

Read Novel i am the ruler of all chapter 281

i am the ruler of all chapter 281-"I did once!" cried the bodyguard closest to Kingsley. "It was only one time, though!"

The people next to him hurriedly and added with a wail, "It has only been less than two months since the Spearhead Group dabbled in the arms business! This is the second time! We have only had one successful transaction! Please let us go!"

The corners of Kingsley's mouth curled up coldly. "Just once is enough!" he fumed.

If all things had gone as expected, he knew that the explosives used to destroy the cemetery were from them!

Hence, the hands of these bodyguards were also stained with the blood of those workers who lost their lives.

"There are times when there is no going back for you once you have committed an unforgivable sin." Kingsley's piercing cold tone made everyone shudder involuntarily.

"We know what we did wrong. Please, let us go! We only did it for our keep!"

The bodyguards fell into despair as soon as they heard Kingsley's emotionless words, and they kept kowtowing to Kingsley while they pleaded.

"We beg of you, please spare us just this one time! We will do anything as long as you let us go..."

"You will do anything, huh?" Kingsley sneered. "Alright then, I will give you one last chance."

Hearing this, everyone kowtowed frantically to him while giving their thanks, as if their lives had already been spared.

"You don't have to thank me for now." Kingsley then continued casually, "You may be exempted from death, but not from punishment. Whether you survive or not depends entirely on yourselves."

After throwing that out, he looked at Hades, who led the troops, and ordered, "Come. Have them tied up and throw them into the bed of the truck!"

"Yes, sir!"

After Hades gave that brief response, he immediately turned around to face the fully-armed squadron and commanded, "Step forward, Team Alpha and Team Beta!"

The moment he barked that command, two teams from the special forces, who were armed with assault rifles, marched out of the formation with a stern and determined look on their faces!

Seeing the soldiers stalking toward them like predators, the bodyguards huddled in fright, their faces drained of blood.

"Don't come closer... What are you trying to do to us..."

All the bodyguards were letting out gut-wrenching screams, but the soldiers were unperturbed.

They only gumly approached the wailing bunch on the ground.

They first subdued the bodyguards by pressing them on the ground with their knees, and taking out the rope they always had on them to tightly tie around the bodyguards' waists.

They then used the ends of the rope to tie both hands, positioned naturally on the sides of the body, and finally fastened the rope around the waist to secure the knot.

The soldiers' movement was so swift and smooth it was done in the blink of an eye.

In just a few seconds, more than 30 burly bodyguards were already tied up like salami!

Satisfied with the work, Hades further instructed, "Now throw them in the back of the truck!"

"Yes, sir!"

The warriors responded in a booming voice.

With that, they hoisted the rope and dragged the bodyguards to the truck like they were dead animals.

The bodyguards suddenly understood Kingsley's intentions when they looked at the dark truck compartment full of explosives.

Everyone was instantly hit by an uneasy sense of foreboding that they almost lost consciousness.

"No... Please let me go... Please..."

"Please... I don't want to die..."

However, despite their resistance, they had no room to struggle in the hands of such well-trained warriors.

Bang!

Boom! Wham!

As though they were bulky garbage bags, the bodyguards who were crying and wailing were mercilessly thrown into the back of the truck.

Kingsley's eyes remained cold without an ounce of emotion in them as he looked on. "Close the door!" he ordered. "Light a candle for them when we evacuate. We will let them go if the candle burns out and the explosives don't detonate!"

"Yes, sir!" The two special forces teams responded in unison before they hurried back to the formation.

Bam! Bam!

On top of the constant banging on the rear door of the truck, there was also a never-ending wailing and screaming of the bodyguards coming from the same direction.

"Help! Help!"

"Let us out of here!"

"Please let me out! I swear I will never do anything illegal for the bad guys anymore..."

Their cries in the dark bed of the trunk was excruciatingly devastating and distressing.

Meanwhile, Felix, who had been watching all this unfold, could no longer feel his legs.

He only had one thought running through his head, We are finished this time.

He could still go through the usual process of being sentenced and convicted if he were caught by the police.

With the wealthy and powerful Spearhead Group backing him, all he would need to do was pull a few strings.

But he knew that this demonic man in front of him would never give him the chance to do so.

Even the bodyguards were meeting an end this gruesome. He doubted it would be any better for him, as he was the manager who led the transaction.

Read Novel i am the ruler of all chapter 282

i am the ruler of all chapter 282-Thinking of this, Felix knelt on the ground with a thud and begged Kingsley for mercy. “Mr. Nicholson... Mr. Nicholson, I know that I was wrong! I will do anything! Just go easy on me. I will really do anything!”

When Kingsley’s expression seemed unmoved, Felix hurriedly continued, “I know all the evil things the Spearhead Group has done! I have evidence for how they evade taxes and kill the innocent!”

Tyler thought he almost had a heart attack upon hearing Felix.

“Mr. Smith, what are you talking about?! Is ruining the Spearhead Group beneficial to you in any way?!”

“Young Master Tyler, there is nothing more important than my life!” Felix’s face was extremely pale. “You are an arrogant man, and now you have finally hit a stumbling block! I don’t want to die, though!”

Kingsley looked coldly at Felix, who knelt on the ground. “Leave the talk about the Spearhead Group for another time. Let me ask you—who was the last person who bought explosives from you?”

“I-I don’t know that person either!” Felix’s face had turned completely white at this point. “He couldn’t possibly have used his real identity to do this kind of transaction. I am sure Mr. Houston isn’t really Mr. Houston too, right?” he blabbered.

Hearing that, Kingsley let out a small frown. He could tell that Felix was not lying.

The previous buyer only bought a box of explosives? Kingsley thought to himself. They couldn’t possibly blow up the Nicholson Family Cemetery into ruins with just that. Am I heading in the wrong direction?

When Felix noticed how Kingsley’s face turned darker after he said that, he quickly added, “But that person bought Mr. Field’s contact information at a high price! Mr. Field... is the one who sold the explosives to the Spearhead Group! He must be trying to bypass us and buy a bigger amount of explosives directly from Mr. Field! Mr. Field might know the identity of the buyer!”

Kingsley’s eyes immediately lit up when he heard this.

I am on the right track after all!

I just haven’t followed the smoke enough to know where the fire is.

However, Tyler, who had been listening to Felix’s one-sided rambling, turned to look at Felix with a confused expression on his face. “Mr. Smith, how can you give the buyer Mr. Field’s contact information? How are we supposed to make money if they bypassed us to directly trade with Mr. Field?!”

“Young Master Tyler, since the situation has come to this, there is no point in me hiding the truth anymore.” Felix then unhesitantly confessed, “I can earn a commission of 20 thousand to 30 thousand every time the company does a one-million business. The buyer directly offered 500 thousand for me to buy Mr. Field’s contact information. I couldn’t possibly not sell it! How often do you think we can sell 30 million in arms in a small place like Cleapolis? There was no way I would spit out the 500 thousand they sent my way.”

“You asshole!” Tyler’s face was ashen with anger as he yelled, “You selfish bstard!”

“Enough!” Kingsley chided coldly. “You have plenty of time other than now to fight if you want to do that. Come. You both will be leaving with me now.”

Hearing his words, Tyler, who was still filled with righteous indignation, shrank back in an instant.

“G-Go back where?” He kept stepping back. “I won’t go. I won’t go with you!”

He knew what was going to happen all too well.

Even those bodyguards who didn’t commit anything were locked in the back of the truck, and they were still screaming their heads off until now.

Tyler was sure that he, the eldest young master of the Spearhead Group who once insulted and offended Kingsley and also killed Serena, had a much more terrible fate awaiting him.

I might actually die if I went with him!

Flop!

Tyler went weak in the knees, and he knelt by Kingsley’s feet, begging, “S-Sir, why don’t you just let me go like I am an annoying fart you are holding back? Pretty please? Please, I am begging you!”

Kingsley only looked at Tyler condescendingly, his eyes as indifferent as they were murderous. “There is still a chance for your survival if you come with me and explain what happened to my sister. Otherwise, we will be putting holes in your body with these hundreds of machine guns.”

“I...” At that point, Tyler was shaking all over.

He raised his head to look at the group of special forces soldiers, and he was so frightened that he felt his blood curdle. He couldn’t utter another word.

In that instant, he suddenly realized that his life was no longer in his hands.

No matter if Kingsley were to beat him up or kill him, Tyler had no power to fight back.

I have really offended the King of Hell himself this time!

Buzz!

Hearing what sounded like static in his ear, Tyler rolled his eyes before he passed out on the ground.

Read Novel i am the ruler of all chapter 283

i am the ruler of all chapter 283-Kingsley threw a glance at the passed-out Tyler and the shivering Felix, and he said to Lancer, "Tie them both up and bring them back to the headquarters!"

He then turned to Hades and ordered, "Immediately bring our men to seize the Spearhead Group on the charges of storing illegal explosives in the warehouse, and causing the explosion at the warehouse which led to casualties. Also, assist the police in arresting all related personnel of the Jovovich Family. Have them convicted and sentenced according to Qustian Law!"

"Understood, Ares!"

After Hades replied, he promptly left for the Spearhead Group with the troops in tow.

Tyler was still lying on the ground when his eyes began to turn as he slowly regained consciousness.

However, he let out a squeak and fainted again as soon as he heard Kingsley's order.

In just one night, all that was left after the bombing of Warehouse 26 in Jetstar Logistics was a mess.

The dozen or so charred corpses in the warehouse had become the best witnesses of the Spearhead Group's possession of arms.

Following that, the top management of the Spearhead Group, including the head of the Jovovich Family, were all arrested when they were fast asleep.

Kingsley took the chance in the dark of the night to turn everything over.

It was only when people woke up the next morning did they hear about the news that the once-prosperous Spearhead Group had fallen.

In that instant, everyone in the business world and upper class in Cleapolis were quietly hit by a sense of impending doom.

They had noticed something unusual from the fall of the Jovovich Family—it seemed that there was someone influential who was secretly cleaning up the filth of the city!

Panicked, they quickly destroyed the evidence of their respective company's crimes, and tried to fill the holes so that it didn't look like anything was intentionally erased.

They were afraid that the one responsible for the Spearhead Group's downfall would target them and drag them down instead.

However, Kingsley was completely unaware of all this series of turbulent events that followed.

All he did was go back to his Reene's house to catch some shut-eye before he went straight to Building No. 17 of Coliree Group at noon the next day.

"You are here, Boss." Lancer took him to the room where Tyler and Felix were imprisoned before he reported, "I didn't let them sleep the whole night. They are on the verge of a breakdown now."

"Great." Kingsley nodded. "We probably will be able to get some answers soon."

After he entered the room, he habitually pulled out a chair and sat across from the men. "Right. Who wants to start talking first?"

Tyler and Felix were currently frightened and haggard, and it was obvious that they were only a push away from collapsing.

However, it wasn't because they were psychologically fragile.

This interrogation room was set up by Lancer and Hades according to the standards for interrogating spies and war criminals on Coliree Island.

Not only was the room dark and silent, there were various torture devices in there.

Even the air smelled faintly of blood.

The most an average person could stand in the room was two minutes before they were suffocated by the feeling of oppression.

Tyler and Felix, however, were not only tied up in the room for the whole night, they were also forced to stay awake.

In a way, they had reached a limit both mentally and psychologically, and they might have a nervous breakdown at any given moment.

“M-Mr. Nicholson...” Felix’s lips were pale and trembling as he stutteringly pleaded, “I have never offended you. Can you show mercy and let me go... I will do anything you tell me to...”

“It is true that you have never offended me.” Kingsley looked at him coldly. “But, it was because of your greed for money that more than 10 lives of innocent workers were lost!”

“Someone lost their life... because of me?” Felix asked with a dazed look on his face. “I admit that I am greedy, but I have never killed anyone...”

“It is because you wanted money that you gave Mr. Field’s contact information to the person who bought the explosives! He bought enough explosives to blow up the Nicholson Family Cemetery. The explosion killed more than a dozen innocent people!” Kingsley’s voice was as cold as ice as he asked, “Do you think you can escape this circle of cause and effect?”

“I—” Felix’s face instantly turned white, “I didn’t think that far ahead... I only wanted to make some money...”

As he murmured those few words, he suddenly raised his head at Kingsley and whimpered, “I-I can tell you everything about Mr. Field! Can I make up for my mistakes and have my life spared?”

“It depends on what you have to tell me. I can consider your request if it is useful information. But if you tell even one lie, I promise that you will be begging to die by the time I am done with you!”

“Yes, yes. I wouldn’t dare to lie to you...” Felix gulped before he hoarsely started, “About two months ago, two people contacted the Spearhead Group and claimed that they had supply for arms—” i am the ruler of all chapter 284-As Felix began to recall what happened two months ago, he didn't even try to hide anything as he confessed, "After the success of the cooperation with Mr. Field, the chairman immediately appointed me as the manager in charge of this project.

Read Novel i am the ruler of all chapter 284

"It supposedly was a collaboration but in fact, we were just an intermediary that connected both companies together."

Kingsley was puzzled when he heard that. "Why would Mr. Field want a collaboration with you and let you take another cut from the deal? Isn't it more profitable for them to contact buyers directly on the black market?"

"Exactly. I thought that he came to make us his middleman because he didn't have connections or credibility in Cleapolis, but I get it now. They would rather give up that extra money so that the Spearhead Group was the one who would take all the risk..."

He then sighed. "What a sly bunch these d*mn foreigners are!"

"Foreigners?" Kingsley frowned slightly. "Is Mr. Field a foreigner?"

"He is!" Felix nodded. "Even though he didn't outright tell us that, his accent is definitely not from our country! He is probably from the Southsiren Republic or the Empire of the Setting Sun!"

Kingsley was hit by realization when he heard Felix's words.

The big fish in Sweoya had detonated a bomb to show off before.

That was why Kingsley had guessed that the person who blew up the cemetery was the anonymous website administrator.

To his surprise, it was proven that the culprit was actually someone else upon investigation!

The culprit had come into contact with Felix, who worked for the Spearhead Group, by buying a small amount of explosives, and had also bought the contact information of Mr. Field, the explosive supplier, at a high price.

They then bought a lot of explosives directly from Mr. Field, and had snuck into the cemetery to plant the bombs when Leroy went to the hospital to take care of Joshua.

Finally, in the dead of night, the bombs were detonated without warning, thus completely destroying the Nicholson Family Cemetery!

Kingsley could understand all that, but what he never considered was the possibility that Mr. Field, both the root of all these incidents and the provider of explosives, was highly likely to be a spy from Qustia!

The bombs used were the same, after all.

It only seemed complicated because of the many turns the story took.

Kingsley and Lancer then looked at each other, both of them already figuring out the truth.

In a low voice, Lancer started, "Boss, Karl Osberg and his men said that there are five people in Team Nightcrawler. Except for the Stork, leader of the team, the other four are paired in teams of two. The so-called Mr. Field is an identity held by two people. It is possible that they are the other two members of Team Nightcrawler. "

"How surprising. We weren't even trying to find that out," Kingsley hummed while nodding. "We actually discovered the tracks of the other two spies."

With that said, he turned to look at Felix before he demanded, "What else do you know about Mr. Field? I want you to tell me everything!"

"Of course!" Felix licked his chapped lips and slowly described, "I couldn't see Mr. Field and his partner's faces because they both wore hats and masks. They were about 5 foot 6, and they were dressed in normal clothes. Their voices sounded like they were in their 30s."

He then glanced at Kingsley cautiously. "They were on high alert and didn't give out too much..."

Hearing that, Kingsley lit a cigarette and asked, seemingly in deep thought. "Where did the transaction happen? Did they say anything out of the norm?"

“It was a small hotel in an urban village in the north of the city.” Felix paused slightly, and seemed to have suddenly remembered something when he quickly exclaimed, “Oh, yeah! They might have driven there from Diosna City! I saw a ticket they got at a highway on the table!”

Kingsley’s eyes suddenly glinted at that. “That village again?” he asked. “When was the last transaction?”

“It has been about two months since the collaboration ended.”

Hearing his words, Lancer pointed out in a hushed voice, “That was before we destroyed Karl Osberg and Jonas Kolstad’s empty warehouses. They have probably already abandoned the location now.”

“That’s right. They are likely to be hiding in Diosna City, and only come to Cleapolis to carry out their mission.” After pondering for a while, Kingsley continued, “And the north of the city is at the border of both Diosna City and Cleapolis. That must be why they frequently appear there!”

As they spoke, he turned to Felix again. “Is there any other information?”

Read Novel i am the ruler of all chapter 285

i am the ruler of all chapter 285-“T-That is all... I do have Mr. Field’s phone number, though.” Felix’s forehead was drenched in cold sweat at this point. “I already gave the phone number to M-Mr. Houston last night...”

Hearing this, Kingsley turned to Lancer and instructed, “Try to get in touch with him after the news about the Spearhead Group has died down. However, if they really are hiding in Diosna City, it will be easy for them to catch wind of our plan and flee. We might not be able to catch them in time. I want you to be careful not to alarm them when you contact them. ”

“Yes, sir. I understand.”

Felix couldn’t help feeling something was wrong as he listened to the conversation between Kingsley and Lancer.

This seemed to be beyond the scope of ordinary criminal-catching.

“Um... Just who is Mr. Field...” he hesitantly asked.

Kingsley peered at him from the corner of his eyes then. "The more you know, the sooner you will have to die. Are you sure you want to know?"

"No!" Felix frantically shook his head. "I don't want to know. Not at all..." He was shuddering when he tried his luck again. "Mr. Nicholson, I have told you everything I know. I don't know anything else, and I don't want to know either. Can you please let me go?"

"Why the rush? We will see after I talk to the young master." Kingsley then casually added, "You will have to stay here with him if he doesn't cooperate."

He had just said that when Tyler, who was scared motionless, blurted out, "I'll tell you! I will tell you anything you ask me! I will definitely cooperate!" However, a bitter look soon appeared on his face again. "But this is the first time I have been involved in arms trading... I really don't know anything about what happened before..."

"I won't ask you that." Kingsley's eyes were suddenly filled with murderous intent. "What I want to know is what mission you had Serena do!"

Tyler was frightened by the prickliness of Kingsley's cold voice, but he managed to answer, "S-Serena's mission was to... assassinate Xanxus Norton..."

"Xanxus Norton?" Kingsley repeated with a frown.

He knew that name.

The group of people who collected protection fees in Leroy's place before were Xanxus subordinates!

Xanxus, one of the Seven Legends, was the owner of a place called The Lions in Diosna City.

The Lions was a casino.

Even though Xanxus was not the underworld's top dog in Diosna City, no one was better than him in terms of muscles and weapons.

After all, the clients he would get from operating an underground casino were definitely not easy to deal with.

He wouldn't have had a place in Diosna City if he didn't have the diamond.

As Tyler looked at Kingsley's dark expression, he said shakily, "I-I met a young man under Boss Norton before. He was the one who helped me send two boxes of explosives to Boss Norton..."

"And?" Kingsley hissed, "So you and Xanxus Norton colluded to trap Serena?!"

"N-No... I posted a mission to assassinate Boss Norton..."

Tyler felt like bursting into tears as he looked into Kingsley's cold eyes. "I only wanted to teach her a lesson with Boss Norton's help for my girlfriend..."

"Ha! So you only wanted to take revenge?"

Kingsley sneered, his eyes filled with murderous intent.

He had heard from Baron that Baron and Xanxus were similar in terms of strength.

The only difference was that Baron relied on the hundreds of boxers he had trained.

Xanxus, on the other hand, used guns as his primary offense.

However, those guns were just unrefined, useless trash to Kingsley.

Still, it was a gun!

It was definitely not something that Serena's mortal body could win against.

Serena going alone to assassinate a gangster, who was ready for her arrival and was protected by dozens of guns, was no different from suicide.

Kingsley's eyes were about to catch on fire from the rage inside at the thought of this.

Suppressing his urge to kill someone, he bit his teeth and growled, "Has Xanxus Norton contacted you recently?"

"N-No..." Tyler didn't dare to look directly into Kingsley's eyes. His stuttering voice only shook more than before. "Serena may not have attacked yet... Or maybe..."

He couldn't stop the uncontrollable trembling of his lips, and neither did he have the guts to continue saying another word.

Read Novel i am the ruler of all chapter 286

i am the ruler of all chapter 286-Tyler was going to say that Xanxus might have already killed Serena, who went to assassinate him, but hadn't cared to inform him.

After all, in the eyes of a monster like Xanxus, killing a small-time assassin like Serena was no different from crushing an ant!

However, Tyler could tell that Kingsley was about to lose control and murder someone at this point.

How could he possibly be stupid enough to say those words to make the last thread of Kingsley's self-control snap?

Feeling utterly afraid, Tyler could only shakingly shrink into the chair without uttering another word.

"Lancer, inform the Diosna Military District to send someone to investigate Xanxus Norton immediately!"

Kingsley's eyes were fixated on Tyler, but his words were directed at Lancer. "Check if anyone has attempted his assassination recently! 10 minutes! I want an answer within 10!"

"Right! I'm on it!" Lancer answered before he stepped out of the interrogation room.

Tyler, however, was so startled that he was about to wet his pants. He did not think that Kingsley could even command the military in Diosna City! Just how much authority does he hold?

"S-Sir..." Tyler's voice trembled like he was a sheep bleating. "You must be someone important in the military... H-How was I so blind to not see that? G-Geez, little ol' me and my d*mn eyes..."

"Do you regret it now?" Kingsley peered at the man emotionlessly.

“I regret it so much I could die!” Tyler wailed as he blabbered, “I wouldn’t have set Serena up no matter how brave I am if I had known you were such an amazing person. This is equivalent to suicide...”

“What’s the rush? There’s no need to cry now,” Kingsley said lightly. “Let’s just wait for the news from Diosna Military District. I will stop bothering you if Serena is fine.”

“But, if she even loses as much as a strand of hair, I will kill you. It is not too late for you to cry then.”

Tyler was trembling so much he started to cramp all over. “She will be fine. She will be fine.... Miss Langley is blessed. She will be just fine...”

He could see the overwhelming murderous intent in Kingsley’s eyes.

Tyler knew that Kingsley would mercilessly tear his skin and rip his bones out if something were to happen to Serena.

That was definitely not an empty threat!

Just as Tyler was shaking and waiting for his conviction, Lancer began to walk back to the room in brisk steps.

“Boss, there is news from the Diosna Military District that there was an assassination attempt on Xanxus Norton just the day before yesterday when he invited several big bosses for a card game in the Sunshine Casino!”

Kingsley abruptly stood up from the chair when he heard that. “And?!” he urged.

“Xanxus Norton only suffered a skin injury on his arm, and the assassin escaped unscathed.”

Kingsley’s expression softened ever so slightly after Lancer said that. Serena must be in hiding, waiting for the next chance to strike again after she failed the first attempt.

“Ha...” Tyler let out a long, relieved breath. “Sir, since she is both unharmed and alive, can you please let me go...”

Felix also quickly begged for mercy. “Please, Mr. Nicholson. We have said everything we need to. Please let us go...”

“Ha! You insulted my sister and inadvertently destroyed my parents’ cemetery, which also caused the death of a dozen workers. Did you actually think I will let you go?” Kingsley’s lips curled into a smile, but there was no humor in his eyes. “Don’t you think you have over-beautified how I appear in your eyes?”

“What... What is this all about?” Tyler and Felix were in shock. “You have never planned to let us go, have you?!”

Kingsley’s voice was frigid when he mockingly replied, “That is right. You were both dead men the moment you saw me last night. You should thank me for my kindness for keeping you alive till now.”

After listening to Kingsley’s cruel words, Tyler cried his eyes out while he struggled against the rope binding his body. “But I have already told you everything I know! How could you do this to me?!”

“Yeah!” Felix also wailed as he broke down in tears. “We were honest and frank about everything we knew! We have confessed! Why don’t you let us go?! Where is the justice in this!”

Hearing that, Kingsley slid his hands in his pockets and took a step forward before he leaned in to look at them with a cold gaze. He then uttered softly, “Don’t ask me about justice, because I am the law!”

That proceeded to shut the blabbering men up for good.

Read Novel i am the ruler of all chapter 287

i am the ruler of all chapter 287-Tyler and Felix were rendered speechless by his overbearing aura.

The air even started to feel like it was too thick for them to breathe.

Horror-stricken, they could only look at Kingsley, as if they were looking at the Grim Reaper himself.

He said he was the law!

Despite how arrogant and reckless that should have sounded, it actually felt right hearing it from Kingsley.

It almost felt as if he was supposed to look down on everyone else.

Drip, drip.

Drops of yellow liquid started dripping from Tyler's trousers to the ground—he was so frightened that he had lost his mind!

Instead of commenting on that, Kingsley only stood up and walked toward the door, but he didn't leave before he instructed Lancer, "Kill Felix and keep Tyler alive for now."

Tyler didn't even have the time to rejoice before Kingsley continued, "But don't let him get comfortable. Make sure he is tortured everyday. Just don't kill him. I will let Serena take revenge for herself after I get her back."

Hearing this, Tyler let out a hiccup and, with his eyes rolled back, fainted out of fright right after Felix did.

Lancer dutifully responded, and he followed up with another question. "Boss, will you be going to Diosna City personally?"

"Yeah." Kingsley nodded. "With Serena's temperament, she will definitely find another chance to attack Xanxus. I am just worried that she may not be able to safely get away next time. I had to get Xanxus under control first to prevent her from getting hurt. "

"Would you like for Hades and I to accompany you? After all, the two spies from Sweoyan are most likely also in Diosna City, right?" Lancer offered.

Kingsley shook his head at that. "With the Spearhead Group's fresh arrest, the two spies must be extremely cautious during this period. You must wait until they put their guard down before you contact them. Also, I can't delay going to Serena any longer. The later I go to her, the more danger she will be in, so I have to save her first! I will decide afterward on how we can catch those two spies."

Even though Kingsley was also anxious to catch the so-called Mr. Field and interrogate who was the culprit who bought the explosives, he had to take care of his priorities first.

The spies could wait, but Serena couldn't.

It was a matter of life-and-death that could no longer be delayed.

Hearing this, Lancer suggested again, “If you want to deal with Xanxus, how about I directly notify Diosna Military District and have them weed out the Sunshine Casino?”

“We can hold off on that for now. Serena takes her missions very seriously. She might get so angry she will kill me if I were to use my troops to intercept her mission. I know her—” Kingsley laughed. “—which is why we will let her assassinate Xanxus. I am only going there to make sure that she smoothly kills the man without getting hurt herself.”

“Yes, sir,” Lancer replied, not knowing whether to worry or support this. “You are planning to hold Xanxus down by his ‘limbs’ first, and then let Miss Langley kill him as she likes, aren’t you? This is much crueler than sending troops to destroy him directly...”

Satisfied, Kingsley patted him on the shoulder and praised, “How clever! That is exactly what I am thinking of doing.”

He then reminded, “Anyway, don’t let your guard down. Wait until the news about the Spearhead Group has calmed down, then immediately try to make contact with the two spies. Also, have Diosna Military District be on standby at all times. When I need to use the machines, they must arrive at the scene as soon as possible! ”

“Yes, Ares!”

After Kingsley was done with the arrangement, he drove back to Reese’s villa, and went to pack up as he prepared himself for his trip to Diosna City.

Coincidentally, Reese was at home. When she saw him packing his luggage, she couldn’t help but ask, “Where are you going, Kingsley? Isn’t Alice’s medical forum supposed to end today?”

“Reese, I am going to Diosna City.” Not wanting her to worry, he came up with a random reason to reassure her. “I have a comrade who is getting married in Diosna City. I am attending the wedding, and I will be playing tourist for two days.”

“Oh, you are heading to Diosna City?” Reese exclaimed before letting out a sigh. “I would have gone with you as well if I wasn’t so busy with work. I haven’t seen Courtney in months!”

Courtney Bullock was Kingsley's seventh sister.

She was also a genius who had an IQ score exceeding 200.

Hearing that, Kingsley slapped a palm across his forehead. "Oh, right! I almost forgot that Courtney is attending a university in Diosna City!"

Read Novel i am the ruler of all chapter 288

i am the ruler of all chapter 288-"Kingsley, after the wedding, you should visit Courtney at university. She misses you very much." Reene was reminiscing and said with a smile, "After you disappeared, she returned with a pile of scrap metal and made a little robot. She also pasted your photo on it and cuddled the robot to sleep daily. If she knew you were back, she would be delighted!"

Kingsley imagined the scene, and a strange yet surprised feeling welled up inside him.

"When I left the orphanage, Courtney was only thirteen years old. She could even make a robot back then?"

Although Kingsley knew Courtney was a genius with a high IQ, he did not expect she would be able to make a robot at the age of thirteen without help.

He would understand if she had received an elite education and expert guidance since she was a child. However, Courtney grew up in an orphanage, just like him. Hence, she had no special education at all. All of this came from her superior IQ and extraordinary talent.

Looking at Kingsley's surprised expression, Reene smiled. "Courtney has a different way of thinking, and her behavior differs from that of ordinary people. After you meet her, you will get used to it." As she said, she took out her cell phone. "I will send you her address now. Information security of the Solaris University of Computer Science... Block Jasmine, Room 1205..." Reene muttered while sending Courtney's address to Kingsley.

"Okay. I'll visit Courtney when I'm free." Kingsley nodded and glanced at the time on his phone. "Reene, I have to go. I'll call you when I arrive in Diosna City."

"Okay. Be careful on the road."

After saying goodbye to Reese, Kingsley drove onto the expressway and headed toward Diosna City.

Diosna City, which was the capital of Solaris Province, was less than 200 kilometers away from Cleapolis. It would take about two hours by car.

When Kingsley arrived in the southern suburbs of Diosna City, the sky was getting dark.

He didn't enter the city but randomly picked a small hotel in the southern suburbs that looked clean and checked in.

It was because the Sunshine Casino built by Xanxus was near here.

Sunshine Casino integrated gambling, bathing, nightclubs, and many more into one.

It was a one-stop gray industry.

Despite Xanxus being powerful, he would not dare to open this casino in the city center.

Although the southern suburb was a little remote, it could meet everyone's wishes. If it was not right in front of them, the government would turn a blind eye to the casino. As for the consumers, they liked the place. Whether they came to have fun alone or invited clients to relax, they did not want to be seen by anyone.

Hence, building the casino in such a remote place could allow consumers to enjoy it with peace of mind.

Initially, the southern suburb of Diosna City was desolate. However, the Sunshine Casino immediately boosted the surrounding economic development after.

There were also a lot of hotels and karaoke halls around, which were small industries that relied on Xanxus.

The furnishings of the rooms in the hotel were simple, with only an old TV, two wooden chairs, and a large enough bed.

Of course, Kingsley didn't care about the furnishings.

When he was leading the troops, he had slept under the sky countless times, whether in a dense forest canyon or a swamp. So, he was satisfied with a bed to rest and sleep in.

This time, Kingsley didn't bring much luggage. He only had a sports backpack.

He threw the backpack on the wooden chair with a thump. As he lay on the bed, he slowly closed his eyes.

Yesterday, he was busy in the logistics warehouse for the night. Then, he woke up, only to interrogate Tyler and Felix.

Kingsley did not have any rest, and he drove for another two hours and arrived at Diosna City in a hurry.

He planned to rest and wait until midnight, when the casino was the busiest, before destroying Xanxus.

However, someone opened the door when Kingsley just closed his eyes to think about what to do next.

stood at the door with an alluring posture.

Her skirt could barely cover her, and it wrapped tightly around her body.

If she made a slightly big move, the skirt would definitely roll up to her waist and expose her body.

Read Novel i am the ruler of all chapter 289

i am the ruler of all chapter 289-The woman's curves were not perfect. Compared to Reene and Alice, she was much worse.

Although she was showing her cleavage, her bosom was slightly sagging.

The fat around her waist was also not obvious against her broad thighs.

In short, she was an extraordinarily plump and mature woman.

In the eyes of most men, it could be called sensual, but it could not satisfy Kingsley at all.

Kingsley scanned the woman from head to toe and asked coldly, “Who are you?”

“Darling, you’re so handsome. My name is Scarlett Ashley, but you can call me Red.”

The woman put one hand on the door frame and the other hand on her waist, posing an enchanting posture as her voice turned tempting. “Darling, do you need a massage? I’m a professional.”

“No.” Kingsley was indifferent toward the invitation. “However, I want to know how you managed to come into my room so easily?”

“Jeez! Don’t reject me, darling!” Scarlett swayed her hips and she entered the room with a smile. “What’s wrong with me entering your room? This is a special service at our hotel. Besides, you’re a man. What are you afraid of?”

Kingsley had a gleam in his eyes and at that point, he immediately realized he was staying in a different kind of hotel.

Then, he understood how the surrounding hotels, bars, and KTVs all survived through Sunshine Casino.

So, the people who booked the room were not here to stay, but to have a special service.

Understanding this, Kingsley waved his hand. “You misunderstood. I’m a tourist who is going to visit Diosna City. I’m not that kind of person.”

“Oh? What kind of person am I thinking of?” Scarlett walked with a pair of sky-high shoes and swayed over to Kingsley. “Darling, you’re the most handsome guest I’ve ever seen. Well, I’ll give you a discount. 500 a night, how about it?”

“Are you giving me 500?” Kingsley glanced at her blankly. “I don’t need it.”

“You—” Scarlett was stunned speechless by his behavior. She blinked her pair of eyes that had heavy eyeliner on and said unhappily, “Darling, 500 is a killer price. If you ask around the casino, you will understand I’m a premium woman.”

Kingsley sat up with his hands behind his head and said calmly, "I'll repeat it for the last time—I am just a tourist and I'm not seeking your service. Please leave immediately."

Hearing this, Scarlett immediately flushed red, and it was obvious even through her heavily made-up face.

Back then, even Xanxus chose to sleep with her when she was young.

Although she was no longer a young lady, she was still a famous beauty in the casino.

Despite that, someone was now rejecting her wish with such coldness. Hence, Scarlett felt that she had been greatly insulted.

"Boy, I'm willing to knock on your door because you're handsome. Don't reject my kindness, or you'll suffer!"

Kingsley spread out his hands. "Why? Will you try to use force?"

"Hmph! You are underestimating me."

Scarlett sneered and took off her skirt, letting it drop to her ankles.

She wore nothing under her skirt, so she was completely bare after she took off her skirt.

She stood before Kingsley without anything on.

The light in the room was slightly yellowish, but it made Scarlett's skin seem even whiter.

"How about it? Are you still going to refuse me?" Scarlett then murmured in a seductive voice, "If you're still calm even now, it means you bat for your own team, don't you?"

"I don't, but I'm not interested in you." Kingsley's eyes were clear. "You should put on your clothes now. It's stinging my eyes."

"You little—"

Hearing Kingsley saying that about her figure, Scarlett trembled with anger.

“Fine, just you wait and see!” Scarlett shouted at the door. “Come in!”

As she said, five strong men walked in roughly from the door.

When the men saw the bare Scarlett, their eyes had a lewd glint to it and their breathing became heavier.

However, the men didn’t dare to make trouble, so they could only lick their lips and forcibly look away.

Scarlett then commented coldly to Kingsley, “Boy, are you going to run away without paying after you have ravished me?”

Read Novel i am the ruler of all chapter 290

i am the ruler of all chapter 290-Kingsley raised the corner of his mouth slightly. However, his expression didn’t change at all.

Considering he was observant, he had long noticed something was wrong. Still, I don’t see the necessity for them to open the door and barge directly into the room even if this inn has such an unorthodox service.

At this moment, he was even more certain that this was a premeditated badger game as he looked at these brawny men standing in the room.

They are aiming at young men who are inexperienced and aren’t locals like me.

Too bad, things wouldn’t turn out as Scarlett and others expected today. Since they had always caught fishes with their bare hands, they would eventually end up running into trouble.

Little did they know that Kingsley was not the kind of inexperienced young man who would easily be bullied!

Instead, he was a real tough guy whom they should be fearful of.

Seeing that Kingsley was still sitting on the bed calmly, Scarlett couldn’t help raising her voice. “Kid, didn’t you hear what I said?! Quickly pay up!”

“What’s there to pay?” Kingsley asked calmly. “I didn’t even touch you, so why should I pay?”

Pointing at her naked body, Scarlett sneered, "You said you didn't touch me when I've already taken off my clothes like this? Who will believe you?"

Shortly after, a brawny man behind her also chimed in with a ferocious look, "That's right! Do you know Red is acquaintanced with a lot of gang leaders? Yet, you still want to welch after touching her body?! I see you f*cking have a death wish!"

Even so, Kingsley still remained calm. Hugging his shoulder, he asked faintly, "What's the price?"

Hearing him asking them about the price, Scarlett thought that he finally caved in. Hence, she immediately stretched out five fingers and demanded, "50,000!"

"50,000?" Kingsley looked at her from top to bottom. "Do you think you're worth that price?"

When Scarlett heard those words that escaped his lips, she was burning with anger. "You!" However, she suddenly paused just when she was about to lash out at him. Then, the expression on her face turned into disdain and contempt. "Heh. What's wrong? Are you telling me that you can't even shell out 50,000?"

Seeing Kingsley didn't reply, she curled her lips and put down two of her fingers. "Very well. How about 30,000? See: I'm being very nice to you, right? If you can't pay up today, though, I can guarantee you that you won't be able to walk normally out of this room!"

After hearing that, several brawny men who stood behind Scarlett also shouted, one by one.

"That's right! If you f*cking dare to be insensible and refuse to pay up, I will let you have a taste of my fury fist."

"Kid, do you still think 30,000 is too much, considering you're lucky enough to have seen Red's body? You totally had a big catch today!"

"Yeah! Pay up quick! Don't force us to lay our hands on you!"

Looking at the vicious look on these people who rolled up their sleeves to show their arms, Kingsley showed a trace of a sneer.

“30,000? Sure, I can give you guys, but are you guys certain you will all be alive to spend it?”

“What do you mean?” Scarlett raised her eyebrow in anger. “You’re pretty good at acting tough at such a young age! How dare you threaten us!”

Likewise, the crowd also laughed when they heard Kingsley’s ‘threatening’ words.

“That’s right. You are just an inexperienced young brat! Why are you acting tough with us?”

“Heh. Do you think we will be afraid of you, a little brat who came here to travel? Believe it or not: I will screw your head off if you still keep acting tough!”

At that, Kingsley smiled coldly. “Do you guys honestly think I’m here to travel?”

At once, Scarlett’s eyes flashed. “If not, are you here to splurge your money in the Sunshine Casino?”

“No.” Kingsley raised a finger and shook it. “I’m here to settle with Xanxus.”

Even though his voice wasn’t loud, it penetrated everyone’s eardrums like a great bell.

Like a shot, everyone couldn’t help but be slightly startled.

More than ten seconds later, a brawny man named Zwander Langson reacted first and scolded coldly, “What the hell?! Settle with Boss Norton?! Who do you think you are?! How dare you threaten to settle with him!”

As soon as these words escaped his lips, everyone gradually came back to their senses.

For a moment, everyone sneered and jeered, “You?! An inexperienced young man who can’t even shell out 50,000? How do you even dare to boast in such a way? What a f*cking idiot!”

“Hahaha—You amused me greatly! I will give you my respect if you’re able to meet Boss Norton in person. Here you are still thinking you can settle with him! Bullsh*t! Are you even worthy?!”

Apart from those brawny men, even Scarlett giggled frantically while covering her rosy lips. “You are truly ridiculously naive and childish. I’m amused.”

After giggling for a while, a trace of sinister and ruthlessness flashed across her eyes. “You will definitely be torn to shreds if Boss Norton heard what you said just now! However, if you find a way to collect 100,000 and give it to me, I will consider keeping this secret for you.”

Kingsley frowned. “100,000? Isn’t it 30,000?”