i am the ruler of all chapter 491-Getting Help

Mia let out a shrill cry of pain as she fell hard to the ground.

Clarence quickly rushed forward and helped her to her feet. "Are you alright, Mia?" he asked. Then, he uttered between clenched teeth, "Who is the new son-in-law that you've gotten for me?! Just call him up and tell him to come over and teach this brat a lesson!"

Mia rubbed her aching butt while slowly getting up from the ground. Pointing at Kingsley, she said venomously, "Fine! Since you have a death wish, I'll call my boyfriend over and make you and Reese grovel at my feet!" With that, she took out her phone and started dialing a number.

Beep... A few seconds later, the phone call was answered, upon which the venomous look on Mia's face instantly turned into a groveling smile. Not only that, she said in an affected voice, "Hey, honey! What are you doing?"

A casual and lazy voice answered on the other end of the line, "I'm looking after my grandma at the hospital with my dad. What's the matter? Did something happen?"

The speaker on the other end was none other than Nicholas Fox, the heir to the Prime Corporation. His father Matt was one of those involved in the murder of Kingsley's parents back then, and the Prime Corporation had grown stronger with each passing day since he swallowed up Xavier's Frost Corporation. Currently, he was the chairman of the Roseland Chamber of Commerce.

The Clark Corporation used to be a member of the Roseland Chamber of Commerce. However, the bigwigs had jointly put pressure on Matt from all sides, leaving him with no alternative but to kick the Clark Corporation out of the association.

Mia asked in a sweet girlish voice, "Honey, someone just bullied me! Will you come and help me?"

At this moment, Nicholas was sitting cross-legged by his grandmother Helen's sickbed in Hill Crest Hospital's VIP ward while looking impatient. "What is it again this time? Whom did you mess with?! My grandma needs to be attended to for her heart condition, you know?!”

“Who else could it be?! It’s that little b*stard who’s living off Reese’s family!” Mia replied. “He burst into our house with Reese and was about to strike at me just now!”

Nicholas suddenly sat up straight at her words. “You mean Kingsley Nicholson?!”

“Yeah, you’re right! It’s that little b*stard!” Mia replied. She then asked in a coquettish voice, “I hear that you’ve got a beef with him, no? Just come over and sort him out for me, okay?”

Nicholas’ eyes flickered for a moment. “Alright, I got it! I’ll be there after getting everything fixed here at the hospital!”

“That’s fantastic! Honey, I love you so much!” Mia had excitement written all over her face. “I’ll be waiting for you, then!” She hung up the phone and turned to look at Reese and Kingsley smugly. “You two had better hand over the Clark Corporation and get out of here immediately if you don’t want to die. Otherwise, it’ll be too late for you to beg for mercy when my boyfriend arrives!”

Kingsley raised an eyebrow. “So? What’s the name of that disgusting boyfriend of yours?”

“That’s right! You have yet to even tell us his name!” Ysabel let out a sneer. “Who knows if you’re only pretending to have a boyfriend?”

Mia put her hands on her hips in a lofty manner, saying, “I’m afraid you guys might get scared to death when I tell you his name! My boyfriend is Nicholas Fox, the heir to the Prime Corporation!”

Everyone had different looks on their faces when they heard Mia reveal her boyfriend’s name.

Clarence jumped on the spot and said in excitement, “What?! I didn’t hear it wrong, did I?! Mia, your new boyfriend is the son of the chairman of the Roseland Chamber of Commerce?!” He kept jumping around excitedly in circles. “Oh, my God! Is this true? I’d been trying to get in touch with President Fox during the many years the Clark Corporation had been part of the Roseland Chamber of Commerce, yet I wasn't able to do that! You're actually dating his son?!"

On the contrary, Ysabel's face instantly turned as pale as a sheet. "W-What? The Prime Corporation?" Her lips trembled. She muttered in disbelief, "How could Young Master Nicholas of the Prime Corporation possibly become fond of you... That's not possible..."

One could say that the Wynn Family and the Kean Family were of almost equal social standing, but there was no sign of romance yet between Reese and Andrew. On the other hand, Mia had started going out with Nicholas!

Driven to the verge of a breakdown by this revelation, Ysabel clenched Reese's hand and said shrewishly, "Reese, how could you be so disappointing?! Mia isn't even a third as pretty as you are, yet she manages to get herself one rich boyfriend after another! Why do you have to get involved with this little b*stard instead?!"

Reese bit her lower lip hard. "Mom, I want to be in control of my own life! I don't want to just depend on men like Mia does!"

The instant Mia heard this, she glared and mocked sarcastically, "Stop acting like a goody-two-shoes, Reese! The way I see it, you simply couldn't get yourself a nice guy because you might have something wrong with your body! I bet you'll shamelessly throw yourself at whichever man who's willing to sleep with you! You're just a pretentious b*tch, after all."

Reese's chest heaved up and down in anger. "You... You'd better watch your mouth!"

"Haha! Why should I watch my mouth?" Mia said, looking all arrogant. "I'm not only gonna call you names when my boyfriend arrives. I'm gonna hit you, too!"

Just when Mia was making threats in a frenzy of excitement, Matt and Nicholas were sitting face-to-face, whispering to each other in the VIP ward of Hill Crest Hospital. Darting a glance at Helen, who was lying asleep on her sickbed, Matt asked under his breath, "What happened, Nicholas? I just heard you mention Kingsley's name?"

Nicholas nodded. "Dad, Kingsley's at the Wynn Manor right now. I'm going there in a moment to take a look."

"Okay. You did a very good job this time." Matt had a sinister look in his eyes. He said, "I'll see what kind of splash can that Kingsley brat make as long as you keep getting along well with Mia Wynn!"

Previously, when Kingsley had publicly treated Joshua for paralysis, Matt had been knocked out with tranquilizer bullets by the men brought by Hades. It was only after he regained consciousness that he learned that Helen had promised Kingsley she would make him kowtow and apologize to Kingsley in order for Kingsley to treat her with acupuncture. However, he was utterly unwilling to do so. How could he, the chairman of the Roseland Chamber of Commerce, kowtow and apologize to a brat who was still wet behind the ears?! Therefore, he secretly came up with numerous vicious plots to blackmail Kingsley while the young man and Alice had gone to Jadeland Heights to take part in The 18th Cleapolis Medical Forum.

Recalling Kingsley's previous argument with the Wynns at the hospital, Matt thus set his sights on the Wynn Family. At first, he had wanted to go straight to Clarence, but he had previously kicked the Clark Corporation out of the Roseland Chamber of Commerce under pressure from the Keans and others. Fearing that Clarence might bear a grudge against him because of this, he had his son Nicholas take a different approach by finding an opportunity to get acquainted with Mia. After that, they learned from Mia about Reese and the 150 million...

Sitting by his mother's sickbed, he said with a sinister look in his eyes, "Nicholas, your grandmother's condition is worsening by the day. We've got to get Kingsley to perform acupuncture on her as soon as possible!"

"I got it, Dad." Nicholas narrowed his eyes slightly. "If worse comes to worst, I'll just propose to Mia today! Once I get engaged to her, I'll be able to call the shots in the Wynn Family, upon which I'll tell Kingsley that his sister Reese can avoid giving 150 million to the Wynn Family. As long as he cures Grandma of her illness, I can stop the Wynns from harassing them ever again!"

Matt nodded. "Okay. I believe that Nicholson brat will definitely say yes to this! That way, he'll cure your grandmother even if I don't kowtow and apologize to him!" he said before patting Nicholas on the shoulder. "Both your grandmother's life and my dignity are in your hands now. Just go to the Wynn Manor and propose to Mia!"

Nicholas stood up, saying, "Dad, but I'm gonna dump Mia when Grandma is cured. She used to be Ethan Windsor's girlfriend, and I'm not gonna spend the rest of my life with used goods!"

"Haha... That's not a problem!" Matt replied with a guffaw. "You might as well kill her after this as long as the matter gets solved successfully, no?"

Only then did Nicholas feel reassured; he stepped straight out of the ward with his car keys in hand. Then, he drove all the way to the Wynn Manor at full speed, reaching there in just over ten minutes. Screech! With a grinding squeal of the brakes, he brought the car to a halt in the courtyard of the Wynn Manor.

Upon hearing the noise, the Wynns immediately opened the door and came out. Standing in front of them was Clarence, who looked really thrilled the instant he saw Nicholas as though he had taken a stimulant. "Young Master Nicholas! Young Master Nicholas!" He walked up to Nicholas excitedly while spreading his arms. "Oh, Young Master Nicholas! I can't believe you're actually dating my daughter!"

Mia looked all shy and bashful beside him. "Dad, this is Nicholas' first time visiting our home, so what are you waiting for? Hurry up and invite him in to take a seat, will you?"

"Yeah, you're right!" Clarence clapped his hand over his forehead. "Look at me; I got carried away with excitement. Hurry and come on in, Young Master Nicholas! This way, please!"

Other members of the Wynn Family said enviously and respectfully, "That's right, Young Master Nicholas! Please come on in!"

Sitting in the living room, Ysabel craned her neck and looked out the window. She swore in exasperation, "F*ck, I wonder what kind of tricks Mia's learned to seduce men. Why are all these wealthy dandies dating her one after another?" As she spoke, she turned to look at Reene. "If only you had half her capabilities! That way, your dad and I wouldn't have to be snubbed by Clarence and his family every single day!"

Reene opened her mouth to speak, but before she could say anything, Kingsley retorted impassively, "Can't you make a comeback after I give you 150 million? Not even over 20 Clark Corporations together are worth that amount, no?"

"Haha! Just shut up, you little b*stard!" Ysabel shot a glare at him. "Young Master Nicholas is coming in here very soon, so what's the point of you bragging in front of me?"

Kingsley curled his lips into a smirk. "Just Nicholas alone isn't worth my attention!"

Ysabel rolled her eyes dramatically. "What a blowhard! If you have the f*cking time to talk big, you might as well go out and work for a living instead! Stop living off Reene every single day!"

While they were talking, the Wynns welcomed Nicholas, as if they were rolling out the red carpet for him, into the house.

Nicholas spotted Kingsley at a glance as soon as he entered the living room. Just when he opened his mouth to speak, Mia complained loudly, "Honey, he was the one who bullied me just now. Had I not mentioned your name, he'd probably have raised a hand against me!" Then, she looked at Reene smugly, saying, "My boyfriend has arrived! Reene, you and this little b*stard are gonna have a hard time today!"

She had thought that Nicholas would avenge her right away. Much to her astonishment, though, he actually nodded to Kingsley, saying, "It's been a while, Dr. Nicholson."

Hearing Nicholas' words, Clarence and Mia exchanged a brief look in puzzlement. The Wynns were absent when Kingsley performed acupuncture on Joshua the other day, which was why they were momentarily puzzled as to what Nicholas meant by calling him 'Dr. Nicholson.' "Honey, what did you call him?" Mia asked with a baffled expression. "Why did you call him Dr. Nicholson? He's just a little b*stard who lives off a woman."

Nicholas let out a soft chuckle. “Seems like you guys have yet to hear about Dr. Nicholson’s superb medical skills,” he said while walking up to Kingsley. “Dr. Nicholson, you haven’t shown up for a while. My grandma’s anxiously waiting for you.”

Kingsley curled his lips into a smirk. He replied impassively, “I still remember Old Mrs. Fox’s illness, but I’m still waiting for Matt Fox to kowtow and apologize to me!”

“Gasp...” The Wynns gasped in horror at Kingsley’s words. As the chairman of the Roseland Chamber of Commerce, Matt was already a super bigwig in their eyes. At this moment, however, Kingsley actually demanded that Matt apologize to him! How arrogant of him to say that!

Taking a few steps forward, Clarence pointed at Kingsley and rebuked angrily, “How insolent! How could you insult Mr. Fox, you brat?!”

Other members of the Wynn Family chimed in, “That’s right! Could this brat be a quack doctor?! How dare he speak of President Fox like that?”

“I think he started putting his foot in his mouth after being scared out of his mind by Young Master Nicholas!”

“Haha! I think he’s purely bragging! He said he could produce 150 million when you guys went out to greet Young Master Nicholas just now!”

Hearing the crowd’s discussion, Nicholas said with a scowl, “Indeed, you’re pretty skilled in medicine, but don’t get too full of yourself, you brat! The Fox Family’s honor isn’t something you can trample on!”

Kingsley threw his hands up. “It wasn’t me who said that. It was your grandmother who said so herself. I won’t cure her until Matt Fox kneels down, kowtows, and apologizes to me.”

After hearing this, Mia held Nicholas’ arm and said to Kingsley disdainfully, “What’s so extraordinary about you being skilled in medicine, you brat?! The Fox Family can get whatever kind of doctor they want, so don’t get ahead of yourself just because we complimented your medical skills!”

Kingsley let out a sneer. “Just go ahead and look for a doctor who can cure Old Mrs. Fox if you’re capable of finding one. Not anyone can make me use my Gorgion’s Nine Needles!”

Nicholas turned ghastly pale at his words. Grandma’s already on the danger list. There’s probably no one other than Kingsley who can cure her now! At the thought of this, he rubbed his somewhat stiff cheeks and forced a faint smile. He said to Mia, “L-Let’s not a-argue with him today...”

Both Mia and Clarence were rendered speechless by his words, while everyone else looked astounded. Why did Young Master Nicholas back down all of a sudden?!

“Honey? What’s the matter with you?” Mia looked unwilling to take this lying down. “How can you let him off just like that? As the heir to the Prime Corporation, you can doom him forever with just a word!”

Before Nicholas could answer, Kingsley replied flatly, “It’s because he doesn’t dare to do so.”

Silence fell over the entire room the instant Kingsley said so. Everyone thought he sounded like he was bragging, but the truth was right before their eyes. Indeed, Nicholas seemed like a wimp in front of him!

Nicholas’ lips twitched; inwardly, he felt very depressed. How he wished he could kill Kingsley right away! However, he simply dared not do anything rash as Helen was still counting on Kingsley to save her life. “Uh...” He pondered for a moment before turning around with his hands holding Mia’s shoulders. Then, he said with feigned affection, “Mia, I’m not willing to argue with him today because I have something more important to do.”

Mia’s heart began thumping wildly at the sight of his ‘sincere’ expression. “W-What is it?”

The next second, Nicholas instantly knelt down on one knee. “Mia, I’d like to propose to you! Please marry me!”

Whoa! All the members of the Wynn Family were deeply shocked by the scene before their eyes. Young Master Nicholas of the Fox Family has actually proposed to Mia!

Clarence burst into tears of excitement. At last, there was hope for the Wynn Family again!

Mia clapped her hands over her mouth as her face blushed scarlet. “H-Honey, d-do you really want to marry me?”

“Yes, I do!” Nicholas nodded vigorously. “I love you! Please marry me!”

Mia threw her arms around him without regard for everything else. “Yes, I’ll marry you!”

For a while, everyone in the Wynn Family was immersed in a sea of excitement, except for Ysabel, who had jealousy and resentment written all over her face. She curled her lips and muttered under her breath, “Tsk! I think Young Master Nicholas is just fooling with her! How could the son of the Fox Family possibly marry a b*tch like her for real?!”

Kingsley tapped his fingers softly on the arm of the couch.

He said impassively, “That’s the only thing your’re right about. Nicholas would never be tied down by marriage.”

Then, he narrowed his eyes slightly.

Just what on earth is Nicholas up to? Could he have proposed to Mia because he’s coming after me? Ysabel rolled her eyes, though.

“Reene would have married a perfect husband as well! It’s all your fault, you little b*stard! I’m gonna kill you sooner or later!” Elijah said timidly as he looked on, “Okay, that’s enough. Just keep your voice down. Now that Clarence’s family has got another deep-pocketed son-in-law, you’d better not set yourself against them anymore!”

“Oh, what a miserable life I’m living! My husband is a good-for-nothing, and my daughter won’t listen to me either!” Ysabel lamented while slapping her thigh.

Then, she continued, “Also, there’s a son of a b*tch who’s keeping me from getting a rich son-in-law! Oh...”

Just when she was making a scene, Mia recovered from her excitement and walked up to them.

Holding her chin up in triumph, she said smugly, “Aunt Ysabel, it’s useless no matter how much you cry now. I’ll be the daughter-in-law of the Fox Family very soon! Reese, the lowly servant, will be trampled under my foot forever!”

Ysabel’s face turned livid at Mia’s words, but she dared not make a retort. She didn’t have the nerve to make a scene in front of Nicholas, who was standing right next to Mia.

Mia then looked at Reese with her hands on her hips.

“Reese, aren’t you a bad*ss? Aren’t you some female entrepreneur? Haha! Challenge me again and see how I’m gonna squash your ugly face underfoot!”

Reese replied icily, “Congratulations to you on finding happiness, but you’d better keep your eyes open and not let someone fool you”

“Me being fooled? Ha!” Mia replied with a sneer.

“I think you’re just envious of me for becoming the daughter-in-law of the Fox Family while you could only let this little b*stard live off you, you old spinster!” At this moment, Clarence hurriedly stepped forward and yelled at Reese, no vel.e.book “Reese, now that we’re in-laws with the Prime Corporation, you’d better hurry and give the Clark Corporation back to us! Otherwise, you’ll not only have your reputation destroyed! You’ll be setting yourself against the whole Roseland Chamber of Commerce as well!”

“Why should I give the Clark Corporation back to you? It was you who willingly signed the paper and transferred your ownership of it to me!”

Reese suddenly rose to her feet.

She said, “Let’s go, Kingsley. Seems like we’re gonna walk out of here without a deal today!”

She felt attached to Elijah and Ysabel because she wanted to make up for her regret of missing her parents.

However, she had no feelings left for Clarence and others.

Since they weren't treating her as part of the family, why did she have to suck up to them? Much to her surprise, however, Kingsley took her hand and made her sit back down on the couch.

"Reene, there's no hurry to leave. The drama isn't over yet."

Reene knitted her fine eyebrows.

"Kingsley, what are you trying to do? Now that the Fox Family has stepped in, it seems that this can no longer be solved through negotiations."

Kingsley curled his lips into a smile.

"Don't worry, Reene. Everything's under my control," he said before looking up at Nicholas.

"Now that you've proposed to Mia, are you two gonna have an engagement party in the next few days?" Nicholas looked baffled.

"Y-Yeah.

I'm gonna have it arranged right away so that Mia and I can hold our engagement party the day after tomorrow!"

Delighted by his words, Clarence immediately suggested, "Young Master Nicholas, I think the Emerald Hotel would be a nice place to hold your engagement party! It's one of the top three hotels in Cleapolis, so an engagement party there is definitely going to be a splendid affair!"

"Emerald Hotel, huh..."

Nicholas hesitated for a moment.

Then, he gritted his teeth, saying, "Okay! We'll hold our engagement party there!"

Wheat! His words sent the whole living room of the Wynn Manor into an uproar.

Everyone exclaimed in shock, "Oh, my God! The Emerald Hotel! Did we hear that right? They say even the cheapest banquet there costs 15,000 per table!"

“Gasp...He’s actually willing to splurge so much on the engagement party! Well, the Fox Family really deserves its reputation as the leader of the Roseland Chamber of Commerce!”

“This is simply awesome and terrific! At last, the Wynn Family’s gonna see the light at the end of the tunnel!”

Kingsley tinkered with his phone while saying impassively, “Young Master Nicholas could be even more awesome, actually”

At this moment, however, everyone was still deep in shock, and no one took his words seriously.

Trembling all over with excitement, Clarence said, “I’ll send messages to those second-class families right away! They kicked our family when we were down; I have to show everyone that our family’s gonna rise up again!”

Mia’s face was red with excitement, too.

Snuggling to Nicholas’ chest with happiness written all over her face, she said, “Honey, you’re so nice to me! I’m so happy!”

Nicholas couldn’t help feeling worried, though.

Clarence looked so euphoric as if he were going to invite everyone he knew to the engagement party.

How much would he have to pay for the engagement party if it were to be priced at 15,000 per table...

On second thoughts, however, if Helen died, his aunt Megan and the Larsons would definitely get a large share of the Fox Family property.

Compared to that, the money spent on the engagement party would be peanuts! At the thought of this, his face brightened up a lot.

Wrapping his arm around Mia’s shoulders, he said cockily, “This amount of money isn’t much!”

His words made Mia dizzy with happiness, as though she had foreseen the day when she would become a footballer's wife! She walked up to Reese and provocatively kicked her calf with her toes, saying arrogantly, no.vel.e.book

"You see this, Reese? This is what the Fox Family is capable of! It'd take them just a snap of the fingers to deal with your little Neveah Department Store! If you don't want to get into trouble, return the Clark Corporation to us and keep on being an obedient guard dog for the Wynn Family!"

Reese trembled all over with rage at the lady's insulting words.

"Let's go, Kingsley." Her good-looking face turned pale.

"I don't want to stay here even a second longer! Their faces really make me sick!"

Kingsley took a glance at his phone.

"Just a minute, Reese. Please put up with it a bit longer. They can get even bigger!"

"Get even bigger, huh..."

Suddenly, Reese recalled something Kingsley had once said to her.

"You know what? The bigger they are, the harder they fall.

Just let them have their moments for now, and they'll come a cropper when they fall at my feet!" She took a deep breath, asking, "Kingsley, you already have a way to teach them a lesson?"

A cold smirk formed on Kingsley's lips.

"Reese, don't you know what kind of a person I am? When did I ever do something useless?"

Reese replied, "Alright, I believe you!"

After the previous incidents, she was now very confident in Kingsley's capabilities.

Even though she had no idea how he had done it, he was always able to cleverly get her out of trouble with little effort! Just then, Nicholas' phone rang all of a sudden.

"Hello?" he merely said, only to fall silent for half a minute, standing motionless as if he had been rooted to the spot! Mia asked puzzledly beside him, "Honey, what's the matter? Did something happen?"

"Uh...I..."

Nicholas put the phone on speaker as if he had fallen into a trance.

Only a man's voice was sounding through the phone.

"Hello, Young Master Nicholas, are you still there? I'm James Turner, the general manager of Ramada Hotel. The banquet hall on the 60th floor has been reserved for your engagement party. If the party will have more than 100 guests, we can offer you a ten-percent discount on the reservation fee. Hello? Hello? Young Master Nicholas?"

At this very moment, Nicholas was stunned, and so was everyone else present.

Ramada Hotel was the number one hotel and a landmark of Cleapolis. It was 66 stories high, but only prominent figures and upper-class members of society were qualified to enter the 60th floor and above.

The reservation fee alone would cost 30,000 per person, not to mention the banquet there, which would cost at least 150,000 per table!

An engagement party held on the 60th floor of the Ramada Hotel would cost an unimaginable amount of money!

James was still asking nonstop on the other end of the line, "Hello? Young Master Nicholas? Could you still hear me?"

Gulp! Nicholas gave an audible gulp. “Well... Mr. Turner, I just decided to hold my engagement party a moment ago, but I didn’t make a reservation at the Ramada Hotel for that—”

“Well, let me explain it to you, Young Master Nicholas,” James replied. He explained unhurriedly, stressing each word, “Our hotel regularly selects a lucky patron among those who have dined here and offers them a huge discount. As it happens, President Fox, your father, just got selected. I just spoke to him over the phone, and he mentioned that you’d probably be holding your engagement party in the near future. That’s why our hotel has decided to offer a banquet for your engagement party. The reservation fee can’t be waived, but we’ll offer you the highest discount.”

James’ explanation sounded reasonable, but in reality, the selection of lucky patrons was just a story made up by him. He only made the phone call because Kingsley had sent him a couple of text messages just now, ordering him to find a way to set a trap for Matt to make a reservation at Ramada Hotel for the engagement party.

Having witnessed with his own eyes how Kingsley had turned Hugo into a vegetable with just one kick, James knew full well that Kingsley was a bigwig who couldn’t be messed with. Therefore, after receiving the text messages, he immediately called Matt up without delay. After getting Matt to talk about Nicholas’ engagement party in just a few words, he lured the man with the shocking bait of a free-of-charge banquet!

Given Ramada Hotel’s reputation, Matt didn’t even suspect that James was actually laying a trap for him. After all, it was now common knowledge that Ramada Hotel had been acquired by the Coliree Group. He didn’t think a mammoth corporation like the Coliree Group would have nothing better to do than to use such a petty trick against him. As a result, he accepted the offer without thinking, making a reservation for Nicholas’ engagement party at Ramada Hotel.

After closing the deal with Matt, James then called Nicholas and informed him of this.

Nicholas’ Adam’s apple bobbed up and down for a while as he listened to James’ explanation. “Y-You mean it was my dad who made the reservation for the banquet? Not only that, but the banquet’s free of charge, and there’s a ten percent discount on the reservation fee?!” At this very moment, he only felt like he was dreaming. Could such a good thing really fall into his lap?!

However, James replied in all seriousness, “That’s right. If you have more than 200 guests for the party, we’ll give you a 20-percent discount. If you have more than 300 guests, then the discount will be 30 percent. Our banquet hall can hold a total of 1,000 people, but we can only offer you a 50-percent discount at most.” He offered such a high discount because Kingsley had just sent him a text message telling him to lower the price as much as possible lest the Fox Family be deterred at once!

Given Ramada Hotel’s reputation, Matt didn’t even suspect that James was actually laying a trap for him. After all, it was now common knowledge that Ramada Hotel had been acquired by the Coliree Group. He didn’t think a mammoth corporation like the Coliree Group would have nothing better to do than to use such a petty trick against him. As a result, he accepted the offer without thinking, making a reservation for Nicholas’ engagement party at Ramada Hotel.

“A 50-percent discount at most?!” Nicholas flushed with excitement. He had been worrying just now that Clarence might invite too many guests to the engagement party, but now, it seemed that the more guests were coming to the party, the more money he could save! At the thought of this, he promptly replied,

“Okay, okay! That’s settled, Mr. Turner. I’ll be holding my engagement party at Ramada Hotel the day after tomorrow!”

He was still in a dreamy state after hanging up the phone. Rubbing his cheeks as hard as he could, he asked the Wynns in a quavering voice, “D-Did you guys hear that?”

Clarence and others nodded in stupefaction. “W-We did...” Second-class families like them might never get qualified to enter the 60th floor of Ramada Hotel in their lifetime. At this moment, hearing that his daughter could actually have her engagement party held there, Clarence was totally stunned

After a long time, the Wynns finally came to their senses one after another. Then, they marveled, “Oh, my gosh! How terrific of the Foxes to actually have a banquet hall reserved at the Ramada Hotel for the engagement party! Not even Ethan Windsor is capable of that, no?!”

“Little did I think I’d actually have the opportunity to set foot on the 60th floor of Ramada Hotel in my lifetime! We’re so lucky!”

“Miss Mia is really something! Every boyfriend of hers is worse than the last!”

Clarence burst into tears while putting his arms around a stiffened Nicholas, saying, “Nicholas! What a great son-in-law you are! You really saved our family!”

Nicholas was startled for a moment. The next instant, he immediately bragged, “This is nothing. After Mia and I get married, I’ll propel the Wynns into the ranks of the top-class families!”

“T-Top-class families?!” Clarence trembled all over with great excitement. “Okay, okay! Nicholas, we’ll let you call the shots in the Wynn Family from now on! We’re all counting on you!”

Upon hearing this, Nicholas slowly curled his lips into a triumphant smile. He decided that he would use the 150 million to blackmail Kingsley into curing Helen as soon as possible right after his engagement party!

The smile only flickered across his face for an instant, but it didn’t escape Kingsley’s attention. Raising his eyebrows, he thought to himself, Seems like Nicholas proposed to Mia in order to become the one calling the shots in the Wynn Family... At the thought of this, he instantly figured out Matt and Nicholas’ strategy. “Haha! They wanna use Reese’s relationship with the Wynns to put the screws on me? They really have everything taken into account, huh?” Seeing the lively atmosphere before him, he turned to Reese and said, “Reese, you seeing this? They’re over the moon now.”

Reese seemed to have an inkling of what he was up to. “Kingsley, was it you who had that Mr. Turner—”

She was halfway through her speech when Kingsley hushed her by placing a finger before his lips. “Shh! Reese, just wait until the day after tomorrow to watch the end of the drama.”

Reese nodded despite the puzzled look in her eyes. She had previously seen with her own eyes how James had paid obeisance to Kingsley while dealing with Hugo at Ramada Hotel. Therefore, at this very moment, it wasn’t hard for her to figure out after connecting Kingsley’s words with the scene before her that all of this was masterminded by him. Even so, she couldn't figure out what in the world he was going to do after luring the Wynns to Ramada Hotel.

However, seeing how Kingsley seemed to have a plan up his sleeve, she decided not to question him any further. She believed that Kingsley would definitely be able to get everything arranged properly.

Just then, Mia turned to look at Reese haughtily. Just when she was about to continue showing off how powerful her boyfriend was, Kingsley stood up and said to Reese, "Let's go, Reese. They look so excited, so let's not spoil their mood."

"Alright, Kingsley. Let's go."

Mia froze for a moment at their words. Then, she mocked cockily, "What's the matter, Reese? You realize at last that you can never hold a candle to me and are going to hide because you're ashamed to show yourself anymore?"

Kingsley took Reese's hand and replied flatly, "Yeah, you're the greatest person in the world whom no one can hold a candle to, okay?"

"Haha... You know yourself pretty well, you brat!" Mia burst into a self-satisfied guffaw. "Don't forget to attend my engagement party at Ramada Hotel the day after tomorrow! Oh, by the way, bring the Clark Corporation's ownership transfer agreement with you while you're at it!"

Kingsley led Reese outside by the hand while replying with a sneer, "Sure! We'll attend the party even if you didn't remind us."

The Wynns chortled arrogantly as they looked at Kingsley and Reese from behind. In their mind's eye, the couple had been scared away by Nicholas' power and influence!

As they stepped out of the Wynn Manor, Reese asked somewhat worriedly, "Kingsley, are you going to sort them out at Ramada Hotel? Well, the Coliree Group's owner is your comrade-in-arms, but wouldn't it be sort of bad to do this?"

“Don’t worry, Reese. I know what I’m doing,” Kingsley reassured her with a smile. “Come on, let’s go. Should I drive you home first?” he said while helping her open the passenger side door of his car.

After getting into the car, Reese asked in puzzlement, “Kingsley, where else are you going? You’ve just come back from Diosna, so you shouldn’t be going around.”

“I’m going to check on my parents’ cemetery.” Kingsley started the car. “I haven’t been there to take a look since coming back from Diosna.”

A tender expression appeared on Reese’s face. “I’ll go with you, then. I have yet to pay them my respects.”

“There’s no hurry. The cemetery isn’t finished yet,” Kingsley replied while driving the car. “It won’t be too late for you to pay your respects to them after I’m done getting rid of those who have to be taken care of.”

A hint of worry flickered across Reese’s face when she heard this. She opened her mouth and wanted to say something, only to bite back the words in the end. Kingsley had always appeared casual and cheerful since his return, but she had noticed long ago that he had been doing things she didn’t know about. Even his identity seemed more complicated than it appeared to be! She replied with a sigh, “Kingsley, no matter what you’re gonna do, just keep in mind that I always have your back. I’m just the chairman of a small company for now, but as long as you need it, I’ll do my best to help you—even if it means I’ll have to put my life on the line!”

Kingsley was moved deep down by her words. She’s right! I have to avenge the murder of my parents besides facing those cunning and vicious Sweoyan spies, but I have seven sisters at my back who are willing to put their lives on the line for me! In an instant, he felt reinvigorated. Taking a deep breath to compose himself, he replied with a grin, “Reese, what else can I be doing? I’m just eating and drinking around like a loafer. And besides, although you’re still the chairman of a small department store right now, I believe it won’t take long for you to become the number one female entrepreneur on the list of richest Qustians!”

Reese burst into a chuckle. “You’ve always been such a smooth talker since you were little!” she said before pointing at the crossroads ahead. “Just turn left over there. I’m going straight back to my office in order to work hard to become the number one female entrepreneur!”

After driving Reese to the Neveah Department Store, he went straight to the Nicholson Family Cemetery.

It had been some time since the previous explosion. At this moment, the cemetery had taken shape once again thanks to Leroy’s hard work around the clock.

Upon entering the cemetery, Kingsley noticed that the safety helmets worn by the workers on the construction site no longer bore the logo of Codrington Construction. Instead, the logos on their helmets belonged to another construction company.

“Mr. Nicholson!” Leroy hurriedly trotted up to Kingsley as soon as he saw his car. “You’re here, Mr. Nicholson.”

Seeing the man’s suntanned face, Kingsley said with a smile, “You’ve worked hard these days.”

“No, not at all!” Leroy replied with an innocent smile. “Seeing the cemetery being rebuilt bit by bit makes me full of energy!”

“Even so, don’t overwork yourself. Go back and visit Mr. Johnson more often when you have time.” Kingsley patted him on the shoulder. “By the way, I’ve noticed that these workers aren’t the ones from Codrington Construction anymore?”

Leroy scratched his head. “After the previous explosion, I thought Codrington Construction was kind of unreliable even if they had nothing to do with the incident.”

Leroy looked at Kingsley cautiously and said, “That’s why... I collaborated with a different construction company instead. However, you haven’t been in Cleapolis recently, so I was thinking of waiting for you to come back before I tell you...”

Kingsley gave him a satisfactory nod. "Good job. I was already planning to do that in the first place."

After he heard from Mason that Jonah was one of the culprits behind Xavier's murder, he planned to cancel the contract with Codrington Construction. However, he'd been tied up with various other matters recently, so he had to put this issue off. He hadn't expected Leroy to settle this in his stead, though.

At the sight of Kingsley not getting mad, Leroy felt at ease. With a cheeky smile, he said, "It's great that you didn't blame me for deciding on my own, Mr. Nicholson."

"I put you in charge of the Nicholson Family Cemetery's construction, so this is within your rights. You didn't decide on your own." Kingsley said, "Just do what you want in the future. I trust you!"

After hearing the word 'trust' emerging from Kingsley's lips, Leroy instantly teared up. "Mr. Nicholson, I won't let you down! I swear, I'll build the cemetery as if it were my father's!"

His words rendered Kingsley speechless for a moment before he finally said, "All right. I know you're loyal, but if Mr. Johnson hears that, he'd definitely give you a beating."

"Hehe..." Leroy scratched his head sheepishly before his expression turned serious. "Um.... Mr. Nicholson, have you caught the culprit who bombed this place?"

At his words, Kingsley retracted his smile as well. "I've already sent someone to look into it. Don't worry, there will be no other accidents here!"

He then patted Leroy on the shoulder again. "All right, I'm leaving. Call me if anything comes up."

"Yes, Mr. Nicholson!"

Under Leroy's watchful gaze, Kingsley slowly backed his car out of the Nicholson Family Cemetery. At first, he had planned to look around Thinking Cup Coffee, but he decided to give Lancer a call after hearing Leroy's words.

After obtaining the phone numbers of the two Sweoyan explosive sellers from Tyler and telling Lancer to wait until the commotion of the Jovovich Family's capture died down before getting into contact with the Sweoyans, he estimated that—after so many days—Lancer had probably begun to make his move.

At that thought, he stopped his car by the side of the road and dialed Lancer's number. "Hey, Lancer. How's the investigation on the two explosive sellers going?"

Lancer replied, "Ares, I've already contacted them with the phone number that was given and told them that I want to purchase a large number of explosives, but they were extremely cautious and said that we have to discuss it in person before they could decide if they would go through with the deal."

Kingsley narrowed his eyes. "I'm guessing that these two are part of the Earthworm spy group who are secretly selling explosives to make more money, so they'd inevitably be more cautious than other firearms dealers."

"Boss, if that's the case, I'll invite them out and send our men to capture them so that we can interrogate them!"

Hearing that, Kingsley said in a low voice, "To put it simply, Earthworm is a bait association. I'm guessing that they don't know much inside information, just like Karl and the others. Hence, instead of capturing them for interrogation, we might as well keep them around and use them as bait to reel the big fish in!"

Lancer asked, "Boss, are you saying that I should do business with them normally, then use them to capture their leader, Stork?"

"Yes, that's exactly what I meant." Kingsley nodded. "If Earthworm goes down completely, Stork will only go further into hiding! It'd be better for us to lure that cunning Stork out with their bait instead!"

Lancer immediately understood and replied, "I understand, Boss. I'll contact Mr. Field immediately and invite him for a talk!"
