

The Ex-Husband's Revenge By Dragonsky

Chapter 2308

Chapter 2308

"Uncle Angus, do you know how many people the Southern Boss has sent this time?" Leon regained his composure and quickly inquired.

His overall strength reached the invincible level of Intermediate Almighty State, and even if the Southern Boss sent a few martial artists in the equal state, Leon was confident that he could handle it.

"According to the information passed on by the fourth elder, the Southern Boss personally took action this time, and his entire force of skilled fighters from the Spears, including the Four Apostles and the Six Guardians, are on the move as well. They practically emptied their nest," Angus answered with a worried expression.

"Emptied their nest? It seems that the Southern Boss is prepared to engage me in a battle to the death and leave me no way out!" Leon took a sharp breath, his expression darkening at the realization of how grim the situation was.

He already deduced that Rodney was the true culprit behind Yonas's death.

Now, not only did the Southern Boss and Rodney resort to despicable means to frame and discredit him, but they also sought to crush him with their overwhelming power, and Leon found it unacceptable.

"Very well, Southern Boss! If you want a confrontation, then you shall have it! Today, either you die, or I shall perish. I want to see who will have the last laugh!" Leon chuckled angrily, firmly making up his mind to face the Southern Boss head-on.

"What?"

These words shocked Angus, Iris, and the others as Leon's decision caught them completely off guard.

"Mister Wolf, please don't act rashly! The Southern Boss possesses profound power, and he has several formidable martial artists at his command. You won't stand a chance against such a formidable lineup in a confrontation! In my opinion, you should find a place to hide temporarily and keep a low profile before they arrive. As long as he can't find you, he will naturally retreat," Angus urgently advised.

Angus knew the depth of the Southern Boss's strength.

Even with Leon, the two Thompsons elders, and over a dozen Thompsons' fighters that they brought along, it would still be impossible to contend against the Southern Boss and the Spears.

If Leon chose to confront the Southern Boss directly, it would be no different from a suicide mission, and Angus refused to indulge Leon.

"Yeah, Leon, Uncle Angus is right. You should find a place to hide for now!"

"If things get out of hand, you can leave the Southern region and come back later."

Iris, Cynthia, Snow, and Ruth spoke up as well, each trying to persuade him.

Although they recognized Leon's considerable strength, they knew that the Southern Boss, one of the most powerful figures in the Southern region, was second only to Arthur; his power level was almost unmatched.

Moreover, the Southern Boss had a multitude of skilled martial artists under his command, each surpassing Leon in every aspect, so they simply did not believe that Leon could be a match for the Southern Boss.

In conclusion, the best course of action for Leon at the moment was to leave the Southern region and lay low for a while; as capable as the Southern Boss may be, his influence was limited to the Southern region.

As long as Leon left in time, the Southern Boss would not be able to harm him.

"No, I can't run! If I run, I'd have to leave everything behind! The foundation of Cynthion Group and Elegante Group is right here in the southern region, so where can I hide?" Leon shook his head and rejected the others' suggestion.

He worked hard to build the Cynthion Group and Elegante Group alongside Iris and Cynthia.

Leaving the southern region would mean that he was abandoning his hard work and he refused to do so.

With his current strength, he was no longer someone that others could easily taunt with and he was not about to abandon everything to run because of the Southern Boss.
