

Revenge On My First Love Chapter 27

Drake, however, did not speak, but kept looking at her with eyes like a vast universe, as if he was trying to suck her in.

Sophia subconsciously averted her gaze.

He reached out and dominantly cupped his hand at her jaw, forcing her to look over.

Her heart was pounding.

That's good to hear a voice that makes your ears pregnant lovingly: "If you've never slept with a man, why are you trying to make it seem like you've slept with many men in front of me, Sophia, are you trying to get my attention?"

Sophia smiled sarcastically, "Isn't that what your Riley family wants you to know? In that case, I'll just have to go along with them, am I wrong?"

Cooperate, there is a mistake!

"Sophia, have you ever loved me or not?" The force in his hand suddenly increased, as if he was trying to crush her.

Sophia struggled a few times, and when she saw that it didn't work, the sarcastic thought at the corner of her mouth intensified: "What, Mr. Riley, do you care that much about the answer?"

"Say!"

That tone was not to be denied.

"Sure"

Before he could finish his words, his kiss came over him.

Who gave him permission to kiss her!

The more she struggled, the stronger the man's strength became, as if he was trying to swallow her whole.

He even went so far as to probe into her mouth, wanting more.

Sophia didn't know how much strength she used, but she finally pushed the man away and landed a slap on his face.

"Drake, I'm getting married, and you're not human when you do that!"

Drake's eyes were dead on her: "Marriage? You and Travis haven't even taken the final step yet, and he's willing to marry you? Besides, you haven't even sent out invitations to the wedding, are you sure Travis really wants to marry you?"

"Marry me or not, that's our business, you don't care that much, Drake, I don't care what the hell you're doing over here this time, please get out of the way!"
