

S.P.E.C.T.O.R 508

Chapter 508: Lorelie fangirling.... again

[... Diva Lorelie's next destination on her New Genre Tour is the Reef Galaxy? When was this decided? As far as I know, she has not made any announcement regarding this?]

[... Where have you been, dude? It's a rumour that's been going around for a few hours now. Apparently, she announced in the chat of her boyfriend's stream.]

[... The fact that Diva Lorelie has a boyfriend still hurts.]

[... Get over it, bro, and get yourself a girl.]

[... So she is travelling straight from the Felidae Galaxy in Sector 17 to the Reef Galaxy in Sector 15? That means she's skipping loads of galaxies.]

[... It was always impossible that she would visit every galaxy in the universe as part of her tour. Even if she toured for the rest of her life, she would fail to do so. Though there is nothing to say that she will not go back to one of the galaxies she initially skipped in the future.]

[... Does anyone know why she chose the Reef Galaxy next?]

[... Probably because Muriel lives there. She's a Muriel fan after all.]

[... The rumour on the subnet is that she wants to take her boyfriend to the beach.]

[... Seriously? She's doing this for her boyfriend? Lucky bastard.]

[... I know, right.]

[... The fact that Lord Aergagon has decided to host a celebration in her honour is huge news. That just shows how much he respects Diva Lorelie.]

[... I guess the Sealord is also her fan.]

[... Bro, almost everyone in the universe is her fan now. Of course, Lord Aergagon is.]

“KYYYYYAAAAAAA,” Lorelie screamed happily as she read the post before bouncing up and down on the sofa happily while saying, “I can’t believe Mureil invited us to stay at her home.”

“Isn’t it a bigger deal that Sealord Aergagon want’s to hold a celebration in your honour?” Aphrodite asked in confusion.

“Not for her, she’s a diehard Muriel fan after all,” Stacey remarked with a smile.

“Why do some people address this Aergagon as Sealord Aergagon and others as just Lord Aergagon?” Adam asked curiously.

“His official title is Sealord Aergagon, but most of the time people just address him as Lord Aergagon,” Rowena explained.

“A celebration? That sounds great, I want to try the food they offer as I did back on Terrana Five,” Tephe stated happily.

“Perhaps you should comment and let Muriel know that you’re happy to accept her offer,” Adam suggested with a smile as he watched Lorelie, who continued to bounce around with joy and excitement.

“Oh, you're right,” Lorelie stated before accessing her uniband, where she composed and posted a comment.

[OfficialLorelie: Thank you for the kind offer, Muriel. My friends and I would be more than happy to accept your invitation and stay at your residence when we travel to the Reef Galaxy. Please also pass on my thanks to Sealord Aergagon for his generous offer and tell him that I look forward to the celebration and even promise to perform a brand new song at it.]

[... There's your confirmation, first commentator.]

[... Holy fuck, she's promised a brand new song?]

[... This is going to be front-page news.]

[... I need to go buy a ticket on a transport to Aqua Primus.]

[... Oh, good call.]

[... Do it now because they're about to skyrocket.]

[OfficialMuriel: I am super happy that you accepted my invite and I can't wait for you all to come visit. Feel free to contact me when you have some free time so that we can hash out a rough idea of when you will come, as I will need to inform Lord Aergagon.]

"She's happy we're going, she's happy we're going, I get to stay at Muriel's home," Lorelie cheered happily like a little fangirl.

"So yeah, I want to come with you to the Reef Galaxy and enjoy the celebration with you all as my vacation," Revi stated as Lorelie continued to fangirl over Muriel's invitation.

"Is that okay? I mean, we're going to a water planet. Aren't fire and water like opposites that repel or negate each other?" Adam asked curiously.

"Are you trying to say that I don't bathe?" Revi asked with a frown, making the other women chuckle.

"I meant no offence. I just figured that since you're a creature of fire, you clean yourself by burning away the dirt and grime on you," Adam tried to explain.

“Creature of fire? I’m not an element. I have flesh and blood, Adam.” Revi pouted as the other women tried to control their laughter as they continued to watch him dig his own grave.

“Well, yeah, I know that, I saw your beauty first-hand, remember,” Adam replied nonchalantly, making Revi blush and causing a small smile to appear on her face as he continued, “I was just concerned that visiting a water planet might be dangerous for you.”

“You were concerned for me?” Revi asked with sparkling eyes as the other women sighed in disappointment that Adam had somehow managed to turn the situation around with a single sentence.

“Of course, why wouldn’t I be concerned about my friend?” Adam asked as if that was obvious before adding, “So you’re okay with seawater and everything?”

“Of course,” Revi said happily before realising something and saying, “Though I don’t know how to swim, so I will have to stay near the shore.”

Everyone in the hotel room stared at the holographic screen in shock and amazement at hearing Revi’s words.

“What?” Revi asked in confusion.

“You don’t know how to swim?” Stacey asked as if clarifying what she had just heard.

“It’s not something I’m proud about ok,” Revi pouted while turning her head away.

“You’re over two-thousand years old and have lived for twelve lifetimes, how have you never learnt to swim?” Aphrodite asked.

“I have a race to rule over, I don’t exactly have time for too many leisure activities, especially swimming on a planet that has no water like Fenix Nest and I can’t exactly learn to swim as a human before I take human-form can I?” Revi retorted defensively.

“So we teach you to swim, chances are the celebration will take place both on land and below the ocean?” Lorelie suggested with a shrug.

“We need to make sure that the celebration isn’t as soon as we arrive so that you have enough time to teach Revi to swim,” Adam suggested.

“You want me to do it?” Lorelie asked in surprise before smirking and saying, “I’m not sure that will work, babe.”

“Why not?” Adam asked as the other women looked at him with amusement.

“Because I also never learnt to swim as a human,” Lorelie replied as her eyes sparkled with amusement.

“Oh, right, you revert to your true form in water,” Adam replied as he finally remembered.

“How did you remember my random comment about Muriel but not that?” Lorelie asked while shaking her head.

“Especially since it was her first time and when you claimed her virginity, she was in her true form,” Stacey added with a sigh, causing Rowena and Aphrodite to burst into laughter while Tephe and Maya tilted their heads in confusion.

“Well, regardless, I believe you would have more success in teaching Revi to swim than I would,” Lorelie stated with a chuckle as Adam looked at her apologetically.

“I’m not sure it’s appropriate for a man to teach an empress how to swim,” Adam stated.

“It is if I say it is,” Revi replied.

“And if rumours start to spread because of it?” Adam asked doubtfully.

“Oh please,” Revi replied while rolling her eyes before she explained, “I may be recognised as the oldest virgin in the universe, but that doesn’t stop people making up stories about me dating and sleeping with someone as soon as news about me meeting them spreads.”

“There will always be trolls on the subnet with too much free time,” Rowena stated with a sigh, as she had also experienced what Revi was describing.

“I don’t know, some of the stuff they make up about me is entertaining,” Aphrodite said with a smile.

“That’s probably because it’s actually true, seeing as it’s you,” Stacey commented while rolling her eyes.

“So anyway, water won’t be a problem and neither will you teaching me to swim,” Revi said as she was now determined to get Adam to teach her to swim since Lorelie had broached the idea.

“Do you even have an outfit for the ocean or anything?” Adam asked.

“I can take care of that. I remember seeing a few bikini designs that would look great on Revi,” Rowena stated with a playful smile.

“Seems like you’re outvoted, babe,” Lorelie said with a giggle.

“Fine,” Adam replied with a sigh.

“Good,” Revi said with a beautiful smile on her face.

“I suppose I should let Muriel know about the extra guest she will be receiving when I call her,” Lorelie stated.

“Pass on my thanks, will you please?” Revi requested, to which Lorelie nodded.

"I hate to burst your bubble, but I see a major flaw in all of this," Aphrodite suddenly stated as if she had just thought of something.