Ex-Husband Wants Badly to Resume Their Marriage Chapter 251

She's Been Unlucky in Love

Jameson narrowed his eyes.If Talon went to Mr.Jones' birthday banquet, he would meet Sharon.

And then what tricks Talon was playing would come to the surface.

"Mr.Proctor, apart from Talon and Mr.Coe, Mr.Matthias will also be there" Jacob said.

Jameson said indifferently, "Do you think it was a Coincidence that Daniel materialized at Natalia's side? Or was it intentional?"

"Mr.Proctor, do you mean...'

"William recently found out that when Trey founded Stella Technologies abroad, the first start-up capital came from a company called Hertz.Before long, Hertz signed a strategic cooperation agreement with Complex.The owner of Hertz and William go way back."

Daniel, Trey, William, and even Mr.Jones had complicated connections with each other.

If he dug in, Jameson would be able to see the relationships in their true colors.

It seemed that they had a common purpose.

It had been many years since Mr.Jones' last birthday banquet.

And on this point, everything was not as simple as it seemed.

The dense fog had blocked the truth from coming forward.

But the wind would blow it away tomorrow night.

Jameson said, "Tomorrow night, send more people around the hotel.Sharon is always silly in such matters.She will only fall into their traps."

Jacob whispered, "Mr.Coe shouldn't take advantage of Mrs.Proctor, let alone hurt her..."

Before he could finish speaking, Jacob noticed Jameson shot him a cold glance.

He immediately said, "OK, I'll do that straight away."

As the door was closed, the office fell silent again.

Jameson leaned back in his chair and looked at the reframed photo on his desk.

He pondered as he pursed his thin lips slightly.

Not long after, his phone rang.

It was William calling.

"As you expected! Your whereabouts in Costspool have been leaked. Evie is looking for your mother."
Jameson's lips curled in a sneer.

"She's quite fast.'

"There are not only the Rowlands at Evie's hands. There are some that I can't even figure out where they come from.'

Jameson said in a low voice, "The people behind her will take action soon."

Evie had fallen into his trap.

At six o'clock in the afternoon, Trey appeared at the door of the studio.

"Sharon, are you ready?"

Sharon picked up the gift from the cashier and smiled, "OK, let's go."

She didn't know what to get Mr. Jones for his birthday.

Suddenly, she remembered the tea set at his house, so she bought some tea leaves.

She thought Mr. Jones would like it.

After getting in the car for a while, Trey said, "Sharon, there's something I didn't tell you."

"What?"

"Jameson will also attend the banquet. You will meet him. But it doesn't matter. I will always be with you. Furthermore, he won't dare to mess with you on the occasion." Sharon nodded without saying a word.

She did not know what to say.

Twenty minutes later, the car stopped at the entrance of the hotel.

Mr. Jones was very prestigious in the South City.

The people present were all influential and powerful.

Sharon and Trey had just entered when they met two people.

After she saw them, Natalia chuckled, "I didn't expect Mr. Coe to bring Ms. Allyson here. I thought Ms. Allyson would come with Jameson. It seems that I still don't understand Ms. Allyson."

Sharon knew Natalia was hostile to her.

Besides, she could not explain it at all.

Trey said coldly, "Mr. Jones invited Sharon himself. I don't understand your words, Miss Beale."

Hearing this, Natalia was not surprised but smiled, "Ms. Allyson, it seems that you've got all the cheek in the world. Mr. Jones knows you and even invited you. Excuse me for my rudeness."

At this time, a deep voice came from the side.

“Natalia.”

Natalia turned around and said, “By the way, Dad, I haven’t introduced them. This is Mr. Coe, the founder of Star Dynamics Science and Technology. This... You know, she’s Jameson’s ex-wife.”

As Natalia said, Talon looked over.

Finally, he fixed his narrowed eyes on Sharon.

Sharon said slowly, “Miss Beale, I know you don’t like me, but since you have spoken, I would like to say one thing. My name is Sharon, not Jameson’s ex-wife’.”

If it weren’t for Natalia’s father, Sharon would say, “Will you be happy if I introduce you as the one whom Jameson refused to get engaged to? No matter how hard Natalia tried to approach her and make friends with her, Sharon kept a distance from her since she was afraid of getting into this situation. But she didn’t expect it still happened. Why did she have to take the blame for that jerk’s mistakes? Natalia sneered.

Just as she was about to say something, Talon said, “Ms. Allyson, you are indeed not most people. No wonder you married into the Proctor family.”

Sharon smiled faintly and did not reply.

She didn’t bother to think about what he meant.

Trey said, “Mr. Jones’s birthday banquet is about to begin. We have to go. Please do as you like.”

Then he left with Sharon.

When they entered the banquet hall, almost all the guests had arrived.

They walked up to Mr. Jones who was wearing a Tang suit and leaning on a stick.

He was chatting with William.

Noticing them, he smiled, “Trey and Ms. Allyson have arrived. It’s quite cold outside today, isn’t it? Thanks for coming.”

Sharon smiled, “It’s not very cold.”

After chatting for a while, Mr. Jones’ men came in and whispered something to him.

Mr. Jones looked at Trey and then at Sharon.

After he nodded, he waved his hand and let his men leave.

Mr. Jones said, “Trey, there are some snacks and hot drinks over there. Take Ms. Allyson over to have a look.”

Trey said, “OK.”

Sharon knew Mr. Jones was driving her away.

She smiled and nodded before leaving with Trey.

After a few seconds, Trey said beside her, "Sharon, don't take Natalia's words to heart. She has been unlucky in love, so she was targeting you on purpose."

Hearing this, Sharon was slightly surprised.

"Isn't she with Daniel? Why...?"

Trey smiled and took a glass of wine from the waiter.

"She will be engaged to Jameson's elder brother next month."

Sharon's eyes widened in disbelief. She did not expect this.

"But she has once engaged to Jameson."

Ex-Husband Wants Badly to Resume Their Marriage Chapter 252

Why Is the Jerk Acting Weird Again?

Trey smiled and handed Sharon another glass of wine.

"What they value are the benefits from a business marriage, so it doesn't matter whether Natalia and Jameson were engaged or not, and..."

It was because Jameson had broken off the engagement that Talon and Jameson's father were able to reach an agreement.

Sharon pursed her lips and did not say anything.

No wonder Natalia's hostility towards Sharon was so obvious.

This was the reason.

Natalia wanted to marry Jameson, but in the end, she had to get engaged to Jeffery.

That was why Natalia was so angry with Sharon seeing her dine with Jameson.

Sharon paused for a moment.

Then she asked with a frown, "What about her and Daniel?"

With a toss of his head, Trey finished his champagne and turned to look not far away.

"Don't worry about him. He has a solution."

Following his gaze, Sharon found that Daniel had also come and was talking to Mr. Jones.

Trey was on good terms with Mr. Jones, and Daniel was Trey's friend, so it wasn't surprising that Daniel and Mr. Jones were familiar.

However, Sharon did not understand what solution Daniel could have.

The engagement between Natalia and Jeffery was out of the interests of the two families.

Could Natalia's father give it up just because of Daniel's words? The engagement could only be broken unless one of the families had a better choice.

At this moment, a waiter walked to Trey and whispered something to him.

Trey frowned slightly and said to Sharon, "Sharon, wait here for a moment. I'll be right back."

Sharon gently nodded, "Alright."

Trey looked around and confirmed that Jameson was not nearby before striding away with the waiter.

Sharon took a sip from the champagne glass.

She wanted to watch Daniel and Mr. Jones again, but they were out of her sight.

Suddenly, she heard a man's lukewarm voice from behind, "Looking for me?"

Sharon went speechless.

Sharon slowly put down the glass, not wanting to turn around at all.

The next second, she heard the man's voice in her ear and felt a warm breath on her fair neck.

"Or are you looking for Trey? Stop looking. He won't be back soon."

Hearing this, Sharon couldn't help but frown.

She turned around to say something only to find that the jerk's face was very close.

Her lips grazed his cheek, leaving faint lipstick on it.

Jameson met her gaze and raised his eyebrows, "It's inappropriate in public. When we get home, do whatever you want. I won't resist."

Sharon had nothing to say.

He must be crazy!!! She took a step back and said unhappily, "You also know that this is a public event. Aren't you afraid of being laughed at?"

Jameson said calmly, "Others are not blind, and I can't cover their eyes."

Sharon didn't want to waste words with him.

She was about to leave when she was pulled by the wrist, "Where are you going?"

"The lady's room. Coming with me?"

"Since you've asked, then I might as well accompany you."

If it weren't for the many people here, Sharon really wanted to give him a beating.

She shook off his hand and went straight ahead.

A few steps later, she heard the jerk's leisurely voice, "Wrong direction. Over there."

Sharon stopped abruptly.

She took a deep breath before heading in the direction Jameson said.

'What exactly is wrong with the jerk? He even has to follow me to the bathroom.

Not long after leaving the ballroom, Sharon saw the sign of the bathroom and heard someone talking in a low voice.

At this moment, the man who had been following behind put his arm around her waist and took her to a nearby corner.

Before Sharon could make a sound, her mouth was gently covered.

At the same time, two people who were talking passed by them.

Daniel and Natalia.

After they walked away, Sharon pulled Jameson's hand away and said, "Have you done anything wrong to hide in this way?"

Jameson put his hands into his pants pocket.

"Do you want to go up and say hello to her?"

Sharon snorted and ignored him.

She went into the lady's room.

When she came out, Jameson was leaning against the balcony nearby and smoking cigarettes, his handsome face looking calm.

Seeing her, Jameson stubbed out the cigarette and signaled, "Let's go."

After a few seconds, Sharon couldn't help but ask, "What excuse did you use to draw Trey away?"

"You really want to know?"

"..Forget it.

The jerk certainly wouldn't say anything good.

At the entrance of the ballroom, they met Patrick, who was about to leave.

Patrick greeted them with a smile, "Mr.Proctor.Ms.Allyson.'

Jameson said indifferently, "The birthday party has just begun.Are you leaving?"

Patrick said, "I have something to do, so I'll take my leave first.'

"Today's climax hasn't been reached.It's a pity that you'll leave now."

Faced with Jameson's aggressiveness, Patrick maintained a polite smile.

"I don't understand what you mean."

Patrick had always known that he was investigated by Jameson and had been on cautious guard since.

However, he was still taken advantage of by Jameson.

Patrick continued, "Mr.Proctor, if there's nothing else, I'll leave."

Jameson didn't say anything.

He just looked at Patrick from behind with a cold smile.

Sharon looked at Jameson.

'Why is the jerk acting weird again?'

Meeting her gaze, Jameson flicked her forehead, "What are you thinking?"

Sharon pursed her lips and looked away, then they entered the ballroom.

Since the gift had been delivered, it was time for Sharon to leave.

She would say goodbye to Mr.Jones.

When she arrived, Talon, Natalia, and Daniel were standing opposite Mr.Jones.

Sharon hesitated for a moment before walking over, "Mr.Jones, I'm going back.I wish you a happy birthday."

Mr.Jones turned around, "Leaving so soon? Where's Trey?"

Just then he saw Jameson following Sharon.

He instantly knew it.

'This young man is really something.

At this time, Natalia said with a smile, "Ms.Allyson not only got invited by Mr.Coe to Mr.Jones' birthday party, but also is accompanied by Jameson.I really envy you."

Sharon smiled with no reply.

She only said to Mr.Jones, "Then I'll take my leave."

After that, she turned around.

However, Sharon only took a few steps before hearing Natalia from behind, "Ms.Allyson."

Ex-Husband Wants Badly to Resume Their Marriage Chapter 253

Why Pester Her?

Sharon slowly turned her head and said calmly, "Miss Beale, anything else?"

Natalia glanced at Jameson and then looked at Sharon, "Ms.Allyson, it's a rare chance for you to attend such a banquet.Won't you feel it a pity to leave now?"

Before Sharon responded, Jameson said coldly, "What do you mean?"

Natalia said with a smile, "Nothing. I just think that since Mr. Jones personally invited Ms. Allyson to come here, it's impolite for her to leave early. After all, anyone who is well-educated won't leave until the banquet is over."

Feeling that the atmosphere was getting increasingly tense, Mr. Jones coughed and said, "Miss Beale, you're too serious. It's just a birthday party. Ms. Allyson can leave if she wants to."

"Mr. Jones, you're generous and won't be angry with Ms. Allyson. However, some people were born to be ill-bred. Jameson, do you agree?"

Natalia mocked both Sharon and Jameson.

After a few seconds, Sharon said with a smile, "Miss Beale, you're right. People can't choose their parents. However, if people are mean and rude, no matter how well they disguise themselves, they will show their true color one day."

At Sharon's words, Natalia put on a long face.

At this point, Mr. Jones slowly said, "Ms. Allyson is right. No matter how well people disguise themselves, sooner or later they will show their true color."

As he said this, he intentionally glanced at Talon.

Compared to Natalia whose face darkened, Talon gave no signs of his true feelings.

He just scolded Natalia in a serious voice, "Natalia, you were a little rude just now. Apologize to Ms. Allyson."

"No need," Sharon kept a smile as she looked at Natalia and said, "Miss Beale, I know that you have a bone to pick with me, but I hope that you could understand that I'm not the one who caused this situation, and don't be picky about me just because I am good-tempered."

After Sharon finished speaking, she nodded slightly at Mr. Jones, then turned around and left.

Jameson slightly raised his eyebrows and said to Mr. Jones, "I'll take leave, too."

Mr. Jones nodded.

Natalia pursed her lips and also left.

Seeing this, Daniel quickly followed her.

After they all left, Mr. Jones looked at Talon and sighed deeply, "Originally, I didn't want to interfere in this matter. However, since the two children have come to me, I suggest that you should reconsider Natalia's marrying into the Proctor family."

Talon said, "I just want Natalia to gain happiness."

Mr. Jones leant on his walking stick and slowly said, "Let's not mention whether Natalia will be happy after she joins the Proctor family. She had an engagement to Jameson before. If she married into the Proctor family, she would be very embarrassed when coming across Jameson."

Talon did not say anything.

Mr.Jones added, "Although Daniel is not as powerful as the Proctors, he truly loves Natalia and Natalia thinks well of him.It's better to give them a chance than force Natalia to marry a man she doesn't love.' "The engagement has been made.

If I renege now, I can't justify myself to the Proctor family.' "If you're afraid that you might hurt the feelings of the Proctors, I can speak for you."

Talon never thought that Daniel would get Mr.Jones to help him.

Although the Beale family had rarely got in touch with the Jones family in recent years, the two families still had a good relationship.

For some reason, Talon could not refute Talon.

However...

Talon narrowed his eyes and looked in the direction where Sharon had left, deep in thought.

After a while, he said, "I also know that it's not the best choice for Natalia to marry into the Proctor family.However, the engagement has been made.If I renege now, then Natalia will break off two engagements in just three months.You know how hurtful gossips can be.I don't want Natalia to get hurt."

Mr.Jones did not know what to say.

What Talon said was indeed a big problem.

Breaking off the engagement might damage Natalia's reputation.

Talon's words did make sense.

When Mr.Jones was about to say something, Talon said, "I know that you have been loving Natalia dearly since she was a child.You want her to be happy.However, it's not necessarily a bad thing for her to marry into the Proctor family."

Mr.Jones could not continue persuading Talon and had to give up.

Sharon walked out of the hotel and was just about to leave when Trey walked over.

He opened his mouth as if he wanted to speak, but when he saw Jameson following her, he could guess what had happened.

Trey said, "Sharon, let me give you a ride."

Sharon glanced at her phone and said, "Thank you, but my taxi has arrived.I'll leave first."

As she spoke, a white car stopped at the entrance of the hotel.

Sharon smiled at Trey and ran to the car.

Just as Jameson was about to follow Sharon, Trey intentionally blocked him.

Jameson said indifferently, "Mr.Coe, please make way."

“Mr.Proctor, you know that Sharon doesn’t want to see you, so why do you pester her?”

“Did she tell you this personally?”

“You know the answer clearly.”

Jameson sneered, “Mr.Coe, if you knew yourself well enough, you wouldn’t say so.You clearly know whom Sharon loves.”

Hearing this, Trey put on a long face and did not say anything.

Jameson said, “Mr.Coe, I want to remind you.I don’t know what you are plotting, nor am I interested.However, please don’t involve Sharon in it.”

“There’s no need for you to worry about it.I never want to put Sharon at risk.”

“But you knew that Natalia would be here tonight and you still brought Sharon here.”

With face turning pale, Trey said, “I planned to stay by her side, but you...”

Jameson said indifferently, “You don’t need to make excuses.If you really cared about her, you wouldn’t have brought her here and put her in an awkward situation.’ Trey knew that he was in the wrong, so he lowered his head and did not refute.

Jameson was right.

Trey knew that Natalia would definitely attend the banquet and that she would definitely make things difficult for Sharon.

However, in order to get Sharon to attend the banquet with him instead of Jameson, he did not consider the consequences and invited Sharon in the name of Mr.Jones.

Jameson continued, “Mr.Coe, I believe you can tell that Sharon treats you as an ordinary friend.You’d better stop trying to destroy my family.”

He walked past Trey and left.

I Have No Appetite Because of You

Half an hour later, the car stopped in front of the apartment.

When Sharon got off the car and was about to walk into the community, she saw that jerk’s car was parked by the roadside.

Why did he arrive earlier than her? Just as Sharon couldn’t help but curl her lips, Rolls-Royce’s door was opened, and the tall and handsome Jameson got off the car.

Jameson glanced at her indifferently.

“Why did you leave so fast?”

Sharon said seriously, “Go home and have dinner.”

"I haven't eaten either. Let's eat together." Sharon was surprised.

She said angrily, "Mr. Proctor, don't you have your own home?"

Jameson turned around and walked forward slowly.

"A place with family members is called home. Otherwise, it's just a deserted house."

"Has Mr. Proctor started to study kinship recently?"

Jameson ignored her and stood in front of the gate.

He placed his hand in his pants pocket and tilted his head slightly to motion her to open the door.

Sharon took a deep breath and took out the card from her bag.

After the door was opened, Jameson stretched out his hand and let her go in.

Sharon said, "I didn't know that you are such a gentleman, Mr. Proctor."

Jameson raised his eyebrows.

"It depends on who I'm with."

Sharon snorted and walked past him.

After walking out of the elevator, Sharon entered the password.

Just as she pushed the door open, Tiffany said inside, "Sharon, how is your date with Trey? Do you...?"

Before Tiffany finished speaking, Tiffany stopped abruptly when she saw the jerk behind Sharon.

She smiled awkwardly and turned around, "I feel a little sleepy. I'll get out of your hair!"

Then she ran into the bedroom decisively.

In the living room, Ruben put away his laptop.

He picked his bag up, stood up and said, "I have to go, bye."

Sharon stroked her forehead and let out a long breath.

After they left, Sharon said, "Mr. Proctor, you must know how unwelcome you are."

Jameson said, "Are you sure that they left because they didn't welcome me?"

What jerk had said was meaningful.

Sharon gritted her teeth and was too lazy to talk nonsense with him.

She took off her coat and went into the kitchen.

She looked at the fridge.

There were only two tomatoes.

Anyway, she didn't plan to cook something delicious to entertain him.

It was fine.

Ten minutes later, the noodles with tomatoes and eggs were ready.

When Sharon went out, Jameson was sitting at the dining table.

She placed the bowl of noodles in front of him and reminded him seriously, "Don't get me wrong, Mr.Proctor.Although I cook for you, it's because Charlotte cooked for me for many days.That's all."

Jameson smiled, "OK.I see."

Jerk replied perfunctorily.

Suddenly, Sharon felt that it would be better if she hadn't said that.

What she had said was suspicious.

Sharon went into the kitchen again, took out her noodles and sat diagonally opposite him.

Jameson looked at her.

"Eat so little?"

Sharon did not raise her head and replied casually, "I would like to lose weight."

"Lose weight? Why do you eat noodles so late?"

Sharon looked at him expressionlessly and said, "Mr.Proctor, if you have no appetite, please leave.You make me lose my appetite.'

Jameson said, "I'm afraid that you will be hungry at night."

Sharon had a headache.

She had explained many times that she had eaten much at that time because she was pregnant.

Why was she like a gluttonous pig in jerk's eyes? Noticing that she was angry, Jameson said slowly, "Eat your noodles.I won't say anything else."

Sharon hadn't eaten anything and had drunk tonight, so she had an upset stomach.

After she ate the small bowl of hot noodles, she felt much more comfortable.

Just as she put down her chopsticks, Jameson said in a deep voice, "Why did you quarrel with Natalia today?"

Sharon didn't expect him to bring this up.

She kept silent for a moment and said, "She cursed me meanly.Why couldn't I fight back?"

"Weren't you very tolerant, were you?"

"Three strikes and she's out.I'm a beauty, not a doormat.' Jameson was surprised.

A few seconds later, he burst into laughter.

Sharon replied casually.

To her surprise, jerk burst into laughter.

She was quite embarrassed, and her ears were burning.

“What’s so funny? It’s the truth.”

Jameson covered his mouth with one hand, coughed, calmed down and said in a low voice, “Well, you’re right.”

Sharon was distracted by his smile.

She stood up and took the dishes into the kitchen.

While washing the dishes, Sharon calmed down slowly.

She was reluctant to have any conflict with Natalia.

When she was trapped in the Proctor’s, she knew that she was no match for these merciless capitalists.

They could make trouble for her easily.

Therefore, even though Sharon knew that Natalia was ridiculing her, Sharon didn’t take it to heart.

However...

After Natalia said those words, Sharon couldn’t help but mock in return.

In retrospect, it was an unwise choice.

Also, Natalia’s father was there.

She humiliated Natalia.

They would retaliate against her.

Thinking of this, Sharon sighed.

Every time she enjoyed her peaceful life for a short time, all sorts of accidents would occur.

Sharon washed the dishes and tidied up the kitchen.

Then she went out and saw Jameson standing on the balcony.

He was lost in thought.

She asked, “Mr.Proctor, why haven’t you left?”

Jameson said indifferently, “It’s rude to leave immediately after dinner.’ Sharon sneered.

He had never been polite to her.

Sharon looked at the watch and reminded, “I would like to go to bed.”

Jameson turned around and said, "Aren't you losing weight? It's not healthy for you to go to bed as soon as after dinner."

Sharon closed her eyes and took a deep breath.

Jerk always found quarrel in a straw.

Didn't he see that she was driving him away? Just as Sharon was about to come straight to the point, Jameson walked in from the balcony and sat on the sofa.

"I have something to tell you."

"I'm not interested." Jameson looked up at her unhappily.

Sharon pursed her lips and sat opposite him under pressure, "Mr.Proctor, go ahead."

'Please leave after finish speaking.' He crossed slender legs and said slowly, "When did you know that Josh was not your father?"

"How do you know?" Sharon was surprised.

Ex-Husband Wants Badly to Resume Their Marriage Chapter 255

Truth Is Often Crueler Than Reality

Jameson said, "Answer me first."

Sharon frowned and said a few seconds later, "When Josh died, I found something in the box under his bed."

"What are inside?"

"A few photos, a pocket watch, and Josh's diary."

"What kind of pocket watch?"

Sharon said, "It's just an ordinary pocket watch.Should there be any difference?"

"Of course there's a difference.The manufacturer and batch number are useful clues." Jameson said.

Hearing this, Sharon parted her lips but didn't say anything.

Jameson stared at her for a few seconds and pursed his lips.

"Don't you want to find the truth?"

After a while, Sharon looked down and said, "I just feel it meaningless."

"Sharon, this is not about if it is meaningful or not.It's about that you should know the truth."

"What's the point in knowing the truth? I just want to live a peaceful life."

This was Sharon's greatest wish ever since she could remember.

In the past, Josh messed up the family.

Creditors occasionally came, shouting and swearing outside.

She could only lock the door tightly and hug Ruben in her arms, not daring to make a sound.

Later she met Jameson, who made her messy life even worse.

She was unfamiliar with that man and had no memories of him.

Rather than investigating why her mother married Josh twenty years ago, she preferred living in peace.

Jameson said, "This is not an excuse for you to escape. Although sometimes the truth is crueler than reality, I will always be by your side."

Sharon was slightly surprised.

Could this jerk not change the subject so abruptly? Jameson continued, "Even if you don't care about what the truth is, a series of things have already happened consequently. How can those who are involved be able to detach themselves from this?"

"I don't understand what Mr. Proctor means."

"Did you see Talon today?"

Sharon did not know why he suddenly mentioned Natalia's father.

After a pause, she said, "Yes."

Jameson said, "Have you ever thought about why Ruben didn't hear anything after sending out so many fliers?"

Sharon frowned and was even more confused.

Previously, when Ruben was about to do this, she had never thought that there would be any news.

Hearing what Jameson had said, it seemed that there was indeed something strange.

After thinking for a while, she didn't answer but asked, "Mr. Proctor hasn't told me how you knew that?"

Jameson tapped his knee with his fingers, "I have told you that there's nothing in this world that money can't do."

"Then I have nothing to say to Mr. Proctor. Goodbye."

Just as Sharon got up, Jameson grabbed her hand and laughed, "Alright, I tell you. I discovered it while investigating Talon."

Seeing Sharon's confused face, Jameson added, "The truth of the matter may not mean much to you, but you must know what happened in the past in order to be prepared for the unknown future."

"...Mr. Proctor, can you speak in a simple way?"

She wanted to know what Talon had to do with this matter.

Jameson said, "I don't know why Talon did this, but I am certain that he knew your real father, which is the man in the flier and that he has been trying to stop the news from spreading. He doesn't want you to find your father."

Hearing this, Sharon frowned, not knowing what she was thinking.

She had a vague impression of Natalia's father, who seemed to be a gentle and calm person.

Sharon really could not associate him with this matter related to her father.

Jameson said, "You don't need to think deeper. I'm just telling you this to get you prepared in case you walk into other people's traps."

Hearing his words, Sharon was unhappy, "When did I walk into a trap?"

"While knowing nothing about what's going on tonight, you still went with Trey."

"But I'm totally fine. Besides, even if I didn't go with Trey, Mr. Proctor would let me go with you. Would there be any difference?"

"Of course." Jameson said.

"What is the difference?" Sharon sneered.

Jameson suddenly smiled, "Sharon, do you know why Talon is only stopping you from looking for your real father but did not attack you?"

"That's because he knows that I am by your side. He doesn't dare to hurt you." Sharon didn't know what to say.

Since when did the jerk become her backer? Before she could reply, Jameson continued, "Think about it. After so many years, Talon had never thought of letting Natalia marry Jeffery. Why did he suddenly change his mind? What is he afraid of?"

Sharon hadn't figured out what he meant just now and he had changed the subject to the marriage between Natalia and Jeffery.

After a moment of silence, she answered, "Perhaps he doesn't like you."

Jameson didn't know what to say.

"I'm very serious," he said.

"Then tell me directly. Don't beat around the bush."

How could she guess that? Jameson pursed his lips and said, "I'll tell you when he proposed. It was after Ruben put the ad in the paper."

"Are you saying that this matter has something to do with me?"

"In other words, your appearance scared him."

As for why he was afraid, only Talon knew what he had done.

Sharon's heart sank.

She knew what Jameson meant now.

Talon knew her real father and it was very likely that something had happened between them.

Therefore, when he saw Ruben look for her father with the photo, he was reminded of something from the past.

What he was afraid of was not her, but her father, or rather, the truth from twenty years ago.

That was why he offered an olive branch to the Proctor family, wishing to bind the Beale family and the Proctor family together.

Jameson's gaze fell on the hand that he held.

He gently stroked her hand and said, "Are you still not interested in the truth?"

Sharon slowly came to her senses and looked down at him.

Then, she quickly pulled out her hand and said, "Thank you, Mr. Proctor, for telling me this. I'm very interested now. I wish I could rush to the Beale's and ask her father what he had done back then."

Jameson turned speechless.

Ex-Husband Wants Badly to Resume Their Marriage Chapter 256

The Truth

Of course, Sharon didn't mean that.

She wouldn't go to ask the Beale family.

Jameson said, "When you meet Natalia later, no matter what she says, just ignore her like before."

"Okay."

Jameson stood up and flicked her forehead with his fingers.

He laughed and said, "Do keep it in mind."

Sharon was eloquent, and Natalia was not her match.

However, this was where the problem lay.

Sharon waved his hand away.

"I know. She's targeting me because of you."

Jameson raised his eyebrows and put his hand back into his pants pocket.

"I'm leaving. There's no need to send me off."

"Just go. I don't want to send you off." Sharon didn't know what made Jameson think that she would send him off.

After Jameson left, Sharon tidied up the living room.

Just as she was about to return to her bedroom, Tiffany quietly opened the door of her bedroom and poked her head out.

She whispered, "Has Mr.Proctor left?"

"Yes."

Tiffany heaved a sigh of relief.

She walked out of her bedroom and lay down on the sofa.

"My life is cheap.If I offend Mr.Proctor one day, please beg him for leaving me with a complete corpse."

Sharon sat beside Tiffany.She smiled.

"What are you talking about?"

Tiffany said seriously, "I swear that I will never try to bring you and Trey together.I got caught every time.This may be the will of the heavens.By the way, what did Mr.Proctor just say to you? You talked for so long, but I didn't hear a single word in my bedroom."

Sharon was silent for a few seconds before she replied, "He said that my biological father might know Natalia's father."

Tiffany's eyes widened in shock.

"Really?"

Sharon nodded and told Tiffany everything that Jameson had told her.

After she finished, Tiffany covered her mouth with disbelief.

After a while, she said, "I felt that Natalia was not a good person the first time I met her.Now she eventually reveals her real nature.She is just like her father! She is too bad!"

After a pause, she continued, "Sharon, what are you going to do now?"

Sharon took a light breath and looked ahead aimlessly.

"I don't know.I will just take one step at a time.' According to Jameson, Natalia's father knew her every movement.

After the incident at the birthday banquet tonight, the Beale family would have a good excuse to deal with her.

Tiffany sighed and said, "No wonder you didn't want to look for your biological father before.It seems that you have made the right choice.Otherwise, Natalia and her father wouldn't see you as a thorn in the eye."

Sharon shook her head.

"Even if this didn't happen, I feel that sooner or later, the truth will emerge.'

"You are right.You can't wrap fire in paper.It seems that everything is destined.That's the way it is."

Sharon added, "You can't tell Ruben anything about this."

Tiffany patted her head and said, "You are right! Don't worry.I will keep my mouth shut.I promise not to say anything."

Ruben wanted to help Sharon find her biological father out of kindness.

If he knew that what he did put Sharon in danger, then he would feel guilty.

Tiffany just made a throwaway remark.

She didn't mean that.

Sharon stood up and said, "Alright, it's getting late.Wash up and sleep early.' Tiffany nodded.

"Go wash up.I want to watch TV.

"Alright."

Sharon went back to her bedroom to get her clothes and went straight into the bathroom.

Not long after, Tiffany heard the doorbell ringing.

She thought that Jameson returned and went to answer the door in fear, but when she checked the monitor, she saw Daniel standing outside.

Tiffany curled up her lips and hesitated for a while before opening the door.

Daniel was surprised to see her.

He paused for a moment and asked, "Is Ms.Allyson back? I have something to do with her."

Tiffany answered, "Yes.She's taking a bath."

Daniel said, "I'll come back later."

Tiffany did not invite him in.

Just as she was about to close the door, Daniel said, "I bought some cakes that you like on my way back.

Do you want some?"

Tiffany refused with a feigned smile, "No, thank you.I've been trying to lose some weight recently, so I don't eat any sweets.' Daniel didn't say anything else and nodded.

He turned around and left.

Tiffany closed the door.

After she sat back on the sofa, the bathroom door was opened.

Sharon dried her hair with a towel as she came out.

"Who were you talking to just now?"

"It was Daniel. He said he wanted to talk to you about something. He bought some cakes and asked me if I wanted some. Don't you think he is strange? I ignored him, but he tried to please me."

Sharon stood where she was for a few seconds before turning back to the bathroom.

"I'll blow dry my hair and go visit him."

Actually, Sharon knew why Daniel came to look for her.

He wanted to ask her about Natalia.

In the past, Sharon didn't care about those things.

However, things were different now.

She needed to know what kind of relationship Daniel had with Natalia and her father before, so that she would know what to do.

After blowing dry her hair, Sharon put on her coat and rang the doorbell next door.

Soon, Daniel answered the door.

Sharon smiled and said, "I heard Tiffany say that you looked for me for something."

Daniel nodded.

"I think I should apologize to you for what happened tonight."

"Are you apologizing for Natalia?"

"No. Hearing this, Sharon was somewhat surprised.

"Then..."

Daniel said, "I'm not apologizing for anyone. I just want to apologize to you."

The plan tonight was aimed at Talon, but because of her grudge against Natalia, Sharon got involved.

He truly felt guilty.

"There's no need for you to apologize to me." Sharon smiled.

"I don't know why you should apologize to me." Daniel pursed his lips and didn't say anything.

Sharon added, "If you don't mind, may I ask you a personal question?"

"Go ahead."

"Since you know Natalia is about to marry into the Proctor family, why did you do this?"

We're Supposed to Be on the Same Side

Hearing this, Daniel flashed a smile.

"Ms.Allyson, you want to ask me why I approach Natalia, right?"

Although Sharon put it very tactfully, the meaning was not difficult to guess.

Sharon did not say anything.

Daniel added, "What if I tell you that I really like her?"

Sharon smiled.

"Of course, I will believe whatever you say.And it is a private question, so it doesn't matter if you don't answer.'

"Not so private to keep it from you.Ms.Allyson, even if I have a purpose, I think we should be on the same side.What do you think?"

The smile on Sharon's face gradually faded.

She knew what Daniel meant.

He was sure that she was also standing against Natalia, so even if she figured out that he was approaching Natalia with some sort of purpose, she wouldn't use this against him.

After a while, Sharon said, "Actually, it's obvious to me.I believe Natalia can also see it."

"This depends on what her ultimate goal is.Only with the same goal can people take the same path.' Right now, Natalia only wanted to be his girlfriend in order to dissolve the engagement with the Proctor family, so she didn't care why he approached her at all.

As for Talon, although he knew, he didn't have any concrete evidence.

He still didn't know where he came from, so he wouldn't act rashly.

Sharon said, "I see."

Just as she was about to turn around and go back, Daniel said again, "Ms.Allyson, I think you can tell that Natalia is very hostile to you.What happened tonight will make things even more difficult for you.No matter what happens later, you'd better not go against her face-to-face like today."

He continued, "After all, they can go so far as to do something unimaginable to you."

"Thank you." Sharon nodded gently.

"You're welcome.As I said earlier, you and I are on the same side."

When Sharon returned home, Tiffany was sitting on the sofa, hugging a pillow and watching TV attentively, as if she didn't care what they had said at all.

When she heard the knock on the door, she got up and said, "Sharon, I'm going to take a shower.Go to sleep.'

"Good night."

"Good night."

After entering the bedroom, Sharon sat at her desk and took out a few photos and a pocket watch from her storage box.

When she looked at them carefully, her mind couldn't help but wander.

She tried to find what was left in her memories, but apart from the flame that lit the sky, there was nothing left.

After a while, Sharon got a headache.

Just as she was about to put the pocket watch back, what Jameson had said came to her.

She flipped the pocket watch over and saw a string of numbers at the bottom.

It should be the batch number.

'It was just something from more than twenty years ago, could there really be any clues now?' Sharon was silent for a while.

She took out her phone and photographed every detail of the pocket watch.

She wanted to see if she could find anything when she had a chance.

It turned out that what Jameson and Daniel said was right.

Right after what Sharon did at the birthday banquet, Natalia made a move.

In two days, a B-list actress named Saige Burkner appeared in the studio.

She said that she had customized a bracelet here before, but after taking it back, she discovered that the diamonds on it were fake.

They were made of plain glass.

When Saige came over, she even brought the media and shouted for her rights to be protected.

Tiffany whispered to Sharon, "Do you think she looks like the vixen who came to our store to cause trouble?"

It was already obvious who arranged for those people back then.

Sharon pursed her lips and said, "She's indeed our customer. She has come to our shop more than once."

Judged from this, that girl, who never visited the studio before but had jewelry sold from the studio, must be Saige's people.

Tiffany asked, "Then what should we do now?"

Sharon thought for a moment and said, "Ignore her for now. Let her make trouble."

If Saige didn't make a scene out of it, how could Natalia be implicated? Saige obviously came here with a purpose.

Not only did she go in the shop, she also spent money to make her protest a trending topic and hired a horde of paid posters.

Very quickly, she dominated the public opinion.

When Sharon worked for Lumiere Jewelry, she had been a trending topic for several times, so many were no stranger to her name.

Saige complained in a long post that she became the studio's customer because a friend recommended it.

She didn't expect that she would suffer such a huge loss.

She disclosed it just to tell people about the lesson she learnt through her own experience, so that they wouldn't be tricked again, not to get any compensation.

After this went viral, another two netizens echoed by saying in their posts that Saige's post just reminded them to check their jewelry from the same studio.

They found their jewelry fake.

After this, the topic of Sharon's studio cheating consumers went straight to the top trending topic, along with which was a special icon.

"This is the designer of Lumiere Jewelry's First Love Collection, right? I feel like offline for years. When did she open her own studio?"

"This is the designer that lives off some man. I've followed tabloid news about her for a few days, but I didn't expect that she's immoral and unprincipled."

"Fortunately, I have never bought anything related to her. Those who went to her studio really suffered great loss. They paid so much, but they got a piece of glass."

"This is truly disgusting. Saige is so unlucky to meet such a greedy designer. How repulsive!"

At this time, someone even revealed that a high school girl had stolen money from her parents to buy jewelry at Sharon's studio.

For a time, the public grew even more furious, and there were all sorts of unpleasant words in their comments and posts.

In the evening, the studio issued a statement in a calm and unhurried manner.

In the statement, the studio made it clear that they did not accept any of Saige and two other clients' accusations today.

And they already entrusted a lawyer to represent them.

As for jewelry quality, they had evidence to prove that the jewelry sold from the studio at that time was certified and tested by an authoritative organization.

Giana was the first to repost the statement on Twitter, followed by Lance at Lumiere Jewelry and several stars also reposted it and gave their likes.

That Person Is My Brother

Upon seeing the news online, Saige was stunned.

She did not expect that Sharon's studio would have evidence.

This, coupled with Giana's influence, frightened her a lot, and she took out her phone to call Natalia.

Saige hurriedly said, "Miss Beale, why is this different from what you said? Why do they have evidence in their hands?"

Natalia said indifferently, "She's just trying to scare you. If you believe her, you'll fall into her trap."

Even so, Saige was still a little worried, "What if she really had some evidence?"

"This is very simple. You are just a normal consumer defending your rights. Even if she has evidence, you can just issue an apology statement. No matter what, she has the responsibility to bear any consequences since that thing was from her studio."

Hearing this, Saige heaved a sigh of relief.

Natalia was right.

Even if the public opinion turned round, it would be Sharon's studio that should take the blame.

She just needed to stand by her explanation and say that she did nothing to it after she brought it home.

After a while, Saige said, "Miss Beale, when are we going to sign the contract for the play you promised me?"

Natalia said, "The contract can be signed at any time. However, I think it will be better to discuss the details after anything is settled. What do you think?"

Saige knew what she meant.

After this thing was settled, she would get the benefits she promised her.

However, if this thing was not settled, then she would get nothing.

Saige added, "Don't worry, Miss Beale. I have already called the Consumer Association. Her studio will close soon for investigation. Then my team will guide the public opinion and let the public feel that she has been arrested for fraud."

"Alright, I'll leave this to you." After hanging up the phone, Natalia gradually restrained the smile on his face and looked coldly ahead.

At this moment, she heard the servant's voice coming from outside the door, "Mr. Beale is back."

Immediately after, the study door was opened.

After pausing for a few seconds, Natalia put away his phone and knocked on the study door.

Very quickly, Talon's voice sounded, "Come in."

Natalia gently pushed open the study door and said, "Dad, I want to talk to you."

Talon sat at his desk and put a pocket watch in the drawer.

"You want to talk about the marriage with the Proctor family, right?"

Natalia nodded and slowly said, "Jameson currently controlled the Proctor family. Even if Jeffery and I are really engaged, nothing will change."

"You're wrong. The Proctor family's influence is deeply rooted in South City. Even if it doesn't have Jameson, the Proctor family is still a tough issue that can't be underestimated. Furthermore, Evie isn't as simple as she looks. Jeffery is courteous with a gentle temperament, and you won't suffer any grievances if you be with him."

"But I..."

"Natalia, as long as you marry Jeffery and have a baby within a year, I can assure you that the entire Proctor and Beale family will be that child's."

The existence of Jameson was too dangerous for both the Proctor family and him.

That was why he had reached an agreement with Master Proctor.

As for the Proctor family, no matter how much price they had to pay, they still wanted to seize power from Jameson.

Natalia frowned and said, "But what if there isn't?"

Talon looked at her and said, "Natalia, as long as you want, nothing is impossible in this world."

"But I don't want to marry Jeffery. You know his situation. That was also the reason you didn't ask me to marry him for so many years, isn't it?"

"We've moved on."

"Dad, I don't understand why you suddenly made such a decision. I can't accept it," Natalia said confusedly.

Ever since she was young, Talon had never forced her to do anything.

Moreover, Natalia still did not believe that Jameson would get back together with Sharon.

How could she watch as they were together while she was having a good time? After a while, Talon suddenly said, "Natalia, there is something that Dad hasn't told you. But now that you've grown up, it's time to tell you the truth."

Hearing this, Natalia frowned, not knowing what he was going to say.

Talon slowly stood up and took out a box from the bookshelf.

He handed it to Natalia.

Inside the box were photos of two persons.

Natalia asked doubtfully, "This is..."

One of the men in the photo looked like Talon at his early age.

However, she had never seen another man before.

Talon walked to the window and slowly said, "The other person in the photo is my younger brother."

"But why haven't I seen him?" Natalia was stunned.

"Because he died twenty years ago, in an explosion."

Talon stood with his back to her.

She couldn't see the expression on his face.

"Not only did he die in that explosion, but his wife and daughter also died."

"How did such a serious explosion happen?"

"That was because he wanted to kill me," Talon smiled.

Natalia was stunned.

She didn't expect to hear such an answer.

"Is that how you got the burns on your neck?"

Talon nodded, "I thought that this would end twenty years ago. However, a few days ago, I discovered that his daughter did not die, and she even returned."

"She..."

Talon narrowed his eyes and turned around, "That person is Jameson's ex-wife."

Hearing this, Natalia's eyes widened, with her face filled with disbelief.

"But isn't Sharon's father a gambler? Back then, he..."

He sold her to Twilight Club, otherwise Sharon wouldn't have met Jameson.

Talon continued, "Later on, I went to investigate and discovered that her mother was not dead at all. After the explosion, in order to evade responsibility, she changed her name and remarried someone else."

"In other words, she was also involved in the explosion against Dad?"

"At least she knew something about it" Talon added, "At that time, I had already taken over the Beale Group, but he was completely obsessed with the shares in my hands. That was why he planned that accident. However, he didn't expect that that would harm his family actually."

Natalia said, "You are worried that Sharon will come with the same purpose as her father, so you want me to marry into the Proctor family, right?"

"I'm not sure yet. However, judging from the current situation, I can't let down my guard. My life is not important. I'm just worried about you, so I agreed your engagement on your behalf."

Why Don't You Reflect on Yourself a Li

The staff of the Consumer Association left after they kept themselves in the picture, without asking to close the studio for checking.

And it was different from what Saige thought.

When those staff left, Tiffany said, "I didn't expect that it would feel good to have a backer."

The shop assistant at the side did not understand what Tiffany meant and asked innocently, "What backer?"

Just as Sharon walked over, she heard these words and laughed, "Nothing, don't listen to her nonsense."

The worker knew that this was not something he should worry about, so he turned around and trotted off to do something else.

Sharon stood at the front desk and sorted out all the records of Saige's purchases from the studio.

Apart from Saige, the other people who complained on Twitter that they had bought fakes in the studio, must deliberately get involved to mess up the matter.

There was Saige as a social justice warrior before.

Even if the studio clarified that those people weren't clients of the studio, no one would believe that.

People would only feel that the studio was diverting attention.

Tiffany looked at the information and said, "Fortunately, after every piece of jewelry was finished, I took photos to commemorate it. Or, I would have fallen into the trap of Saige and the others."

In addition, Sharon bought all the jewelry from the formal partner that had cooperation with several luxury goods brands, so it was impossible to be fake.

Sharon said, "Natalia should know about this thing. But it is just much cry and little wool. Although it has caused a ruckus, the truth will surface sooner or later."

Tiffany was puzzled, "Then what did she do this for?"

Sharon smiled and said, "Give me a lesson and vent her hatred."

"Holy sh*t, that's disgusting."

Sharon said, "Ever since Jameson dissolved the engagement, Natalia has always felt that it was all because of me, so she often mocks me. In addition, I embarrassed her at the birthday banquet. So, she must vent her hatred."

Tiffany shook her head, "No, you're wrong."

“What?”

“I have told you earlier that Natalia looked hypocritical. She had deliberately approached you before she was engaged to Jameson. Now that look back, she had a plot.

“Thinking for a while, Tiffany rubbed her chin and said seriously, but speaking of which, Natalia thinks that Jameson dissolved the engagement with her was because of you. It is true.”

Sharon didn't answer.

Just as Tiffany finished speaking, the discussed man appeared in the studio.

Tiffany coughed and found an excuse to sneak into the lounge.

Although the studio wasn't required to close, due to the influence of online public opinion and some external factors, the studio today was exceptionally deserted.

Now, there aren't any customers.

Jameson went into the studio, walked to the sofa, and sat down as if he had gone back to his own home.

He rubbed his eyebrows and said, “Make me a cup of coffee.”

Sharon got miffed ‘The jerk did boss me around. Did he think he was at the Proctor Group?’

Sharon put down the items and went to the tearoom to make him a cup of instant coffee.

After bringing a cup of coffee over to Jameson, Sharon said angrily, “Mr. Proctor, you do make yourself at home.’

Jameson picked up the cup and said, “You regard me as an outsider if you said so.”

Jameson took a sip of coffee and frowned.

But he didn't say anything and just put it back on the coffee table.

Sharon said, “Is Mr. Proctor here for something? If you have nothing else, then go back. I don't have time to entertain you either.”

Hearing this, Jameson looked around the studio without any guest, “Busy?”

Sharon gritted her teeth and said, “Mr. Proctor, don't beat around the bush.”

Jameson crossed his long legs and said, “I had told you to avoid direct conflict with Natalia but didn't make you look like a pushover.”

“Then what is Mr. Proctor's opinion?”

“Why didn't you ask me for help immediately after the event?”

Sharon couldn't help but laugh, “Mr. Proctor, you want me to avoid direct conflict with Natalia and become a tattletale in front of you if Natalia provoked me.”

“This is only a rational use and allocation of effective resources to achieve maximum benefits.”

Sharon kept silent for a while and said, "There's no need for Mr. Proctor to worry about this matter. I will deal with it myself."

Jameson was annoyed, "I almost forgot that you have Trey. I don't have to worry about you."

Sharon was angry.

'Is the jerk out of mind? Change the topic so fast. Just now he was still talking about Natalia, but now, he suddenly was talking about Trey.

Sharon reminded Jameson seriously, "Mr. Proctor, I think since you have time to think about this. Why don't you think the reason Natalia has her eyes on me?"

"Isn't this a question that you should reflect on?"

Jameson gently tapped his knee with his finger and said calmly, "You probably don't know that Natalia wanted to marry me three years ago. If it weren't for you pulling on my sleeve and begging me, perhaps she would have been my wife long ago."

Sharon sneered, "So, I ruined Mr. Proctor's engagement."

"You may think so." If Sharon had a broom in her hand, she wanted to chase him out.

A few seconds later, Trey's voice came from behind her, "Sharon. Sharon turned around and smiled at him. Jameson looked at Trey, and his black eyes narrowed. He felt that Sharon's smile was an eyesore.

Trey looked at Jameson and said indifferently, "Mr. Proctor."

Jameson said, "Looks like, at the end of the year, Stella Technology doesn't have much business. Mr. Coe is not busy."

"Not really. I can't compare with Mr. Proctor."

Seeing that the atmosphere between them was getting stiffer and stiffer, Sharon coughed, "Do you want something to eat? Let me order some afternoon tea."

Trey, "OK."

Jameson said, "OK."

Their voices sounded almost at the same time.

Sharon supposed something would happen, so she took her phone out in a hurry and ordered the afternoon tea.

With that, she said, "Take a seat first. I go to the bathroom."

Sharon immediately sneaked away.

After coming out of the bathroom, Sharon hauled Tiffany out from the lounge.

But when they came out, they didn't see Trey in the studio.

Sharon looked around and said, "Where is Trey?"

Jameson leisurely drank the cup of instant coffee in front of him, "Leave. he still has work to do."

Sharon frowned and looked at him, "What did you do again?"

Jameson was unhappy, "What do you mean that?"

"Didn't you lead the Stella Technologies to go to the Paradise Resort to hold the annual meeting?"

Jameson pursed his thin lips and said in a cold voice, "Trey told you, right?"

Sharon said, "Regardless of who told me, isn't this the truth?"

Ex-Husband Wants Badly to Resume Their Marriage Chapter 260

An Enemy's Enemy Is a Friend

Seeing that the two would start a quarrel at any time, Tiffany slipped away immediately.

Jameson put down his coffee cup and looked at Sharon, "In your heart, am I such a person?"

"Yes or no, it's not up to me."

Jameson had said that he was not a good person.

Why did he sound like he was being slandered by injustice when he said those words? Jameson said, "The Paradise Resort needs reservation a month in advance. How do I know he was going to bring you there?"

Hearing this, Sharon was stunned.

She never expected such an answer.

Jameson looked at her and said, "I told you before that Trey is not as simple as he seems. The reason why he told you that is because he is jealous of me."

Sharon subconsciously asked, "What is he jealous of?"

"I'm the one you like in your heart.' Sharon was lost for words.

She said, "Mr. Proctor, do you think everyone has the same idea as you do?"

Jameson said unhurriedly, "Then give me a good reason. Why did he lie to you?"

Sharon was silent, and she was unable to find anything to refute.

Jameson said, "Sharon, you must know that I will never do anything to hurt you. All I want is to achieve that goal, but Trey is different. You don't know anything about his background or what he wants to do.'

"Alright, don't be so unforgiving. You are not innocent either and you also have done such a thing many times."

Jameson was lost for words.

Sharon sat on the sofa quietly.

Jameson's words reminded her.

Daniel and Trey are friends.

They should have come for the same purpose.

Their target was the Beale family.

Thinking of this, Sharon secretly looked at Jameson, but she was hesitated to talk to him.

Jameson said, "If you apologize to me now, it's still not too late."

"Mr.Proctor.' Hearing that her tone suddenly became serious, Jameson looked at her and frowned slightly, indicating her to keep going.

Sharon said, "If Natalia marries your elder brother, will it have a big impact on you?"

"You care about me?"

"Forget it."

Jameson laughed and finally said seriously, "It doesn't matter.The only impact is that some problems will be harder to solve.But don't worry.It's not a big deal for me."

Sharon directly ignored some of his words, "I feel that this marriage may not end well.' She always believed that Daniel and Trey were also well-prepared.

Since their target was the Beale family, how could they let Natalia and Jeffery get engaged and expand the Beale family's influence? Jameson did not refute.

Sharon thought for a while before saying, "Mr.Proctor, you should also know that Daniel is not simple, and he should have the same goal as you do."

"Are you saying that you want me to cooperate with him?"

"This is just a rational use of the allocation of effective resources to maximize benefits."

As the saying goes, the enemy' enemy was a friend.

Since their goals were the same, why couldn't they cooperate? Jameson's smile widened, "It's good that you learn quickly."

Sharon was flattered by what he said, and she said, "I always learn from others ' strong points and close the gap."

After a pause, she added, "And take the essence and discard the dross."

After a while, Jameson said, "Neither Trey nor Daniel can be trusted.Stay away from them."

"OK."

After a few minutes, Tiffany came in with the afternoon tea that Sharon had ordered earlier, "Sharon, Mr.Proctor, why not eat something and then keep going?"

Jameson stood up and said, "I still have matters to attend to.I'd better leave now."

“Didn’t you just say you wanted to eat?” Sharon said.

“Some of the men’s words are reliable, while some are not.I’ll treat this lesson as a free gift to you.” Sharon was lost for words.

After Jameson left, Sharon and Tiffany looked at a large quantity of food they ordered at the same time, not knowing how they could finish their meal.

The two men who had said they wanted to eat didn’t eat at all.

Sharon had no choice but to distribute the afternoon tea to the employees in the shop and the rest to the people in the shop next door.

At the same time, there was an increasing rumor about Sharon on the Internet.

Relying on Natalia’s support, Saige only wanted to handle this matter well and got what she deserved, and she even hired online supporters and content farms to help her.

In fact, she even created a rumor of Sharon being a secret lover of a rich man, trying her best to make this story sound reliable.

Just as people gradually shifted their attention from jewelry counterfeiting to Sharon’s scandal, one of Lumiere Jewelry’s employees posted something.

“Everyone should think critically about this scandal.Although I don’t know much about the jewelry forgery and don’t want to judge it, I want to say that you are so mislead by the rumor.If you know who her ex-husband is, you will regret what you said.”

“It is obvious that you want to whitewash this scandal.Don’t pretend.Besides, who knows if her ex-husband you said exists or not? The other woman will not tell you that she is the other woman.”

“Go ahead, tell me who her ex-husband is.Will it surprise me or something?”

“Oh right, sometime earlier, it’s said that she was a secret lover of someone from the Proctor family.According to your ability of whitewashing, I will not be surprised if you’re not going to say that her ex-husband is the president of the Proctor Group.You are so ridiculous.”

After this last comment was sent, it was directly sent by some content farms.

Some even added comments to mock Sharon’s ambition to find a rich man and changed her life.

When the discussion became a trending topic, the Proctor Group’s official account commented on one of the content farms that mocked Sharon the most, “What’s wrong with you?”

Once this comment was posted, people who mocked Sharon the most were more than satisfied.

“Sharon’s scandal even forced the Proctor Group to defend it itself.”

“Sharon may never think of this.She has such a huge influence now.I wonder how the Proctor Group would react when they saw this.”

“Good job. We don’t need to give any opportunity to such a shameless person. I think that Sharon has offended the Proctor Group. She probably won’t be far away from being banned by the industry. She deserves it.”

Just when everyone thought that the Proctor Group’s official account was going to say that it had nothing to do with Sharon, everyone was shocked by its comments.
