Chapter 197: A new G.O.A.T

“Kind of,” Stacey replied before continuing, “My friend Su and I once had group sex with a random guy we met in a club back on Trillion. Well, I say group sex, but it was really just me and Su having fun while he watched. We were drunk at the time and more into each other than the guy we picked up randomly in a club.”

“Are you expecting the three of us to do stuff like that in the future?” Lorelie asked.

“Yes, Adam has already told me previously that he would very much like to have group sex with both of us.”

“He has?”

“Don’t act so surprised, it’s a dream of many men, though only a few are lucky enough to experience it, and fewer still with two beauties like us.”

“I’m not sure I’m good enough to join you,” Lorelie said hesitantly.

“That’s because you lack experience. Look, why don’t you join us the next time we have sex? You don’t have to join in until you’re ready, but you can at least observe and learn how to please him from watching me.”

“And you would be ok with that?”

“Why not? It’s something we are both going to have to get used to if we want to please our man. Sure, we can do it separately, but sometimes he is going to want us together.”

“You’re really knowledgeable about this.”

“It comes from growing up in the slums and living in a brothel, but we are getting off topic,” Stacey said before returning to the main topic.

“So with an equal harem, we each get to share Adam equally between us, and we don’t want any silly power plays to try and become Adam’s favourite.”

“Adam strikes me as the type of guy who wouldn’t like us competing over him in that way,” Lorelie said thoughtfully.

“I agree.” Stacey replied before thinking of something and added with a smirk, “Though I suspect he would be open to friendly competition during sex, such as who can make him cum faster.”

“No fair, you know I don’t stand a chance.” Lorelie pouted.

“Then you'd better study and learn quickly if you ever want to beat me,” Stacey said smugly before asking, “So do we agree on an equal harem where we share Adam equally between us?”

“Yes,” Lorelie replied.

Honestly, Lorelie was kind of surprised; she had expected Stacey to claim her rightful position as Adam’s first lover in this talk, and Lorelie wouldn't have argued against that fact since she knew it was true.

Up until now, she had felt bad about stealing Adam away from Stacey. Now, however, she felt relieved that Stacey didn't seem to hate her for stealing him and that she was even willing to share Adam with her.

“Ok, it’s decided, now for point two,” Stacey said before adding, “Adam’s future lovers and how we will decide who to allow.”

“Ah, welcome back. I trust your talk went well?” Rowena asked as Stacey and Lorelie entered the room before walking over and sitting down on either side of Adam.

“Indeed, it was very agreeable,” Stacey said as she leaned against Adam.

“Indeed,” Lorelie said in agreement as she mirrored Stacey's actions.

“So I can see,” Rowena said in mild surprise.

She had a rough idea of what Stacey wanted to talk about with Lorelie; however, it appeared to have gone far better than she had anticipated.

“Might I ask what you discussed?” Rowena asked with interest.

“No,” Stacey replied simply.

“I’m afraid only those who are members of Adam’s harem are privy to that knowledge,” Lorelie replied.

“My harem?” Adam asked in surprise.

“Harem?” Rowena, Tephe and Erkath asked before Erkath added, “What’s a harem?”

“It’s an Earth name for a group relationship between a man with many lovers or vice versa,” Rowena explained.

“Actually, the name for a woman with many lovers is called a ‘reverse harem’,” Adam corrected.

“Is it? Well, I suppose it does make differentiating the two easier.” Rowena replied thoughtfully before adding, “Well, even though I’m disappointed my granddaughter and friend are keeping secrets from me, I won’t pry.”

“So are we going to watch The MMM Show since Lorelie is supposed to be doing a call-in, as I believe it just started?” Erkath asked.

“Sure,” Lorelie said as she used her uniband to command the console in the room to project a large holographic screen against the wall that showed The MMM Show, and Malgath sitting behind his desk as normal while doing the show introduction.

“Also, tonight we have two very special call-ins for you all,” Malgath said before continuing, “First is the former Water Sphere professional Muriel, who is joining us to discuss the Oceana Abes' strange substitution in today's match that is currently trending on Xer-verse.”

“Yay, Muriel,” Lorelie said happily as she heard Malgath's announcement.

“However, the second one I am keeping as a surprise for you all,” Malgath said, causing the audience to boo him.

“Haha, don't worry, I promise none of you will be disappointed,” Malgath said before introducing his first guest.

“So he plans to keep your call-in a secret,” Stacey said with a chuckle.

“Why do that? Surely advertising it would bring in more viewers to the program?” Adam asked.

“I'm guessing they're trying to replicate the time when I made the first call-in,” Lorelie explained, “They likely want to compare the reaction numbers of the ordinance between knowing who the call-in is from and keeping it as a surprise, this is still new ground after all and they want to work out what gets them the biggest reaction for future call-ins.”

“Makes sense,” Adam replied before an evil smile appeared on his face.

“What's with that evil smirk?” Stacey asked, causing the others to turn and look at Adam.

“I just thought of a way we could have some fun with Malgath,” Adam replied.

“Oh, do tell,” Rowena asked with curious eyes.

“My next guest is the first of our two call-ins, “Malgath said to the cameras and studio audience.

“She is only officially recognised as the most successful Water Sphere player of all time, being a member of the Reef Galaxies' official winning team in the Universal Water Sphere Cup five times, along with leading them as captain three of those times.

Allow me to introduce the one Xer-verse has suddenly started calling Water Sphere’s Goat, Mureil.”

As Malgath announced Muriel’s name, a large holographic screen appeared in the studio, showcasing a beautiful woman as the crowd cheered and clapped.

The woman had long, blue, wavy hair that had a coral of some sort as a hairpin, along with bright blue eyes.

“I’m going to have to have a serious word with Diva Lorelie’s boyfriend next time I talk with him,” Muriel said with a smirk that meant someone was in trouble.

“Diva Lorelie’s boyfriend?” Malgath asked in surprise upon hearing Muriel’s comment, “Why would you need to ‘have a word with him’?”

“Because he’s the one who started this whole goat thing,” Muriel replied.

“Oh, please explain. I was going to ask you what it was all about.”

“Apparently, goat or G O A T is a term used on his home world, it’s an acronym that means Greatest Of All Time.”

“Oh, really, well, he is not wrong in this matter, you are indeed the GOAT of Water Sphere Muriel,” Malgath replied with a chuckle.

“Don’t you start, I mean, what even is a goat anyway?” Muriel asked.

“Why do you think it’s anything? An acronym doesn’t have to mean anything.”

“I know, but I have this feeling that it does mean something, and when I learn what it means, I’m not going to like it,” Muriel replied with a frown, making Malgath and the audience laugh.

“Well, if it’s any consolation, GOAT can be given to the greatest being in anything, not just Water Sphere, so you won’t be alone,” Malgath said reassuringly.

“Good point,” Muriel said while looking at Malgath with a smirk.

“Why are you looking at me like that?” Malgath asked.

“Oh, no reason really, I was just wondering if your wife, Princess Ulesse Solar, knew that she had married the GOAT of all talk shows?” Mureil replied, making Malgath's face blanch and the audience roar with laughter.

“HAHAHAHA.” Rowena and Erkath roared with laughter while everyone else chuckled when they heard Muriel’s comment about Malgath being the GOAT of all talk shows.

“Oh my god, that was so good, I’m going to remember that and ask Ulesse how her GOAT husband is doing next time I talk with her,” Rowena said as she held a stitch in her side she had got from laughing too much.

“What even is a goat anyway? Is it a real thing?” Tephe asked Adam curiously.

“It is,” Adam replied hesitantly.

“So what is it?” Tephe asked.

“I think it’s about time for Lorelie to call in,” Adam said to quickly change the subject.

“It’s suspicious that you’re avoiding the topic,” Tephe said with narrowed eyes.

“Not at all, I’m just trying to give Lorelie a chance to have a face-to-face with her favourite Water Sphere player,” Adam replied while not entirely meeting anyone’s eyes.
