

“Yes, but they obviously don’t get the same feeling that we men do since the strap-on is fake and not actually part of their body. The women generally do it if they want to satisfy a partner or dominate their partner.”

“Do you have one of those to show us?” Aphrodite asked.

“Not on me, I was planning to introduce different sex toys from Earth to our relationship slowly, which is why I only brought the handcuffs and vibrator,” Adam replied before adding as an afterthought, “I also wasn’t expecting the diva of sex to turn up and join us.”

“This could be a huge business opportunity,” Aphrodite said with excitement.

“Why? You said yourself earlier that sex toys don’t have a market in the universe since people prefer just to watch your sex movies,” Adam replied.

“True, and the VR porn business that I will be cooperating with Jessie on will quickly replace sex movies, but there is one area where VR porn won’t help much, but these sex toys can,” Aphrodite replied.

“Where?” Adam asked.

“Brothels and prostitution,” Stacey replied.

“Exactly,” Aphrodite said as she smiled at Stacey before she asked, “Have you ever heard of Universal Pleasure?”

“Come again?” Adam replied.

“I would love to, but you haven’t even let me cum once yet,” Aphrodite replied with a smirk.

“Oh gods,” Lorelie said while rolling her eyes, while Stacey chuckled.

“Haha, ok, I walked right into that one,” Adam conceded.

“Damn right you did,” Aphrodite said before sticking her tongue out, after which she continued, “Universal Pleasure is unofficially the biggest prostitution and brothel network in the universe. It is owned and operated by a mysterious individual known only as the King of Universal Pleasure.”

“Unofficially?” Adam asked.

“Well, prostitution has always been a grey subject when it comes to the Universal Senate and the ruler of each galaxy. In public, and if asked about it, they will claim that it should be abolished; however, really, they are happy to let it keep running because not only does it bring in plenty of credits for their galaxies, but most leaders secretly use brothel services themselves.”

“Fucking hypocrites,” Adam cursed.

“Right,” Aphrodite replied in agreement.

“Wait,” Adam suddenly said as if realising something, before he turned to Stacey and asked, “Does that mean that Becky’s is part of this Universal Pleasure?”

“Fuck no,” Stacey replied before continuing, “Though they probably have some dealings with Universal Pleasure, Becky’s is just a brothel run by one of the sector gangs on Trillion, they’re too small to be brought out by Universal Pleasure.”

“That may change once the VR porn business takes off,” Adam replied.

“That must be what Jessie meant when she said ‘she knows things’ about me,” Aphrodite said thoughtfully.

“What do you mean?” Stacey asked.

“Well, if she has connections with Universal Pleasure, then she probably knows that I am also secretly affiliated with them,” Aphrodite explained.

“You use their services?” Adam asked.

“I have done it on occasion, but it’s mainly a business deal where if a client is willing to pay enough and sign a contract not to reveal the information, then they can hire me. Of course, my services are only available to Universal Pleasures’ highest members, and I have the right to refuse a client if I wish.”

“You’re going to have to pack that in straight away,” Lorelie stated with a frown.

“I’m aware, and I’m honestly not that bothered since I haven’t given them my services for quite a while, since I don’t really need the credits, and the sex was boring,” Aphrodite replied.

“Yet you don’t know who the king is?” Stacey asked.

“Nope, I have never met him. I’m guessing only a head full of Universal Pleasure executives that he trusts implicitly know his identity,” Aphrodite replied with what was an attempted shrug, but since she was still bound to the chair, it didn’t work too well.

“So you think Universal Pleasure will be interested in Earth’s sex toys?” Adama asked.

“Fuck yes,” Aphrodite replied before explaining. “As I said before, the sex there is boring, and I’m not the only one who thinks that; many of the other employees of Universal Pleasure have complained to management about how the sex is boring. The only reason they stick around is that the pay is good.

Management has tried to introduce new ways of spicing things up to make it more enjoyable for both the clients and the employees; unfortunately, so far, all attempts have failed, and that includes the limited market of sex toys available in the universe.

They fail to meet the satisfactory requirements, and no one is willing to waste credits in researching better toys when they’re only used by a niche market. However....”

“However, since Earth has already done the research and created sex toys that can satisfy, I can sell them to Universal Pleasure,” Adam finished as he caught on to Aphrodite’s idea.

“Exactly, I find a smart man very handsome,” Aphrodite said before suggestively licking her lips at Adam.

“Thanks,” Adam replied flatly before continuing, “Since I will be the only one able to supply this product, I can also get a good long-term deal out of this.

Though I would have to think of a way to prevent Universal Pleasure from copying them and just manufacturing their own, since I doubt the exclusivity law applies to them.”

“Ah, that’s where you’re wrong,” Aphrodite said with a smile before continuing, “The exclusivity law applies to any product that can be sold for a profit legally. While brothels and prostitution are a grey area, no one has ever classified sex toys as anything but legal. All you have to do is register the manufacturer under your company’s name on the Universal Sunspace Network, and record a legal sale of said product to someone, and bingo, you have an exclusivity right on that specific type of sex toy.”

“Ok, so who do I sell one to?” Adam asked.

“Just sell it to me,” Aphrodite said with a wink before adding in a sultry tone, “Though I request the right to test the product before I buy it.”

“That’s what you were aiming at all along, wasn’t it, you sneaky pink-haired slut. You wanted to try out the Pink Vinnaka yourself?” Stacey asked in an accusing tone.

“Partially. I can’t deny that, after seeing the effect it had on you, I also want to try it. But isn’t it also a good business proposal that I am giving to my future lover and boyfriend? After all, I want my boyfriend to be the most successful man in the universe,” Aphrodite replied as she looked at Adam with eyes filled with lust that seemed to glow an even brighter pink as she did.

“Alright, calm down, you’re still a ways off from proving yourself,” Adam replied, causing Aphrodite’s eyes to stop glowing as she began to sulk slightly before hearing Adam’s next words.

“I do, however, think you deserve a reward for your business idea, and there is nothing wrong with a customer trying out the product first.”

“So I get to try it out? Right now?” Aphrodite asked with hope.

“Yes, though we will be in control of it,” Adam said as he passed the Pink Vinnaka to Lorelie and the control to Stacey before saying, “Lorelie, would you be so kind, I still can’t touch her as per her punishment.”

“Would you be touching her, though?” Lorelie asked with a smile before getting up and approaching Aphrodite.

“Technically, no; however, I also don’t want her getting any pleasure directly from me until she deserves it.”

“Hehe, you're such a stickler for the rules,” Lorelie said with a giggle.

“Only the rules I set for myself,” Adam replied.

“I didn’t say I didn’t like that about you. This way, I get to watch the diva of sex’s lust for you grow to a boiling point.”