

S.P.E.C.T.O.R 138

Chapter 138: My orders are given*

“I know what he did was a criminal act, but the rumour spreading states that he only targeted people involved in drug trafficking. Also, let's not forget that the man in question saved Diva Lorelie, and the crown prince even sent him a personal invite after the whole pirate incident. Do we really want to make an enemy of such a person?” The other officer, who had been quiet this whole time, asked.

“The crown prince only sent that letter before he knew what sort of murderer this individual is. Do you really think he would have sent it if he knew what this person was truly like? Also, the bastard had the audacity to refuse the invite, and yet now reports say he is heading for Terran Five anyway. As for Diva Lorelie, that isn't even worth mentioning since our own Imperial Down would have saved her regardless. I say we send in a strike force to capture his ship so that our scientists can reverse engineer it.” The officer who reported on Spector retorted.

“You can't know for certain that they could have saved her, the report says that they were still several hours away. Also, what happens when the imperial family learns of this, and your assumption regarding the crown prince was wrong?”

“What does it matter if we already have the ship in our hands? The emperor understands that the advancement in our military is more important than one man.”

“You also forget that the man in question is a streamer. What if he streams the whole thing?”

“All the better, Malgath Morthil Mirawenys is already claiming that we fail in protecting our own space. With this, we can prove his claims wrong and that no one is allowed to commit mass murder within our space.”

“What about Becky Starlover? Rumour has it that she is a fan of the streamer?”

“You mean the niece of Empress Victoria and a member of the Ororis Family? What of her, she's an Ororis, and we all know how sex mad the women of that family are, chances are she just wants to ride the streamer's cock before she moves onto her next target. If she really kicks off, we can just let her fuck him until she's satisfied; that should shut that little slut up.”

“It does not do well to call a relative of the Empress a slut.” The admiral at the head of the table suddenly said, making the other two turn quiet.

“My apologies, sir.” The first officer said.

“Speaking of Empress Victoria, she has passed down orders stating that the ship is to be allowed to travel to the home world.”

“Regardless of her orders, someone else has countermanded them. The admiral stated before looking at the first and saying, “Your plan has merit, and I see no issue with implementing it. Since we know the ship is already headed for Terrana Five, we shall have the Dawn Rise intercept and capture it.”

“The Dawn Rise? Is it really necessary to send a cruiser to capture a lone medium-class ship?”

“The ship in question was able to disable a large class ship using a seismic charge. It is best to act on the side of caution in this matter.”

“As you wish, admiral.”

“I still think this is a bad idea.”

“My orders are given.”

Knock Knock.

“Enter,” Victoria said as she and Tessa looked towards the door as it opened to reveal Pevaphio.

“Senator Pevaphio, to what do I owe the pleasure? I thought you were planning to leave after you collected Tephe?” Victoria asked with interest as she and Tessa stood up to welcome the guest.

“I was informed that you wanted to share another drink with me, Empress Victoria?” Pevaphio replied with confusion.

“While I’m always happy to share a drink with you, Senate Pevaphio, I don’t remember mentioning such to anyone.”

“That brat.” Pevaphio cursed as she realised she had been tricked by her daughter.

“I take it someone played a prank on you?” Victoria asked with a smile before she made an inviting gesture and said, “Since you're already here, join us. I see no harm in having another drink since we have the opportunity.”

“Since you insist,” Pevaphio replied as her jovial mood returned.

“Tessa dear, do please pour us all a drink, wont you?”

“Of course, mother,” Tessa replied as she went over towards where the drinks were kept to make them.

“Why don’t you take a seat, Senator Pevaphio and tell me what happened?” Victoria said, invitingly.

“Very well, it’s like this,” Pevaphio said as she sat down and began to explain her conversation with Tephe.

Victoria cuckolded after hearing the explanation before saying, “It seems we both have daughters that cause us trouble, though for different reasons.”

“Indeed, though it makes me wonder if what she said about this streamer being a Universal Senator's personal bodyguard is also a lie,” Pevaphio stated.

“I’m afraid I can’t give you an answer on this since I don’t know too much about him; however, my daughter is a secret watcher of his streams, though she has never revealed herself in them, maybe she can enlighten us.” Victoria replied before turning to Tessa and asking, “Well, dear, can you enlighten us on this topic?”

Tessa returned with the drinks, which she handed out before taking her seat again as she spoke, “The streamer himself is a mystery; he claims to be from outside the known universe. However, much of the tech he uses is somewhat familiar, such as the universal force staff.

It is an ongoing discussion in the chat between Lord Malacoss, Diva Rowena, and another individual I’m unfamiliar with about whether the streamer’s universal force staff is real or one of those fakes that were around in the past.

Originally, the chat believed it was indeed a fake since only a very small number of individuals ever have the honour of becoming a Universal Senator’s personal bodyguard. However, just last stream, he used his universal force staff to administer shock punishment on a gang leader.”

“Shock punishment?” Victoria asked with a look of surprise, one that Pevaphio mirrored.

“Indeed, as you both are aware, the universal force staff is the only weapon known to be capable of administering shock punishment, and it normally requires a special tool to administer it.”

“Fascinating, maybe what your daughter claimed is true,” Victoria stated.

“It would certainly clear up one mystery regarding the streamer if it is true,” Tessa stated.

“I must say this individual has piqued my curiosity after what Princess Tessa just told us. I do hope you don’t mind if my daughter and I remain here for a while longer?” Pevaphio asked.

“Of course not, Senator Pevaphio, you’re both more than welcome to stay,” Victoria replied generously.

“I thank you, Empress Victoria. I am rather keen to see what this young man is capable of.

“As am I.”

The three women continued to discuss random topics for a while as they enjoyed their drinks.

“Fuck yes, baby, let me ride you hard.” Stacey cried out as she rode Adam and bounced up and down on his cock, causing it to impale her deeply each time.

Other than eating, playing the occasional game and sleeping while snuggled up together, Adam and Stacey had spent the last week and a half having sex with each other. Even when they took showers, they did it together, which led to them having sex in the shower more than once.

Right now, they were on Adam’s bed, which Stacey had started to sleep in instead of her own, having another round of sex after waking up several minutes ago.

Stacey was getting addicted to Adam’s cock and took every chance she could to play with it or stick it in her mouth or pussy, while Adam couldn’t get enough of using Stacey’s body however he wished.

So far, the only thing she had refused to do was try anal, but Adam knew he was slowly wearing her down, and it wouldn’t be long before she agreed; however, for everything else, she was more than happy to experiment, especially with the many different positions that Adam knew of.

“FFFUUUUUUUCCCCCKKKKKK” Stacey screamed as she arched her back and climaxed while Adam emptied his cum deep inside her soaking wet pussy.

After the intense morning session, they collapsed on the bed arm in arm and kissed for a while before they just lay there enjoying each other’s company.

“You know we won’t be able to have as much sex once Diva Lorelie comes aboard,” Stacey said.

“Not unless we invite her to join us.” Adam joked, earning a playful punch from Stacey before he added, “I really should go live soon, though, in order to discuss this bodyguard job.”

“Would you like that?” Stacey asked with slight reluctance.

“Like what?” Adam asked,

“If she joined us.”

“I was only playing, I wasn’t being serious.”

They were quiet for a while before Stacey climbed on top of Adam and looked into his eyes while asking, “Be honest, would you like it if she joined us?”

“What brought this topic up?”

“Just answer the question.”

“Well, I won't deny that the thought is appealing. I've always wanted to try a threesome.”