm sorry about that, but I'm already here," Alpha Kendrick said with remorse, hoping that Alessia would make an exception.

Only Alpha Denzel couldn't be reasoned with, but it couldn't be the same with Alessia, right?

"Well, you can't see her today. She is quite busy, so let's just say you used today to book an appointment. You can see her at the same time tomorrow," Alessia said after careful consideration. Alpha Kendrick was greatly upset.

"What insolence! I am an Alpha, for crying out loud." His voice raised, and Alessia glared at him. Burke realized he didn't have to do anything as Alessia behaved sixty percent like Alpha Denzel.

"Of your pack. I am the beta of this pack, so my authority at the moment is higher than yours," Alessia pointed out. Alpha Kendrick's title was only valid within his pack, not hers.

Alpha Kendrick relented as another thought crossed his mind. Even if he had to wait, he would definitely see Valerie at the packhouse.

"Fine. I will stay in the packhouse until I see her tomorrow."

Alessia forced a smile. That was the right thing to do, but Alpha Denzel's instructions had put her in a difficult position.

"That's another problem. We weren't expecting you, so no arrangements have been made for you. I'm sorry, but you'll have to stay in a hotel nearby until then."

The color drained from Alpha Kendrick's face as he realized he wouldn't even be allowed into the packhouse. "You..."

"Be careful with your choice of words, Alpha Kendrick," Alessia warned, anticipating the curse words he was about to use. Then she made her stance clear.

Chapter 206: Chapter 206 - I can feel her wolf

"I am also the only sister of the Alpha, and that gives me an almost equal right as him. Don't even think I would be lenient because I am a woman."

Her voice was so stern that Alpha Kendrick did not think he was listening to Alessia but to Alpha Denzel himself.

What kind of blood did the siblings have to make them this fierce? It slowly dawned on him that Alpha Denzel's behavior was because of the DNA he carried.

Alpha Kendrick could only wait until Valerie confirmed his allegation. Then Alessia would be put in her place. "You just wait," Alpha Kendrick said before entering his car with his warriors.

Alessia waited until the car disappeared before turning to the warriors at the gate and instructing seriously.

"If he returns before this time tomorrow, don't let him in." She turned around to see Godic alighting from another car as he approached her hastily.

"Alessia, are you alright?"

Her heart warmed, and a smile decorated her lips. After taking Valerie's advice and going to see Godic earlier in the day, they had a good talk, and she realized that he did not plan to reject her.

He was just afraid. "Yes, everything is fine. Let's go to the packhouse."

Godic was uncomfortable but did not refuse. One way or another, he had to face Alpha Denzel concerning this matter.

How was it his fault that the moon goddess paired them? Right now, he could only comfort himself with his mother's words that the moon goddess rewarded him with Alessia for his love, dedication, and loyalty to his pack, and Alpha.

Godic's being away for so long affected his wolf, but he never complained. With time, he even gave up on finding his mate, but who knew a wonderful surprise awaited him in the name and form of Alessia?

In the thickets of the woods, Alpha Denzel was now supported by Valerie as he found it hard to stabilize himself.

Half of his weight was laid on her shoulders, but she was smiling all through, happy to have him so close to her.

"Just in case I am paralyzed and can't walk again after this, would you still love me?" Alpha Denzel asked out of the blue. Valerie stiffened slightly.

She was about to answer when he added, "I forgot to add that what if you had your wolf and could survive anywhere? Would you still love a miserable Alpha like me and stay by my side? I might be too weak to even pleasure you sexually."

Valerie's cheeks flushed red. "Why are you talking like this?" She asked, visibly disappointed. Alpha Denzel explained slowly.

"Because there is another Alpha coming to claim you tomorrow. I might not be able to walk or fight to keep you."

Valerie never thought a man like Alpha Denzel would ever fear anything, and it was interesting to know that his only fear was in losing her.

"I love you, Denzel, and I mean it. You die, I die, but if you stay alive no matter which form, I would never stop loving you and would always be right here by your side."

Alpha Denzel's heart warmed, but what if she got her wolf back and was indeed mated to somebody else? Would she be able to reject her third chance mate for him?

Assuming Alpha Kendrick's claim was right, Alpha Denzel would not be able to fight or kill him if she accepts him as her mate. "What if you indeed recognize him as your mate?" He asked again.

Valerie lifted her head and stared into his eyes. When she saw the seriousness embedded in them, she equally got serious with her retort.

"I would reject him. Just as I promised you."

When Alpha Denzel stared into her eyes, his heart warmed, and he did not have a reason to be afraid anymore. "I will try to shift then."

He tried to stabilize himself when Valerie stopped him. "Wait."

He stopped his actions, and Valerie stared at him. Her hand pressed against the back of his head, and she pulled him closer, their lips locking in a passionate kiss.

When she pulled away, she stared into his eyes and said, "no matter what happens, I love you and would never leave you."

Alpha Denzel smiled. "I love you so much, Val. Please move away."

Valerie obeyed and loosened her grip around him. He lost balance and fell hard on his back, letting out a painful groan.

Valerie's heart ached. She was quickly going to help him up when he stopped her. "Please don't." frēewebnovel.com

They stood in a stupor, just before the sound of bones cracking was heard, and black fur began to cover his white smooth skin.

His body began to expand, and the clothes he wore tore from his body. Claws replaced where there were once nails. A growl escaped from his throat before he ran into the thickets.

Valerie waited patiently where she stood. Alpha Denzel's transformation was not meant to be painful, but perhaps because of the silver that weakened it before.

Minutes passed before Brutus's return. He had fully transformed, looking scary, but Valerie walked towards him and caressed his fur.

This beast might harm so many people, but not her or her new pack members. Leaning in, she embraced him as he went on his knees. Valerie knew he wanted to shift back into human form and pulled away.

The sound of bones cracking was heard once more before the naked Alpha Denzel appeared on his knees, all sweaty and tired. Valerie took the clothes to him and asked.

"How do you feel?"

"Just tired," Alpha Denzel spoke in a husky tone. He forgot to add that he was also thirsty.

She began to put his clothes on for him, just as he pulled her into his embrace, their lips locking together again. After what was deemed a long obsessive kiss, he finally said, "I want to shower."

Valerie smiled, knowing that her Denzel was back. Aside from her cleaning him with a wet towel, he never had a proper bath.

Alpha Denzel never joked with his hygiene. Valerie's heart warmed. It was better than she expected. Alpha Denzel might be weak, but he was fine.

"Are you calling for a car, or shall we walk? We both have not trained in days." Valerie asked him. Walking could be considered good exercise at a time like this.

"A walk would do," Alpha Denzel wrapped his arms around her as they began a long walk to the packhouse. Suddenly, his mind was zapped by Brutus's voice. 'I can feel her wolf.'

Chapter 207: Chapter 207 - This is not the same wolf she had before

Alpha Denzel stiffened slightly. This was what he wanted but could not help being afraid that Valerie would be mated to anyone who wasn't him.

Then again, she would have shifted if she indeed had her wolf back. 'Then why did she not shift when I did?' He asked Brutus, the beast was equally clueless.

'I don't know. This is not the same wolf she had before. This is not our rejected mate,' Brutus said to his stupor.

He glanced at Valerie in his arms, humming a few tunes absentmindedly. 'You mean she has a new wolf? Is it stronger or weaker?'

'Much stronger. To my level. More like a female Alpha wolf kind of. Sadly, she does not recognize me,' Brutus revealed, it broke Alpha Denzel's heart.

Did it mean that all his sacrifices were in vain? When that spirit faked the bond with him, even without knowing, Alpha Denzel could never accept any other woman who was not Valerie.

Hearing this news, he could not help the sadness filling his heart. One mistake has caused him so much more than he could ever imagine.

Rejections happen and people move on but why did his have to be like this? He wished he could bring Alpha Conrad back and kill him multiple times again.

'Don't say anymore. I can't bear it,' he shut out Brutus and pulled Valerie closer. In his heart, he could only hope that she'd keep her promises to him but that was not to mean he was going to sit by and watch their destiny unfold.

No. It was just as he told the moon goddess that he was going to take charge of his destiny. His, and that of Valerie.

Even as he walked with her close to his chest, his strength was slowly returning and he knew that after a little sleep after a hot bath, he would be ready to face his adversaries once more.

They talked about random stuff and laughed a lot, not realizing it when they arrived at the packhouse with the pack members watching them like strangers.

Their Alpha never laughed much but with his Luna, they saw him laugh a lot. Arriving at the pack house, Alpha Denzel frowned deeply when he saw Alessia comfortably on Godic's lap.

"What is going on here?" His expression was terrible, Godic feared and quickly moved Alessia to the side.

Burke and Gandolf had left after having a meal prepared by Alessia at the packhouse but she had refused to let Godic go.

Godic was nervous and rose up to his feet as a way of respect. His head lowered. "Alpha" freewebnovel.com

"Godic, Alessia, what is going on?" Alpha Denzel did not allow him to speak, getting impatient as his punishment for the two people would be different.

Alessia understood the reason Godic was afraid and decided to be the one to break the news to her brother.

They decided to wait until he was fully recovered but since he already saw them in an intimate position, it seemed like the right time.

"Denzel, he is my mate, please relax, I made lunch. You look hungry," Alessia said all at once, Alpha Denzel released a breath he did not know he was holding.

He thought the two were just attracted to each other and did not respect the mate bond.

"Mate?" Alpha Denzel stared at Godic, who could not meet his gaze before he looked at Alessia once again and said, "Ales, excuse us."

Alessia was afraid he was going to hurt Godic or something. Her brother was unpredictable and it did not look as if he was taking the news well.

"No. I want to stay and listen to what you have to say."

Aside from leading a pack, the next most difficult thing was having a stubborn sister like Alessia. At a time like this, his only choice was to use an Alpha tone on her. "Alessia, I command you."

Alessia staggered from fright, not expecting him to use that tone on her. She hastened to the stairs but did not climb it and rather turned around.

"Don't say anything to make him upset. He's already afraid," Alessia cautioned before running up the stairs.

Godic's forehead was beaded with sweat from the way Alessia stood up to her brother because of him. Valerie decided to give them space as well.

But the moment she took a step, she heard Alpha Denzel say, "Please stay, Val."

She froze to the spot and lowered herself onto the sofa, deciding to not say anything until she was asked a question.

"Sit." Alpha Denzel said to Godic, he sat nervously in the single luxury leather seat. Alpha Denzel did not speak immediately and studied him for a while.

Not seeing any mark as he had not seen on Alessia too, he asked seriously. "When did you find out?"

Godic swallowed tightly and began to explain, forcing himself to remain calm.

"The moment I arrived a few days ago. She came to meet us at the training ground because we had to fly the chopper here."

Alpha Denzel frowned imperceptibly. His attention had instantly shifted. "You flew the chopper to my pack?"

Not even Valerie could discern his emotions from his utterance but as Valerie was about to chime in with an explanation, Godic rather said,

"Alpha, your condition was serious. I had to break some rules and our Luna agreed."

Alpha Denzel realized that Godic had rather misunderstood his question. He was rather impressed that Godic did not behave like a robot.

Most bodyguards would only do as told but Godic would always think out of the box. If all this happened, and he met Alessia for days now, then what stops them from marking each other?

"So what? You don't like my sister? You think you are too good for her?" Alpha Denzel sounded annoyed but Godic was having mixed feelings.

"No. I love Alessia. In fact, I don't think I deserve her. I only thought you won't allow it," he explained calmly, Alpha Denzel frowned a little.

"Then why haven't you marked her?" He was glad that it was Godic. He would rather prefer someone he could trust than just any person.

However, even when Alessia sat on Godic's lap, his expression had been distant, for which reason Alpha Denzel was curious.

"I needed your consent first. She might be my mate but she's also your sister," Godic explained his point.

Alpha Denzel thought for a while but his remark did not only surprise Godic but also Valerie.

Chapter 208: Chapter 208 - Will he be able to tame her?

"If you love her, then who am I to stand in your way? And why do you find yourself unworthy? What better person to be mated to my sister than you?" Alpha Denzel asked, leaving Godic speechless.

All along, he had underestimated himself, even though many people had recognized that he was not just a mere bodyguard.

However, Godic did not see it that way. Alpha Denzel had equipped him in so many ways, but his attitude towards him was as cold as it was to anyone else.

Godic did not want to have high hopes. "Alpha, I'm just a bodyguard."

Alpha Denzel chuckled, disappointed by his response, and asked keenly, "Is that what you think? Who in their right mind would leave everything to just a bodyguard?"

Godic was beginning to digest the words very quickly, but before he could conclude, Alpha Denzel asked again, "And is your salary the same as that of other bodyguards?"

Godic's salary was on par with the amount some Alphas paid themselves in their packs. In the human world, he was wealthy enough to own at least three houses, five luxury cars, or even purchase a private jet if he wanted.

"Alpha," he was about to say when Alpha Denzel began to break it down for him.

"Titles mean nothing. Your worth only depends on how you value yourself. Since you are now my brother-in-law, there are just a few changes to be made."

Alpha Denzel's words, though stern, sounded like the sweetest thing Godic had ever heard. No one could predict Alpha Denzel, but Godic was happy to be on his team.

"Alessia," Alpha Denzel yelled, loud enough for Alessia to hear from her room, and she responded quicker than expected.

"Denzel."

Alessia went to sit on the arm of the sofa where Godic sat, but Godic was not afraid anymore. He instinctively wrapped his arm around her waist, allowing her to rest her head on his shoulder.

Alpha Denzel smiled internally, but his expression remained stoic. "Do you love him?" He asked Alessia, she smiled and responded, "Yes."

"Then you have to move to Las Vegas with him. Godic has his signature on a lot of things, and it would take years before I can train anyone to take over his position. I can't transfer him to this pack," Alpha Denzel explained.

Valerie was smiling from ear to ear when Alessia locked eyes with her, thinking Valerie had suggested it to Alpha Denzel.

It was just funny how their decisions were in sync with each other, as if they read each other's minds.

Alessia was pretty excited about the arrangement, and Godic was wondering if he should punish the people who shot Alpha Denzel or reward them.

However, he recalled Valerie's words that Godic should take Alessia to Las Vegas since they were now mates.

It meant that even if this had not happened, he would have still met Alessia in Las Vegas at a later time.

"I will be glad to go with him to Las Vegas. Godic will take me on the tour you promised me."

Alpha Denzel was shaking his head. Indeed, he promised her a tour, but a lot had already happened, and that tour had to be postponed to another date and time.

"Alessia, there is a lot you need to learn there. You would need a new driver's license, a new identity, and even have to learn how to fly a private plane. Then there is the business aspect. You have to put your tour on hold for now."

Alessia was not pleased with her brother's words, so Alpha Denzel could only rely on Godic at this moment.

"Godic, you are the man, and you have to act like it. I'm entrusting her to you, which means that you can't allow her to bully you. She's stubborn and loves manipulation. I hope you understand what I mean."

Alessia's teeth gritted together. Since her brother could not control her, he was pushing the responsibility onto her mate. In a way, Alessia wanted her mate to be happy and would not want to make things difficult for him.

"Yes, Alpha. I will take good care of her," Godic said solemnly, but Alpha Denzel discerned another problem and quickly corrected it.

"You can't call me Alpha or Don anymore." Godic did not understand this part. With a confused look on his face, Alpha Denzel explained further.

"You are my brother-in-law now, so we will go by first names from now onwards."

Valerie was so moved that tears welled up in her eyes. Godic was equally wiping his. He never expected this form of reward after how well he was paid for every job he did.

The moon goddess had indeed blessed his loyal heart. "Alpha!" he was about to say when Alpha Denzel cut him off sternly. freewebnovel.com

"Be careful, Godic."

Alessia was perplexed. "Is it so hard to call him Denzel?" She punched Godic on the chest, and he held his heart with feigned pain in his eyes.

"Yes, it's hard for me, but I will try. With time."

Alpha Denzel disagreed and said to him, "No. Do so now. Open your mouth, and say it."

Godic opened his mouth, but the words felt too heavy to come out.

"Den! Denzel," he stammered.

"That's more like it." Alpha Denzel stood up and pulled him into his warm embrace, patting his back before pulling away. Godic stiffened before hugging him back.

It was taking time to accept the new changes and the fact that the Alpha was now his brother-in-law.

Alessia stood up excitedly. "Nothing stops us now. Come and mark me first," she said and dragged him upstairs, Alpha Denzel was shaking his head.

"Will he be able to tame her?" He asked Valerie, hoping that Godic would be able to take control of his relationship with Alessia.

Valerie recalled how she was ready to submit to Alpha Tristan when she found out he was her mate, even though he was just a mere warrior.

"Who knows, she might just change after their first mating," Valerie said before she quickly added, "let's go and shower." Alpha Denzel's gaze made her feel hot.

Valerie and Denzel were in the shower together when a knock was heard on their door. "I will get it," Alpha Denzel said, pulled a towel, and wrapped it around his sexy slender waist, and Valerie blushed a little.

When she stepped out of the shower, a voice caught her attention, and looking everywhere, her gaze took on a shocked expression when she saw the image in the mirror.

"I am Astrid, your wolf."

Chapter 209: Chapter 209 - His wildness is what turns me on Valerie was shocked. Her first wolf, Helga, had only spoken to her after her first shift, not appearing in a mirror.

Most of her kind would hear the voice of their wolf before a shift, but seeing and hearing her wolf through a mirror was strange.

"My wolf? Why are you appearing to me in a mirror? Are you not supposed to take over?"

Valerie did not have a good feeling about this, and Astrid tried to clear her worries with a good explanation.

"I can't take over yet. My powers cannot be harvested until the moon is full. That is the only time I can take control."

Valerie was still skeptical, even afraid. The wolf she was seeing in the mirror, though just the face, was completely different from the white wolf she had before.

This was a gray wolf. "You don't look like a Luna wolf, and why did you not recognize Denzel as our mate?" Valerie asked, looking puzzled.

Astrid was patient. For as long as Valerie had the time, she was going to explain everything vividly.

"I am better, stronger, and more powerful than a Luna wolf. Guess what kind of wolf I am?" She asked, trying to sound friendly upon seeing the fear in Valerie's eyes, but the latter was still cynical about the whole thing.

"I don't know." She was supposed to be excited, but judging from experience, she knew there was something off.

Astrid was disappointed but explained directly. "I'm an Alpha wolf."

Valerie stiffened, knowing that female Alpha wolves had their disadvantages as well. It was also just as rare as a Luna wolf but stronger and more powerful.

She was not ready to face any more tragedies. "Where is Helga? I just like my Luna wolf."

Astrid knew that she had a lot of explaining to do as Valerie had already accepted being human and not getting her wolf back.

If not for Alpha Denzel, she would not have been assigned. "It was a battle in the ethereal realm. Helga died in your world and can never return. She belongs to the ethereal realm now, and you have been rejected twice."

Somehow, Valerie had gotten over the rejection part and was no longer pained by it as before. It was amazing how Alpha Denzel's love had slowly washed away her pain.

She was not as desperate for her wolf as she was before, wanting to know the consequences that came with it.

Already, there was an Alpha claiming her as her mate, and she had to be certain that the ethereal realm was not involved in this.

"You were supposed to remain human, but Alpha Denzel kept threatening the moon goddess to give you back your wolf. He met the conditions given, and they decided that you needed a stronger wolf."

Valerie could only imagine which conditions Alpha Denzel met to get her an Alpha wolf but was even more surprised that he had gone to that length.

No wonder he had the confidence that she was going to get her wolf back. Astrid's conditions almost caused her to lose her mind.

"Should you kill Alpha Denzel, you could take over the pack and rule it without being mated to anyone. Valerie, you don't need a man anymore."

Valerie's face was red with anger. Getting a new wolf was supposed to be exciting, but the conditions attached were just ridiculous.

"That is rubbish. I love Denzel. I would never take his pack from him or even think of killing him." It was slowly dawning on her that the ethereal realm was seeing Alpha Denzel as a threat for wanting to get rid of him.

"Alpha Denzel is becoming too powerful. He doesn't obey the rules and has become a headache to the moon goddess," Astrid explained.

Valerie accepted all the descriptions that they were true, but one thing remained.

"He is a good person. If you are really as powerful as you are, you would know that he has the softest heart there is."

When Astrid accepted the mission, she never thought Valerie would be this stubborn. Being hurt a lot, she should have been happy to be the Alpha of the biggest pack to take revenge on the menfolk, but no.

It seemed that allowing her to fall in love the human way made her emotions stronger. That condition should have been impossible for their kind, but Alpha Denzel somehow managed to heal and win back the heart he once destroyed by his rejection.

"Valerie, you could be Alpha Valerie, and we cannot have conversations about the ethereal realm anymore when the moon is full. Please think about it. The ethereal world needs you to tame him."

Astrid sounded pleading this time, but Valerie was unmoved. That cold Alpha managed to win her love, and that was how it was going to be forever.

"I love him just the way he is. His wildness is what turns me on."

Astrid was displeased by her remark. She was supposed to do this for them to end the rise of power couples, but it seemed impossible.

Now that she appeared to Valerie, she could not also go back, and the fear lingered in the ethereal realm of if Valerie told this to Alpha Denzel.

"This is confidential information. You can't tell him about it. I am only able to tell you all this because I still belong partly to the ethereal realm. As soon as I possess you, I would be forbidden from letting out information such as these."

Valerie glared at the image in the mirror. Even without her wolf, she found happiness again and was not afraid to live without her. "All that you are telling me is useless."

"No. It isn't. If you don't want to usurp his authority, then you should not be mated to him. If you allow him to mark you, your womb would be closed, and you would never be able to give him an heir."

Valerie's eyes welled up with tears at Astrid's words. Every Alpha needed an heir, and Denzel was no exception. There was more.

Chapter 210: Chapter 210 - Don't Obey Her

"You can also choose to reject me, your new wolf, and remain human. Then you can give him an heir. But you would also die young and leave him for another she-wolf."

Valerie did not like either option. If she died, Denzel would be paired with another she-wolf, and she also desperately wanted to carry his child.

The odds seemed to be against her, and she could not accept it. "What is this? Are we some kind of joke to you?"

"No, Alpha Denzel was given the chance to choose, and he insisted that you be given your wolf back," Astrid revealed to Valerie, stunning her.

"When was this? How did he decide on my destiny?" Valerie asked seriously, partly upset. She knew that Alpha Denzel felt guilty for the loss of her wolf, but shouldn't he have considered her side of the story before making such a demand?

Capitalizing on the confusion in her eyes, Astrid went on to reveal more, hoping to crush her into giving up on Denzel.

Female Alpha wolves naturally loved control. It was the reason why they never mated. The last female Alpha that ever lived died centuries ago, leaving the Alpha position to the first male child of her beta.

"Alpha Denzel has been meeting the moon goddess secretly. The seducing spirits are the punishment that comes with it. Valerie, think about all that you have been through."

"Until the moon is full, this is the only way to get in touch with me. Use a mirror or clear water. Just call my name when you decide."

Valerie looked lost and did not think of seeking her wolf anytime soon. Her only desire at the moment was to reject her wolf and live happily with her man.

She already had a taste of leadership, but love superseded it all. Astrid was not happy to not have an immediate response and was afraid of Alpha Denzel finding out and messing up their plans.

"There is another thing. You can't tell Alpha Denzel all that I have discussed with you."

Valerie's attention was caught by the request. "Why? You seem afraid of him," she pointed out.

Having been caught, Astrid did not deny it. "Everyone is afraid of him. He doesn't obey the rules, and we can't kill him either. He was the moon goddess's favorite, but now, even she has lost control of him."

"Val," Valerie heard Alpha Denzel's voice, and the image in the mirror had disappeared before she could ask any more questions.

Valerie was confused when she stepped out of the shower room. Her countenance betrayed that something was off. With Denzel's curious gaze looming over her, she was even more uncomfortable.

"Denzel, I need fresh air." She quickly wore sweatpants and a crop top. Without even trainers, she ran out of the room, bumping into Godic.

Alpha Denzel feared she might get injured on her bare foot and screamed after her. "Val." Even with his Alpha tone, she did not pause in her steps.

He had soon returned after speaking to Godic to gist Valerie on what he just heard, only to see her out of the shower and looking pale.

Alpha Denzel, who had only a towel around his waist, quickly put on a pair of shorts and chased after her. There was no time to put on a shirt or anything of that sort.

"Val," Alpha Denzel yelled, annoyed that he could not mind-link her. The few pack members they bypassed could only look on curiously, wondering what was going on.

Valerie did not respond and only kept running. Alpha Denzel quickened his speed, chasing after her as she dashed into the woods.

Due to the trees, she began to slow down, but he also realized that she was not as tired as she usually would be, all thanks to her new wolf, whom Alpha Denzel was eager to see.

"Val," he called again in his Alpha tone, and she stopped this time.

"I just need some time alone," she said in a teary voice. Denzel caught up to her, wrapping his arms around her.

"No. Tell me what happened," he demanded. Valerie stared into his desperate eyes, then she realized he was bare-chested. Her cheeks pinked a little, realizing he chased after her without putting on proper attire.

As much as she wanted to unleash all her fears and burdens to him, she could not help but remember Astrid's warning. "I can't tell you."

Alpha Denzel was not upset, knowing that something was ailing her. "Is it your wolf?" he asked directly. Valerie was shocked.

"How could you tell?"

"My wolf, Brutus, can feel her in there, but I was wondering why you haven't shifted." Alpha Denzel was calm as he spoke to her.

"I don't want her." She lowered herself and sat on the floor. Alpha Denzel sat beside her and pulled her into his arms.

He partly guessed that things would not be easy, but he was not one to give up anyway. "What did she say?" he asked again. Valerie said truthfully.

"She told me not to tell you."

Denzel's gaze darkened slightly, but his voice was soft. "Don't obey her. Tell me everything. We can pull through this together."

Valerie smiled, feeling his warmth. She was about to spill the beans when she recalled something and asked him. "For how long have you been contacting the moon goddess?"

"She told you that? Communication with the moon goddess cannot be revealed to anyone, but since she broke the rules, then I would tell you. But how? How could she know?" Alpha Denzel was puzzled.

Valerie explained it to him. "She appeared in the mirror, right after you went to get the door."

"I see. She hasn't possessed you yet. I was wondering why she could not recognize Brutus," Alpha Denzel said thoughtfully, remembering what the moon goddess said about giving Valerie a new wolf.

"She wants me to leave you," Valerie revealed, seeing Alpha Denzel's gaze darken dangerously. His arm around her tightened as well. "What did you say?"

Chapter 211: Chapter 211 - I can handle her

"She wants me to leave you," Valerie repeated, adding, "she wants me to usurp your authority or even kill you and take over this pack."

Strangely, Alpha Denzel smiled. 'So, this is their plan,' he said to Brutus, who was afraid. 'What if she plays by their rules? You trust her so much, and she could easily kill us, you know?'

Alpha Denzel chuckled and responded to his wolf. 'If killing me would make Valerie happy, then I would gladly die for her. I would not be replaced in her life anyway since she now has an alpha wolf.'

Then he asked Valerie. "And what did you say?"

"She said it was because you have become too dangerous, but I told her your wildness is what keeps me attracted to you."

Alpha Denzel laughed, kissing her hair as he caressed it. He never knew that she liked his wild side better. Valerie continued to speak.

"If I accept her, then I can't give you an heir. She's a female Alpha wolf." Valerie looked into Denzel's eyes affectionately and continued to speak.

"Denzel, let me remain human. At least I can give you an heir. Just promise me that if I die for whatever reason, you would never replace me with another she-wolf."

Alpha Denzel stared into her clear eyes, having a mind of his own. "If you are telling me, then it means you never intended to do it."

His heart was filled with indescribable joy. All his life, he searched for love. When Lisa was taken, he never knew that love would find him again.

Then the bond drew him to her. The memories of their first meeting caused his anger to burn, but after everything, he still found the love in the one woman he faked hate.

She endured all his taunts and is even ready to die for him. Denzel would rather die for her.

"I just want you to know that I would never have my wolf back. Stop pestering the moon goddess for it," Valerie finally said, uneasy with his silence.

Alpha Denzel stared at her with admiration in his eyes. "Accept her. I can handle her," he finally said.

All he wanted was the chance to meet her wolf, especially when she was still in communication with the ethereal realm.

Alpha Denzel had a message for the moon goddess, but Valerie was reluctant. How could she do this? It would be selfish to have her wolf and Alpha Denzel.

How could she deny the pack an heir? "I won't be able to give the pack an heir if I do."

Alpha Denzel pressed his forehead against hers before saying, "Then I will tell you what I told the moon goddess. We create our own destiny. We shall have an heir, and that would be through you. Female Alpha wolf or not."

Valerie could not understand him. Then she remembered that he constantly went to meet the moon goddess. "Are you going to see the moon goddess again?"

Denzel shook his head, his forehead still pressed against hers. "No. I've had enough of seducing spirits. I told her I would never summon her again."

His expression turned serious. "Val, trust yourself and trust me, just as I trust you, will you?"

Valerie did not respond, rather capturing his lips and kissing him like her life depended on it. "I want you to mark me," she said after pulling away.

Denzel felt helpless. He feared losing control and getting her pregnant when her wolf has not possessed her. "I will but not until your wolf possesses you."

Valerie was slightly disappointed, wondering if he felt the same way she felt about him. "That would be after the full moon."

"Then I will wait, but I want to see this wolf of yours by whichever means you saw her."

Valerie hugged him tightly. "There is no clear water around. We just have to use your mirror in the shower room or closet."

"There is a manmade lake," he said and rose to his feet without a break from the hug, lifting her in his arms. "Now let's go."

"You can't carry me there, can you? You are still weak and need rest." She felt guilty to have made him run all the way here, and now, he was still carrying her effortlessly in his arms.

"I got strength because of your trust in me. Thank you for telling me," he said honestly. Valerie buried her face in his chest as he carried her all the way to the lake.

Reaching there, he dropped her gently as they both knelt beside it. Valerie looked into the clear water and could see her image. Then she said,

"Astrid." Her image in the water changed to that of her wolf, and seeing Alpha Denzel, Astrid panicked.

"You brought him means that you told him. How could you?" Disappointment laced her tone, but Valerie could not be bothered.

"How could she not? I told her to summon you once again. She has accepted you, but before the full moon, pass this message to the moon goddess."

Alpha Denzel was the one addressing Astrid.

"Tell her that I thank her for giving my mate a stronger wolf. But also inform her that this pack would have an heir, and that would only be through Valerie. If not, Selene would lose most of her children in our world."

Astrid sounded annoyed. She was just meeting Alpha Denzel for the first time through his reflection in the water, but he was just as they described in the ethereal world. freewebnovel.com

So fearless, daring, and disrespectful. "Are you threatening the moon goddess?"

"I have said what I said. You have no right to question me because the message isn't yours. Send it to the appropriate quarters, and I can't wait to see you in person when the moon is full. My wolf, Brutus, is excited to meet you," Denzel smiled.

Astrid was upset, but Valerie was equally amused. Since Alpha Denzel accepted Astrid on Valerie's behalf, she would not be able to escape.

Valerie wrapped her arms around Alpha Denzel's neck as he carried her back to the pack house. Just as they entered the living room, a shrill tore through the pack house from Alessia's room.

Valerie panicked. "Is she alright?"

Chapter 212: Chapter 212 - I'm going to mark you

Earlier, Alpha Denzel went to get the door, thinking it was a maid since Alessia was busy. He was surprised to see Godic instead.

Godic appeared helpless, as if something was pursuing him. "A...Sorry, Denzel, please, I'm scared."

Alpha Denzel's brows furrowed, and before he could ask what Godic was afraid of, he said, "I don't have any protection. What if she gets pregnant? Will it be too early?" Godic asked, slightly afraid.

Alpha Denzel had a headache, but it was also ridiculous, and he had never seen Godic this helpless.

"I don't think so. You've been away for long, but you have to understand that our community needs more members," Alpha Denzel said seriously.

Godic quite understood. Due to his long stay in Las Vegas, he was used to birth control, though he never used one himself.

There were always plenty of condoms at the clubs. He personally ensured that there was always enough.

"Thank you, but I haven't done it before. Any tips? She's in the shower and doesn't know I came here."

Alpha Denzel wanted to laugh. Was there a school that taught a man how to pleasure a woman? Alpha Denzel had never heard of any.

"You are asking the wrong person. I don't have any experience either. You are on your own," he shrugged, about to close the door when Godic said, "Alright. I will come and discuss business later."

Alpha Denzel waved dismissively. "Take all the time you need, Godic. Work can wait for now. You never took any leave anyway."

He did not want anything to distract Godic, as he expected to have all the time for Valerie when her wolf possessed her after the full moon.

Marking and mating in the werewolf communities were similar to what humans termed a honeymoon.

"Thank you," Godic said as Denzel closed the door. Soon, the door opened right when he was about to enter Alessia's room.

He was surprised to see Valerie run past him and thought there was a problem. But when Alpha Denzel soon followed, he thought he had just decided to go for a run to test Alpha Denzel's recovery.

In Alessia's room, she had just stepped out of the shower room when the door opened, and Godic entered.

"Where did you go?" Alessia asked, her hair damp from the shower. The sight caused strange movements inside Godic, and his gaze darkened with desire.

"Does it matter?" He asked as he ambled towards her. Alessia was surprised when he ripped the towel off her, dropping it on the floor.

Her words stuck in her throat when he caught her lips. It was both their first kiss. This was the main thing, giving them the right vibe with an inviting pleasure.

It felt good that neither of them was ready to stop. The pair had unlocked the door to a new world, immersed in their intense activity, pulling away only to catch their breath.

"Do you want to be marked first?" Godic's voice was heavy with passion, and the desire in his eyes caused Alessia's body to shiver with desire for him.

Her fingers caressed his chest, ripping the shirt off him before tracing down to his belt as she unbuckled them.

"What do you think I want?" Her scent filled the room as her heat kicked in when Godic's pants dropped to the floor, and her soft hands caressed his toned muscles.

A sensation he had never felt before flooded him, his member hard and ready to thrust. This was unbelievable, but it was a pleasure awoken which he wanted more of.

He carried her bridal style and lowered her onto the king-size bed and took off his clothes. Her pink nipples were inviting him to suck while her plump lips begged to be kissed.

Like a wounded lion, he attacked her lips ferociously. His wolf had waited so long to meet her, and even with the seven years age gap, he could not bring himself to be gentle with her.

He caressed every inch of her body like it was a van of ice cream, sucked and licked her ferociously, encouraged by her moans. "Are you sure you don't want me to mark you first?"

His manhood was so hard, it was painful, but he still felt that she should be marked first. Alessia was in a completely different world and feared becoming weak after being marked.

"Mating first, Godic. We can mark each other later." Her voice was filled with want, her closed eyes and plump lips inviting. Godic could not discern how he got so lucky.

When his manhood penetrated her, a scream broke out of her. It was so loud that it could be heard downstairs.

Valerie panicked. "Is she alright?" She was wiggling out of Alpha Denzel's arms, but only a faint smile appeared on his lips.

"Let's cook and eat." After today, they would see if Alessia would be able to keep bullying her mate.

Godic covered her lips with his to muffle her screams while he pulled out and plunged deeper. It might be painful, but he knew she could take it. She wanted this, so the size should not matter.

Surprisingly, she was pushing him off her because his size was too big, it was painful. Drowned in his ferocious ecstasy, he pinned her hands together and held them above her head while he plunged deeper and harder as he groaned, "isn't this what you wanted?" freewebnovel.com

Soon, her screams and fights turned to moans and want. She held his waist, pressing him closer, his penetration deeper.

He groaned at the pleasure, thrusting faster. He stopped and shoved her around, a bit violently, while he took her from behind. She let out another scream at the pain that was muffled by the pillow.

When her screams turned to moans, he thrust deeper and faster as pleasure shot through her body, her muscles tightening, her release washing her clean. He kept thrusting into the warmth of her juices, harder and faster till he came hard. Exhausted, he laid beside her.

Alessia was panting, just recovering from her hot release when Godic's lips pressed against her neck as he began to suck it.

"I'm going to mark you, Ales, are you ready?"

"I'm so tired, Godic. I want to sleep," Alessia said wearily. She was feeling sore as well, but in times like this, there was nothing her wolf could do for her.

This was a love sore that did not need healing. It was meant to preserve the memories. Being their first time, she expected Godic to be understanding, but he could not accept it.

Now, she felt it was good that they mated first.

"Marking would not take time. It's just a few seconds, Ales, you can mark me first."

There was so much pleasure embedded in his voice, showing that he would want to take her again.

However, they had each other now, and there was no rush in it. The most important thing was done anyway. Alessia was already drifting to sleep and spoke groggily.

"Let me mark you first." She hoped that would be enough for him to let her have her rest.

Godic wasted no time, turning his neck to her but realized there was no action, so he pinched her a little on the arm. "Ouch!" Alessia jolted awake. His desirous voice sounded in her ears.

"I won't allow you to enjoy your sleep if you don't mark me."

Alessia smiled weakly. It seemed she was the one being bullied now. At first, she was the one insisting on mating and being marked, but after mating, she just wanted to sleep.

"It's not as if I'm running away." Her eyes closed as she spoke, and Godic kissed her on the lips. To his surprise, she responded to it.

"I won't be able to sleep if I don't mark you." Godic never recalled the first time he slept so early, but Alpha Denzel gave them the chance, so how could he not enjoy it?

"Don't say that I didn't warn you," Alessia said and instantly sunk her canine into the sensitive part of his exposed neck. It was as painful as she wanted it to be. Her revenge for his disturbing her sweet sleep.

"Ouch, couldn't you be a little gentle?" Godic grimaced slightly as the pain circulated through his body, soon replaced by a unique feeling of accomplishment.

Alessia regretted it a little and kissed the mark to soothe him. "It's not that bad, don't be a baby."

Godic chuckled and kissed her exposed neck, sucking gently and caressing her naked body, which instantly turned him on and equally earned a moan from her.

As she was consumed by the pleasure, his canine gently sank into the delicate part of her exposed neck, she gasped from the pain mixed with pleasure, as Godic licked the little drops of blood from her neck.

When he got no response, he checked her out, but with her eyes closed and breathing stable, he knew she had fallen asleep and did the same. This was the happiest and most remarkable day of his life.

Downstairs, Alpha Denzel and Valerie prepared their meal and ate at the dining room. It was quiet with not even the sign of the maids.

Whenever Alpha Denzel was around, they made themselves scarce unless needed since he loved silence.

No other screams were heard, so Valerie was no longer disturbed, though she had no knowledge of what caused Alessia to scream like that.

Alpha Denzel, after his discussion with Godic earlier before chasing after Valerie, knew exactly what it was and remained nonchalant.

"I will do the dishes. Go to sleep," Valerie said, still disturbed that he wasn't getting enough rest. Alpha Denzel smiled at her and replied.

"I was told that I slept continuously for two days. That is a lot of time wasted, so I have to make up for it," he said with delight.

Valerie was rather annoyed. "You needed it because you were injured."

She was still doing the dishes as Alpha Denzel spoke behind her. "I am totally fine now, trust me, I am."

"I'm still doing the dishes. You can get yourself busy however you want," she said in annoyance, still feeling that he was overworking himself.

Alpha Denzel thought a little and asked her. "Did Godic give Conrad's phone to you?"

"No," Valerie shook her head and did not think much about it. Not wanting to disturb Godic's moment, Alpha Denzel thought of another way to get the information he needed.

"Let's go to the office when you are done. I will get my phone."

When the two went to the office, Alpha Denzel dialed a number. It was immediately answered, and the recipient spoke with genuine excitement.

"Alpha Denzel, you are alive."

Alpha Denzel's expression darkened. He was suspicious. "Were you expecting me dead? Tell me what you know."

At the end of the line, Clide did not hold back the information. "My Alpha, Commander, Alpha Eskimo, and Alpha Viggo planned an attack against you in Las Vegas, but I could not tell you everything then. If you are alive, then they should be working on plan B and C."

Alpha Denzel seemed to have gotten the information faster than needed. "What are those plans, and where are those Alphas?"

"They haven't returned, so I presume they are either still in Las Vegas or might go into hiding if aware that you are still alive. At the moment, they are working with two other people."

It was not hard for Alpha Denzel to guess, and he asked. "Is Alpha Kendrick one of them?"

"Yes," Clide's honest response came through, and Alpha Denzel sighed.

"So, who is the other?" Alpha Denzel asked with interest, not able to guess.

"His name is Aticus. He isn't an Alpha, but I heard Luna Valerie loves him greatly," Clide replied. Alpha Denzel's gaze met that of Valerie as he said on the phone.

"I will call you again later and prepare to take over your pack."

No matter what, Alpha Denzel would find Alpha Commander and the rest. They were undeserving of his mercy since Valerie could have easily been injured by that bullet.

Right now, he was concerned about Aticus since he already had Alpha Kendrick close by. "Val, do you know anyone by the name..."

A mind link zapped through his mind, and the warrior at the gate reported, 'Alpha, there is a man here by the name Aticus. He said the Luna would be happy to see him.'

Chapter 214 - Valerie's excitement

Chapter 214: Chapter 214 - Valerie's excitement

'Wait, I need to ask her first,' Alpha Denzel ended the mindlink and turned to Valerie. "Who is Aticus?" He asked seriously, surprised to see her face lit up.

"He's a childhood friend. Is he here?" The excitement in her eyes made Alpha Denzel frown. How could she so confidently show interest in seeing another man who wasn't Alpha Denzel?

"He's at the gate, but I won't let him in," he said seriously, feeling angered by her eagerness to see Aticus.

Knowing Alpha Denzel's jealousy, Valerie quickly tried to reassure him. "Don't be mean. I was just eight when he left the pack. Please let me see him, Denzel. He means no harm," Valerie pouted, revealing a childish side that Alpha Denzel had never seen before.

However, his recent conversation with Clide left him with doubts. Aticus might not be who Valerie thought he was, or he might have changed.

"That's not what I heard," he replied with mixed feelings, Valerie sighed, thinking of a way to explain it to him.

"Trust me, Denzel. Aticus is harmless. Please let him in," she insisted, her enthusiasm shining through.

Somehow, Alpha Denzel found himself wanting to see more of that enthusiasm. Perhaps he should set aside Clide's warning and trust his woman. "If that's what you say, then fine."

Valerie was pleased that he relented and made a mental note to not disappoint him. Alpha Denzel mindlinked the warrior at the gate. 'One of you should escort him to the packhouse.'

Ending the mindlink, he turned to Valerie. "Let's go back to the packhouse."

Her smile was enchanting as she followed him instantly. Aticus was a member of the Yellow Stone Pack and two years older than Valerie.

His parents had relocated to the human world when he was ten, breaking contact with his best friend, Valerie.

Arriving at the packhouse, Valerie checked the fridge for leftovers. Alessia had made extra food, but Valerie had also cooked, so there was more than enough.

She began to warm food for Aticus, while Alpha Denzel watched in a daze. He struggled to control his emotions as he watched his woman being so happy to meet a male friend.

Alpha Denzel had never had a female friend before, so he was clueless about any expectations. Soon, a warrior arrived with a man.

Seeing Alpha Denzel, the warrior bowed slightly and left. Aticus had jet-black hair, similar to Alpha Denzel's, but he was average-looking.

"You must be Alpha Denzel," Aticus said courteously. Alpha Denzel had not seen him before, indicating that he lived away from the packs.

Keeping his knowledge about Aticus to himself, Alpha Denzel's expression remained stoic as he faced the man. "You must be Aticus."

Aticus seemed slightly uncomfortable. Alpha Denzel's voice carried authority, and combined with his looks, it was clear why many Alphas envied him.

Alpha Denzel was also the strongest and most powerful Alpha so far. Though being away from the pack, Aticus still heard the stories of the great and mighty Alpha.

What he did not expect was some other Alphas approaching him to convince him into rekindling his relationship with Valerie, including forcefully making her his.

Aticus knew he could never win a fight against Alpha Denzel and forced a smile. "That's me. Where is Val?"

The only advantage he had over Alpha Denzel was his friendship with Valerie.

"Right here," Valerie smiled, appearing from the kitchen entrance with a tray containing food, drink, and water.

"Little Val is all grown up." Aticus naturally took the food from her. "Where should I take this?" He asked, stealing glances at the nonchalant Alpha Denzel.

"That's for the dining table. It's yours," Valerie smiled. It had been a long time since she had seen Aticus, and he had grown up.

However, those green eyes were a clear indication that this was indeed Aticus. Alpha Denzel was annoyed by how easily she had forgotten the rules and was smiling at Aticus.

Nevertheless, he didn't want to ruin her happiness. He knew exactly how to address the situation later.

What annoyed him the most was when Aticus hugged Valerie warmly, but she remembered something and politely pushed him away.

"No need for hugs."

Disappointment flashed in Aticus's eyes but was quickly replaced with a forced smile. "Come on, it's been decades."

Valerie absentmindedly gestured for him to sit. "I know. Eat up. You must be hungry."

"Yes, I am." A smile appeared on Aticus's face. As he ate, they chatted, so Alpha Denzel decided to give them some space, most likely to continue with his calls.

"I'll wait for you upstairs," he said to Valerie, his expression remaining blank. Knowing he wasn't happy with her male visitor, Valerie didn't insist on his staying.

Instead, she asked him, "Alright. I'll be up soon. Denzel, would it be okay if he stayed the night? He didn't give prior notice."

Valerie's eyes dulled, expecting him to reject her offer. To her surprise, he responded, "This is your home, so why do you need my permission?"

The response surprised and pleased Valerie. She climbed the stairs to meet him halfway. "Thank you, Denzel. I love you so much."

She stood on her toes and kissed him on the lips. It lasted for three seconds, and Alpha Denzel instinctively wrapped his arms around her waist to deepen the kiss and show the visitor that she was his woman.

Aticus's gaze darkened, and he vented his anger, envy, and jealousy on the food.

Upstairs, Alpha Denzel called Clide on the phone again. "Are you sure about Aticus?" He asked seriously, wanting to trust Valerie's judgment but Clide had more information to share.

"Yes, Alpha. He plans to forcefully mark her. That way, no other Alpha can have her until she accepts him."

Alpha Denzel's anger flared up instantly, but he responded softly to Clide. "Thank you for telling me."

Alpha Denzel decided to intervene after ending the call when he heard a loud growl.

Rushing downstairs, he was shocked to see bloodstains on his expensive leather sofas. The sight of Aticus was horrifying.

"What happened?" He asked Valerie, whose hands were covered in blood drops on her face. From her gaze, it was clear that her wolf was upset.

Chapter 215: Chapter 215 - I'm sorry, Val, but you are mine

Valerie went back to sit on the chair facing Aticus when Alpha Denzel retired to his room. Aticus wiped the corner of his mouth with a napkin and pointed out,

"If you are the Luna of this pack, is it not demeaning to not give you a coronation? It's not as if Alpha Denzel cannot afford it. Val, you deserve better than this."

Valerie's expression changed instantly, feeling it was too harsh for Alpha Denzel to be seen as stingy. It might be his fault that she lost her wolf the first time, but it was not as if he was aware it was going to happen.

"You are right in saying that we haven't seen each other in decades, so what right do you have to judge me when you don't understand the genesis of the problem?"

There was no amusement in her voice as she spoke, and Aticus was slightly guilty, deciding to proceed with caution.

"I'm sorry I wasn't there when Tristan did that to you. I would have made sure he paid for it. I would have never allowed it," he said seriously.

Somehow, Valerie was rather grateful for Tristan's betrayal. Imagining if that had not happened, Valerie would have been Tristan's Luna and still remained in her pack.

At that time, it sounded perfect, and she was content with it, but after all she learned from Alpha Denzel, the exposure he gave her with more in store for her, she felt lucky and content with her life.

"Well, if he had not rejected me, then I would not have been mated to Alpha Denzel. I love him very much and have no regrets."

That was not what Aticus expected to hear, his expression turning grim. "Are you sure you love him from your own will? Val, we share something special."

Valerie held Aticus's gaze. It had been so long, and their time spent together was when they were kids. The memories had become a blur, and she felt drawn away from the man in front of her.

"What are you talking about, Aticus?" Valerie already stood up and was walking towards the entrance to send him away.

She did not want more than friendship from Aticus, and anything directed in that angle only got her upset. Aticus panicked and rose to his feet.

Valerie was no longer the eight-year-old he left behind. "Val, I just don't want you to regret this. I've known even as a child that we were meant to be."

Valerie's expression darkened. It seemed that Alpha Denzel was right in not trusting Aticus. It was not jealousy that caused him to be distant. Never would she allow the cub to grow into a hyena. It was better to kill it before it. She was beckoning him to the door.

"No. If we were, things would not have turned out this way. I changed my mind, Aticus. You can't sleep over in this pack."

Aticus stiffened. Regret washed his face for having allowed his emotions to take a better toll on him. Patience would have warmed Valerie's heart towards him, and he would have patiently gotten what he wanted.

Perhaps the sight of her kissing Alpha Denzel caused him to lose his mind, making him overstep his boundaries.

"Are you sending me away?" Remorse laced his tone as he ambled to Valerie, so close, he casually hugged her, but she did not hug him back. Also, she never uttered another word, making it obvious that she was greatly upset.

"I'm sorry, Val. I just thought you should know."

Valerie stiffened as his arms wrapped around her. Her teeth gritted as she spoke. "Move away. I said no hugging."

Valerie was pushing him away, only for his grip around her to tighten. "Stop or I'll punch you," she snarled.

Knowing that he already lost his chance to go gently, Aticus was ready to force his way into getting what he wanted.

If he marked her, she might be upset, but he would apologize and work things out with her. If Alpha Denzel loved her, then what stopped him from marking her? Aticus could not understand.

"I'm sorry, Val, but you are mine."

Valerie thought she was not hearing right and would have been certain of it if Aticus's canines did not graze her exposed neck.

Realizing what he was about to do, Valerie was enraged, and before she could control it, her claws elongated, and she grabbed Aticus on the jaw.

The pain caused his hands around her waist to loosen, but when he looked into her eyes, they were pitch black.

Aticus heard that Valerie had a Luna wolf, but why did it look like an Alpha wolf instead? Blood was already dripping from his face due to the claws sinking into them.

"How dare you try to mark us?" Valerie's voice turned hoarse. It was as if two people were speaking at once. Aticus knew she wasn't herself, and it was too late to save himself from her wrath.

A loud growl left his throat as he tried to call for help, but Valerie's claws moved from his jaw, sinking into his throat and pulling out all his lungs and esophagus.

Aticus's eyes rolled to the back as life drained out of him. The door to Alpha Denzel's room swung open, the same time the parts in her hands dropped on the dead body on the floor.

Valerie regained herself to realize that blood splattered everywhere. "What happened?" Alpha Denzel asked worriedly.

Valerie took a deep breath before she explained. "He wanted to mark me, and I got upset, but I don't know how I killed him."

"Oh," Alpha Denzel sensed a pending problem with Valerie's wolf. It used to be the same with Brutus, taking over without Alpha Denzel's permission.

With time, he learned to tame his beast, but it was even better when he went to Las Vegas as the beast himself would not dare to take charge. "Go shower. It's not you. It's her."

"Astrid?" Valerie asked from shock, and Alpha Denzel nodded his head. "But she hasn't possessed me yet." Valerie was surprised. If Astrid did this when she did not even have control, then what would she not do if she did?

"Ask her why," Alpha Denzel said softly. Valerie was still in a daze as she went up the stairs.

Alpha Denzel was happy for her wolf, though. If Astrid had not done it, he, Alpha Denzel, would have still done it.

How dare he try to mark his woman? Aticus had some guts and deserved exactly what he got.

'Burke, I want you to take care of something in my living room. Do it discreetly and cremate the body. Let the maids clean up after that. If the sofas can't be cleaned, just replace them,' Alpha Denzel mind-linked Burke and rushed back to his room. freewebnovel.com

The dress Valerie wore before was in the bin, and when he entered the shower room, she had washed off the blood but was still naked as she stood in front of the mirror.

"It was you. Why did you do it?" Valerie asked Astrid.

Chapter 216: Chapter 216 – You taste sweet, babe frëewebηovel.com

Aticus was her childhood friend and should not have been killed by her. Astrid was unremorseful. "You have to know who we are. No one messes with an Alpha, so how could he mess with us?"

"I could have punished him by beating him to a pulp. There was no need for killing," Valerie said seriously. Though Alpha Denzel disagreed, he did not interrupt their conversation, only leaning against the glass door.

With Astrid's image in the mirror, that of Alpha Denzel and Valerie could not be seen.

He agreed with Astrid that Aticus deserved what he got but was only concerned with Astrid taking over without Valerie's permission.

That could pose a huge problem for her if she doesn't learn to control Astrid.

"He would not have stopped if I had not killed him," Astrid explained still without remorse. Valerie felt guilty. Aticus had parents who must be old by now.

Their conversation took a different route and she had no time to even ask about them. How was she going to break that news that she killed her childhood friend?

Aticus was the only one except Ashley who made her laugh a lot. "You have not possessed me yet so how did you not manage to take control of me like that?"

"Alpha Denzel accepted me on your behalf and the fact that I have not possessed you does not mean you don't have your wolfy abilities," Astrid revealed, explaining further. "You can heal faster than before when you get injured."

Valerie could not believe it until she tried it. At the thought of her wolfy abilities, her fingers elongated and she scratched from her left shoulder to her fingers with her right hand. By the time her claws reached her hand, the wound it created with it healed as well.

A sense of satisfaction and joy filled her heart as she smiled. "Thank you."

"You are no longer upset that I killed him?" Astrid asked teasingly. Valerie smirked.

"He should not have tried to mark me. I warned him but he didn't listen. I think he deserves it but next time, please let me know first that you are going to do something like that," she said with caution.

Astrid was relieved but since she had not possessed Valerie, there was no way for them to communicate without a mirror or clear water.

She would just keep doing what she deems right until the full moon. "For now, there is nothing of that sort. Just endure me, will you?"

Valerie was speechless. When she turned around and saw Alpha Denzel, she was slightly embarrassed because she was naked.

His desirous gaze was enough to scare Astrid out of the mirror. Valerie was about to reach for the towel when Alpha caught her arm, swirled her around and caused her to face the mirror.

His fingers caressed her midsection, tracing down between her thighs, as he allowed her to see her reflection in the mirror. "Spread your legs," he said in a desirous tone, his hot breath fanning her ears.

Valerie obeyed, as his finger thrust into her wet walls, she leaned back as pleasure shook through her body, a moan escaped her as her body suddenly felt feverish.

"Open your eyes, Val, I want you to see what I'm doing to you." His sexy voice caused her to feel things her body never felt, as she leaned her back against him.

He watched the way she squirmed in his arms before his other hand fondled her breast, pinching her pink nipples a little.

"Ahhh," she moaned aloud, her legs spreading wider, as his fingers dug deep. She could feel his hard manhood rubbing against her back and the moisture of his precum with it. "Denz, please take me. Darling please..." she begged him.

"Not yet, babe," his husky, sexy voice caused her blood to turn hotter, circulating through her body. "When I take your first time, you would never be able to forget it." He nibbled on her ears with his lips, turning them red as the pleasure doubled, causing a strange excitement in her abdomen.

Denzel's finger thrust in and out of her wetness, his lips nibbling on her neck and his fingers around her nipples tightened, she was soaked in a pool of pleasure, shivering violently in his arms, as her release coated her fingers.

Valerie was a shivering mess as he turned her to face him, lifting her and positioned her on top of the bathroom vanity with combo. He licked his finger soaked with her release, his manhood hardening even more.

It was unbearably painful. "You taste sweet, babe," he threw his head back and massaged his hardened member. Valerie felt guilty, knowing he might just have blue balls.

If he refused to take her, then she should just help him out. Disembarking from the vanity combo, she knelt before him and pulled down his pants, unleashing the beast underneath.

Her eyes widened at the thickness and length, but she pushed Alpha Denzel's hands aside. "What are you doing?" he asked her.

Valerie did not reply but kissed his phallus gently, while her gaze remained on him. Moistening the tip with the juices in her mouth, she slowly pushed it in, earning a pleasurable groan from him.

Throwing his head back, Denzel was in ecstasy. "Where did you learn that? It feels so good."

Valerie's mouth was full so she did not reply. Only her head bobbed back and forth, as she tried to get his length into her mouth.

It was so huge and much more difficult than she imagined it but she did not want to stop either, seeing he was enjoying it.

Seeing her discomfort, Denzel made it easier by pulling out of her mouth to the tip and giving it shallow thrust.

Valerie held the back of the phallus, massaging his testicles and kept thrusting faster, his breath becoming more and more erratic.

Valerie was getting tired as if he would never stop before he suddenly pulled her up with one arm, pressing his lips ferociously against hers, his fingers massaging the tip of his phallus as his hot semen poured out.

He was panting, holding her in his firm embrace before breaking from the kiss. "Thanks, Val."

After sharing passionate kisses in the shower, they slept like babies. The next morning, Alpha Denzel was woken by a mindlink. "Alpha, Alpha Kendrick is here."

Chapter 217: Chapter 217 – Too Cocky

Alpha Denzel was annoyed to be woken from sleep with such news. Looking at the time, he had slept for exactly three hours.

'Let him in. He knows his way to the pack house,' he replied through mindlink. The guards at the gate of the pack house had more to say.

'He came with twenty bodyguards.'

Alpha Denzel scoffed before responding through mindlink. 'All the better.'

He ended the mindlink and looking at the woman in his arms, he tried to move gently away but she still woke up.

"Is it time for training yet?" Valerie's eyes were groggy from sleep but with her wolfy abilities, she was so excited for training.

"It is, but I guess we might be late," Alpha Denzel said with mixed feelings. Valerie was suddenly uncomfortable at the remembrance of Alpha Kendrick.

Denzel was already putting on his training attire and after contemplating for a while, she asked seriously.

"Should I come with you?"

Alpha Denzel did not answer immediately. What if it was another seducing spirit? With Astrid not completely in charge of Valerie, what if she loses control?

"No. Just dress up and stay indoors for now."

Valerie did not argue, got off the bed, and began to dress up. Alpha Denzel noticed her sullen look after he finished dressing up in his training attire and pulled her into his embrace.

"You must not allow anyone to mess with your mind, okay?" Before Valerie could respond, he took her lips ferociously before going to the bathroom.

She had no idea what their intimacy caused him every time. After a few minutes, he came out looking refreshed. After staring at her once more with mixed feelings, he opened the door.

At the same time, the door to Alessia's room opened as well. Godic was the first to come out, and seeing Alpha Denzel, he was slightly embarrassed.

"Good morning..." he hesitated a little, as if thinking of how to address him. "Denzel."

Alpha Denzel chuckled. It was clear that Godic was still shy of him. "Good morning, Godic. Did you sleep well? I see you marked each other."

Alpha Denzel tried to loosen the atmosphere by picking on the mark on Godic's neck, which worked, but before Denzel could respond, that sweet feminine voice rang behind him.

"Denzel, good morning. Is Valerie in there?" Alessia asked, beaming with smiles. Alpha Denzel smiled back and stared lovingly at her.

"Where else could she be? Kendrick is here." His expression changed with his words. Alpha Denzel could not stand anyone having an interest in his woman.

The only thing the person could inherit from it was death.

"Do you want me to go meet him?" Alessia asked with interest. Alpha Denzel refused. The last time, he was unable to move, so he tasked her with the job, but it was different this time.

"I can take care of it. You two should go for training."

For some reason, Alessia refused. "I would mindlink Burke to start. I don't want to miss the show."

Pitching it from that angle, Alpha Denzel could not deny her. She was just too sneaky. "Then be the one to receive him."

Alpha Denzel looked around carefully, but everywhere was neat and tidy with no traces of the events of last night. The living room was as good as new, meaning that Burke had done a good job.

Alessia smirked as Alpha Denzel went back inside. Alessia went to meet Alpha Kendrick at the entrance with Godic.

She already learned a lot from her brother since the last time, so she adopted a similar strategy. "Welcome, Alpha Kendrick. I can let you in without your warriors," she said directly, excited by the anger in his eyes.

Godic was quite surprised by how daring Alessia was. Was it because she shared the same blood as Alpha Denzel, or did she pick his qualities by the time spent with him?

"I want my chief warrior to come with me," Alpha Kendrick insisted, not trusting Alessia and the man beside her. The only person he was eager to see was Valerie.

"Your beta, yes, but warrior, no," Alessia replied, but seeing his contorted face, she grudgingly asked, "Why? Are you afraid? Don't worry. We don't bite."

A smug smile tugged at the corner of her lips, making Alpha Kendrick even more uncomfortable.

"Beta Alessia, you are so cocky, and who is this man?" He lifted his chin in Godic's direction. Godic took the words from Alessia's mouth.

"Alpha Kendrick, do you really not know me? I used to be Alpha Denzel's head warrior before I was moved to take care of other things."

The mention of a warrior filled Alpha Kendrick's eyes with resentment. He thought Godic was some new Alpha or something.

The gentleman had the physique and personality of an Alpha. "Oh, I remember you, but since you are also just a warrior, you should not be let in."

Godic let out a bitter smile, wishing to be in the ring with Alpha Kendrick. "Well, he is also the Alpha's brother-in-law." Alessia turned her head to the side proudly, revealing her mark.

Alpha Kendrick's gaze dulled. "I guess I don't have a choice. You could have just allowed Valerie to come and see me. I would leave instantly."

Alessia chuckled at the mention of Valerie. "You look hungry. I will make you breakfast, but you have to buy food for your warriors. They are not my responsibility," she clarified.

Alpha Kendrick did not like the way his warriors were being treated.

"Don't you have maids? If you want, I can pay for their meals," he spoke in annoyance. Alessia calmly replied with Godic blocking the way.

"Well, I came to meet you around the same time yesterday. You did not tell me you would be coming with them. Per pack rules, they would have to fend for themselves. Give them the money to check some restaurants around."

Alpha Kendrick did not like that arrangement, but Godic recalled something and spoke, worsening the situation.

"Since when did you start eating before training?" Godic asked as a reminder. Alessia smiled apologetically. Last night had blurred her mind a little.

"Sorry. No need for food because it's training time. I would ask the servants to prepare lunch by the time training is over." She pulled Godic from the doorway, and Alpha Kendrick entered alone, regretting not bringing his beta, Ludwig, along.

"I am not interested in your training and you can as well forget about the food. Just let me see Luna Valerie."

Alessia mindlinked Denzel. 'He wants to see Valerie.' She expected to see Denzel when the door opened, but it was Valerie herself.

As she began to descend the stairs with Alpha Denzel by her side, her eyes met that of Alpha Kendrick, and Astrid's voice blended with hers.

'MATE.'

Chapter 218: Chapter 218 – She is my Luna

The living room was filled with silence, and you could hear a pin drop. Valerie's mind was in a mess as she stared at the man downstairs.

Then her gaze shifted to that of Alpha Denzel. It was blank. There was no emotion on his face, but she knew he was hurting. Without a word, she spun around and ran back to the room she came out from.

Alpha Denzel did not follow her, knowing she was going to talk to her wolf. He addressed Alpha Kendrick, who had a cunning smile on his face.

"Alpha Kendrick, what just happened?"

An innocent look took over Alpha Kendrick's features, and he looked offended. "Alpha Denzel, you are a respecter of the mate bond and should understand."

The corner of Alpha Denzel's lips curled up a little, and he sat on the sofa, beckoning Kendrick to sit.

Alessia and Godic sat as well. This was strange. Godic was afraid of Alpha Denzel losing Valerie and returning to the lifeless person he was before.

"It is not that easy, Alpha Kendrick. Even if this is real, I still would not allow you to have her, but this bond is not real, so tell me the truth."

Alpha Denzel did not beat around the bush and spoke directly. Alpha Kendrick panicked slightly, but it went unnoticed. If what he did was found out, that would hit him with a huge penalty.

"Alpha Denzel, I have no idea what you are talking about."

Alpha Denzel's calmness was scary. The bullet he took meant nothing to him, but this was something big.

"Alpha Kendrick, there is something you don't know about me. Everyone thinks I have it all, but I have always had to work for everything in my life."

Denzel's words sounded strange to Kendrick. "I don't know what you are driving at. Just give me my mate and let me go." The earlier he leaves, the better for him.

The glare from a pair of cold eyes was already too much for him to take, but there was something about Alpha Denzel that made Alpha Kendrick even more afraid as he spoke.

"It's not so easy. Even if she's your mate, you have to fight for her because I already claimed her. She is my Luna."

Alpha Kendrick was shaking his head, unwilling to accept it. He was close and would not allow Denzel to bully him. "You still have not marked her."

"That is exactly my point," Denzel smiled weirdly. Even Alessia, who has witnessed her brother's ruthlessness, found him a little strange today.

"Alpha Denzel, you are confusing me," Kendrick said, but Denzel's expression was blank. It was hard to imagine what he was thinking.

"No. I am driving at something. How can she be your mate when she does not have her wolf?" Alpha Denzel revealed, to even Godic's shock.

Alessia did not know why Alpha Denzel revealed it but could only be certain that Alpha Kendrick would not leave the Evergreen Pack alive.

The revelation was so shocking to Kendrick, it felt totally untrue. "It's not possible. She has a Luna wolf."

"Her wolf died with my rejection, and that is why I have not marked her. I was waiting for her to get her wolf back, and that would happen during the full moon," Denzel revealed.

Alessia was happy that Valerie would have her wolf back, unaware that it had been replaced.

"Alpha Denzel, please let me talk to her, or I would not believe anything you say." Kendrick's voice carried a wave of nervousness, and Denzel did not refuse his request.

"Alright. I will go and get her."

His eyes locked with that of Godic, and the message was clear that he should keep an eye on Alpha Kendrick.

In the bedroom, Valerie was frustrated. "Astrid, what is going on?"

Her wolf was clueless and without a solution this time. "Don't ask me. I don't know. I recognize him, though, as our mate."

"How is that possible? You have not yet possessed me, so there is no way for us to identify our mate. Can you reach his wolf?" Valerie asked. Astrid was quiet for a while.

"I'm also confused. I never expected anything like this, but he's ours."

Valerie was shaking her head. Thanks to not having her wolf for months, she was used to relying on her mind.

"No. We are going to reject him. This bond must be broken because I would never leave Alpha Denzel."

Valerie was sure of that, and surprisingly, her wolf was in agreement with her. "I'm beginning to like him too, especially what the two of you did in front of the mirror last night. It was so hot. I can't wait for the main thing."

Valerie's cheeks turned so red they climbed to her ears. "You silly thing. There is a fire on the mountain, and you talk about sex?"

Astrid was unrelenting. "I know Alpha Denzel can handle it."

Valerie could not waste any more time with her. She left and was about to open the door when it opened from outside.

At the sight of Alpha Denzel, she threw herself into his arms as he comforted her. "Everything will be fine, but were you going somewhere?" He feared that she was going to run away.

"Yes. I want to see him," Valerie said seriously. Alpha Denzel was not against it and walked her down the stairs.

As soon as she reached where Alpha Kendrick was, she spoke seriously. "I, Valerie Lawn, reject you, Alpha Kendrick Lotus, as my third chance mate. I will never accept you."

Alpha Kendrick's expression was grim. It was his turn to accept the rejection, but he was adamant. Alpha Denzel glared at him.

"Alpha Kendrick, accept it or be ready for a fight."

Alpha Kendrick's teeth gritted together. He did not believe that Valerie lost her wolf, but after all the blood Alpha Denzel spilled because of Luna Valerie, he could not disobey.

"I, Kendrick Lotus, accept your rejection." Strangely, the pain of rejection was not felt by either of them.

"What have you done? The bond has refused to break," Valerie panicked.

Chapter 219 – I doubt he will make it back

Chapter 219: Chapter 219 – I doubt he will make it back

Alpha Denzel's expression changed instantly. "What do you mean by the bond refused to break?"

It was just as he thought. Kendrick must have manipulated the bond to claim Valerie as his. Alpha Denzel was ready to make him pay.

"I can still feel it after the rejection," Valerie spoke as she sank into the sofa, depressed. Alessia went to her side to comfort her.

"Val, what are you talking about?" Valerie did not know how to explain it, but Alpha Denzel was going to get it out of Kendrick and asked coldly.

"Kendrick, what have you done to her?"

Kendrick, who was enjoying the turn of events, feigned innocence. "Nothing. Perhaps the rejection did not work because she was already rejected twice. Are you going to blame me for this too?"

Alpha Denzel did not respond, but his deadly countenance showed he was up to something.

Scrolling through his phone contacts, he found the name and number he was looking for and dialed it.

"Hello." A masculine voice rang from the end of the line, and Alpha Kendrick instantly recognized it, his expression contorted instantly.

"Beta Ludwig, this is Alpha Denzel."

Beta Ludwig was shocked. All Alphas had fellow Alphas, Lunas, and Betas contacts, but it was not the same with the betas unless their Alphas allowed it.

In Beta Ludwig's case, Alpha Kendrick had not allowed it. "Alpha Denzel? Is there a problem, please?" Ludwig was quite polite.

"Well, it depends on what you term as a problem," Denzel responded calmly.

Ludwig was confused, but before he spoke, Alpha Denzel continued to explain. "Your Alpha is in my pack, and I doubt he will make it back."

Alpha Kendrick felt moisture on his face, from his sweat. Then the image of the massacre played in his memory.

"Alpha Denzel, what are you doing?" he asked, his heart beating fast. Alpha Denzel ignored his question and continued the conversation.

"What I am saying is, I could train the weakest warrior to be your Alpha and rule over you, or you could take the position depending on how well you play your cards."

Alpha Kendrick paled at Alpha Denzel's words, worsened by Ludwig's response. "Alpha Denzel, I believe I would make the right decision."

Alpha Denzel had no doubt that he would refuse anyway. "Alright. Your Alpha claims that my Luna is his mate, and indeed, my Luna feels a bond, but even after a rejection, the bond refuses to break."

Alpha Kendrick recalled Ludwig's warning, which he shunned. Perhaps he should have handled things differently.

As for now, he could only find a way to prevent Ludwig from telling on him. "Ludwig, get off the line," Alpha Kendrick roared.

Alpha Denzel glared at him before speaking calmly to Ludwig at the end of the line. "I am the one who called you, Ludwig. You would get off the line when I say so."

Ludwig did not hold back the information Alpha Denzel needed, knowing that his Alpha, head warrior, and all those warriors would not stand a chance against Alpha Denzel.

"I warned him, but he won't listen. He was so bent on having Luna Valerie. There is a girl in our pack with special powers. He forced her to fake the bond for him," Ludwig revealed without fears, his Alpha's heart sunk.

This, to him, was a betrayal of the highest form. Alpha Denzel was glad to confirm the source of their promise and replied to Ludwig.

"You have been very helpful. Can you ask the girl for an antidote?" He asked politely. If the rejection did not break the bond, he wasn't sure of what else would.

This had to be resolved before he even thinks about ending Alpha Kendrick's life. Ludwig did not also have the slightest idea of how to get the antidote since he never interacted with the girl.

Already, he had a big problem on his head, and that was Scarlet. The bitch refused to accept his rejection, but pertaining to Luna Valerie's past with her sister Scarlet, Ludwig had hope that Alpha Denzel could use his authority to force it.

This was all he needed from Alpha Denzel. "I will put her on the line because he made her take an oath to not reveal it."

Alpha Kendrick felt betrayed. If nothing at all, his beta should have stood for him, but no. Just like the other betas, he betrayed his Alpha to be on Alpha Denzel's good side.

"Ludwig, you traitor," Alpha Kendrick yelled, but Ludwig did not feel like a traitor when he did his part in giving his Alpha the right advice.

"I warned you, but you didn't listen. I have to do what is best for our pack. You can think about how you would leave the Evergreen pack unscathed, but I don't care if you choose another beta in my place."

He took a deep breath and changed his tone before addressing Denzel. "Alpha Denzel, I will find the girl and call you back."

Valerie sighed with relief. Her wolf would never be able to recognize Denzel during the full moon if this spell was not broken.

Once again, she was glad to have chosen Denzel. He said before that they would create their destiny. He was doing just that.

"Alright. Make it snappy," Alpha Denzel replied to Ludwig before ending the call. Then he addressed Kendrick, saying,

"After this is over, you would have to fight your way out of this pack. You can start thinking about the weapon you like, and it would be made available. The only exception is a gun."

He was never going to allow Alpha Kendrick to leave the pack alive after doing this. Alpha Kendrick was sweating bullets, as the luxury chair he sat on suddenly became uncomfortable.

He could only hope that the girl with the special powers would not be found. Godic equally took advantage of the situation. frëeweβηovel.com

Alpha Kendrick got on his nerves when he entered the packhouse, and Godic wanted the opportunity to teach him a lesson.

"Denzel, if there is going to be a fight, then as your brother-in-law, I want to battle him in your stead," Godic proposed, Alessia's hand around Valerie stiffened. Why was Godic proposing to fight with an Alpha? Was he planning suicide?

Chapter 220 - I owe this to you

Chapter 220: Chapter 220 - I owe this to you

Alpha Kendrick had a smug smile on his face. If Alpha Denzel allowed it, he would enjoy killing Godic and returning to his pack unscathed to deal with that beta of his as well.

If not for Ludwig, no one would know that he used a spell, and with time, Alpha Denzel might just give up and allow Luna Valerie to go with him.

Thus, Alpha Kendrick was cursing his beta internally, regretting informing him about his plans. On the other hand, Alessia was not taking the news kindly.

"Godic, is that how you intend to leave me? Don't you even care a little bit?" Alessia was already teary, but Godic only chuckled, assuming it was because she had never seen him fight before.

Or, it might be due to the fact that he had lived for so long in the human world, she thought his life was peaceful and his level of physical activity reduced?

Godic was about to comfort her when Alpha Denzel spoke. "Godic. Isn't that dangerous? He has an Alpha wolf. I hope you are not planning to make my sister a widow at a young age."

Alpha Denzel knew that Godic could indeed defeat Alpha Kendrick in human form due to all the training given to him, but his only worry was concerning Kendrick's wolf.

Godic smiled, slightly disappointed that even his Alpha and boss did not trust him from that angle.

"I can take him down, with or without his wolf. I owe this to you as your confidant, brother-in-law, and most trusted bodyguard," Godic declared seriously.

Alessia hoped her brother would dissuade Godic some more, but his response only caused her to panic. "Alright. I have to make sure the bond breaks first."

Denzel would never discourage a man filled with determination like Godic. The only thing he would do was to make sure he didn't die in the fight.

Alpha Kendrick was relieved, having the hope of being alive since the fight was going to be between him and Godic.

Alpha Denzel's phone soon rang again, and the speaker was activated.

"Alpha Denzel, she's here but has refused to speak. I think she's afraid of what Alpha Conrad would do to her," Ludwig said over the phone. Alpha Denzel sighed and asked.

"What's her name?"

"Alice," Ludwig replied over the phone, adding, "the phone is on speaker so she can hear you."

Alpha Denzel swallowed tightly and spoke as softly as he could. He knew how scary his voice could be even when he just spoke casually.

"Hey Alice, this is Alpha Denzel. I'm not going to hurt you."

There was a brief pause, but the expected female voice was not heard. Alpha Kendrick felt that his wishes were being granted, as he hoped that Alice would also not turn against him like his beta did.

If she was not too young, she would have rather been his beta.

"I don't think it's working," Ludwig said frustratedly. "She still looks afraid."

Alpha Denzel ran out of options. The next thing would be to drive to the Black fur pack or have beta Ludwig bring her.

Both options were time-consuming, and he could not endure the bond being active until then.

Valerie was equally disturbed as the bond was already affecting her senses and attraction towards Alpha Kendrick.

It was like a love spell. Right now, her heart was captured, and only her brain was functioning right. She had no idea how long it would take for her brain to be equally consumed by the spell.

If the girl was afraid of Denzel, she doubted it would be the same for her. "Let me talk to her," Valerie said.

Alpha Denzel did not refuse, ready to take every chance available to remove this headache. Valerie went on to say,

"Hi, Alice, this is Luna Valerie. I need your help."

"Luna Valerie?" A thin, eager voice was heard as a relief sigh escaped everyone present. Before Valerie responded in the affirmative, Alice spoke again. "I heard you are very kind."

Luna Valerie was all the girls her age talked about. Most of them had not seen her but heard their elders talk about her.

She seemed to be some kind of heroine as everyone wanted to be like her. Alice felt honored to have this moment with her.

Valerie released a breath she did not know she was holding before responding, "Yes, I am."

The fear seemed to have melted away from Alice's voice, and she spoke normally. "But why do you need my help?"

Ludwig had not told her the reason for this call, so everything was strange to her, and it felt as if she was dreaming.

If not for Ludwig's presence, she would have even pinched herself to ascertain if she was dreaming or not.

"Because you helped your Alpha with something and it's affecting me," Valerie explained before asking. "Can you help me to undo it? I promise he would never come to hurt you. I will make sure that Ludwig gives you maximum protection."

"Alice, I command you to not do it," Alpha Kendrick's voice interrupted the conversation. Alpha Denzel was about to punch him when Alpha Kendrick fell from the sofa he sat on to his back.

Godic had punched him as if he read Alpha Denzel's mind. Having worked together for so long, he easily discerned everything his boss or Alpha wanted him to do at every point.

Alice suddenly shrunk back. "Alpha Kendrick? He's there?" Her voice was teary, and Valerie wanted to assure her it wasn't what she thought.

However, Ludwig's voice was heard in the background. "Alice, listen to me. Our Alpha did something very bad. If you don't undo this, our whole pack would be in trouble. Just imagine if this pack is attacked. Even if you survive, you can lose a loved one."

Everyone waited for her next response as if their lives depended on it. "Are you sure? Alpha said I shouldn't do it."

"Alice, our Alpha is not in the pack now. Who do you think would protect you if something happens? Please undo what you did for our Alpha or our pack would be in trouble. Did he tell you the reason why he wanted it so?"

"No, he is the Alpha so I can't refuse anything."

The conversation went on and on before Alice finally said, "I will only undo it on one condition."

Chapter 221 - It's broken

Chapter 221: Chapter 221 - It's broken

At this moment, there was nothing Alpha Denzel or Valerie would not do for important information like this.

"What is that?" Valerie asked seriously, but the response caused everyone to chuckle from amusement.

"That you allow me to see and hug you in front of my friends," Alice's thin voice was heard. Everyone chuckled, excluding Alpha Kendrick.

How could he have forgotten that just like those girls, Alice equally idolized Valerie? This would have been good if things had worked as he planned and Valerie became his Luna.

"That isn't a problem. I would personally be at your pack with Alpha Denzel during Beta Ludwig's coronation to give you that hug in front of all your friends," Valerie assured her.

It was the easiest deal she ever made in her life. She could not help wondering if Alice was being bullied by her friends for her to want to show off Valerie.

Most people with special powers would not dare to tell anyone and were always the ones faced with bullies. Alice's request could be a way of scaring her bullies away, but Valerie would not decide on it until she met the girl in person.

"Not Alpha Denzel," Alice suddenly said over the phone, earning a few frowns invisible to her.

"Why?" Valerie asked in a gentle tone, and the girl replied.

"He's scary. The sound of his voice alone makes me shake." Valerie and Alessia laughed, but Alpha Denzel and Godic only smiled a little.

"Hahaha, it might interest you to know that he is very nice," Valerie said reassuringly. The girl believed her as she began to give the directions to break the spell.

"Okay. Fetch water into a basin and pour lots of ice cubes into it. Then dip your face three times before pronouncing the rejection."

Alessia was already in the kitchen to get the items before she paused at the sound of Valerie's question. "Is that all?"

"Yes. After the bond breaks, you can moisturize your face with a little olive oil to prevent the charm on him from taking another effect."

Valerie was so relieved. Breaking this particular spell was far easier than she thought. "Thank you, and how old are you?"

"I'm sixteen," Alice replied. Valerie was happy for her special gift. It was not strange for some she-wolves to be specially gifted, and Valerie wanted to do something special for her.

"What do you like?"

"I like pretty lady dresses and shoes," Alice said shyly over the phone. Valerie made a mental note to get her some lovely dresses and shoes during Ludwig's coronation.

Alpha Kendrick had not only given his title away just like that but also his life, so Valerie was certain about Ludwig's coronation.

"Okay. I will bring you a lot of them."

At the other side of the line, Ludwig was slightly nervous and said, "Alpha Denzel, there is a problem if I have to be coronated in place of my Alpha."

He did not want Alpha Denzel to later see him as a scam, deciding to reveal everything. Unknown to him, Alpha Denzel already knew what he was driving at and casually said,

"Let me take care of this menace first." By the time the call ended, Alessia already brought the basin of water with the ice cubes before going to get the olive oil upstairs.

Alpha Denzel picked up the bucket of ice cubes, about to empty it into the basin when Alpha Kendrick kicked it from his hand, causing the bucket of ice to miss its target.

Ice cubes scattered all over the living room without a drop in the water. Valerie's heart sunk, and she made a move to replace the ice cubes from the kitchen.

Sadly for her, Alessia, who was descending the stairs with an olive oil in hand, froze. "This is all the cube we have in the pack house."

Valerie instantly knelt on the floor and began to pick up the ice cubes. Seeing this, Alpha Kendrick was about to pick up the basin of water when Godic caught his hand.

As if reading Alpha Denzel's mind, he punched Alpha Kendrick twice on the face before pushing him hard against the wall.

"Don't even dare," he warned seriously. Alpha Denzel controlled his anger, as his focus was on getting that stupid spell broken. He had joined Valerie in picking up the ice cubes with Alessia's help.

It would be a disaster if he wasted his time on Kendrick for the ice cubes to melt.

Godic joined later, and as they picked, they dropped it directly into the basin. As soon as they got enough, Denzel held Valerie's hair to the back as she dipped her face into it three times, the coldness causing a shiver through her body.

It was worth it for the spell to be broken. When she lifted her head, she pronounced the rejection words again, and this time, the bond broke instantly.

Alpha Kendrick's acceptance was no longer needed since the words had been exchanged before. Only the spell was still holding the spell from breaking.

Everyone waited as Valerie assessed herself to see if there was a trace of the bond. Luckily, she could not feel any connection with Alpha Kendrick anymore.

The only person intimately in her heart was Alpha Denzel and so was in her thoughts. "It's broken," she said to Alpha Denzel's relief.

Alessia could not control her excitement, hugging Valerie tightly before giving her a towel to wipe her face.

As soon as that was done, Alessia emptied a reasonable amount of Olive oil in Valerie's palm, and she quickly rubbed her hands together before smearing the oil all over her face.

Confident in herself, she stared at Alpha Kendrick in the eyes. "You think you can break us by faking the mate bond? News flash. We have seen worse than this."

Alpha Kendrick's face was all red as the heat from the spell began to burn him. A one-sided spell was not comfortable, but he had no means of reversing it.

His only way was to win the fight and to return to his pack for Alice to reverse it for him, but for now, he would have no choice but to endure the heat.

"Denzel, should I deal with him now?" Godic could not wait to do so. Alpha Denzel smirked upon seeing the redness on Alpha Kendrick's face.

"Without mercy but take it to the frontage of the packhouse." Then he smiled at the recollection of Godic's strength. "I won't even give him the opportunity to choose a weapon anymore."

Chapter 222 - Ensuring Fairness

Chapter 222: Chapter 222 - Ensuring Fairness

Due to Alpha Denzel's instruction, Alessia had hope. With evil intent, she mind-linked Burke.

'Please tell everyone to report to the frontage of the pack house. It's urgent. They can bring their phones along.'

When Alpha Denzel received the mind-link, he stared at her but did not say a word, whether good or bad.

The warriors from the Black Fur pack were confused when they saw the pack members closing in on them and began to look questioningly at their Alpha.

Unfortunately, Kendrick was too focused on his mission to put Godic in his place and was not even paying attention to them.

This was his only opportunity to get back at Godic for hitting him inside. Because of Alpha Denzel, he had endured it, but now was the time to put him in his place.

What he did not expect was the crowd that began to gather to watch the fight. Some of them had even climbed on each other's shoulders to have a view of what was going on at the frontage of the pack house.

With the phone camera raised, Alpha Denzel decided to address them, knowing the information would go around the packs.

"It's not as if I enjoy getting rid of people, but I just hate people having eyes on what is mine."

His countenance suddenly turned cold. "Something abominable happened today. An Alpha walked in to claim our Luna as his. He managed to fake the bond."

Chaos broke among the pack members as they began to chant together. "Death, Death, Death."

Alpha Kendrick panicked, and so did his warriors. Alpha Denzel's expression was stoic as he explained deeper.

"That is their judgment, but I will make it very easy for you because I'm in a very good mood."

Alpha Kendrick was sweating bullets. Alpha Denzel said he was in a good mood, but his expression did not seem so.

Was he speaking in irony? Kendrick had regretted his actions too late, not knowing how to plead for forgiveness.

He thought Alpha Denzel was going to fight with him and was about to give in and beg when he heard Alpha Denzel saying,

"You fight with Godic till death. And you have three minutes. No weapons and no wolf."

Alpha Kendrick sighed with relief that it was Godic and not Denzel himself but also realized too late that he had been tricked. "Why no wolves?"

Denzel smirked upon seeing the fear in his eyes. Most of the Alphas depended so much on their wolf, not giving in to training in human form.

Denzel always did the opposite. He responded calmly. "That is to ensure fairness."

Godic wanted to assure him that it was okay even if Kendrick shifted. "I can still take him even in wolf form," he said, but Alpha Denzel was not going to risk his sister's mate's life.

It would have been good if Godic had been in the pack for long, but in this case, his wolf has been caged for a very long time away.

To not expose his analogy, he termed it differently. "There isn't enough space here for a shift, so a battle in your human form is enough."

"Godic is fighting with an Alpha?" The she-wolves were already drooling, Alessia was uneasy as Alpha Denzel shook his head and revealed,

"Godic is Alessia's mate, and that makes him my brother-in-law."
frëewebnovel.cōm

The look on the faces of some she-wolves changed instantly. Only a few were congratulating Alessia with two thumbs.

The males were eagerly cheering Godic, not taking note of all that was going on among the she-wolves.

Godic was a little distracted with the cheers around him and did not see it when a force hit him, he staggered backward, almost falling to the ground.

Alpha Kendrick had taken advantage to attack. A kick was headed his way, which he dodged with a jump accompanied by a punch that rendered Alpha Kendrick dizzy. He gazed at Godic questioningly.

His skills were impeccable. The two were now dodging each other's punches when Alpha Denzel roared from boredom, "enough playtime, Godic."

The end of his statement resulted in a kick to Kendrick's knee, followed by a stamp on his foot. Godic ensured not to let him heal and continued with fierce punches.

Kendrick could only return a few, and before he knew it, a sharp pain pierced through his stomach, accompanied by all his intestines. Blood spouted from his mouth as he fell on his face, dead.

Alessia jumped and wrapped her slender legs around him, not caring about his bloody form. Alpha Denzel smiled and began to announce.

"Alessia would be leaving with Godic to take care of other businesses, but they are still members of this pack and would be visiting frequently. Burke, you are now promoted to beta, and Gandolf the Gamma."

Loud cheers echoed in the air, and a lot of people were congratulating Burke. Godic wiped his blood hands on Kendrick's clothes before publicly kissing Alessia on the lips.

The next announcement took them aback. "Dorothy would be the Delta, purposefully in charge of the omega's community development and the welfare of the omegas. They work hard and should be rewarded for it, don't you think?"

Valerie had tears in her eyes as she had thought of the same thing for the omegas. They deserved to live well for all their hard work.

It always surprised her how Alpha Denzel always did the things she loved without them even discussing it.

Dorothy was even more surprised as tears brimmed in the back of her eyes. She was one of the strongest and most dedicated warriors but never thought anyone noticed her.

The Alpha did, and this was her reward for working so hard. Alpha Denzel decided to discharge them and have a meeting with Godic and Alessia. They were supposed to be on their way to Las Vegas.

"Okay, go back to training. I would join you tomorrow."

Burke and a few warriors cleared the remains of Alpha Kendrick before one of his warriors asked, "Alpha Denzel, what about us?"

"It depends," Alpha Denzel said casually, but his countenance caused them to shiver as he dialed Beta Ludwig's number...

Chapter 223 – Can't You Control Your Woman?

Chapter 223: Chapter 223 – Can't You Control Your Woman?

As expected, there was another trending news, and Ludwig spoke as soon as he answered the call.

"Alpha Denzel, I saw what happened. It's such a shame that our Alpha was killed by a non-Alpha. Can you help me train with that guy?" He asked seriously over the phone.

Alpha Denzel chuckled but did not immediately respond to the question. Godic's abilities were extraordinary, as he was very dedicated and loyal to Alpha Denzel.

When Alpha Denzel visited the human world the first time, he went the second time with Godic, and they had lived together in the early days when Denzel was just starting the businesses there.

Without Denzel's invitation, Godic would join Denzel and try to mimic his exercise routines without being told.

Gradually, Denzel began to correct his postures and positions. Before he knew it, Godic was receiving free lessons.

Denzel liked him for the fact that he would try to do things to please him for the free knowledge and moves he got on a daily basis. With time, he would even begin before Denzel got to the gym. frēwebnoveℓ.com

"That isn't the reason why I called, but we can talk about that later. What do you want to do with the warriors?" Alpha Denzel changed the line of conversation.

It would take months to years for anyone to reach the level Denzel had taken Godic. He did not regret teaching Godic, and Godic had taught those who worked with him.

Thus, Godic's men were extraordinary.

"Do you mean the ones who accompanied Alpha... I mean my late Alpha?" Ludwig stammered slightly and spoke politely. Alpha Denzel's response was curt, "Yes."

"Most of them are honest, and the pack would need them." The response at the end of the line was clear. Ludwig did not want more of his pack members dead.

Also, if they knew how their life depended on what he was saying, then they would give him the respect he deserved.

"Okay," Alpha Denzel said on the phone before saying to the warriors from the Black fur pack, "Your beta and soon-to-be Alpha has just saved your life. Leave now before I change my mind."

He had no intention of doing anything to them anyway since none of them had caused him trouble. If Ludwig had refused them, then Alpha Denzel would have made them swear an oath to keep them.

The warriors scurried out of the Evergreen pack with Alpha Denzel about to end the call when Ludwig suddenly revealed, "Alpha Denzel, there is a big problem. I can't be coronated."

"What is the problem?" Alpha Denzel pretended not to know.

"Scarlet is my mate, and she has refused to accept my rejection, though already being Alpha Tristan's Luna."

Being aware of the feud between Scarlet and Valerie, Beta Ludwig did not want to get on Alpha Denzel's bad side if news about his bond with Scarlet goes viral.

"Do you intend to accept her in the future?" Denzel asked seriously, Ludwig gave a firm response.

"Never." What was he to do with a woman who not only lacked patience but also betrayed her sister to this level? Anyone mated to someone like Scarlet must be under a curse.

"What if I ask Tristan to leave her for you?"

Alpha Denzel was testing him, knowing how the mate bond could make one go crazy but seemed Ludwig could not forget what transpired between him, Tristan, and Scarlet at the Yellowstone pack.

His tone filled with certainty as he answered. "Alpha Denzel, I don't want her. The only thing I need is for her to accept my rejection."

His rejection of Scarlet would make it even better for Valerie during Ludwig's coronation. This was not how Alpha Denzel planned it, but it seemed karma was still doing a very good job.

"Then go ahead with the arrangements and send them an invite. State it clearly that you especially want Scarlet there to discuss a future together."

Ludwig was smart enough to read in between the lines of Alpha Denzel's plan. Scarlet would be filled with the hope of having her destined mate only for her dreams to be shattered like she did to her sister.

Ludwig began to see Alpha Denzel differently. "Thank you, Alpha Denzel. I wonder why people call you all sorts of names. You are beyond my expectation."

Alpha Denzel explained it calmly. "Well, greedy and selfish people turn proud and are unable to ask for help when they need it. They then see the person who can help them as an enemy because they feel inferior to him or her."

At the end of the line, Ludwig was smiling like a fool. It was obvious that all those Alphas going against Alpha Denzel, in actual fact, wanted to be like him. "I think I understand."

Alpha Denzel ended the call and turned to Godic. "Let's talk inside."

Naturally, Alessia was glued to Godic, and Valerie walked beside Denzel. They were not surprised when Alessia naturally sat on Godic's lap, but Alpha Denzel was not having it this time.

Alessia might just be happy and in love with her mate, but Denzel did not like clinginess. Somehow, he felt that Godic was just having a hard time correcting Alessia's unwelcoming behavior.

"Godic, can't you control your woman?" Alpha Denzel's voice was stern, but Alessia took offense. She already reaffirmed what she would do if she found her mate.

Everyone had just one chance at life, and she was determined to make the best use of it.

"Denzel, I'm your sister." If nothing at all, Denzel had no right to stare at her like that, but Denzel could not accept it.

"It doesn't matter."

Godic was caught up in the crossroad between his mate and her brother, finding a way to bridge the gap created between them.

At a thought, he whispered something in Alessia's ears, her face burned, and she instantly stood up and sat on the next sofa beside him.

Alpha Denzel was impressed and asked, "What did you tell her?"

Chapter 224 - I Want to Teach Them a Lesson

Chapter 224: Chapter 224 - I Want to Teach Them a Lesson

Earlier, Godic was thrown into a state of unease when Alpha Denzel mentioned his inability to control his woman.

Unlike Alpha Denzel, Godic loved that his woman was clingy to him. He had never had a woman before and had never permitted this kind of closeness from any other woman, but she was his mate.

He was also proud of the fact that she waited for him and accepted him and his family wholeheartedly. Thinking it through, he did not think that he even deserved her.

The closer she was to him, the happier he felt, proud of the fact that they could not get enough of each other.

However, he also understood things from Alpha Denzel's perspective, serving as a pointer to the fact that public displays of affection should be minimized at times like this.

To avoid offending Alessia, he patted her waist, and due to their sitting position, neither Denzel nor Valerie saw it, even as he pinched her butt slightly before whispering in her ear.

"You sure know how to turn me on," the huskiness in his voice caused her body to shiver with desire, suddenly feeling so hot around him.

Worse, Godic went on to touch on her greatest fears. "I might just have you right here in front of your brother if you keep your butt here."

Alessia was filled with unease that for the first time, she lost her tongue and the grace to retort. Her mate had found the antidote to taming her.

She might joke around with Denzel a lot, but that was far from having sex in front of him, and though Godic said it jokingly, she took it quite seriously from the hard rod that was pressed against her, as if it was going to split her in two.

"Denzel, that is our secret," Godic said, a little flustered. There was no way he could explain to Denzel what he used to get Alessia off his lap. They might be in-laws now, but Denzel was still the boss and Alpha.

Godic knew were to draw the the lines and would not take advantage of his position as the Alpha's brother-in-law.

Seeing how flushed Alessia looked, Alpha Denzel did not insist on it and went straight to business.

"Alright. I called you because of the businesses in Las Vegas." This matter was dear to Alpha Denzel's heart, and he eagerly wanted to introduce Valerie to it.

Though determined to do so, he was not willing to risk her losing her wolf when it had not yet taken over. Thus, until after the full moon, he was not ready to travel to the human world.

"Alessia should be in the accounts department at the head office. Keep her away from the clubs, and you will thank me later."

Alpha Denzel knew that his sister was wild. If taken to the clubs, her focus on work would dwindle, and she might create a lot of trouble for Godic.

Alessia being mated to Godic was both a blessing and a curse. Alpha Denzel was determined to capitalize on the blessing part to chase away the curse, but Alessia was in a different world of her own.

"Why can't I be in the clubs?" She asked seriously, greatly annoyed by the instructions. There were clubs in their communities, but she never attended due to a high level of duty.

If she had the opportunity to enjoy life, then why was her brother taking it from her? "That's because you have a lot to learn. The business there is different from here. Also, you have to learn how to fly a private plane. Does that not interest you?"

That interested Valerie, as she was determined to fly a plane the moment she saw Alpha Denzel doing so.

"Well, I'm eager to learn how to fly that plane," Valerie chimed, catching Alessia's attention.

"Is it that cool?" Alessia asked, looking puzzled.

"You have no idea. Since you'll be leaving in the chopper, you would understand what I mean. I won't lie that I'm not jealous you are going to learn before me."

Valerie was honest. She saw the opportunities in the human world and wanted to make the best use of them. However, her existence in her world mattered more, for which reason she had to wait for her wolf to take full control.

After that, she could visit all the beautiful places she wanted. There was still that little fear of not being able to bear the pack and heir, but after all that had happened so far, she could not help but hang on to Alpha Denzel's promises to create their own destiny.

"I would love to learn how to fly the plane, but I still want to go to the club," Alessia insisted. Godic took the response from Alpha Denzel's mouth.

"I won't let you."

Alessia pursed her lips and did not say anything more, recalling Godic's words before she sat on the sofa by herself.

It was still ringing in her mind, making it difficult for her to refuse anything he says. Alpha Denzel was impressed by how Alessia was responding to her mate.

It was not as bad as he thought. "Godic, overall, you are in charge. Double-check the reports and financial statements before sending them to me, including all purchases."

He paused and checked a few things on his phone. "Involving partnerships, you can inform me."

Godic did not want a clash of women to make his work difficult. Alpha Denzel loved to employ women but could easily control them.

In Godic's case, he preferred to work with a lot of men. "You already sent Aurora to the finance department."

Alessia wondered who Aurora was but thought about asking Godic about it later. Valerie was still uncomfortable with Aurora's behavior, but since Alpha Denzel was with her, she could not allow herself to worry about something like that.

"So Alessia becomes her boss after training," Alpha Denzel revealed, adding, "Valerie and I would give our constant support, but we shall not be involved in the day-to-day administration. Is that understood?"

Godic felt that he had so many responsibilities without the accurate time to perform them.

"Denzel, why do I feel like you are pushing all the responsibilities on me? Who will deal with the troublemakers like the ones who sent the snippers?" novelbuddy.com

The sudden change in the direction of the conversation caused something to wake up in Valerie. Her voice grew stern. "Denzel, can we go with them? I want to teach them a lesson."

Chapter 225 - Then I will go on a wheelchair, crutches, or whatever

Chapter 225: Chapter 225 - Then I will go on a wheelchair, crutches, or whatever

Alpha Denzel would have loved to return to Las Vegas to take down those thugs and the Alphas behind it all but could not risk Valerie's wolf.

What if the Moon Goddess capitalized on it to make it impossible for Astrid to take over? Alpha Denzel could not risk it.

Then again, he could not allow Valerie to take them down when he was there. This was the disadvantage of having a mate with an Alpha wolf, making him conflicted by the response to give.

If he disagreed, she would feel controlled so he rather said, "That isn't bad, but they already ran away. I have to search for them first."

The search would buy him enough time to take them down before Valerie would know about it. He could tell her those dons were trying to escape when they were found, so his men mistakenly killed them.

That would be reasonable. However, Valerie's response took away his hope of going with that option. freewe6novel.com

"If you find them, I have to do the killing. Promise me," she urged seriously.

Alpha Denzel could not lie to her anymore, seeing her level of seriousness, and came clean. "You are a woman. Please let me handle it."

"No." Valerie's voice was authoritative, and Alpha Denzel chuckled. Astrid had not completely taken over, and he was already faced with this side of her.

Well, he knew exactly how to tame her, but after she calmed down and began to explain, he could not help agreeing with her.

"You are already taking care of a lot of things. They almost took you from me. Please give me a chance to take revenge on them like you always do for me."

Alpha Denzel was touched, realizing that she wanted to do it to prove her love for him, so why not? He was flattered.

"Alright. I promise. When this is over, we shall go to Las Vegas together, and you can have your revenge," he said sincerely. Valerie was excited.

"Thank you." She would teach the people behind it lessons they would not forget in a hurry. Godic remembered something and informed them.

"Denzel, I already killed the snipers and all those who executed the attack. In case the masterminds run away, how do we find them?"

Godic knew how difficult it would be to find those Dons if they escaped from Las Vegas. It would be time-consuming, but Alpha Denzel came up with a plan.

"Sending you and Alessia there is my trap. The moment you both take charge of everything, news would spread around that I'm dead or badly injured. They would come out of hiding by then."

Admiration wedged in Godic's heart for Alpha Denzel. It was so easy for him to find solutions, which amazed Godic greatly.

It was not unusual for Godic's partner to be introduced into the business when she was Alpha Denzel's sister, but who would have thought that all along, Alpha Denzel already took advantage of their bond, hitting two birds with one stone?

There was only a little problem. "But they have affiliates around the packs. If you go to any coronation, they might see you."

Alpha Denzel thought about his promise to Beta Bodie and now Beta Ludwig. As someone who never allowed problems to overcome him, there was already another solution on his way.

"Then I will go on a wheelchair, crutches, or whatever would make them believe that I would not return. That would be the easiest way to find them."

Godic was speechless but knew the plan would work. For as long as Denzel does not show his face in Las Vegas, his enemies would play.

"And the business? They might think I betrayed you to lay hands directly on it." This time, Godic feared a little.

He would hate to be labeled a profiteer, but Denzel did not see that as a problem for now.

"Just allow them to spread the rumors, but whoever stands in the way of the finances, you are free to give me a quick call."

"Well noted. We shall leave now," Godic spoke with satisfaction. He just needed to freshen up a little since he did not carry any luggage along.

The clothes he wore were those he left aforesaid. "You have to take some food along," Valerie pointed out, already headed to the kitchen when Alessia followed her.

"Two would make it faster."

Alpha Denzel recalled something and thought to alert Godic. "Godic, I forgot to tell you, that Alessia has a weakness for spice."

"Denzel," Alessia yelled, looking upset. However, the look on her face caused even Godic to laugh out loud.

"Well, he has to know, lest you kill him with spice." Alpha Denzel did not intend to stop teasing her. She was leaving him again, and he would miss her a lot.

If Valerie had not been there before this, it would have been heavier on him to be separated from his sister again.

"I should have killed you first." Alessia spoke in annoyance. She was working on the spice problem, but Denzel had to create a fire out of nothing.

"You would have killed me with spice if Valerie hadn't come to my rescue," Denzel said with a straight face. Alessia was upset, but her expression was rather cute.

Godic wrapped his arm around her. "Don't worry, Aless, I don't believe him."

He knew it was true, as Alessia's food from yesterday had a bit of extra spice, but he enjoyed it because it was still delicious.

"Thank you." Alessia's heart warmed as she stared at her brother, but Denzel was not done teasing her.

"You better believe me, Godic. Don't call me when you are hospitalized for eating too much spice."

Alessia pulled away from Godic and hurled a decorative sofa pillow at Denzel. He caught it and smirked. "It's better I tell him than for him to come and lodge complaints. This isn't the peace council."

Valerie burst into laughter from the kitchen at Alpha Denzel's words as Alessia hurled another pillow at him, before accusing Valerie.

"Val, you too?" Valerie did not lie to her. Alessia was moving in with her mate, so Valerie was equally concerned about the spice.

"I was just tasting what you made yesterday..."

"Luna, it's fine. Please don't say it," Godic quickly cut Valerie off, not wanting his mate to be upset.

Suddenly, the ringing sound of Alpha Denzel's phone saved Alessia some of the mockery, but Alpha Denzel's expression turned grim after seeing the caller ID.

Valerie was concerned when she brought the packaged food to Alessia and Godic.

"Denzel, are you alright?" She asked with a worried expression.

Chapter 226 – Special Moments

Chapter 226: Chapter 226 – Special Moments freewebnovel.com

Alpha Denzel rushed upstairs to the Luna's chamber and locked himself in. If he used his room, Valerie could come up with an excuse to listen in on the conversation.

The call was from the investigator he hired to search for Valerie's father and Ashley as a surprise for her.

"Tell me you found them," Alpha Denzel spoke after answering the call in the safety of the Luna's chamber. The person at the end of the line was hesitant, not having the details Alpha Denzel wanted.

"We tried, but I don't think either of them is alive."

Alpha Denzel's expression changed, the warmth in his voice disappeared. A while ago, he had a taste of peace and tranquility.

Still, he knew that Valerie would not be complete without uniting with her father and elder sister.

"How can Ashley not be alive? She was recently at the Yellow Stone Pack, and she told Scarlet their father was alive."

He would never accept this report. If those two were indeed dead, Alpha Denzel would not pay a huge amount of money for this.

The information was clear during Ashley's attack on Scarlet. Their father was alive, and even if he was dead, then the investigator should have at least found or given a hint about Ashley. This report was inaccurate.

"Alpha, please, why don't you allow us to ask Luna Valerie some questions? It can give us some clues," the investigator pleaded, unknowingly triggering Alpha Denzel's anger. He asked coldly.

"What do you think is the reason I tasked you to do it?" He could have done it himself. Yes, he was good at it, but he did not want to leave Valerie for even a second, and neither did he want her to have any clues about what he was doing.

"This is the surprise I'm planning for her, so don't you dare mess it up for me."

"But..." the investigator was about to say but was quickly cut off.

"No buts. If you need more money, then say it, but her father and sister must both be found before her Luna coronation. If you don't find them, I will take back my deposit, but if you do, I will triple it."

The investigator began to sweat. That money was almost gone, so where would he find it? And did he hear Alpha Denzel promising to triple the money if the people involved were found?

He forgot to end the call and turned to his comrades. "Hey, the Alpha said to triple the money if we find them but take his deposit if we don't. Let's begin the search all over again."

Alpha Denzel ended the call instantly and opened the door to meet Valerie's angry glare. She had chased after him, standing by the door but did not hear anything.

"Since when did you start hiding to make calls?" Her expression was stern, but Alpha Denzel smiled and stroked her hair; she pushed his hand away.

Valerie did not suspect him of cheating on her, but this was the first time he hid away to make a call, so who would not be suspicious?

Alpha Denzel did not try to appease her anger, adding fuel to her already burning rage. "I just started now. What do you think? That I'm cheating on you?" Amusement laced his tone, but Valerie did not smile back and demanded.

"Give me the phone and let me see." Her hand was outstretched towards him, and Alpha Denzel gave the phone to her, but there was no call history. Valerie frowned imperceptibly, pressing the phone back into the palm of his hand.

"You cheating bastard. You deleted everything."

Alpha Denzel chuckled. He couldn't be bothered. "You look cute when upset. What can I do to get you even more upset?"

Valerie was shaking her head from shock and rage. Since when did Alpha Denzel develop such a great sense of humor?

Earlier on, he kept teasing Alessia heartlessly and even laughed a few times. "I thought you'd be saddened by your sister's leaving, but you seem far from that."

Alpha Denzel's gaze dulled a little. He was indeed going to miss Alessia but tried not to let it show.

Faking nonchalance, he shrugged. "It's not as if she's dying. She's with her mate. I don't think she'll even miss me."

A force rushed up the stairs, and Alessia wrapped her arms tightly around him. How could she not miss her brother when she always desired to be with him ever since knowing they were siblings?

"I hate that I'm already missing you." Alessia buried her face in his chest, her voice muffled from the position.

Alpha Denzel tried to fight his emotions, faking nonchalance once more in his voice.

"Then you can stay here with Godic, and I would go to Las Vegas with Valerie."

"You..." Alessia could not believe how fast he wanted to ship her away. She took his words quite seriously, but before she could complete her sentence, Alpha Denzel pressed his lips on her forehead.

It got so emotional that Godic took a picture of them. Moments like this needed to be preserved. Alpha Denzel could not hide his emotions anymore; his voice thickened with whatever he was feeling.

"I love you, Aless, and I will miss you. Be good and don't cause him trouble." He patted her on the back after creating a distance between them.

He did not want Alessia to stay any longer, as that would make it difficult for him to let her go. She and Luna Fernanda were his only living blood relatives.

It was even deeper with Alessia because they shared the same parents. Now she found her mate and had to leave. What would he have done if he hadn't also found his mate?

"I'll miss you too, and I promise to be good," Alessia smiled and replied sincerely.

Denzel and Valerie were met by Burke, Gandolf, and Dorothy as they escorted Alessia and Godic to the chopper.

Reaching there, a woman stood in front of the chopper, blocking anyone from getting close to it.

Chapter 227 - Her plans

Chapter 227: Chapter 227 - Her plans

"So, you decided not to even say goodbye because you found your mate?" Godic's mother was emotional. Both Godic and Alessia wrapped their arms around her.

Alessia spent a lot of time with her when Alpha Denzel was unconscious, but now they were leaving. This was not new, as a lot of people moved to other packs after finding their mates.

Some even joined the Evergreen pack when they found their mate there, but the human world was the only uncommon thing among all the arrangements.

"Mom, I honestly did not want to see you before leaving because I knew you would cry." Godic was honest.

His mother's continuous display of emotions made him embarrassed. He might be the only child, but his father was alive, so his mother did not lack companionship. Also, some cousins were living with her.

His mother stared at him with tear-filled eyes. "Is it wrong to cry? You are my son, and I miss you. Do you think that because you give us so much money, it can wipe away the times we miss having you with us?" freewebnovel.com

Godic was not liking this as he was not an emotional person. "Mom, I have my mate with me, so you will be seeing less of me. You have your mate with you, and I'm all grown up now," he spelled out, his tone light with courtesy.

His mother wiped a tear from the corner of her eyes. "It's true. You are grown up, but at least pay us a visit once in a while." A pool of tears replaced what she just wiped.

Alessia smiled at her. "Please don't worry, Mom, we shall visit for a week every three full moons."

The middle-aged woman was pleased and hugged Alessia. "You are wise. I'm glad you are his mate. Please take good care of him and make sure to give me grandchildren soon. I will take good care of them, and you youngsters can focus on work."

Alessia recalled that they had not used protection during their first mating and was slightly awkward. The middle-aged woman did not stop talking.

"Don't worry. The moment you give me grandchildren, I would not care about him anymore," she said, referring to Godic.

Alessia had a calm smile on her face as she comforted the woman. "Don't worry, Mom, he would be the one to take care of me because I have no idea where we are going."

As for the children, she did not know whether or not she was ready for them. The woman chuckled and hugged Alessia once more. As a beta, Alessia was down to earth, and being mated to her son, the woman could not keep calm.

As the conversation was ongoing, Alpha Denzel was accessing the chopper and frowned a little, "Is it new?"

Godic was slightly nervous and explained. "Yes. That was the only way to not be tracked."

An impressive smile contoured Alpha Denzel's lips as he said to Alessia, "You better be the one flying it when you come next time, but you won't bring it to the pack."

Alessia did not understand not bringing it to the pack but figured she might just ask Godic about it later.

She entered the chopper for the first time with Godic behind her. Admiration warmed her heart as she stared at everything in excitement.

"Val, you are right. I want to fly this. I'm going to learn a lot."

Valerie was quite envious of Alessia, though happy she was ready to expand her knowledge scope. "Don't tell me. I'm very jealous right now."

Alpha Denzel sighed, wrapped his arms around her, and said, "Don't worry. I would teach you so many things."

A blush crept onto Valerie's face. She believed his words, knowing they were true.

"I would remember that, but you still have not told me about the call," she suddenly remembered, but the sound of the chopper gave Alpha Denzel the time to escape the question.

"We should be returning to the pack house and should be preparing for Beta Bodie's coronation in two days."

Valerie's enthusiasm for coronations had long died. "I honestly do not wish to go. There won't be anything new but a bunch of Alphas trying to pick on us." She was tired of it, wishing to be away from it all.

"Don't worry. We won't stay long there, and we won't sleep over either. We'll leave before the break of dawn and arrive by midnight."

Valerie's eyes lit as she stared at him. "The moon will be full in a week."

The eagerness in her eyes was addictive, and Alpha Denzel was greatly anxious too. Never has he been privy to see a female Alpha wolf, and the mirror image only showed the face.

He was eager to see the transformation and whatever powers it brought with it.

"Yes. I hope we could attend Ludwig's coronation as well before then. Due to what happened at the peace council the last time, he would get his approval earlier than expected."

"That is great," Valerie said, leaning against his chest as he kissed her on the cheek.

At the Yellow Stone Pack, Scarlet and Tristan received the letter inviting them to the coronation. The content of the letter was not sitting well with Alpha Tristan.

He wanted to leave Scarlet, but things were complicated. Scarlet had lived her life in the packhouse and always addressed it as her home.

Alpha Tristan feared being the loser, as he would not be able to drive Scarlet out of it. Ever since her acceptance of Beta Ludwig, their relationship turned sour with no intimacy between them.

"What does he mean by discussing your future together?" Alpha Tristan asked seriously, hoping that Scarlet would join Ludwig at the Black Fur Pack. Then this pack would solely be his.

Scarlet had the understanding that Ludwig wanted to accept and make her his Luna and replied.

"Tristan, I think I would be relocating to the Black Fur Pack, so I would be leaving with my bags. Alpha Kenderick is no more, and my mate is going to be coronated."

She did not expect the response she received, as it broke her heart into pieces.

Chapter 228 – When Sweet Love Turns Bitter

Chapter 228: Chapter 228 – When Sweet Love Turns Bitter

"You are leaving with just your bags? You should add some brains too. It won't be long before he realizes what an empty shell you are," Alpha Tristan deliberately refused to filter his words as he addressed the woman on the bed.

If not for fear of creating suspicions if he moved to another room, he would not have endured sharing the same room with her.

Scarlet's heart broke. Was that what he thought of her? "Is that all that I am to you? Wasn't I the one who suggested and masterminded removing my father and Valerie for you to be the Alpha?"

She recalled how she crushed on Tristan back then. To her amazement, the feeling was mutual, but they both feared that their families would reject their love because they were not destined mates.

The only way to remove the hurdle was to escape her family's judgment. Ashley was already disowned, so Scarlet had only her father and Valerie to deal with, but they were both so tough.

However, it was easy to take out her father after bribing his most trusted warriors to do the job for them.

Tristan regretted following his stupid heart to go by Scarlet's plans, thinking that she loved him.

Remembering the events of that day was so painful to him, but there was nothing he could do about it now. It was just too late.

Now, he was cursed and would never even have a second chance mate. "It was just unfortunate that just before we could proceed with the plan to take out Valerie, you two were mated," Scarlet recalled bitterly.

Everything was her idea for Tristan to become Alpha by all means. "Was I also not the one who brought the plan about you accepting and playing with Val until we set her up? Now tell me, who is smarter? You never would have been Alpha without me."

"So, after all this, what did you do? You have no basic knowledge about leading a pack and are empty about battles or business. Beta Ludwig does not seem like he is going to need evil advice, so what exactly are you going to be to him?" Tristan mocked, Scarlet's was raged.

"You ungrateful bastard. In case you have forgotten, I made you Alpha. I betrayed my family for you."

A mocking smile contoured Alpha Tristan's facial features. "After that, all you do is jumping from one beauty treatment to the other. Sadly, your beauty is not even on the level of any of your elder sisters."

Scarlet felt slapped by thunder. Tristan's words agonized her soul. Her insecurities were exposed in broad daylight.

Ever since Scarlet was young, she wanted to be just like any of her sisters since they were the only motherly figure she had.

Not only were they stunning but also tough. Scarlet tried their training routines, finding them extremely difficult.

She would rather relax under a summer hut with a bowl of vanilla ice cream than go through those tedious or if not body-torturing trainings.

The more she tried to be like them, the more her weaknesses mocked her in the face, but now, Tristan had just activated her insecurities once more, her eyes welled up with tears.

"How dare you? Why did you reject Valerie then?"

"Because I was stupid or how would I know that you didn't use a charm on me? I was blind to have fallen for your shallow schemes," Tristan lamented, regretting everything. But he lacked the ability to turn back the hands of time.

"And now it's too late. She belongs to Alpha Denzel." Scarlet taunted him, adding, "you are not on the same level with him and would never be. Even the pack I left in your hands is far from what my sister left behind. Tristan, Valerie was a better ruler than you."

Tristan did not try to defend himself, knowing it was true. "I know. I never should have rejected her for a whore like you."

A slap met his face, but he was unmoved. Pain screamed in his voice when he recalled the humiliation he faced at the Evergreen pack because of his foolishness and said to Scarlet.

"Very soon, when Beta Ludwig finds out how empty you are, he would send you back here to enjoy the damage we both caused. The amount for your beauty treatments alone consumed half of the resources meant for the whole pack."

He could not believe that he overlooked it all this while until so much damage was caused. The pack members now live on half of what they deserved because anything above that would cripple their finances to zero.

Scarlet had no remorse for squandering so much money on her beauty treatments when they were working so well for her. Not until Tristan began to refuse paying for them.

She wanted to be the most beautiful woman any pack had ever seen, but the break in her treatments due to the pressure on the finances caused her to lose her glow.

With her mate becoming Alpha, she would be able to resume her treatments quickly, since the Black Fur Pack had a strong financial stand compared to the Yellow Stone Pack.

"There is still money in the safe. You just aren't smart enough to get it out for everyone."

Scarlet was mad to not have the passcode to the safe. She never knew there was even one due to her lack of interest in pack management.

Tristan was rather disappointed in the woman he chose over his destined mate.

"You weren't smart enough to learn anything from any of your sisters, so we are all suffering for it. If nothing at all, should we not be thinking about more important things?" Tristan's brow raised questioningly, Scarlet frowned deeply.

"Things like what? There is nothing of importance than my mate," she said proudly, happy to have someone better than Tristan.

Though pained, Tristan put on a calm demeanor. "Is that so? Did you forget that Ashley is back? What do you think is going to happen if your father returns? Do you think that Ludwig would still want to be with you after finding out what we both did?"

The questions caused Scarlet to feel uneasy, but she felt that Tristan had a solution. "If you have a suggestion, come up with it and stop wasting time. What is the plan?"

Chapter 229 – What Happened to You?

Chapter 229: Chapter 229 – What Happened to You?

Tristan was equally afraid of Ashley and the old Alpha's return. Back then, the warriors had confirmed that the old Alpha was dead, but before they could return the body to the pack for a befitting burial, it was nowhere to be found.

The warriors had initially lied, claiming that they forgot and had not paid attention to Scarlet's instructions, and cremated the body.

Tristan saw through them, demanding to see the ashes at the exact location where the cremation was done before they confessed.

However, no one thought that the old Alpha would survive those injuries. He had been confirmed dead. Should he return, Tristan had no doubt that he, Scarlet, and all the warriors involved would be put to death.

Lunas and some betas were honored with a burial instead of cremation under the belief that they might return as a different person.

Tristan had initially planned to leave the pack, but the finances were not even enough for the pack, so how would he be able to get the large sum he needed to start afresh in the human world?

He could only hope that the old Alpha would die for real. If that happened, Ashley would not be a problem for him as it would be her word against his.

As for the old Alpha, nobody would doubt anything he says. Looking back, Tristan realized how he had made a rushed decision in ordering Valerie's execution.

Instead, he should have killed the man he set her up with, and there would be no way for her to prove her innocence.

That Kyle confessed everything to Alpha Denzel, bringing out the truth of the matter. Tristan never felt like an Alpha after that, even when he walked the pack or gave orders.

Even the pack members now looked at him differently, no longer according him with the needed respect. After all, he could not even cater to their needs like Valerie and her father did before.

Valerie was too smart for him. Dead or alive, she proved worthy to be the Luna. Even in her absence, the wealth of the pack was still locked away from undeserving hands.

"The only solution is to escape and leave the packs before the return of your father." That was the conclusion Tristan derived from all the problems headed their way.

However, Scarlet felt at a loss. The bond she felt with Ludwig was amazing. What she had with Tristan could not be compared to it.

She regretted not waiting for her mate but was happy that Ludwig was considering talking about their future together.

"And leave my mate?" Scarlet could not accept it. "Look, if my dad was alive, then he would have been here. Injured or not, it's too late for his return."

That is it. Scarlet wanted to convince herself that her father died, and that was the only way for her to have peace and sanity. The thought of him gave her fearful shivers.

Her father loved her dearly, and she had even been the last person to stab him in the heart with a dagger. The recollection of it caused panic to hit her in the chest.

She could not endure the look in her father's eyes when he asked her, "why Scarlet? Aside from loving you, I never offended you in any way."

The Alpha, her father, was dying by then, and she could not watch anymore, as she was filled with guilt. He loved her, and that was his crime. If he didn't, she would not have succeeded in luring him out of the pack.

"Ashley only came to scare me," Scarlet said seriously, convincing herself that there was no need to hide. The guilt from earlier disappeared at once.

"Okay. If you say so. Now what about me? Aren't you my Luna?" Tristan asked once more, as he sat beside her.

He did not need her affection, only needing to know if she ever cared or to know what she planned to do with the title.

"I don't want to be the Luna of this pack anymore. It has nothing to offer."

Scarlet was serious with her words. She could not blend in and found it hard to please her subjects, so why should she care about the title?

Tristan could not even make them like her because of how he equally lost their respect.

"You are rejecting your pack where you were born and raised, for someone you don't even know?" Tristan was speechless. Scarlet did not even have any form of remorse on her face, as she lifted herself and sauntered towards the giant vanity mirror, admiring herself.

"Ludwig is my mate," she declared, her gaze on her image, and she tried to perceive what would happen when she met Ludwig again.

The last time, they even kissed and were about to mate and mark each other before Tristan arrived and ruined the moment for them.

"Well, the letter invited us both," Tristan reminded her, her expression darkened slightly, as she did not want to be seen with Tristan.

"You can drop me there, but we should not be seen close together. I don't want your bad luck to affect me."

Tristan shook his head with a bitter smile. "Scarlet, I don't blame you for this. I believe this is my punishment for what I did to Valerie and your father."

Scarlet could not be bothered and began to arrange her hair neatly in front of the vanity mirror.

"Call the pack and begin your search for a new Luna. I, Scarlet, am no longer the Luna of this pack," she declared, staring at Tristan's reflection in the mirror.

"No need to call the pack. You were never even seen as a Luna. Excuse me," Tristan said and left the depressing atmosphere.

Scarlet was rather excited, eager to leave for the Black Fur Pack.

"Alpha Denzel, Luna Valerie, thank you for coming." Beta Bodie went to welcome the pair himself from their car, but his jaw dropped when he saw Valerie helping out Alpha Denzel from his car.

"Alpha Denzel, what happened to you?"

Chapter 230 - 231 - I am at the right place

Chapter 230: Chapter 231 - I am at the right place

Before arriving for Beta Bodie's coronation, Alpha Denzel had announced during training for his pack members to help spread the rumor that he was partially paralyzed.

He explained the reason to them, and they were desperate for revenge on whoever shot their Alpha.

Alpha Denzel was not one to pretend but had a customized wheelchair. Elegantly dressed in a black suit and black shirt, Luna Valerie helped him out of the car and into the wheelchair.

Her arm wrapped around his waist as Alpha Denzel allowed her to carry seventy percent of his weight.

Valerie explained to the stunned Beta Bodie, ensuring Denzel was comfortable in the wheelchair.

"He was shot in the human world, and we got him here too late. His wolf could not heal him completely."

For a man like Alpha Denzel to be in this state, Beta Bodie could not help being afraid and sympathetic.

"I'm sorry, but will he be comfortable around here? I mean, all the other Alphas are here, including Tristan."

He feared that Alpha Denzel would be jeered at by the enemy Alphas, but Valerie rather asked,

"And Scarlet?"

Beta Bodie looked around curiously before responding. "She did not turn up."

"Alpha Idris?" Alpha Denzel asked, still looking intimidating, even as he sat in the wheelchair. His dark gaze roamed around like he was looking for his prey.

"Yes. I saw him around," Beta Bodie replied, about to escort them to the events hall when they were interrupted by a familiar voice.

"Val," Adira hastened to Valerie's side and hugged her, but seeing Alpha Denzel in a wheelchair, shock registered in her eyes.

"What happened?"

Valerie felt guilty to be playing with Adira's emotions, but this was the only way to get those three dons out of their hiding. The Alphas here would pass on the information faster than the speed of lightning. freewebnovel.com

She gave the same response as she did to Beta Bodie, the same time Alpha Troy rushed to Alpha Denzel's side. "Alpha Denzel, do you need help with anything?"

Alpha Denzel glared at him and could not help being sarcastic. "Do you think you can help me better than my Luna?"

He was never used to pricking people's conscience and was not happy about the sympathetic attention he was receiving.

Alpha Troy did not take offense, feeling Alpha Denzel was just in a bad mood due to his situation.

However, he was always like this on most occasions. "Sorry. Luna Valerie, nice to see you again," Alpha Troy said seriously. Valerie responded in a soft tone, but there was no smile on her face.

"Same here."

The hall for the event was luxuriously decorated, and most of the Alphas had already arrived, though some could not make it.

With Alpha Denzel's presence, Beta Bodie was proud and did not care anymore about the absentees.

A representative from the peace council was in charge of the coronation, and Alpha Idris found a chair beside Alpha Denzel as he whispered,

"What happened to you? The Alphas are mocking you behind your back. I am sure your predicament would go around the packs before the coronation ends. I would have preferred that you did not come."

Alpha Idris was genuinely worried about Alpha Denzel, but the latter responded warmly.

"I am at the right place." Alpha Idris was rendered speechless.

From afar, Alpha Tristan sent a wave, afraid of coming closer. As soon as Beta Bodie was declared the Alpha, Alpha Denzel and Valerie left.

The news about Alpha Denzel's situation spread through the packs like wildfire, reaching Las Vegas as well.

Alessia had informed them about her arrival in Las Vegas, expressing her excitement with the way things were, though she missed the pack and her wolf.

A few days later, Valerie went shopping for Alice, and the next day, they arrived at the Black Fur Pack.

Strangely, all Alphas attended the coronation in their numbers, curious about Alpha Denzel's predicament. Only those three Alphas were still missing from the bunch.

Some of the Alphas here had come to confirm the information they heard to pass on to them in the human world.

A lot of them tried to catch a glimpse of Alpha Denzel, deeming it unbelievable. Most of the Alphas were already thinking about taking advantage of him in his most vulnerable moment, but Valerie heard and instantly sent a message to them.

"I hope you are not trying anything stupid. Even if Alpha Denzel is partially disabled, I believe that none of you can still match up to him in wolf form. Trust me, his wolf isn't deformed, so think before you act."

The attention was now drawn to her in her glamorous dinner dress. They could only look and not touch. A representative arrived from the peace council, about to begin the process before Valerie asked, "Where is Alice?"

Beta Ludwig was about to move to the stage when he looked around anxiously. "She was right here. I guess it's because she's shy. Let me go and find her."

Valerie quickly stopped him. "No, it's fine. We can make it after the coronation. Let's not keep the representatives from the peace council waiting."

No one saw when Alpha Tristan walked in and sat behind the Alphas. He did not want to talk about his pack, so it was better to be far from other Alphas.

Scarlet walked in, dressed like a queen with lots of diamond pins in her hair. The tail of her gown was so heavy as if it was for a coronation.

In actual fact, she was there for the coronation and went to stand right beside Ludwig with all the invited guests murmuring.

"What is going on? Is Luna Scarlet not Alpha Tristan's Luna?" One of the Lunas asked. Scarlet heard and turned to face the guests.

"Me and Tristan are no more. Alpha Ludwig is my mate, and he invited me to discuss our future, which is the coronation. Isn't it, Ludwig?" She asked with hope in her eyes before her gaze met that of Valerie, and she was instantly uneasy.

Chapter 231 - Val, please help me

Chapter 231: Chapter 231 - Val, please help me

Scarlet felt inferior at the sight of her second elder sister. She was completely different from the humiliated, battered, and unconscious woman Alpha Denzel carried out of the Yellow Stone Pack on that fateful day.

It was as if the heavens were smiling at her, as she looked glamorous in that burgundy dinner wear. The air of confidence and authority Valerie exuded as she sat by the man in the wheelchair, who still looked domineering in his all-black suit.

They looked like a perfect pair, and Scarlet could not help feeling jealous. Had she known that Alpha Denzel would be Valerie's second chance mate or even that Ludwig would be her mate, she would not have done what she did.

Despite all she had done and even with all her expensive beauty treatments that had destroyed the pack's finances, Scarlet and Valerie were on different levels of beauty.

Valerie looked just like her mother. With all the thoughts going through Scarlet's mind, Valerie did not care about Scarlet. Ever since knowing that her father was alive, her only hope was in finding him to return and take final revenge on her kid sister.

Right now, she would just sit and enjoy the show. Alpha Denzel rocked his wheelchair elegantly as if it were his new luxury chair, but his expression was cold because of the appearance of Scarlet.

Though Valerie was equally not smiling, warmth emanated from her, even at the sight of Scarlet.

"Scarlet, I did not invite you here to accept you," Beta Ludwig said, and Scarlet's hopes began to waver as her attention finally shifted from her elder sister to her main reason for being there.

Beta Ludwig must be joking, right? That day when he arrived at the pack, the strength and excitement of the mate bond caused them to lose themselves.

They had passed the level of foreplay, and if not for Tristan, they would have mated and marked each other there and then. Yet, Beta Ludwig did not look like the passionate man she took to her bed that day.

His attitude towards her had changed, which she attributed to the fact that she had accepted to be Tristan's Luna.

If only she explained to him that there was nothing between her and Tristan, then he would understand and take her back.

"What are you talking about? In the letter, you stated that you were inviting me to your coronation for us to discuss our future together," she pointed out, controlling the nervousness that was beginning to make her sweat.

Scarlet regretted not bringing a maid along since she anticipated being assigned one as soon as she became the Luna. It would have been nice to have a maid wiping the beads of sweat from her face.

Beta Ludwig felt so many things. The way this woman's brain worked was something he could not put a finger on.

She was already another man's Luna, and mate bond or not, she should just be content with what she had, right? He explained calmly at the watch of all the guests and the representatives of the peace council present.

"That is also true, and the future I talked about was the one without you in it. I just need you to accept my rejection."

There was no point in massaging his request. The earlier she accepted his rejection, the easier it would be for him to find his second chance mate.

It was not his fault that this rejection had to take place, so he was certain that sooner or later, his second chance mate would appear.

Being hit with the realization that she had been tricked, Scarlet looked for someone to run to but could not even make out where Tristan was. The shame was just too much for her, as the Lunas present gazed at her scornfully.

She was just beginning to feel a little bit of what Valerie felt when the pack turned against her. The most painful thing was that it was her mate and sister involved.

"Now will you accept my rejection, or should I force it out of you?" Ludwig's voice lacked warmth as everything that happened within their first meeting began to stir up in him, filling him with regret.

He was not aware that Scarlet was the Luna of the pack until Tristan's timely arrival. If not, he would have committed a grave abomination by accepting an evil mate.

Having been away from the packs a lot, it was a shocking revelation that his mate had accepted another man who was not hers.

Then he was later fed with the videos of the incident after he arrived at the pack, filling his heart with disgust for what Scarlet did against her sister.

"I would not accept your rejection."

Scarlet's voice rang through his mind, and the next moment, she spun around, about to leave when Ludwig grabbed her tightly by the arm to a standstill.

If she refused to accept the rejection, then Ludwig would never find his second chance mate. Alpha Denzel did not want Ludwig to get violent since it was his coronation day, speaking calmly from where he sat beside the love of his life.

"Scarlet, I already warned you in private. Do you want your videos to circulate?"

Alpha Denzel's words were few but carried volumes. Scarlet knew the exact videos he was talking about, as that would lead to her and Tristan's condemnation to death.

"It was you?" Shock registered in her eyes as Tristan had not told her about it. Alpha Denzel enjoyed the slow emotional torture more than killing them straight away.

The shame following the couple was tantamount to a fly chasing filth. "Who did you think was behind it?"

Alpha Denzel was merely speaking calmly, but the texture of his voice made it sound commanding. "That would be enough proof that you don't deserve to be the Luna of this pack."

Scarlet was ashamed and helpless. She could not forget what Alpha Denzel did to her when he visited her at the pack house.

The man was heartless, making her wake up at the hospital. It took a lot of determination to hide her shame and appeal to her elder sister. "Val, please help me. I love him."

Chapter 232 - Three seconds

Chapter 232: Chapter 232 - Three seconds

Valerie felt like she had just woken up from a trance. Had her sister, who had betrayed her, just asked for her help? What if she had died as Scarlet and Tristan had wanted?

Would she have been able to ask for help at this point in time? "You love him."

Valerie's voice was calm, with no grudge in it. "That is a wonderful realization. If he loved you the same, then I won't have a problem."

Everyone was shocked by her words, expecting her to be mean. Valerie found happiness even after losing her wolf, so the likes of Scarlet could never ruin her mood.

It was painful when faced with the sweet memories they shared, even the ones before her coronation.

"You see how good things find those who wait for them?" Valerie asked rhetorically. Scarlet took it to mean that she wanted Tristan back.

"I have already left Tristan. You can have him back."

Valerie's expression changed dramatically. "Pfft. You must be nuts to think that I want your leftovers when I have a whole meal beside me." She smiled sweetly at Alpha Denzel and even flirted with him a little, before playfully tugging on his jaw.

Alpha Denzel did not stop her actions but addressed her, asking half-jokingly. "Is that what I am to you?"

Valerie laughed as his expression amused her. She replied, "A handsome meal."

Everyone was stunned by their interaction, wondering when Alpha Denzel had become so playful. "You will pay for it, Val."

Valerie chuckled, remembering all the pleasurable and intimate punishments he had given her. "I can't wait. Your punishments are always sweet."

Alpha Denzel stared at her in shock, wondering what had put her in such a good mood. Scarlet was heartbroken. It was clear that after everything, Valerie was still the winner.

She was not the slave Alpha Denzel had made them believe he was going to make her. Valerie was his queen, and she was the only one who qualified to joke with him like she was doing.

However, Scarlet also knew that Valerie was very kind at heart. If she repented, she might just have Valerie on her side once again. "Val..."

"Stop pleading with your sister. She isn't your mate," Beta Ludwig's voice cut through Scarlet's thoughts.

He was afraid that Valerie might take pity on her sister and plead with him on her behalf. If that happened, he would not be able to refuse for fear of Alpha Denzel.

"I was not there, but I saw the video of how you took her man and watched her be condemned to die. Are you sure she cheated as you and Alpha Tristan claimed?"

Ludwig's question caused a wave of panic to wash over her. If that question was answered truthfully, then she would be at the mercy of this pack and its guests.

She had already left Tristan and her pack, so how could she go back? Scarlet was ashamed of returning to her pack.

Tristan had not announced her departure to them, but she had informed them herself that she would never return.

At this moment, she wished for death, but even that was far from her. With all the gazes pinned on her, tears brimmed in the back of her eyes as she finally accepted her fate.

"Fine. I, Scarlet Lawn, accept your rejection."

She began coughing violently as the pain from the rejection shot through her heart. Her knees, covered by the long luxurious gown she wore, touched the ground.

Beta Ludwig endured his pain like a man. Within a few seconds, it was over. Scarlet stared at the man in front of her with pain in her heart.

Valerie was the only one who understood exactly how Scarlet was feeling, as she had faced a worse situation before.

"It's so sad, Scarlet. You already made your choice." Valerie could only feel sorry for her. But the murmurs soon took over, loud enough for Scarlet to hear, though she wished she didn't.

"What a shame. She took Alpha Tristan from Luna Valerie and she still wants Beta Troy. Is it because he's going to be Alpha?" One of the Lunas taunted, while another sneered.

"She said he was her mate." It was obvious that she was being sarcastic.

"Well, after choosing Alpha Tristan, she should have rejected her mate the moment she saw him," another woman chimed in.

Tristan could not bear to listen anymore and walked out of the event auditorium. As soon as Scarlet saw him, she quickly rose to her feet and began to run after him with hopeful eyes.

"Tristan, wait."

Tristan heard but did not stop, and due to her long gown and high heels, she toppled over and fell. Most of the guests laughed, but Valerie's expression was neutral, and Denzel's was cold.

Scarlet managed to stand up again without help and began running, lifting the hem of her long gown. However, the heels of her stiletto pressed against the back of the gown, causing her to fall again.

Her eyes met Tristan's, waiting for him to come and help her, but he opened the car door and sat down.

Her plight was so entertaining that some people stood around the windows to watch, while others followed from the entrance of the event hall, gawking at what was happening in the car park.

Valerie and Alpha Denzel were privy to the CCTV footage from the car park and around the event hall, so they watched from their phones with interest.

"Tristan, help me," Scarlet called out to the man who had already entered the car, but he only spoke coldly, reminding her.

"We are not supposed to be seen together, remember? You are also not my Luna anymore."

Scarlet was in tears and tried to rise to her feet once more. "Tristan, what are you saying?"

An evil intent crossed Tristan's mind, and he replied, "If you don't get here in three seconds, I will leave you behind."

Scarlet's tears mixed with the sweat on her face, and sadly, the heat was also unbearable. She was lucky enough to make it to the passenger side of the car.

"Open up," she said angrily, hitting the car, but Tristan smiled.

"I forgot that you severed ties with the pack. I'm sorry I'm not going in your direction." With that, he sped away, with Scarlet chasing after the car. Tristan was her only hope...

Chapter 233 - They Found Her

Chapter 233: Chapter 233 - They Found Her

Scarlet regretted many things, including not getting pregnant by Tristan. Many Lunas and pack members would do anything for a child, but it was not the same for Scarlet.

She did not want her body to undergo the changes that came with pregnancy. It was true that she had severed ties with her pack, but if she had allowed herself to get pregnant, Tristan would have surely taken pity on her. But now, there was nothing of that sort.

For someone who hated strenuous activities, she was soon tired of running after Tristan's car for so long and had even removed her shoes after tripping and falling twice.

Scarlet lost hope, but the only way for her to get to the pack on time was to use her wolf. This also meant she would arrive naked at the pack and lose the beautiful expensive dress she wore with all the hairpins.

Those diamond hairpins were very expensive, belonging to Valerie before she left the pack, so Scarlet could not afford to lose them.

However, she could not bear to walk back to the pack, as that might take her a week at least. Her wolf would get her there faster than Tristan.

Scarlet took her chances and arrived in wolf form at her pack gate. After shifting, she could not find any emergency clothes as there were none outside the gate. Thus, she had to meet her pack's gate warriors naked.

"Open up," she ordered the warrior at the gate but was surprised by the response.

"You are no longer a pack member. Only the Alpha can permit you." The guard did not even look at her, despite the fact that she was naked, and did not care to get her any emergency clothes.

After how rudely she severed ties with them, she did not deserve their sympathy as well. Tristan had not yet arrived, and Scarlet wondered how long she was going to wait there.

Pitifully, she hid herself behind some bushes. Since when did her life become like this? She used to be the princess of this pack, but everything changed after what she did to Valerie.

An hour passed with a few more minutes before she heard the horn of Tristan's car and came out of the bushes. Tristan glanced at her before saying something to the warriors. Then he drove away.

"Here," the chief warrior at the gate tossed an emergency cloth in her direction, but she had to walk from the gate to the packhouse by herself.

For someone who carried herself like a queen, it was just like a walk of shame for her to walk in her emergency clothes, looking red and exhausted.

Pack members gawked, but nobody spoke about it. By the time she reached the packhouse, Tristan had moved his things to the Luna's chamber, leaving the Alpha chamber for her.

For as long as she lived in the pack, he still could not deny her the right to the pack since she was the late Alpha's daughter, but he would no longer share a room with her.

Scarlet hid away in the chamber, drowned in her shame and unable to face anyone. How long she was going to live in this sea of shame, no one had the answers to.

At the Black Fur Pack, the long-awaited moment arrived after a beta was chosen and the coronation formalities completed.

"Members of the Black Fur Pack, visiting Alphas, Lunas, and Betas, I present to you the new Alpha of the Black Fur Pack, Alpha Ludwig."

There were cheers and congratulatory messages all around, and while the beta took care of the refreshments, Alpha Ludwig was going around with Luna Valerie and Alpha Denzel to look for Alice.

Ludwig knew that Alice was already a slippery one, but not when she had been so enthused to see Valerie.

"Luna Valerie, Alpha Denzel, please make yourselves comfortable at the VIP section. I will get the warriors to search for her whereabouts," Alpha Ludwig politely said, but Valerie could not allow it, afraid that the girl must be in some kind of trouble.

With her strong instinct, she just could not allow the warriors to do the search alone. "No. Think about the possible places she could be. Is she being bullied?" Valerie asked directly, and Alpha Ludwig went into deep thought.

"I've heard rumors, but whenever I questioned her, she said everything was fine."

The response only increased Valerie's worry, but Alpha Denzel was also disturbed about making it to the full moon.

Valerie had to be at her pack for the transformation to happen since this was not her original wolf.

Missing it could result in dire consequences. From the wheelchair Alpha Denzel sat on, he said to Ludwig, "Please excuse us for a moment."

Ludwig created a distance between them, using the opportunity to mindlink the warriors to begin the search.

"Val, we have to leave now if we have to make it on time for the full moon." There was no amusement in Alpha Denzel's tone, showing his seriousness.

Valerie was puzzled, as she was not one to go against her promise. In this instance, she felt strongly that something was wrong with Alice.

"So do you want us to leave her? She could die from bullying, you know."

Alpha Denzel hated bullies as well and thought of something fast. "We can instruct Ludwig to continue the search and return as soon as the transformation is over."

"It won't take more than thirty minutes, and we can journey back here."

"Denzel, what if something is being done to her as we speak?" Valerie was filled with so much worry and could not help thinking of the worst.

"Okay, let's continue the search. It would have been faster if not for this wheelchair." He was already thinking about blowing up everything to stand up and help search for Alice when Alpha Ludwig suddenly yelled,

"They found her, but her condition is bad."

"Take us there," Valerie said and began to push Denzel's wheelchair, following the direction Alpha Ludwig was headed. He looked so upset.

Chapter 234 - The Little Witch is All Dressed Up

Chapter 234: Chapter 234 – The Little Witch is All Dressed Up

Earlier.

Alice's excitement to meet Luna Valerie spurred her to wake up early. Despite not being of lowly birth, she didn't have much to her name, especially after losing her parents in a war.

Alpha Kendrick had assigned a family to take care of her, but Alice chose to live alone in a hut among the omegas due to constant bullying. She didn't possess striking looks and was also shy and timid.

With Heterochromia, a condition where her eyes were different colors, her peers labeled her as cursed or a witch.

From the age of twelve, she endured mistreatment at the hands of her peers but never dared to inform anyone, keeping her powers hidden to avoid fueling the rumors of her being a witch.

When Alpha Kendrick discovered her powers a year ago, he threatened to banish her unless she used them only for his benefit and kept them secret.

While Alpha Kendrick could travel with his Beta Ludwig, the pack's safety relied on Alice's powers.

However, she never received the recognition or protection she deserved as a pack member.

Hearing stories of Luna Valerie gave her hope, and knowing she would meet her role model that day, she dressed in her finest attire, donning a contact lens and her only beautiful dress.

The contact lens was a gift from Alpha Kendrick and she felt it was necessary due to her rare eye condition.

What if Luna Valerie disapproved of it? She couldn't bear that before receiving a hug from her in front of those who had mistreated her.

With her curly blonde hair cascading down, she rushed out of her hut, only to encounter her worst nightmare.

Alice's heart raced as she clutched her dress tightly when Ava, the most beautiful teenager, appeared with her friends Julie and Sally.

Ava was tall and, even without her wolf, the strongest in human form. She was expected to have a powerful wolf when she turned eighteen in a few weeks.

"Look who we have here, the little witch is all dressed up."

Ava harbored dislike towards Alice due to her differences. While other girls fawned over her, Alice kept to herself.

Though not as attractive as the other girls, Alice exuded an air of superiority. Addressed by Ava, Alice froze momentarily.

This wasn't a day she wanted ruined by Ava. She never considered using her powers on anyone, even though she desired to do so that day. Remembering the consequences if the pack found out, she refrained.

"Please leave me alone." She attempted to be bold, but her voice came out as a shriek. Ava laughed, tucking strands of hair behind her ears.

Alice looked nice in her attire, despite not being able to deny the girl's beauty, except for her intimidating eyes, which were concealed.

Instead of the usual hazel and blue eyes that caused younger ones to flee upon Alice's arrival, there were now two perfect blue eyes.

"You even wore a contact lens? Hahaha, where did you get that?" Ava found it absurd that Alice tried to hide what was most frightening about her.

With those contact lenses, she appeared like a normal, pleasant girl. Alice knew she couldn't win a confrontation against Ava and her friends if she resisted, but she also couldn't miss the chance to see her role model because of them.

"Please, I have to go."

Without hesitation, she fled, running as fast as her legs could carry her to the events hall without being followed.

She made it, panting and wiping her sweat with the back of her hands. The weather was warm, catching her off guard without a handkerchief.

Alice believed she was safe as she caught her breath and tried to remain calm. She hadn't manifested her wolf yet, and having powers would only confirm her status as a witch.

She sat on an empty chair at the far back, wary of being seen since she wasn't allowed there. These events were exclusive to prominent pack members, Alphas, Lunas, and Betas from various pack communities.

Since Beta Ludwig had instructed her to come, she needed to avoid drawing attention as he might be too occupied to assist her.

Alice had another reason for wanting to see Luna Valerie. She aspired to become a member of the Evergreen pack, where omegas were treated well since Luna Valerie's arrival.

Alice didn't desire much. Escaping her bullies and living a normal life where she was accepted was her sole dream.

Guests began arriving, welcomed by Beta Ludwig. Suddenly, someone sat beside Alice.

Her world crumbled when she realized it was Ava again. "Come with me, or you won't like what will happen to you."

Alice couldn't comprehend why Ava was so hostile that day. Bullying was routine for her, but Ava seemed particularly intent on causing harm.

Alice glanced around nervously. She wasn't attractive enough to attract anyone's attention, and the guests were being escorted to the front seats.

Regret flooded her heart for not seizing the opportunity to move to the front earlier, and she feared what Ava had in store for her. What if she never got to see Luna Valerie?

"No," Alice refused, but then she saw a dagger pressed against her side, shattering her defenses.

She was led back to her hut where the paintings she drew of Luna Valerie on the walls were visible. These were based on what she saw from the videos and did not depict Luna Valerie's best moments.

"Oh, so you wish to see Luna Valerie. You think you can also be mated to a powerful Alpha like Alpha Denzel? You don't even deserve an omega." Ava slapped Alice hard.

Ever since her elder brother, who was among the pack's most trusted warriors, spoke in passing about Beta Ludwig's rejection of Scarlet and her refusal, Ava had a plan.

Knowing that Beta Ludwig would never accept Scarlet, she hoped that after the rejection was completed, she would become Beta Ludwig's second chance mate.

There was only one problem. For some time, Beta Ludwig frequented Alice's hut, which was not pleasing to Ava, fearing that Beta Ludwig had an interest in the witch.

Another slap went across Alice's face, the pain was unbearable. "What did I do to you?" Alice cried.

She was always bullied for her looks, but this was the first time she was being hit. Compared with the verbal and emotional torture, she could not tell which was more painful and could only hope that help would find her before it was too late.

Nevertheless, Ava began to explain her reason to even her two friends' shock...

Chapter 235: Chapter 235 - You girls did this

Unbeknownst to them, Ava desired Alpha Kendrick, but after what Alpha Denzel did to him, she had to settle for the next in line.

"You think I didn't see? Beta Ludwig was here a few days ago, and he came last night too. Do you think you deserve to have an Alpha?"

Another slap caused Alice's face to burn, and she wondered how long she could endure it. "I will kill you, and nobody will know," Ava yelled.

Her friends were hit with a shockwave after hearing her reason for being so mad, but of course, she-wolves were always crushing on their Alphas, Betas, or the strongest warriors.

Alice saw the rage in Ava's eyes and felt helpless. She pleaded, "No. Please don't."

As if her cries were not heard, she was tied to a chair as they began to ransack her things but found nothing worthwhile.

Ava was determined not to allow Alice to attend the coronation, feeling that Beta Ludwig must have invited her.

If word got out that this was the case, most of the girls her age would no longer succumb to her demands but rather try to please Alice to be on Beta Ludwig's good side.

Alice was not even privy to the mind link because she had not shifted and could only hope that Beta Ludwig would come and look for her as he does when the Alpha needed to use her powers.

Ava was still scattering everything in her room when one of her informants came running in.

"Luna Valerie is looking for Alice. The warriors have been discharged, and we have to go now."

Hope shone in Alice's eyes. Luna Valerie kept her promise and perhaps did not want to leave until she saw her.

Alice's heart warmed greatly, and she was happy to have helped Luna Valerie break the spell back then.

On the other hand, Ava panicked, knowing that if she let Alice go, she might tell on them.

Being less than eighteen, none of them had their wolves, so with Alice's reddened and swollen face, anyone would suspect she had been abused.

"Then I will just kill her first," Ava vowed, and the hope vanished from Alice's eyes. The informant had run back to her position or better still, for cover, leaving the three women to deal with Alice.

Ava gripped Alice's throat, choking her. Alice's hands were tied, and none of Ava's friends could go against her, though they knew that this could bring trouble if Beta Ludwig found out.

Pack members were not supposed to hurt each other, so the furthest they could go was mockery and jests, causing Alice emotional and mental abuse.

This time, Ava broke the rule and was causing physical abuse. Alice had no choice but to use her powers when she began to lose consciousness and was out of breath. The ropes tying her hands tore, and she sent Ava flying in the air with just a look.

However, her friends grew agitated, and Julie, being afraid, stabbed Alice in the back with the dagger when she was trying to catch her breath.

A shrill tore from Alice as the pain seared through her body.

"What have you done?" Ava fell on the floor, but her eyes were wide with panic as the understanding began to settle that Alice had some strange powers.

Perhaps this was the reason Beta Ludwig kept coming to see her. Fear began to rise inside of her as Julie, who stabbed Alice, began to accuse her.

"You said you wanted to kill her, and she almost killed you."

"Let's get her out of here," Alice said, planning to run away from the pack until the dust settled. "Sally, stay and wipe the traces of blood. Let's dump her body in the lake."

Alice's eyes were closed, and after her scream from earlier, no sound was heard from her, so without touching her, they thought she was dead.

Two girls carried Alice, but before making it out of the entrance, two warriors showed up. Looking at Alice, one of the warriors instantly mind-linked their new Alpha.

The other warrior snatched Alice from their hand and kept her on the small bed, trying to stop the bleeding with his shirt, which he removed after placing Alice on the bed.

The three girls looked on in horror and attempted to run, but three people arrived at the scene, blocking the entrance to the hut.

It was Alpha Denzel, on his wheelchair, followed by Alpha Ludwig and Luna Valerie. The presence of the three people caused the three girls to panic as Luna Valerie quickly rushed to the bed where the warrior pressed the shirt against Alice's back.

She pushed the warriors away and lifted Alice to a sitting position, her bloody back resting in Valerie's arms.

"You must be Alice," Valerie said. Alice opened her eyes blurrily at the sound of the anxious voice, her lips stretched into a thin smile.

"Luna Valerie. You found me. Please take me with you." She must have used all her strength to say those words, her voice breaking at the latter part as she passed out right after that.

Valerie was at a loss. Alice needed medical attention, and she was in a hurry to make it to the full moon.

Looking at the scene with the three girls shivering in the corner and the bloody girl in Valerie's arms, it was so easy for Alpha Denzel to discern exactly what happened.

"You girls did this." Alpha Denzel's voice was so chilly, even Alpha Ludwig feared. This was his fault because he failed to protect Alice.

The girls were so scared at the sight of Alpha Denzel for the first time and began to turn against each other. "It was her idea," Sally said, pointing at Ava as Ava pointed at Julie. "She is the one who stabbed her."

"And you choked her," Julie shot back. Alpha Denzel's brows raised a little, as he made a final declaration of their punishment.

Chapter 236 - One Last Choice

Chapter 236: Chapter 236 - One Last Choice

It was heartbreaking for teenage girls to do this to a fellow age mate. Alpha Denzel felt that he owed Alice justice for the help she gave Valerie.

He was also happy for Valerie's instinct. It was obvious that Alice would have been at the event center a while ago but was held back by these girls.

If Alpha Denzel had more time on his hands, he would have supervised the punishment himself, but with the urgent matter ahead, he left everything in the hands of Alpha Ludwig.

"Alpha Ludwig, make sure they choke, slap, and stab each other," he said. Ava was relieved that Alpha Denzel would not be around.

Since her elder brother was among the strongest warriors of the pack, he could plead on their behalf after Alpha Denzel leaves, but that hope was soon washed away by Alpha Denzel's next words.

"I want to see the video."

Alpha Ludwig nodded in agreement as the three girls shivered from fright. The request for the video meant they would not be able to beg for forgiveness.

What Alpha Ludwig did not expect and was also not comfortable with was Alpha Denzel's next words.

"Alice is coming with us. Call your pack doctor to meet us by the car."

Tears stung the eyes of Alpha Ludwig. Alice was a pivotal figure in the Black Fur Pack, and countless times, Alpha Ludwig begged Alpha Kenderick to relocate Alice to the pack house, but he refused, saying it would raise suspicions.

Alpha Ludwig had in mind to do so after the coronation, but these girls had to do this and ruin it all for him.

"Alpha Denzel, please, I will move Alice to the pack house and personally take care of her," he said politely.

Alpha Denzel was about to refuse when Luna Valerie took the words out of his mouth. "No way. This shows that this girl has been bullied countless times in this pack. Do you not know?"

She sounded upset, and Alpha Ludwig's head bowed, unable to face the shame.

Even last night, his wolf told him to move Alice to the pack house when he went to remind her, but for some reason, he still did not act on it.

His defenses broke, and he lost the battle since Luna Valerie was unrelenting as she instructed the warrior to take Alice to their car.

The warrior carried Alice away as Valerie wheeled Alpha Denzel. The doctor was by the car with a medical kit by the time they got there, and Alpha Ludwig remained with the three girls, ashamed of what happened to Alice.

"What is wrong with you girls? Do you know what we just lost? Have you even thought about how you all sleep peacefully at night? Now you shall all join parole if you are able to survive torturing each other. Will you start, or should I instruct a warrior to do it for you?"

Alpha Ludwig was always nice throughout his time as a beta. This was their first time seeing him so upset, and it was not because he was now an Alpha, but because of what they did to Alice.

Julie slapped Ava, Ava slapped Sally, and Sally slapped Julie. Alpha Ludwig felt it was not strong enough.

"Is that all you got?" He mind-linked one of the warriors to come. Unexpectedly, it was Ava's elder brother.

"Alpha, I'm here." He stared at the redness of his sister's face and grew worried. Before he asked what was going on, Alpha Ludwig instructed.

"They are supposed to be slapped, choked, and stabbed in the back with that dagger." He turned to the floor where the dagger had fallen upon their arrival. "Now start," Alpha Ludwig instructed.

Cliffton, Ava's brother, was reluctant. "Alpha, please, what is the problem? Why should I hit, choke, and stab my sister?"

Ava explained it to her brother through tears. "That's what I did to Alice, so Alpha Denzel and Luna Valerie sent her away."

Cliffton froze. He was among the few warriors who knew about Alice's special powers, and even he was upset.

"How could you, Ava?" He slapped her hard, and she fell on the floor. Julie and Sally shivered, and before they could utter a word, they were both lifted by the throat in the hands of Cliffton.

Alpha Ludwig watched, and when they began to show signs of unconsciousness, he spoke up. "Not yet. They all have to taste the knife."

He lifted Ava from the floor by the throat and choked her, as Cliffton gave the two girls, including his sister, a taste of the dagger in the back per Alpha Ludwig's instruction after he dropped Ava.

With the girls lying on the floor with their bloody backs, he asked, "Alpha, can't we do anything? We can plead with Alpha Denzel."

Alpha Ludwig shook his head. "He told me to record everything. I'm sending it to him, but I doubt he would consider. Just forget it. Everybody should get ready for patrol. We shall run shifts."

Today was supposed to be a happy day for him, but everything changed because of his negligence and the inhumane action of these three teenagers. He did not care if they lived or survived and began to make his way to the car park.

The pack doctor of the Black Fur Pack met Alpha Denzel and Luna Valerie at the car park as Alpha Ludwig instructed with a medical kit.

"She's injured, but we are taking her along. Give her something to stop the bleeding and keep her unconscious longer until we arrive at the Evergreen pack."

The doctor nodded and attended to Alice. After he was done, Valerie buckled her safely in the backseat before sitting at the driver's side after helping Alpha Denzel from the wheelchair to the passenger side.

The speed at which she drove out of the pack made the people around fear, thinking that she was upset.

Yes, she was, but right now, she was more concerned about making it to the pack on time. Alpha Ludwig arrived too late and could not see their departure.

Midway through the journey, Valerie was getting nervous, and her wolf soon appeared in the rearview mirror.

"Val, let me take the wheel. No need to pretend from here," Alpha Denzel suggested, discerning that the wolf might have a message for her.

Valerie stopped the car and changed positions with Alpha Denzel. She was so nervous that she shivered.

"Astrid, what do you want?" She asked after Alpha Denzel took the wheel. Valerie must have been speeding, but it seemed to her that Alpha Denzel was flying the car to make it on time.

"Val, this is your last chance. I discussed the heirship with the moon goddess, and she is giving you one last choice."

Chapter 237 - Greater than the pain of a first shift

Chapter 237: Chapter 237 - Greater than the pain of a first shift

"Break it down for me," Valerie said to Astrid, grateful that Alpha Denzel had requested something to prolong Alice's unconsciousness.

She knew Astrid was not bringing good news. Due to her connection to the ethereal realm, she seemed to be the bearer of bad news.

"You can have an heir after I possess you, but once you discover that you are pregnant, you must never shift."

Astrid was speaking quickly this time, as the moon was nearing full. She needed to take her position before the transformation became impossible.

Valerie had mixed feelings. If a war broke out during her pregnancy, she would not hold back with a powerful wolf at her disposal.

This condition seemed absurd to her in order to give Alpha Denzel an heir. "What will happen if I do shift?"

"You will suffer a miscarriage," Astrid replied bluntly. The clock was ticking, and Alpha Denzel was driving beyond the approved speed limit.

"But will I be able to get pregnant again?" Valerie asked hopefully. If that option was available, it would influence her decision.

Astrid's response was once again heartbreaking. "No. You only have one chance."

Most people had the opportunity to have many children, but in Valerie's case, it was considered a miracle since Alpha females were not expected to bear children.

"Okay. I will accept it."

Thinking that would be the end, Astrid had more to say. "There is something else."

"What is it?" Valerie was already agitated, as Astrid never brought good news. The conditions attached to everything concerning Valerie and Denzel were depressing.

"After the transformation, I will no longer have any form of communication with the ethereal world and will also forget everything I have ever told you."

Valerie was saddened. Every piece of information Astrid provided was crucial, but now it would come to an end.

Her role would be like that of any other wolf, and she would no longer appear in the mirror to speak audibly with her.

Their conversations would only be through mindlink. "I will miss this side of you."

Astrid's voice lowered as if she was trying to hide something from Alpha Denzel, but she still spoke quickly.

"Well, there is something more important. The moon goddess is giving you a son, but he will come when you least expect it. He must never stand on a cliff."

"What would happen if he does?" Valerie asked instantly, temporarily forgetting the urgency of reaching the pack before the full moon.

"He would fall to his death," Astrid revealed. Valerie was speechless but also knew that if she refused, she would not be able to bear an heir for the pack.

"I don't accept," Alpha Denzel answered, drawing attention to himself. No one knew he was even paying attention to the conversation due to his speeding.

Valerie was about to object when he explained, "Our nature would not allow him to stay away from cliffs. You are indirectly telling us that the child we are going to have would be taken away from us."

Alpha Denzel pointed out the hidden meaning in Astrid's words. He disliked how the ethereal realm constantly played with his emotions.

"You have the opportunity to reject me and have a normal child," Astrid said politely, slightly afraid.

There was something about Alpha Denzel that made him intimidating. The ethereal realm even feared him because of the power his words carried.

This was why she was sent to deliver the message to Valerie, but she did not expect Alpha Denzel to take control of the situation.

"No. You are a part of her, and just like any other pack and family, we will still have a normal child," he declared firmly.

Astrid's voice lowered even more, but both Valerie and Alpha Denzel could hear her clearly. "I'm sorry, but that option is non-existent."

Even though communicating through a rearview mirror, a glare from Alpha Denzel made her cower slightly.

"It's not up to you. We make our own rules," Alpha Denzel declared seriously. Astrid feared that Valerie would have false hope as the matter had already been settled.

"I'm afraid you will regret this, and I don't have the opportunity to convey this message to the moon goddess. The transformation is about to begin."

She fled as she could not withstand Alpha Denzel's anger, with her image disappearing from the rear-view mirror.

Alpha Denzel said to Valerie, who was momentarily lost in thought, "Call Burke to meet us at the gate with a car."

Valerie regained her composure, her heart warmed as she had momentarily forgotten about Alice. She already knew that Burke meeting them was to get Alice to the hospital on time.

Valerie felt strange and uncomfortable in the car. The most suitable place for her now should be in the woods.

She quickly dialed Burke's number and relayed the information hastily. "Meet us at the pack gate now. Use a car."

The closer they got to the pack, the greater discomfort Valerie felt. Burke was at the gate with his car before Alpha Denzel arrived and unlocked the back door. "Take her to the hospital now."

Burke was spellbound for a moment, and Alpha Denzel grew impatient, about to repeat the instruction before he snapped out of his daze and began to unbuckle Alice.

As soon as he carried her out of the car, Alpha Denzel stepped on the accelerator without waiting for him to close the door. The moon was full, and a shrill cry tore through Valerie's throat, the cracking of her bones already audible.

This transformation was more painful than the first time she shifted for her Luna wolf. Gray fur began to appear on her skin, and Alpha Denzel quickly unlocked the door and unbuckled her seatbelt.

He was parked in the middle of the pack and had to run around to open the door for her. As soon as she got her freedom, she dashed out of the car and headed into the woods, her clothes tearing as her size increased.

Alpha Denzel shifted and chased after her, not wanting to miss the complete transformation under the full moon...

Chapter 238 – Now I’m Going to Break You

Chapter 238: Chapter 238 – Now I’m Going to Break You

Valerie ran deeper into the woods, slowly easing her unease with every breeze she inhaled until she reached a spot where the moonlight shone directly on her from the full moon.

It was a breath-taking sight, seeming as though she stood in the heart of the woods with the full moon positioned above with some tall trees clustered around it.

The light from the full moon illuminated her from above, casting a dazzling magical effect on her appearance as Astrid stood on all fours, emitting a growl from her throat.

Brutus arrived at the sound of the growl, just in time and shifted, with Alpha Denzel overseeing the final transformation.

Valerie was no longer screaming, and though she transformed into a female Alpha Wolf, it was not as intimidating as Brutus.

This wolf was one of a kind with clear crystal-like eyes. Astrid stood with grace under the moonlight, exuding an aura of confidence, strength, and beauty.

First-time shifts were never meant to last long. In less than three minutes, Valerie shifted back to her human form, looking exhausted.

It was as if a new chemical had been introduced to her as she heard Astrid’s voice through the mind link. ‘I’m Astrid, your wolf.’

Valerie was about to tease her for her pretense but remembered that Astrid had mentioned she would not be able to recall anything if she possessed her. It felt like meeting her second chance wolf for the first time.

As she reacquainted herself with Astrid, Alpha Denzel searched for two sets of emergency clothes in nylon bags for them to wear.

Turning around after finding them, their wolves recognized each other this time.

"Mate," Valerie said in a teary voice as she embraced him. Their relationship had not been the typical sweet one every she-wolf craved.

It had endured trials, and she knew there were more challenges ahead. However, as long as they remained strong and continued to trust each other, she was certain that no obstacle could overcome them.

Their naked bodies pressed together as Alpha Denzel claimed her possessively. "You have always been mine."

His arm wrapped tightly around her as they lost themselves in each other's warmth. It was a precious moment, and all they desired was to stay that way.

However, it was impossible for them to remain in the woods. Over ten minutes later, they finally pulled away, and Alpha Denzel wiped the joyful tears from the corner of her eyes before asking, "How do you feel?"

Since she had regained her wolf, there was nothing left for him to hold back as long as she was okay.

With their nature, there was something special about having one's wolf in place. It was a feeling that Valerie could not get enough of. Her excitement knew no bounds at this moment.

"I feel complete, Denzel. Thank you very much."

She had tears in her eyes, looking forward to this day. Meanwhile, Denzel was even more excited than she was, though he struggled to express it.

Aside from a few smiles and laughter once in a blue moon, showing joy was not exactly part of Denzel's nature.

"No. Thank you for understanding and staying by my side," he said sincerely, enjoying the sight of her naked form in the moonlight.

If not for wanting their first night to be special, she would have had a different experience after her shift.

Valerie, unaware of his thoughts, was eager to bear his mark and be mated by him, even if it was under the moonlight.

"Are you still going to wait? We could do it right here."

Alpha Denzel chuckled, recalling a place. It would be nice to be away from the pack house for a while, but then he thought of Alice.

She would not be comfortable waking up without seeing Valerie around. Now, Alpha Denzel had to change his plans again.

It felt as though they already had a child before Valerie even got pregnant. "You look too tired. Rest for a few hours, and we can take it from there."

His fingers trailed her lips softly before his lips briefly touched hers. The short kiss had a profound effect on him, evident in his heavy voice. "Now I'm going to break you. I just hope you and your wolf are strong enough to handle it."

"You might just be in for a surprise," Valerie smiled weakly. They put on the emergency clothes before walking back to where Alpha Denzel had parked the car. Valerie suddenly remembered Alice and said to Alpha Denzel,

"We should go and see Alice."

Not wanting any disturbance for Valerie to rest well, Denzel responded firmly, "She's in safe hands. You should take care of me. Please don't forget how long I've held back."

Valerie blushed, wondering what was going to happen that night. Indeed, Alpha Denzel had waited for a long time.

Knowing that the first time might be painful, as she had heard from Ashley, Valerie began to feel nervous.

Upon arriving at the packhouse, Alpha Denzel mind-linked Burke to move into the Beta's chamber. Though he had mentioned it before, he had not implemented it, so Burke had not moved.

Only the Delta and Gammas packhouse remained to be constructed for the leaders to be as comfortable as their roles demanded.

He then instructed a maid to prepare a room for Alice. In the case of the teenage girl, Valerie was already acting as an elder sister or perhaps a mother.

"Make it girlish and very beautiful. Use light colors like pink, yellow, lemon, or red."

The maid smiled, curious about the special care demanded by both the Alpha and his Luna. She could not speak about it and simply replied, "Yes, Luna."

Valerie was undressing when Denzel's phone rang. Seeing Godic's name, he sensed a problem but was not in the mood to deal with anything from the human world. "Godic, I'm busy."

Expecting Godic to hang up, he instead said, "Denzel, I'm sorry, but it's very urgent."

Chapter 239 - Which woman is she talking about?

Chapter 239: Chapter 239 - Which woman is she talking about?

It had been a few days since Godic arrived in Las Vegas with Alessia. The first place he took her to was his mansion, and Alessia was shocked.

"You are so rich. How come?"

Knowing that Godic was her brother's lead bodyguard, Alessia expected him to live an average life, but this proved otherwise for her.

Godic was not surprised by the reaction and explained, "Your brother is not stingy to his workers. He treats us very well."

Feeling proud of her brother, Alessia wrapped her arms around Godic's neck and pecked him on the lips. "I guess he deserves a trophy for this."

Godic did not respond, only taking her lips softly before finally pecking her on the forehead.

Alessia pulled away and went around Godic's house without the excitement washing from her face. "I love it here."

It gladdened Godic's heart that Alessia was content with what he had to offer. Though she did not mention it, he felt it would be a matter of concern that he did not have maids around the mansion.

It was too big for either of them to do the cleaning. They could, but that would take too much of their time, and knowing Denzel, he would be expecting results.

"I don't have maids because I don't stay home a lot, but I would arrange with an agency to send two."

Godic did not see a need for cooks, so maids should be enough for them. Standing on the balcony and taking in the view of everything going on, Alessia made her opinion known.

"If you don't stay at home much, then what will I be doing with maids? Wherever you go, I go."

Godic hugged her slender waist from the back and kissed the crook of her neck bearing the mark. Alessia tilted her head slightly to the side, giving him more access as she gazed at the skyscrapers.

She was about to comment on them when Godic spoke softly in her ear. "Some places are dangerous. Like now, I have to find those Alphas behind your brother's shooting."

Alessia turned to face him and spoke seriously. "I can help you with everything." Then she turned around to admire the skyscrapers once more. "What do you think would happen if we had some of these in the pack?"

This was something Alpha Denzel had considered before the disadvantages outweighed the advantages in a pack community.

"Don't you think it would be disastrous during wars? How about we begin your training?" He asked softly. Alessia smiled, satisfied with his answer.

Turning around, she hugged him tightly. "Alright. I'm not used to being idle."

The next day and after, Alessia took her training seriously, and Godic used the time to check on the clubs and casinos. Those were the places he did not want to take Alessia, so her training made it easy.

Denzel had already made arrangements for an expert to train all his employees before they begin working for him.

Valerie might be an exception as Alpha Denzel might decide to train her himself, but Godic did not think it would be the same for Alessia.

However, the rumors about Alpha Denzel being shot and bound to a wheel chair, lingered in the air. Wherever Godic went, he was questioned with suspicious gazes.

The majority knew that he would not be able to betray Don Denzel, but for their own personal hidden motives, they made him look like a criminal.

Alessia completed her training faster than expected, to Godic's shock, and he wanted her to begin her private pilot training program, but she insisted on seeing the companies first.

She was surprised to see a picture of her brother in a wheelchair on Godic's phone, which he explained to her. "That is how Denzel intends for the Dons behind the shooting to come out of their hiding." freewebnovel.com

Alessia liked the plan, but before going to the office, Godic explained a few things to her in the car.

"Our world is secret, so you have to resist from using words like mate, Alpha, or Luna."

"Then how will you explain our relationship or address you?" Alessia asked. Godic replied,

"You are my wife, and I'm your husband. Or hubby. Instead of Alpha, you use Don, Mister, Sir, and so on. Instead of Luna, you use Miss, Mrs., and so on."

Alessia nodded her head as the understanding sank in. "I will remember all that."

Arriving at the office, she insisted on seeing Denzel's office first. Surprisingly, Aurora was with Cornelia when they arrived.

Godic realized that the two were becoming very close. He would have reprimanded Aurora for not being in her office, but looking at his wristwatch, it was lunchtime.

Still, he could not help but suspect that Aurora was waiting for Don Denzel. "Godic, where have you been? Where is Don? And who is this woman?" Aurora asked all at once.

Over a week ago, Don Denzel returned with a woman. Today, it was Godic also, with a strange woman.

Godic explained in a stern tone, knowing that Aurora loved to flirt. The best way to prevent her from doing so was being strict and keeping her at bay.

"Don would not be around for a while, and this is my wife, Alessia."

The news was like the sun shining in the night. So strange to their ears.

"Your wife? You did not even have a girlfriend, and now you have a wife. Where is she from anyway? Is Don aware? Can't you see that the woman with him carries bad luck? She comes into his life and boom. He was shot and bound to a wheel chair."

Aurora did not know where to draw the lines, especially when she had received Denzel's kindness.

Alessia was trying hard to keep calm, so as not to cause problems for Godic, but Aurora's attitude reminded her so much of Adira back then, and she could not help asking,

"Which woman is she talking about?" She was so enraged and ready to throw a punch if it was indeed what she suspected that this involved Valerie...

Chapter 240 – You are not important to him

Chapter 240: Chapter 240 – You are not important to him

Knowing Alessia's temper, Godic held her hand comfortingly, and Alessia relaxed instantly.

"Denzel's wife," Godic replied after Alessia calmed down, but she suddenly got furious at the confirmation that Aurora thought Valerie was bad luck.

If not for Godic, she would have punched Aurora in the face and could not understand his reason for restricting her.

He should be equally upset that someone dared to badmouth his Luna like this. Godic whispered in her ear, "she is Lisa's elder sister."

Alessia stiffened slightly. No wonder the girl had the guts. Momentarily, Alessia was deflated, her mood dulled as the understanding settled that Denzel was showing Aurora kindness because of the late Lisa.

"Don is not here, so you are even addressing him by his first name? I should call to inform him." Aurora was acting as if she was Denzel's wife.

She dialed the number. It went through, but Denzel did not answer it. Then she tried the second and the third time. It was the same. Deflated, she lamented. "He's not answering my call."

Godic was getting annoyed by her behavior and spoke sternly. "Then you are not important to him. Now, Alessia would be heading the branches and would be stationed at the finance office."

It was not only Aurora now, but Cordelia also equally disapproved. "Godic, what are you trying to do?" Cordelia asked, displeased with his words.

There were rumors that Godic was trying to covet Don Denzel's business and assets, but Cordelia did not want to believe it before. Now she did.

"I beg your pardon?" Godic was surprised that Cordelia, a woman whom he recommended to work for Denzel when she graduated from college and could not find a job, was talking so harshly to him.

By then, she had approached Godic, begging for a few dollars to buy herself a meal. Before recovering from the shock, another one added to it.

"Don is not well, so you want to steal from the company by bringing this woman here. I am informing HR."

Godic watched with stunned when Cordelia made the call, and it was not up to two minutes before the HR Manager arrived. Seeing another woman, Alessia was in a bad mood.

The HR manager, Lordina, was professionally dressed in a trouser suit, but her looks were coated with arrogance.

"Why does Denzel hire so many women?" Alessia could not hold back the question stemming through her mind.

Godic never liked working with these bossy females as well, but Denzel had the final say.

"Isn't he your brother? You should ask him when you get the chance," he shrugged. Lordina ignored Alessia and stared Godic in the eyes.

"Godic, where is Don?" It was hard to miss the rudeness in her voice, but Godic expected this, so he was calm.

Most people would put on good behaviors when Denzel was around. If their intentions were purely based on protecting the business, he wouldn't mind, but they were rather far from it.

"He's fine but would not be here for a while."

Lordina sighed with relief, needing a few days to complete what Don Viggo contracted her to do. Once it's done, she would stop working and live the rest of her life from one vacation to the other.

She was already informed that Don Denzel was now physically challenged and would not be returning anymore. Godic must have also been here to loot away the goodies in the company since he knew a lot.

"I hope you understand how hard it is for me to believe what you are saying. It would be better for you to stay away for a while. Everyone says you want to take over everything," Lordina said proudly, as if the company was hers.

Godic guessed it was because of those three dons. Just as planned, they did not only return but shamelessly tried to even steal from Don Denzel.

Godic did not show any signs of knowing what they did but already planted enough spies around them.

No matter where they go and what they do, Godic would relay their whereabouts to his boss and brother-in-law.

"He put me in charge, and I have to report to him. For now, his sister, Alessia, would be taking charge of all the branches but would be situated at the finance office."

Lordina's expression changed. Covering the fears in her eyes with hardness, she scoffed. "Godic, such tricks are beneath you. What have you done to Don?"

"It's more like who have you conspired with in his absence? You were not expecting his return, and you are afraid for Alessia to check the records. Trust me, she's very good at it."

Godic did not hide it anymore, and the expression on Lordina's face said it all. He was just away for a few days, and things went out of hand.

Seemed that not only those dons were going to pay, but some of Denzel's employees as well. Whoever said that women could not be bought over must have miscalculated.

Lordina was now a traitor, and Godic could smell it all around her. Trusting Alessia's skills in both fighting and management, he had nothing to fear at all.

"You. If I don't see Don, I would not allow you access to anything. I will call the cops," Lordina yelled.

She was trying to scare Godic away, but even that did not seem to be working. The level of disappointment Godic felt in knowing that someone like Lordina had been bought was very painful.

"Please do or my boys can do a better job. Something fishy is going on here," Godic challenged, Alessia's brows raised questioningly. It seemed that betrayals were not only found among the packs but also humans.

Lordina was afraid but kept hanging on to Don Viggo's words that Godic left to conspire on how to steal Don Denzel's money. Now he returned and was requesting access to the accounts for his wife.

"If we don't see Don, nobody would be arrested unless you have a good lawyer with all the requisite documents." Lordina folded her arms to her chest, not willing to give in.

Chapter 241: Chapter 241 - Time to pay her dues

Alessia lost her patience and, though she wanted to prove to Denzel that she could handle things on her own, she realized that since Denzel had not taken those documents with him to the pack, only his voice would make an impact.

"Godic, let me talk to Denzel. They all have to be fired."

The three women mocked her, thinking that she was trying to use reverse psychology on them. "You are the one to be fired. You don't fit in here, and besides, Godic is just a bodyguard," Aurora retorted.

Godic was amazed by her utterance, but then again, it was understandable that Aurora had been nice to him before because she wanted to get close to Denzel.

Alessia glared at Godic, and he knew how much trouble awaited him if he refused to act immediately.

He dialed Denzel's number and activated the speaker to avoid making them assume he was making arrangements with anybody to fake being Don Denzel.

Alpha Denzel answered and said instantly, "Godic, I'm busy." Expecting Godic to hang up, he instead said, "Denzel, I'm sorry, but it's very urgent."

They were surprised that he did not address Don Denzel by his title but rather his first name and wanted to assume that the person was fake. But who could fake Don Denzel's voice like that?

Their anxiety took a different turn when they heard a female voice in the background. Aurora could not help but feel it was that woman with the bad luck again.

"I will go shower," Valerie said in the background. Aurora and Cordelia's faces turned green, but Lordina looked rather lost, not knowing when the Don began to welcome women into his life.

"Won't you want to speak to Alessia? It's Godic on the line." They heard Don Denzel's voice loud and clear.

His voice was one no one could imitate due to how sophisticated and domineering it was.

"You are using Alessia as an excuse to keep me here, but it's fine. Hey, Aless?"

Now the three women had no doubt that Alessia was indeed sent to take over the companies by the Don himself.

Godic must have been very smart to marry the Don's sister to become his in-law. The smile on Alessia's face was priceless, making it obvious that she and the Don's woman shared something very special.

"Val, is everything okay?"

Valerie's voice carried a blend of fatigue and excitement. "Better than I thought, but I'm so tired now. Let's talk about it tomorrow. We just returned..."

"I think you can go shower now," Denzel said and took over. He felt that Godic was having issues in the office, and Valerie would not know that the phone was on speaker.

It was easy for Alpha Denzel to make out when Valerie spoke to Alessia without them hearing Godic say she was giving the phone to her, meaning it was on speaker.

"Alessia, are you alright?" Denzel asked. The three women were now sweating. Alessia made it worse with the report she gave her brother.

"Yes, Denz, but you should have told me how rude your employees are. Should I fire them?"

The three women's frightened expressions worsened when Denzel responded, "If they deserve it, why not? Just make sure to get a better replacement, or you'll be overwhelmed with work."

Alessia stared at the three tigresses who now looked like ants before responding. "Alright. I will give it a second thought."

As Godic was about to end the call, Lordina feared being exposed since Godic already made her out and spoke directly to the man at the other end of the line.

"Don, I'm sorry. I only thought Godic was trying to steal from you."

"You are the suspicious one," Godic spoke angrily at Lordina, not allowing her pretense to hold water.

Godic and Alessia were not amateurs in business. If Denzel left the fort for them, then he trusted in their abilities and expected them to act on it.

"Godic, Alessia, I told you that you are in charge. Please don't disturb me. I'm so tired."

Alessia frowned at her brother's words. Denzel was never one to express so much tiredness. Valerie had also said she was tired. Alessia was curious to know about the happenings in the pack.

"Why are you both tired? Don't answer. I will call Valerie tomorrow."

Alpha Denzel wanted to tell her the good news but could not do so now. He was just glad Alessia would call Valerie to hear the good news and celebrate with them.

No more would people pick on her wolf because if they dared, they would be in for a surprise. Godic equally had good news for him.

"Denzel, I got what you asked for too, so let me know the way forward."

Having worked for long, Denzel instantly made out that the location of the three dons had been spotted. freewebnovel.com

"Thanks, just keep a tab on them and let me discuss with Val. After that, you will know our decision."

Valerie wanted to be the one to teach the assholes a lesson, so how could Denzel take that from her?

"Alright. I will be waiting for your call, but Aless has really been a good girl," Godic said proudly. Alessia blushed as Denzel responded from the other end of the line.

"I'm glad to hear that, but I hope she worked on the sal..."

"Enough. Go to sleep." Alessia ended the call. Why won't Denzel stop mentioning the salt and pepper thing? She had to find a way to make him stop.

Godic laughed at Alessia's sudden reaction before facing Lordina and asking. "Lordina, shall we go to your office now?"

Lordina's head lowered, and she fidgeted a little before saying, "Okay." It was not as if she had a choice.

At the evergreen pack, Valerie had showered and was sleeping by the time Denzel was through with the call. He went to shower and slept beside her. A few hours later, it was time for her to start paying her dues.

Alpha Denzel pulled her into his arms, stunned when she opened her eyes. "Are you ready now? Can we mark and mate with each other?" Valerie asked with a rare eagerness that spark every desire in him.

Chapter 242: Chapter 242 - Is this how you want it?

Denzel's warm palms caressed her naked body, feeling every inch of her warm skin. Nibbling on her neck, she thought he was going to mark her, making her throw her head backward in response to the sweet sensation generated by him.

Her excitement knew no bounds, but disappointment surged through her when his lips moved to her naked shoulders.

"Won't you mark me?" She was almost in tears, and Alpha Denzel chuckled, speaking teasingly.

"Relax, I want to curb the pain as much as I can."

A sigh of relief escaped her, but she insisted. "I can take it. Just mark me, please. Or..."

"Or what?" Denzel cut her off, his lips moving to her exposed chest as he pinned her hands to her sides.

"Or I will mark you first," Valerie flipped him around, caging him between her thighs.

Astrid was controlling her. His mark was something she could not wait to bear, and her lips were already inching closer to his neck.

Denzel smirked. "I see you love dominance, but you have to submit to me." He flipped her back to their former position, right before her canine came into contact with his neck.

Valerie looked upset, and her voice turned hoarse. "You can't tame me."

Female Alphas liked dominance, but two Alphas could never rule the same pack. One had to submit to the other.

"Are you sure about that?"

He pressed his lips on hers, and she parted them to welcome him instantly. He explored the corners of her mouth, taking in all the warmth it radiated, his warm, strong body against hers.

Valerie felt hot even with the air conditioner at its lowest. It was hard for her to take control, as Astrid was fighting dominance over Brutus. She could never allow the beast to tame her.

A moan escaped her when Denzel took her pink left nipple in his mouth, his thumb rubbing the right nipple in a circular motion, making it harden to his touch.

She let out another moan, allowing herself to enjoy the pleasures he gave her. "I will love you to submission, Val. Astrid would do the same."

His lips traveled down to her core, and she instantly closed her legs. Valerie finally gained control, and her response confirmed to Alpha Denzel that it was Astrid after all.

"I never fought dominance with you."

"Your wolf did," Alpha Denzel said and kissed her navel, his lips finding its way to her intimate parts.

"What are you doing?" This was not the first time he romanced her, but this was the first time his lips found their way to her intimate parts, making it weird.

Alpha Denzel was already unbearably hard, but he did not want to break her just yet, as that would be too painful.

His voice turned husky, loaded with desire. "Open up, Val. I'm in charge, not you or Astrid."

A blush stained her cheeks as she arched her waist, her legs opened wide. Denzel lowered himself between her thighs but didn't thrust into her immediately.

He continued to lick and suck her nipple, swapping from time to time. His fingers trailed her intimate part again, his middle finger thrusting into her wetness.

"Arhhhh," Valerie moaned, squirming to his action. What she did not expect was when his lips pressed against her clit gently.

Valerie moaned harder, her legs becoming weak with the sensations coursing through her body. She couldn't take it anymore.

He was torturing her with pleasure, overwhelming her like nothing she had ever felt. Her breathing became heavy, her body taut. He knew she was going to come and said, "Not yet."

Valerie was pushed to the limit, while Denzel moaned as his hard cock brushed the entrance of her wet pussy.

"Please," she begged, arching her waist with her head thrown back, her hair becoming a mess.

"Look at me and say it again, Val," Denzel loved the seduction in her voice and the desire in her eyes.

"Please.." Her passionate eyes met his alluring ones.

"You didn't say it well. Add my name," Denzel teased her with heavy pants.

"Please, Alpha Denzel, please do it," she begged shamelessly.

All she wanted now was for him to quench this desire smattering her and give her that mark her body so desired. Denzel smirked and licked her clits, thrusting his tongue into her warm wetness. Valerie let out a loud moan, accompanied by her release inside his mouth.

Panting, her eyes closed as she tried to recover from the hard release, but the tip of his manhood was already pressed against her entrance.

"You are so sweet, Val, but I can't take it anymore. I want you now," his deep, heavy voice sent excited sensual pleasure all over her body.

"You are wasting time. Just do...." Her last words were accompanied by a scream as he quickly covered her lips with his.

Her boldness made him forget it was their first time getting to this stage, so he did not hold back in thrusting in all at once.

Valerie squirmed under him, feeling his fullness inside her. Perhaps she had carried too much load. Denzel's cock continued to swell inside her, and when he was certain that she was okay, he began to thrust gently in and out of her.

As soon as she began to moan, he began to thrust hard, her moans turning to screams of pleasure with every hit of her G-spot. The pleasure was so intense that they were both sweating in the air-conditioned room.

After reaching her second climax, Alpha Denzel flipped her on top of him. Valerie cried, "yes, Denzel," and began riding him fast and hard, to Denzel's amazement, while he arched his waist to meet her halfway.

The pleasure burned in her so hard she turned wild, riding him with all her might.

She felt her muscles tense, and as she was about to release, Denzel lifted himself slightly, grabbed her head, his lips sealing hers with a passionate kiss before he flipped her below him and began to thrust fast and hard.

"Is this how you want it?" his breath was heavy, his muscles tensed.

Chapter 243 - I've Desired You for Too Long

Chapter 243: Chapter 243 - I've Desired You for Too Long

"Yes, Alpha Denzel, just like this, ahhh," she moaned loudly, blending with Denzel's growl as they both reached orgasm together. The way she called him Alpha when he was on top of her caused him to lose control.

Valerie had barely caught her breath when Denzel was hard again. This time, he flipped her onto her back and pressed his body against hers.

The level of his energy scared her since it was her first time. She needed to adjust to her new wolf and also have a good rest before being able to pleasure him to the fullest.

"Please, let me sleep," Valerie pleaded, but at this point, he couldn't stop, taking her from behind.

It was her first time in this position, and Valerie found it painful at first but began to enjoy it.

However, she was still tired, and with the energy he was using to thrust in and out of her, she was afraid he wouldn't stop.

Drops of sweat fell on her back, followed by pleasurable groans as he squeezed her buttocks. "Ahhh, Val, I can't stop. You are too sweet."

Valerie felt helpless. It was as if she was going to pass out, but the man behind her kept thrusting in and out of her like it was the only thing he had ever wanted.

"Denzel, please," she begged, her knees feeling weak as she tried to reach her wolf, but it seemed to be enjoying it and not responding to her pleas.

Unable to take it anymore, she used her remaining strength to yell, "Denzel, you are hurting me." He stopped instantly, but his hardness still remained inside her tight pussy.

"But you wanted this. Are you sure you can satisfy me?"

After waiting for her for so long, Valerie did not want to disappoint him, but she was just adjusting to her wolf and needed more rest.

Valerie was certain of her ability to satisfy his insatiable beast in time. "I promise that all I need is a good rest to make it up to you."

Alpha Denzel didn't look like he believed her, so she spoke reassuringly. "Please, it's my first time, and I already feel sore from the breaking of my hymen. I will make it up to you, I promise."

Denzel felt slightly guilty, forgetting that he had just taken her virginity. "I'm sorry. I've desired you for so long that it's hard to wait, so I will give you two days to recover."

Valerie was relieved, and her eyes closed as he gently gathered her in his arms, watching her beautiful sleeping form.

Valerie's eyes suddenly shot open. "Can I mark you now? I can't wait anymore."

Her beauty was a sight to behold, and Alpha Denzel smiled at her enthusiasm. He turned around and gave her access to his smooth, white, exposed neck.

"If you're up for it, then go ahead and mark me."

Valerie didn't hold back as her canines elongated and sank into his neck, feeling better instantly. She couldn't tell if Denzel felt any pain, as he didn't even flinch.

"Are you alright?" she asked in a slightly tired tone. Alpha Denzel stared at her, surprised by her behavior.

"I thought you'd be sleeping."

Valerie shook her head. It was as if his mark was her lifeline. She turned her head to the side. "Here. Mark me right there, and I will sleep peacefully."

Warmth filled Alpha Denzel's heart as he understood the depth of Valerie's love for him. Bending down a little, he did as she asked but first slipped his thumb into her mouth.

She didn't understand at first, but when the pain from the bite shot through her body as his canines sank into her neck, she bit his thumb in reflex. Alpha Denzel endured the pain until he was done and blew gently on the spot.

"Does it still hurt?" he asked, worried. She smiled weakly and wrapped her arms around him.

"Just a little."

Alpha Denzel held her in his arms, but she suddenly took the initiative and kissed him on the lips. He responded but feared losing control.

"I thought you were tired."

Valerie didn't respond but licked his nipple, causing him to groan. "Where did you learn that?"

"I'm just doing what you did to me," Valerie giggled. She didn't look as tired anymore. The scent in the room changed drastically, and Denzel realized that it was her heat.

A smirk formed on his lips as a mindlink came through from Burke. 'Alpha, the girl is awake.'

"Alice is awake?" he said out loud, causing Valerie to pause. "You mean Alice is awake?"

Alpha Denzel hated for their time together to be interrupted like this and replied to Burke. 'Tell her that Luna Valerie will be there in an hour.'

He stood up and carried Valerie to the bathroom. "I already told them to give you an hour, and you don't look so tired anymore."

Valerie didn't exactly understand how she was feeling and didn't argue with his accusation. Denzel took his time to wash her hair and body, doing it gently as if she were a baby, while he admired her form.

She was incredibly sexy, with rounded, soft breasts and a flat stomach with slightly curvy waist. He traced his finger and inserted it into her pussy.

"Open your legs, Val," the cold shower poured over them as he buried his head in the crook of her neck where he had just marked her and whispered in her ear.

She obeyed, her body beginning to desire him intensely as his finger moved in and out of her. His lips found her breast, sucking her nipple deliciously.

She was a whimpering mess, wanting him again. "I think I can handle it this time, Denzel. Please do it."

Denzel smirked and turned her around, realizing that while she-wolves would usually collapse after being marked, a female Alpha wolf would only grow stronger.

"Open your legs, hold the faucet, and bend for me," Denzel instructed, ready to continue from where he had stopped.

Chapter 244: Chapter 244 - I would never be able to control myself...

Valerie obeyed, moaning when she felt his phallus at the entrance of her pussy from the back.

She screamed in pain when he thrust into her. He was not the gentleman he always was to her but rather the beastly Alpha she had long heard of.

"Should I stop?" Denzel's desirous voice was filled with worry, she shook her head.

"No, do it," she gritted her teeth, her hands tightening around the faucet, the water pouring on them. She endured the pain that soon turned to pleasure as Denzel pulled to the tip and slammed into her.

She gasped. It was hard and strong, she felt her knees weaken, while he slammed into her again and again. It was pain mixed with pleasure, she began to sob when he hit her G-spot.

It was the sweetest sensation her body ever felt, another wave of release washed over her and she shivered under the hot shower.

Denzel held her small waist, pulling her closer and filling her hole fully, slamming in and out like he was insane. He waited so long and doing it with his mate, he realized that his wait was not at all in vain.

It was no wonder the moon goddess kept playing games with him. Valerie was worth the wait. She was exhausted when she had another hot release and Denzel was just close to coming.

This was the first time Valerie released multiple times like this, losing count of them all.

Denzel hit harder and harder, Valerie propped herself, pushing her buttocks closer, he growled, hitting crazily, and releasing his seed deep inside, while allowing the warm shower to wash them clean.

Valerie felt so shaky, her knees wobbled. Not even a female Alpha wolf would help in this situation. This was a sweet pain that did not warrant any form of interference.

Denzel pulled her into his embrace and turned off the faucet, while he dried her with a towel. "You pleased me well Val, you have just begun paying your dues," he purred. freewebnovel.com

Valerie shivered slightly. Even in her heat, Denzel went all the way and did not get tired.

Why did she feel like he still wasn't tired? His next words confirmed it.

"I promise to make you very happy Val, but you have to always give me this. Now that I have had a taste of everything you have to offer, I would never be able to control myself around you anymore."

Valerie chuckled and nudged him on the shoulder. "That won't do. Let's dress up and go see Alice."

It was obvious that any delay would cause him to go another round and Valerie was feeling sore.

Dressing up, Alpha Denzel was finding it hard to keep his hands to himself. Being something he did so easily before, it was difficult for Valerie to understand from where he got his self-control during those times.

At the pack hospital, Alice's eyes lit up at the sight of Valerie. "Luna Valerie. I thought I was being lied to when he said I was at the Evergreen Pack. I doubted Alpha Ludwig would allow it."

Valerie beamed and sat beside her hospital bedside. It was good that Burke got a private room for her, using the Alpha's orders.

There were things Valerie had to know before deciding if Alice should be kept in the Evergreen pack.

"Over here, lies aren't permitted," Valerie said in an amused tone, Alice's eyes met with that of Alpha Denzel and she cowered.

The swelling and redness on her face were all gone but the wound at her back was yet to heal.

"You don't have to be afraid of me, Alice but I have a feeling that this isn't your real eye color."

Valerie stared at Alpha Denzel. "What are you talking about?"

Alice lay on her side because of the pain from the wound and Burke was equally interested in what his Alpha had just discovered.

He loved these blue eyes from the moment he laid eyes on them but now, it seemed that Alice was hiding something.

"It's true," Alice said in a whisper. Most people around the packs never wore contact lenses so Valerie was at a loss.

"What is true?"

Alice could not lie to her and was ready to understand if her presence would cause problems for Valerie.

"Alpha Kenderick gave me these contact lenses as gifts. He said when it's time for me to go outside the pack, I should not forget to use them."

"Is there anything wrong with your eyes?" Alpha Denzel asked, Alice could not hold his gaze and stared at Valerie.

"I can take them off but my eyes are scary without them." Alice was so pitiful but Valerie chuckled and encouraged her.

"Alice, you have to love yourself no matter your looks. Don't let the pack's definition of beauty define you. Everyone is unique."

Alice was afraid that Valerie misunderstood her. It was considered a curse for anyone to have her condition. At least that was what she heard from Alpha Kenderick and Ava.

"Luna Valerie, you don't understand." She tried to lift herself to a sitting position and Burke quickly helped her as if they communicated in any way.

Alpha Denzel's gaze lingered on Burke. As a sensitive person, he felt that Burke deserved a warning but this was not something he could do in front of Alice.

Removing her contact lenses, Valerie was confused. "You have heterochromia so what is wrong with that?"

Alice felt strange. "Luna Valerie, Alpha Kenderick and Ava said it was a curse."

Valerie shook her head. "No, it isn't. They are just ignorant. Few people have this condition. You are the first I have seen but I read about it before."

Alice was overjoyed. Her eye color was one of her biggest fears but now, they were all gone. Burke chimed. "In my opinion, I liked the blue eyes which I just realized to be fake."

Alice's excitement waned but soon picked up again when he added. "I'm rather mesmerized by this heterochromia thing."

Alpha Denzel could not take it anymore. Walking out, said to Burke, "Burke, let's talk outside the ward."

Burke followed him with a confused expression as Alpha Denzel suddenly said, "She's just 16 Burke, I hope it's not what I am thinking."

Burke looked to his left and right before saying, "Alpha, I think there is something very important you need to know about her."

Chapter 245 - I promise I won't touch her

Chapter 245: Chapter 245 - I promise I won't touch her

"Tell me everything I need to know." The serious expression on Alpha Denzel's face sent a warning to Burke not to lie when they arrived at the frontage of the packhouse.

Burke was slightly nervous, but this was not something he could keep to himself as his hands would always itch to touch her.

Not in an unconventional way, but Alpha Denzel's warriors had been trained to not take interest in any woman who wasn't theirs.

As soon as Burke took an interest in Alice, it would create suspicions. "Alpha, Alice is my mate."

Alpha Denzel found it unbelievable but could not dismiss the possibility. He was concerned about Alice's age.

"She's 16, Burke, 16 if you didn't hear me the first time."

Burke smiled a little, understanding the reason for Alpha Denzel's concern and explained, "I know, Alpha. That is why she doesn't recognize me, so I will patiently wait until she turns the legal age, recognizes, and accepts me."

Alpha Denzel was relieved by his strategy but feared that Burke might go against his word. The mate bond was too strong, and if he was feeling it, it could negatively affect him since Alice had not yet been blessed with her wolf.

Then Alpha Denzel thought about Alice's powers, wondering what kind they were. Most people gifted with special powers would only manifest them after getting their wolf, but she used hers to help her Alpha and even Valerie without her wolf.

'Could she be a witch?'

If that were the case, it would be a significant problem as witches were not allowed close to packs. They were considered too dangerous.

"You forgot to mention that you are not sharing a room with her," Alpha Denzel said seriously. Burke was slightly displeased. Not that he would mate with Alice if they shared a room, but he just wanted her close.

"I promise I won't touch her. I just want to take care of her," he stated, not accepting the policy of not sharing a room together.

"Nope. You are not sharing a room with her, and that is final," Alpha Denzel said sternly, indicating that the matter was non-negotiable.

Burke had to accept his fate. It was just a matter of a year and a few months for Alice to turn eighteen.

He had already waited for four years before finding her, so this was something he could handle. "Yes, Alpha."

Returning inside, Burke tried his best to hide his emotions, lest Alpha Denzel made things even more difficult. All he wanted was to hug his mate a few times and take good care of her.

He also feared that seeing younger warriors, she might think he was too old for her when she turned eighteen and might even reject him.

So many fearful thoughts nestled in his mind, but seeing the nurse removing the catheter from her hand, he was worried.

Luckily, Alpha Denzel asked the question he wanted to ask. "Is she okay already?"

"She's going to be discharged, so I'm just waiting to take her to the packhouse," Valerie said. Alice instantly asked,

"You won't send me back, will you?" She did not have a friend at the Black Fur Pack and had no desire to return there.

This was the first time she had been shown care since her parents died, and she wanted it to remain like this.

"No," Valerie answered to her relief, but Denzel had some questions for her.

"Alice, you said something earlier about doubting if Alpha Ludwig would allow you to leave the pack. Can you tell us why?"

Alice felt a little fear whenever she heard Alpha Denzel's voice, though it was soft this time. She spoke truthfully.

"It's because of my powers. I use them to protect the pack."

Now Alpha Denzel confirmed his thoughts, but Valerie was amazed that the Black Fur Pack was being protected by a teenager. It was just too hard to believe.

"How do you do that?" She asked. Alice explained slowly.

"I draw the pack and put the drawing in a bowl of water. As long as the water remains around the painting, the pack is safe."

Valerie's brows raised as this was one of the strangest things she had ever heard. Or did Alice miss the fact that she had to use some incantations? That was usually what witches used.

"Is it normal water?" Alpha Denzel asked, testing the darkness of her powers. If she used incantations, then she was a witch.

"Yes, but it doesn't become normal again when I look into it. There is power in my eyes," she revealed truthfully.

Alpha Denzel released a breath he didn't know he was holding, as he feared what Valerie might do if he were to send Alice away.

Valerie doubted the whole thing a little due to the condition in which she saw Alice. "Then why did you allow those girls to do that to you? You should have used your powers."

Alice forced a smile as she recalled that dark moment of her life. "I did, but it was too late. Only the Alpha and a few of his trusted men knew about my powers, so I was afraid of using them earlier."

"I'm glad to have reached you early, but those girls will pay. Let's go to the packhouse. I have a surprise for you."

Valerie smiled and held out her hand to her. Alice beamed and hooked her hand to hers but suddenly frowned and withdrew it.

"People like me cannot live in the packhouse."

Her words caught a reaction from everybody around, including the nurse. "Why?" Valerie asked. Alice lowered her head thoughtfully.

"We are seen to be cursed." freewebnovel.com

Valerie rested her two hands on Alice's shoulders, looked her in the eyes, and spelled it out.

"Well, over here, you shall stay at the packhouse."

Excitement surged through Alice's heart as she asked, "Will you let me stay forever?"

Alpha Denzel's phone rang, interrupting the conversation. "Alpha Ludwig. What does he want?" He frowned and thought aloud before answering the call. "Alpha Ludwig?"

"Alpha Denzel, please, the girls have been punished. Can I come for Alice? The pack needs her," Alpha Ludwig pleaded over the phone. Alpha Denzel stared at Alice and responded,

"That depends." Then he asked, "Alice, do you want to go back?"

Chapter 246 – Giving her a choice.

Chapter 246: Chapter 246 – Giving her a choice.

Alice was bewildered. All her life, she had people dictate to her. Her parents used to do that, and then Alpha Kendrick, ever since he found out about her powers.

Then Alpha Ludwig took over as well. This was the first time she was being asked for her opinion, making it super heartwarming.

Here, she was given a right she never knew existed for someone like her. "You will do as I say?" She asked, as if in a dreamland.

Valerie smiled in amusement at how cute she looked when looking lost, but Burke was hoping that she would say no.

Alpha Denzel's eyes squinted slightly, but warmth remained in his voice as he began to slowly explain it to her.

How could he, who loved children so much, be feared by them?

"This is about you, so no one has the right to decide for you. So, do you want to go?"

He repeated the question, making her hang on to his every word, forgetting that the phone was on speaker.

This was also a sign to her that Alpha Denzel was not as scary as she thought him to be.

"No. I want to stay with Luna Valerie," Alice finally said, the corner of Alpha Denzel's lips curled up a little as he relayed the information.

"She said no, Alpha Ludwig."

"Alpha Denzel, please. Can I talk to her?" Alpha Ludwig asked, convinced that he would be able to change Alice's mind.

This concerned his pack, so Ludwig was willing to do anything possible to have her back, as it would make his work very easy.

For over two years now, the warriors, including the Alpha, never went on patrol, enjoying the night by the side of their mates and Lunas, except the unmated ones.

Starting patrol last night after a long time was like writing a letter with a barbell instead of a pen. It felt so heavy and odd.

Burke was afraid that Alice would return. Ever since knowing about the bond, he would not be comfortable being away from her.

However, with Alpha Denzel giving Alice the chance to decide on her own, he did not have much hope and yet could not utter a word in this matter.

"Alice, do you want to talk to him?" Alpha Denzel asked again, everyone was lost, not knowing the answer she would give this time.

The way Alpha Denzel carved the question put Alice on the edge, though he was giving her the right to refuse if she did not want to speak with her former Alpha.

After a little thought and realizing that Ludwig was never mean to her, she agreed. "Sure."

"Alpha Ludwig," she said into the phone, which was on speaker.

At the other side of the line, a relief sigh escaped Alpha Ludwig, as he feared that Alpha Denzel would not agree to his request.

Hearing Alice's voice calmed his soul, as he knew that Alice was rather soft and would not refuse his request.

However, he could not brush away the fact that she might refuse because of what those three girls put her through and began with an apology.

"Alice, I'm very sorry for what happened with the girls. I got so busy and couldn't come to check on you. I already had them punished like Alpha Denzel said. They have been slapped and stabbed, ending up at the hospital."

Alice felt strange to hear Alpha Ludwig talking to her like this. Then again, the three girls had be punished. Alpha Denzel had been the one to insist on it.

Though Alpha Ludwig was never rude to her before, it was difficult to understand how an Alpha would be apologizing to her when he was not the one who offended her.

Too much was denied her that she had no idea that protection from the Black Fur pack was her right. "It's alright. I'm fine now. No need to apologize."

Her soft voice gave Alpha Ludwig the much-needed relief as he went on to say.

"Great. So, I just prepared a room in the packhouse for you permanently. How about I come to personally pick you up? I will make sure that no one ever bullies you again."

"Uh mmm." Alice was conflicted, and Alpha Denzel realized that Alpha Ludwig was taking advantage of her softness.

However, he did not regret giving Alice the chance to decide. She was a growing young woman who needed to be guided in taking control of her life.

Alpha Ludwig found her reluctance uneasy, adding, "Please, Alice, you know how much the pack needs you."

It was as if Alice was struck by his words. About to agree, though sorrowful about it, she lifted her hand to look at her burnt scar once again.

With everyone's attention on her, they were all worried to have seen a scar their attention was never drawn to in the beginning.

"What is that?" Valerie asked with worry. Alice looked at the phone in Alpha Denzel's hand, making him realize her reluctance in making Alpha Ludwig hear about it.

"Ludwig, I'm gonna have to put you on hold for a while," Alpha Denzel said, instantly pressed the hold button without waiting for a response.

If Alice was being abused in the Black Fur Pack, then Alpha Ludwig would not have it easy. Even their friendship might be affected by it.

"Where did you get that?"

Burke, who had never been emotional like how he was trained by his Alpha, almost shed tears when he saw the scar.

It did not look like something old. It must have been from a recent burn. Alice was finding it hard to explain it, but from the curious gazes settled on her, she could not waste time about it.

"It's no one's doing. Anytime I use my powers, that is the price I pay."

This time around, their widened eyes were covered with that of horror. Alpha Denzel wondered if Kendrick and Ludwig were aware of this before their continuous use of her powers.

"You suffer burns, so why do you keep doing it? Are they aware of the consequence you go through every time?"

Alpha Denzel's voice lost its softness, and she was already becoming afraid.

"They don't know about it, and it's the only thing that makes me feel needed,"

Alice's voice was teary at the last part. Valerie was saddened by the extent to which Alice went to feel needed by her pack.

Alpha Denzel was no longer inclined to allow her to make the decision. "You don't have to do this anymore," he said sternly, but Valerie asked,

"Can you demonstrate it?" She was still curious to know how it happens since she had never seen anything like it in her entire life.

"What do I use?" Alice asked, not familiar with using her powers when there was nothing particular to use it on.

"Use me," Burke said. Alice did not refuse. She stared at him, and her eyes rolled back like in a mindlink. Following the direction of her eyes, Burke was lifted and fell behind the chair he sat on.

"Ouch," he groaned. It was more painful than he thought, yet he was happy that she was gifted with something special like this.

She should have used it to defend herself when the need arose. Valerie was staring at Alice's hand since she did not show the slightest sign of pain.

It was red as if fire was burning it, but there was no smell of flesh burning. "Does it hurt?" She asked with worry. Alice bobbed her head and responded,

"Yes."

After seeing this, Alpha Denzel could not allow her to return to the Black Fur pack. They would use her powers without mercy.

Why else would Alpha Ludwig mention that the pack needed her? "I guess you don't want to go back to them."

Alpha Denzel did not give her a choice in the matter and spoke to the nurse. "Give her something to relieve her from the pain."

Alice shook her head. "Nothing can relieve it. It will return to normal after three days."

"But the scar will always be there," he reminded her. Alice nodded her head. No one knew the painful nights she endured while her pack members slept in peace.

It sometimes kept her awake, and she would spend the time painting her role model, Luna Valerie.

Alpha Denzel removed the call from hold and said, "Sorry, she's not coming."

"Alpha Denzel, please, we need her. The pack, especially," Alpha Ludwig sounded helpless, but no one took pity.

"Did you know that using her powers was causing her physical harm? She suffers burns every time she does." He took a snapshot of the reddened surface and sent it to him.

A few seconds later, Alpha Ludwig spoke after seeing the picture. "I'm very sorry, but I never knew about this. She never told anyone before."

Knowing that he was not lying, Alpha Denzel did not take offense with him. "That is the reason why you can't have her back. I will ban her from using her powers so she's practically useless to you."

The fact was made clear that Alpha Ludwig needed Alice for her powers. Alpha Denzel found out, and he could not deny it.

However, Alpha Ludwig felt there might still be a way around it. "How about she returns? I won't allow her to use her powers but would only make it up to her for the damage caused."

He paused as if catching his breath and continued. "Alpha Denzel, I feel guilty, and since she's my pack member, it's my right to have her here."

Speaking from the legalities of pack constitutions, Alpha Denzel removed the call from speaker and walked out of the ward.

Valerie could only exchange glances with Burke and Alice, not understanding why he denied them listening to the conversation.

"Please watch her. I will be back."

She followed Alpha Denzel to the front of the pack hospital, and though he saw her, he continued to speak on the phone.

"Alpha Ludwig, aside from the fact that I don't believe you would keep your word to not let her use her powers anymore, the second reason is the fact that Alice is my beta, Burke's mate."

"She is underage, so we can't let her know of it. Once she reaches the idle age, the right thing will be done. As for now, we shall treat her as a very important guest, and if she so deems to join the pack, it will not be denied her."

The information crippled Burke from the other side of the line that for the next thirty seconds, he was struck with silence.

"Beta Burke is her mate?"

He could not believe that the Black Fur Pack lost Alice for good. The mate bond was indeed a good reason for Alice to be at the Evergreen pack unless she herself refused.

"I have no reason to lie to you aside from the fact that Alice is very comfortable with Luna Valerie."

Regret lay heavily on Alpha Ludwig's heart. Only if he had moved Alice to the pack house on time, she would have still spent a few years with them before moving to the Evergreen pack.

"Okay. I accept my loss."

"And I hope it will be a lesson to treat your pack members better next time," Alpha Denzel reminded him. This was Alpha Kenderick's fault, but Ludwig was equally the beta by then.

He could have still protected her. "Yes. Thank you. Goodbye."

"They are mates?" Valerie asked, referring to Burke and Alice when Alpha Denzel ended the call.

"You heard right. We should leave now," Alpha Denzel wrapped his arm around her waist and spoke before adding in a hushed tone, "I'm already missing you."

Valerie's cheeks were so red they were climbing up her ears. It was clear that the insatiable beast wanted to cripple her with sex.

Arriving at the packhouse, Alice felt lost. "It's so huge."

The maids stared at her with interest, wondering where she came from. It was obvious that she was not from the pack, but her behavior was like that of an omega.

"Do you like it?" Valerie asked. She stared at Valerie like she was seeing a ghost. "This is so beautiful. No wonder the girls said the Evergreen pack has the best of everything."

"You should see your room then."

"My room?" Alice was puzzled as Valerie explained. "Yes. You should have your own room, and I kept all the dresses and shoes I bought for you there."

She dragged Alice up the stairs as the girl was unwilling to move. Alpha Denzel and Burke remained downstairs as Alpha Denzel began to realize something. Alice was going to steal his Luna from him.

His phone rang, and seeing it was the investigator, he quickly answered it. "I don't want bad news."

"Alpha, we have both good and bad news," the investigator informed him.

Alpha Denzel was not liking this. All he wanted was a surprise to make Valerie happy. What could the bad news be?

Somehow, he did not want to hear it first. "I want to hear the good news first."

The investigator excitedly revealed, "We found the old Alpha and his first daughter."

A relief sigh escaped Alpha Denzel. This was the news he was looking forward to and could not understand how there could be something bad attached to it.

"Then what is the bad news?"

"He has still not fully recovered, so Ashley has refused to leave his side," the investigator reported. Alpha Denzel could still not see it as bad news.

He thought it would be something he would not be able to handle, but this did not seem like it.

"How long would the recovery take? Which hospital are they?"

Alpha Denzel was willing to take the risk, especially when Valerie was busy with Alice. He could go and return without her knowing so as not to ruin the surprise, but the next revelation was unexpected.

"Alpha, they are being taken care of by the rogues."

"What?" Alpha Denzel exclaimed, his voice raised, as he regained himself and looked around to ensure that Valerie had not heard anything he said.

It began to dawn on him everything about Ashley's visit to the Yellowstone pack. Since her father was in a bad condition, she must have joined the rogues to use their help to find him.

"That is the biggest problem. The rogues are upset because a lot of them died in our pack. They won't let them leave after the treatment without a huge compensation," the investigator revealed. Alpha Denzel thought carefully.

"I want to meet them."

This was not something he would have done in the normal sense since the rogues were unruly. However, this was a matter involving his father and sister-in-law.

The investigator sighed with relief upon hearing that the Alpha would be present. Dealing with rogues was the most difficult thing he ever did in his life.

"I will make the arrangement."

"I want it to be now," Alpha Denzel said sternly. The investigator felt pressured. freewebnovel.com

"Please give me a few minutes."

Alpha Denzel waited in the living room, thinking about the pros and cons until his phone rang again.

"Alpha, they are giving some weird conditions. I think it would be best if you can make it now."

Not bothering to ask as he already suspected it was not going to be easy, Alpha Denzel stood up from where he sat. "Alright. I will set off in a few minutes."

Only then did he realize that Burke had been standing there, looking lost. "How long have you been here?"

Burke had a confused expression on his face. "Alpha, ever since we returned from the hospital."

"So, you must have heard a few things. Now, the Luna must not know about it. Since you are now the beta, you also have to know this. Our Luna is a female Alpha."

"No." Burke refused, thinking of the consequences. "Alpha, isn't that a big problem? What if she tries to take over the pack from you? A female Alpha would never submit to her Alpha."

Alpha Denzel forced a smile. That was what they always said, but as for him, he was determined to create his own destiny, different from what people were used to.

"Leave that to me. Female Alpha or not, there is only one Alpha in this pack, and that is me. Luna Valerie would remain the Luna of this pack, but in my absence, she would exercise her Alpha authority.

Burke was happy with this. "Well noted Alpha, but can I ask a question?"

Alpha Denzel spoke roughly, eager to leave. "Only if you can make it snappy. I have to go visit the rogues."

"Rogues?" Burke felt as if he was being fed with so much food, too much to digest. Being a beta allowed him information he would not have known as a warrior or delta.

The more he knew, the more he realized how complicated Alpha Denzel's life was. Clearing his throat nervously, he asked.

"What happened to her Luna wolf?"

"She died when I rejected her. Our Luna has lived without her wolf ever since being in this pack. It was just yesterday that the moon goddess blessed her with a stronger one."

The revelation felt too heavy for Burke; he was left speechless but slowly began to remember how Alpha Denzel took over wolf training, allowing Luna Valerie to only train in human form with the other trainees.

However, there was also this subtle joy in him for being privy to the Alpha's deepest secrets.

"Thank you for telling me, Alpha."

Alpha Denzel nodded his head and added.

"Now you must not tell her this. Her father is alive but with the rogues. I have to find a way to get him and her sister out of there. His health is not good because of the attack on his life."

Burke was now stunned. "The Luna would be very happy to hear this."

"I know, but I plan to use it as a surprise before her coronation. It wouldn't be right for her father and elder sister to miss it, would it?"

Burke smiled. "No, it wouldn't."

"I don't know for how long it would take, but I'm telling her I have to take care of a matter outside the pack and would be back soon. Should she get suspicious, you have to calm her. Also, give her every support she'll need in my absence."

"Well noted, Alpha. I will not fail you," Burke wholeheartedly said. Alpha Denzel was satisfied with the response and patted him on the shoulder.

"Stop standing around like a statue. This is our home now. Make yourself comfortable."

An embarrassed smile curled Burke's lips, but he knew it was true. It was a surprise for him to be a member of the pack house, but that was what it was.

Alpha Denzel went upstairs and was amazed by what Valerie and Alice were doing. The sound of the door caused Valerie to turn around, and seeing him, she looked upset.

"Denzel, you should not have come."

Chapter 249: Chapter 249 – Denzel, let me come with you

"Wow, is this a princess room like they do for those human princesses?" Alice was amazed when she entered the room, and Valerie couldn't help the smile blooming on her face.

The girl seemed ignorant but knew quite a lot. "You know about human princesses?"

Alice eagerly nodded her head, tempted but not daring to sit on the queen-sized bed that seemed like it belonged to a real princess.

The interior décor of a pure blend of pink and yellow greatly brightened her mood, and for the first time, she felt so special, speaking dreamily.

"When my parents were alive, they read me stories about them."

Valerie smiled and led her to the pink closet. Alice felt like she was in a different world, far from any pack. "Now you get to live like a princess. Look into the closet. See if you have everything you need."

The space in the closet was even larger than that of her room in the Black Fur Pack. "Are you serious? This is like ten years of what I need."

Alice could not contain her excitement, feeling like her parents were right there by her side, granting all her wishes like a fairy god mother.

"You are funny. In ten years, these clothes would not fit," Valerie playfully ran her fingers through Alice's hair. She was happy with the reaction and wanted the smile to remain plastered on her face forever.

"They are so beautiful," Alice said, wiping joyful tears from the corners of her eyes.

"Just like you," Valerie smiled at her. "You can shower and change into any of the casual clothes. Your hair is very long, so should you need help drying it, don't forget to call me."

Looking at all the stunning clothes in the closet, Alice could not believe they were hers. "I know that I'm not beautiful. You can say it."

Valerie frowned at her words before assuring her. "You are beautiful, both on the outside and inside."

Alice turned moody and went to sit on the bed. Then she stood up and sat again. The texture was nothing she had ever sat on before. freewebnovel.com

In the end, she decided to sit on a chair and enjoy the bed only after she showers.

"I heard the girls talking, and they all wanted to be mated to the strongest warriors, Alphas, or betas. I can never even dream of being mated to the weakest of all omegas."

Valerie recalled Alpha Denzel's confirmation of Burke being Alice's mate, smiled, and asked,

"Which type would you want to be mated to when you turn eighteen?"

Alice blushed, a little embarrassed to be discussing something like this with Luna Valerie but could not stop herself from answering the question.

"I don't know. Do I even deserve to be mated?"

Valerie encouraged her. "Yes, sweetie, you deserve all the goodies in life, and I am sure you will have your heart's desire."

Alice spoke dreamily, as if making a wish. "When I turn eighteen, I want to be mated to someone like Beta Burke."

Valerie's brows raised in both surprise and admiration. From her experience, she knew that one could develop a strong liking for another, even without a mate bond.

"Why do you say so?" She asked, wondering how Alice got her connection. She explained excitedly.

"Before you arrived at the hospital, he was so nice to me, practically taking care of everything and very cautious with what the doctors do. He is a very good man."

Valerie was nodding her head, understanding that Alice's liking for Burke was due to the fact that she never enjoyed attention from any other man like him.

"That is nice. Let's hope he doesn't find his mate by the time you turn eighteen. I could force him to marry you."

Valerie was careful not to make it suspicious that Alice's mate had already been waiting for her, five years ago.

"You will do that for me?" Alice was excited, and Valerie nodded her head, not expecting her feeble arms to wrap warmly around her.

"You are so sweet," Alice said, glad that she got to stay with Luna Valerie.

"And so are you, but you know what? I don't want you to be afraid of Alpha Denzel. He is very bad to bad people and good to good people," Valerie explained carefully. Alice smiled shyly.

"I will try. His voice is strange. It's like even when he's speaking softly, it's actually a command."

Valerie chuckled in agreement but did not know how to explain it, only saying, "I guess that is just how Alphas are."

"No. Alpha Denzel is so different, but I love to paint. Do you mind if I paint him to thank him? I already painted you a lot of times."

Valerie smiled since she equally loved to paint, and it would be a good surprise for Alpha Denzel.

"Sure. It would be a nice surprise for him."

"Is there a painting brush?" Alice asked, and Valerie went to check the drawers as she spoke.

"I think so. I saw the paintings on your wall and informed them to make provision for it. It's right here." She spotted the paintbrushes and pulled out the pack. Alice beamed.

"Great." Then she saw the painting board and smiled even wider. "And a painting board too. Okay. Time me. I will finish his painting in less than fifteen minutes."

Valerie was shocked and ready for the challenge. "Fifteen. Are you kidding?"

Alice already began the painting, and Valerie timed her. Ten minutes through, she was already finishing up when the door pushed open without a knock.

Valerie turned around, upset that their surprise had been ruined when she saw Alpha Denzel.

"Denzel, you should not have come."

Alpha Denzel was hasty, determined to leave before any questions. However, he could not keep his eyes from the unfinished painting, no matter how he tried.

"I will excuse you ladies. Sorry I didn't knock. I just wanted to inform you that I will be away for a few hours."

Valerie spoke absentmindedly. "Sure, you can go." Then she paused. "But wait, where exactly? I remember you saying that we go everywhere together."

Alpha Denzel was slightly nervous, but it did not show in his facial expression. "Now you have a powerful wolf, so there is no need for that. The pack is in your hands. See you soon."

He turned around to leave before she could ask another question, but just as he stepped out of the door, Valerie ran after him.

"Denzel, let me come with you."

Chapter 250: Chapter 250 - You Are So Scared of Sex

Alpha Denzel stiffened, and Valerie felt it, confident that he was hiding something. Looking in Alice's direction, an idea cropped into Alpha Denzel's mind as he asked seriously,

"Are you going to leave Alice behind? She's new here."

Alice had become Valerie's weakness, and his only choice was to use her. Valerie stared at Alice apologetically.

Perhaps it was due to the mate bond, but she couldn't help feeling that Alpha Denzel was hiding something from her.

Besides, after being marked and mated, he had not even mentioned her coronation. Valerie was eager to be officially introduced to the pack communities as the Luna, just as she had endured the shame of her previous coronation.

Alice, though young, was mature enough to sense the tension between the couple. She certainly did not want to become a third wheel in this situation.

"I will go shower," Alice said, breaking Alpha Denzel's hope of using her as an excuse. Left with no choice, he could only resort to his last option.

"Great, come with me," he said, wrapping his arm securely around her waist and leading her out of Alice's room.

Instead of descending the stairs, he led Valerie to their room, instantly pinning her back against behind the door.

He sucked the mark on her neck, earning a moan from her before nibbling on her ears, making her blood hot with desire.

Even so, she couldn't get over the soreness from the previous night. Her walls might not be able to handle it so soon.

Alpha Denzel purred, "I was thinking of giving you some time to heal, but now that I think about it, it's no longer necessary. We already missed training, and you are as hot as hell."

His lips captured hers as he kissed her deeply and passionately. His fingers traced her curves desirously, then climbed up to caress her breast through her clothes before pulling down her pants, as Valerie grabbed his hand.

She was on fire and already felt hot for him, but she still couldn't get over the soreness she was feeling, afraid of him pounding her again for hours on end.

It would be better to let him off since she was sure Alpha Denzel would not do anything to harm her. He was the one man she could trust to protect her with his life.

"I thought you had somewhere to go," her voice sounded pleading. What if they went another round, and she couldn't walk? This was Alice's first time in the pack house, and Valerie planned to treat her to a good meal as well.

Amusement laced Alpha Denzel's voice as he pulled away and stared into her beautiful eyes. "If I hadn't seen your wolf, I wouldn't have believed you have a female Alpha wolf. Gosh, you are so scared of sex."

Valerie lowered her head, a little embarrassed, and wondered if it was the same with all Alphas and their Lunas. She was not scared of sex, as it was an enjoyable thing. Her only fear was that Denzel, would not stop.

Yet, she was certain that after a few days, she would be well prepared since there would no longer be a hymen to be broken.

"Don't get ahead of yourself. Just wait until my sores heal, and since you won't take long, dinner will start in three hours. Be here before it's ready."

Calculating the time, Alpha Denzel had less than five hours to return. It was strange how his life was now being organized by his mate.

Initially, he could just decide to go anywhere without informing anyone or being put under a time watch. The rogues' communities were quite far from the packs, so he was certain he wouldn't meet the deadline.

"What if I'm a little late?" he asked with a pout. Valerie laughed. Never did she imagine that someone like Alpha Denzel could act like that.

Leaning in, she felt excited, kissing him on the cheek. "Then no sex for a week. Your choice."

Alpha Denzel paled. The punishment was too severe as he was just warming up in his libido aspect.

"Don't be mean, Val. It might be late by the time I get back," he said honestly. Valerie took advantage of the situation to get what she wanted from him.

"Unless you tell me exactly where you are going, I won't give you the right to negotiate."

Alpha Denzel went into deep thought and spoke carefully. "Remember the rogues we killed the other day?"

"At the cottage? I can't forget," Valerie answered, and Alpha Denzel's lips pursed.

"Good. They are asking for compensation for their loss, so I just have to go take care of matters."

Valerie never liked any form of negotiation involving the rogues. The only way to have peace of mind about the matter was for someone to go with him. "Then go with Burke."

Alpha Denzel didn't want one of the strongest warriors to go with him, fearing an unexpected attack. "What about you?" he asked seriously. Valerie smiled and responded, freewebnovel.com

"Gandolf and Dorothy are here. We shall be fine."

Relieved that she would use the warriors if needed, Alpha Denzel shed all fears. "Then I won't refuse your offer. See you soon, my love."

Alpha Denzel only released his breath after Burke stepped on the accelerator. That was a close one, and he was glad to have escaped. Arriving at the rogues' community, he was met by the investigator and some of the rogue leaders.

"Who do we have here? Alpha Denzel himself, but we can't let him in," one of the rogue leaders spoke in a mocking tone.

This was their only opportunity to do whatever they wanted, as Alpha Denzel was in their turf, and they owed him no offense.

Alpha Denzel did not speak, but his glare sent a warning. To resolve the issue amicably, the investigator stepped in, asking the rogue leader, "Why?"

"What if he destroys all of us? Death follows him everywhere he goes," the leader revealed, glaring daringly at Alpha Denzel.

Alpha Denzel's expression was chilly as he responded, "That is a good enough reason why you should let me in. Alpha Lawn is my father-in-law."

"Then I'm afraid there is a big problem," the leader replied, and Alpha Denzel's brows raised questioningly. "Why?"
