

S.P.E.C.T.O.R 237

Chapter 237: Prime's announcement

"Yummy, I really do love your taste," Lorelie said happily with a smile as she licked her lips after removing Adam's cock from her mouth with a pop.

Adam looked down at her with a smile while gently stroking her cheek, causing her to lean her head into his hand with a loving smile.

As he gently stroked her cheek, he noticed his uniband making him slap his own face with his other hand at his own stupidity, causing Lorelie to look at him with confusion.

He removed his hand from his cheek before using his uniband to send her a message.

[[Message Sent: Before, when I made that strange action, I was miming a camera. I was asking where the arena's cameras are controlled from.]]

Lorelie saw him writing a message to someone and felt a bit hurt that he was messaging someone instead of giving her all his attention until she suddenly received a message on her own uniband.

Looking down and seeing who the message was from, she smiled happily before looking at Adam apologetically, after which she opened the message and read it.

Lorelie giggled after reading the message before saying, "I was wondering what you were doing, so you were miming a camera. Let me show you where the security cameras are operated from."

She took his hand and led him out of the dressing room and down the hall towards another room that had a large holographic screen showing different video feeds of the arena.

Adam headed towards the main desk, where the console projecting the large holographic screen was, before holding his uniband over it.

[[Hacking console]]

[[Access granted]]

[[Full access granted to all of royal palace arena including the security feed.]]

Adam nodded before giving Lorelie the thumbs up to show he was done.

Lorelie smiled at this before happily dragging him off to show him more of the arena.

“HAHAHAHAHA, I’m back primesters, and today I have a very special announcement for all of you,” Prime said gleefully just after going live.

[... Oh yeah, it’s Prime baby]

[... He’s back.]

[... Where you been, Prime? We missed you.]

[... Kyaaa, Prime, you're so handsome, please let me have your babies.]

[... Don’t you mean his kittens kek.]

[... Spill it, Prime, what's the special announcement?]

[... Yeah, you’ve been hinting at something for days now but refused to tell us.]

“Hahaha, curious are you? Well, you should be because it’s BIG news.”

[... Just tell us already.]

[... Come on, Prime, stop teasing us.... Well, unless you wanna tease me in bed.]

[... Desperate much?]

“Ok, ok, I’ve kept you all waiting long enough,” Prime said with a large grin before he continued. “As you all know, Dova Lorelie is just about to play the first concert of her new genre tour on her home planet of Oceana Seven.”

[... Damn, I’m so jealous of those Merinmians right now.]

[... I know, right? I have always been a huge Diva Lorelie fan and even more so with her new genre of music.]

[... Let the Prime talk.]

“Well, I am happy to announce that after the first leg of her tour in the Oasis Galaxy, I can happily reveal to you all here today that Diva Lorelie’s next stop on her tour will be the Felidae Galaxy.”

[... Wait, seriously?]

[... That’s huge news, the press and music experts have been discussing where she would go after the Oasis Galaxy.]

[... Right, how did the Felidae Galaxy manage to get her to come visit them next?]

[... A better question is, why is Prime revealing this news? Normally, it would be revealed on a major newscast.]

[... What are you talking about? Of course, my boy Prime knows. He's in with all the big celebrities and Divas.]

[... In his dreams, maybe. Kek]

[Moderator has banned ...]

“Yes, yes, I'm sure you're all dying to know how we managed this, and I'm happy to report it's all down to Matriarch Maiya.”

[... The Leonian Matriarch and leader of the Catonian council?]

“She personally sent a request to the Merinmian royal family asking them to speak with Dova Lorelie on her behalf, and I'm happy to say it worked.

Though I'm sure you're all still wondering why it is that I'm revealing this, well, I'm proud to announce that during her time in the great Felidae Galaxy, I, prime, have been given the honour of being her chaperone.”

[... Whoa, this is huge.]

[... Congrats, Prime.]

[... You're the man, Prime.]

[... Oh shit, is the virgin Diva about to no longer be a virgin soon?]

[... Shut the fuck up with that title, it's so nasty.]

[... That Diva better not touch my Prime.]

[... Please, it's more likely Prime that will attempt to do the touching, Diva Lorelie is leagues above him in both fame and talent.]

[Moderator has banned ...]

[... How the fuck did Prime pull this off?]

“You’ve gotta be kidding me,” Rowena said as she watched the holocast news article regarding Prime chaperoning Lorelie when she travelled to the Felidae Galaxy for her tour. It was blowing up on all the holocast news channels and Xer-verse.

“I take it you didn’t know about this?” Lady Erkath asked.

“Lorelie mentioned that the Leonian Matriarch had contacted the royal family about her going to the Felidae Galaxy as the next destination on her tour.

She never said anything about Prime chaperoning her, though.”

“Why the hell would they choose that idiot to chaperone Lorelie?” Stacey asked.

“Well, his fame and popularity have skyrocketed since Tephe made her first public appearance on his stream,” Rowena stated.

“I did?” Tephe asked in surprise.

“It was when you first arrived in orbit of Terrana Five, Prime was apparently streaming one of the Catonian ships, and you were shown on his stream.

Since then, he has been labelled as a streamer who can get famous people to appear on his stream, though that's probably mostly his fans doing."

"People don't seriously believe that, do they?" Stacey asked.

"People can be foolish; there are many idiots out there who believe anything a celebrity, politician or influencer says is gospel."

"Yeah, but surely that's not enough to get him the position of Lorelie's chaperone, I mean, the few celebrities he has been able to get on his stream since then have all been low-tier," Erkath stated.

"Rumour has it he is related to an influential Leonian whom even matriarch Maiya has to listen to," Rowena stated.

"So he's using his connections to get a gig he shouldn't even be considered for," Stacey said with a frown.

"It's how things work, dear, not only in the entertainment industry but in politics and business as well," Rowena replied before looking at Erkath and asking, "Right?"

"She's right, much of the time a sort after position or job is not taken by the one most suited to it, but the one who has the most connections and influence," Erkath replied before asking. "So do you think she will still accept?"

"No idea, as far as I know, Lorelie has never had any issue with Prime, so there is a possibility she might," Rowena answered.

"I hope not," Stacey said with a sigh.

"You hope not what?" Lorelie asked as she walked into the living room, smiling while holding Adam's hand.

“Welcome back. Did you manage to scope the place out enough?” Rowena asked Adam.

“Yeah, I managed to check it out, and Spector has access to all the surveillance cameras to help keep an eye on things,” Adam replied before he sat down next to Stacey and gave her a quick kiss.

“That’s good,” Rowena replied with a smile.

“So what were you talking about?” Lorelie asked again as she sat down next to Adam.

“The news just broke about you performing in the Felidae Galaxy next, and you're never going to guess who broke it,” Rowena answered.

“Malgath?” Lorelie guessed.

“Nope, Prime.”

“Huh!” Lorelie replied in surprise.

“That guy?” Adam asked, also in surprise.

“You've heard of Prime?” Rowena asked curiously.

“He was the first alien I interacted with outside my stream chat,” Adam replied, surprising the others.

“I thought Gract and I were the first ones you interacted with?” Lorelie asked.

“In person, you were, however, while I was still travelling in subspace from Earth to the known universe, I started playing Space Rogue to learn how to pilot a ship and perform EVA combat. During that time, I PVPed against a player called Prime,” Adam replied before explaining the whole encounter he had with Prime in the past.

“Hahaha, I can’t believe you beat him by throwing an asteroid at him,” Stacey laughed.

“Yeah, Prime was really well known for using smurf accounts in Space Rogue. I heard about someone finding a way to use the Gravity-controlled tractor emitter in PVP, so that was you?” Tephe asked in excitement.

“You play Space Rogue?” Adam asked in surprise.

“Oh yeah, I’m actually in the top fifty in the universal rankings,” Tephe declared proudly before adding, “or I was before I ran away. I had to find something to occupy my time while being cooped up at home all the time.”