

The Ex-Husband's Revenge By Dragonsky

Chapter 1942

Chapter 1942

Facing Lucius's attack, Leon knew he was outmatched. He quickly started to retreat, frantically avoiding Lucius's attacks.

However, he was still slower than Lucius. No matter how he avoided it, Lucius was still on him. The attacks were getting closer and closer.

"Miss Hughes, is there something wrong with your brains?! I already said it very clearly just now, Gordon was the one who attacked Mister Hughes. It has nothing to do with me and Snow! Mister Hughes is still alive right now. We can't delay his treatment," Leon said anxiously, trying to dispel the misunderstanding.

Unfortunately, before he could even finish, Lucius suddenly struck out with a wave of incredible true energy, striking him around the chest!

There was nothing Leon could do but use the Mirror of Sovereign to block it.

Bang!

Lucius's immense power immediately broke through the Mirror of Sovereign's defenses, sending Leon flying several meters away before slamming onto the ground.

At the same time, Darius, who was in his hands, fell to the ground as well.

The moment he fell to the ground, he felt a wave of pain from his chest as he spat out a mouthful of blood. He suffered some internal injuries.

However, he already took the Dragon Pill before this, so the Mirror of Sovereign's defenses were already at the peak of Emperor State!

Even those that were above the peak Emperor State had their attacks greatly diminished!

Otherwise, he would not have just suffered some mild internal injuries.

After he defeated Leon with one blow, Lucius did not continue attacking Leon. Instead, he quickly grabbed Darius.

"Leon, are you alright?"

Iris and Snow were both shocked when they saw that Leon was injured. They hurried over to help Leon up.

"I'm fine."

Leon shook his head, but he still felt very bad.

This time, Gordon poisoned Darius. He planned on killing Gordon before he tried to save Darius!

Yet, Dawn and Lucius did not seem to know right from wrong. Not only did that save Gordon, Lucius even injured him!

He could not help but feel anger at that, even if his temper was usually quite good!

At that moment, Dawn ignored Leon as she quickly walked over to Lucius with Gordon.

"Lucius, how is Darius? Can we still save him?' Dawn asked frantically.

Earlier, she heard Leon say that Darius still had a chance. She wanted to find out if it was true or not!

Lucius was the same. He tried to feel if Darius was breathing. When he felt that Darius completely stopped breathing, his heart sank!

"He's not breathing anymore," Lucius said sorrowfully.

"What?" Dawn looked like she was struck by lightning at those words. That sliver of hope she had just now was extinguished so cruelly! 1

Of course, if Darius was still able to be saved, she might have given Leon a chance to explain himself!

Yet, Darius was not even breathing anymore. It meant that Darius was already dead.

There was no way she would believe in Snow and Leon's words!
