

Revenge On My First Love Chapter 147

Drake heard Sophia's even breathing.

So, she walked into the wrong room?

Upon the realization, Drake summoned up his courage and turned with his face to hers.

He managed to keep his calm at first, but gradually, he couldn't help wanting more.

Sophia vaguely felt someone kissing her, she opened her eyes and saw Drake.

Drake was startled, and heard her say, "Am I dreaming?"

Drake didn't speak.

"Why am I dreaming of you again?" Sophia subconsciously closed her eyes.

Drake's heart skipped a beat.

He tentatively asked, "You often dream of me?"

"Yes," maybe Sophia had really taken this as a dream. She answered, "I dream of you every night. It's said that one dreams of what he thinks about in the day. But I never think of you in the daytime, and yet I dream of you."

"Drake, why can't I forget you?"

Drake was in shock. Was this what was deep inside of her?

Sophia hugged him. "Maybe this would be the last time I dream of you. You are going to marry someone else and maybe have children with her. There will be nothing left between you and me. Can I just have you in my dream for one last time?"

Before Drake could come to himself, Sophia kissed him.

Tears fell down the corner of her eyes.

How real the kiss was!

When they kissed and hugged, she didn't feel it any different from before.

Sophia didn't want to think about anything else now. She knew that this was perhaps her last visit to Sealand. They would never get back
