

My Ex-Wife's Shocking Secrets By Bernice Delia Chapter 71

Chapter 71 - 80

Sebastian's fingers tightened slowly. Sebastian couldn't stand it anymore, but after all, his surname was Faraday, and he was just an outsider. So, he couldn't intervene now. Besides, Sebastian also wanted to see how Madeline handled this matter. "Three, two, one..." Madeline recited silently in her heart and then put the beef slice that had just finished cooking into her bowl. This kind of food would not be as delicious when it was stale. Everyone was talking about Madeline, so they were not in the mood to eat, while Madeline stood out of it and enjoyed the food. This restaurant was not bad. Madeline silently liked it. Madeline was thinking about opting for a membership here in the future. While waiting for everyone to finish their words, Madeline put down her fork gracefully and raised her eyes. "Are you all done? So many things to say. No wonder the Jennings family was not as good as in the past. It's all because there are more gossipers like you guys." Sebastian's eyebrows twitched. He had never known that his ex-wife's mouth was so impressive. However... Hearing this, Sebastian felt very happy. "Maddie, the rules of our Jennings family are not to slander your family." William frowned and became more dissatisfied with his niece, Madeline, who had always been so obedient in his mind. "Uncle William, it seems that this group of distant relatives of the Jennings family slandered me first." Madeline curled her lips in amusement. Since Madeline returned to the Jennings family, it was an eye-opener for her. Those who used to compliment Madeline in the past now wanted to get rid of her. Sure enough, this was humanity. "Uncle William, look at her attitude. That's what she did to us. She beat and scolded me in public and tried to kill me." Rosalie continued to complain, adding fuel to the fire. William nodded, showing that he had understood what Rosalie was saying. William said, "Let's not talk about the slander first. You can explain to everybody what happened with Rosalie." "As you can see." Madeline spread her hands and looked indifferent. "Did you really want to kill Rosalie?" William looked at Madeline disappointedly. Sebastian also raised his head in astonishment. He knew that although the medicine came from Madeline, she would never do anything terrible. "But why didn't Madeline explain?" Sebastian wondered. "I didn't mean to kill her. She was asking for it." Madeline raised her eyes and looked at Rosalie coldly. Madeline thought, "So capable! You even learned to snitch on me? Too bad. It wouldn't work." "Maddie, although you are the daughter of Silas, I can't indulge you in this. Now, apologize to Rosalie immediately and go to the public prosecutor's office to apologize." William stood up excitedly with a justified f ace. Madeline was unmoved. These people just wanted to catch her weakness. Coincidentally, Madeline happened to be in a good mood to play with these people today. Chapter 71 “Okay, I can turn myself in, but I just drank some wine and feel a little faint. Can you ask the people at the public prosecutor’s office to pick me up?” Madeline took another sip of lemon and honey water and drank it as sobering tea. “Maddie, you are getting more unreasonable!” William was furious when he saw Madeline’s arrogant look. However, once William thought about how he could take Madeline to the public prosecutor’s office soon, at that time, all the shares of the Jennings family were going to be his, William could hardly resist his inner ecstasy. Madeline closed her eyes and said, “You can take care of it.” William shot a look at the people next to him, and those people soon went to the public prosecutor’s office to bring someone over. After all, William’s image still needed to be maintained. After a second, William changed his expression and said, “Maddie, don’t take it to heart. I’m doing it for your good. When the time comes. I’ll go to the public prosecutor’s office and make it clear to them. I’ll pick you up myself.” Madeline sneered. If she were to believe William’s words, she might as well believe Sebastian’s. Although Sebastian was heartless, he had never lied to Madeline. Sebastian tilted his head. “Madeline, I can help you. “No,” Madeline directly refused coldly without even opening her eyes. Madeline didn’t want to get herself involved with Sebastian anymore. “Eat your food,” Madeline said indifferently. The corner of Sebastian’s lips curled up into a smile. Sebastian thought that Madeline had begun to care about him. However, unexpectedly, Madeline added, “This is what I had promised you earlier, to have dinner. with you.” Sebastian was speechless. Sebastian regretted it. He had said that he would eat with Madeline alone. Rosalie had been staring at Sebastian. She wished she could sit beside Sebastian, but there was no seat beside him. Rosalie wanted to talk to Sebastian several times, but Sebastian was not interested in talking with Rosalie. Rosalie had to give up. Anyway, there was still time left in the future. Her task today was to destroy Madeline. They all had ulterior motives until the people from the public prosecutor’s office arrived. Rosalie’s and William’s eyes lit up at the same time. They finally came. “Ms. Madeline Jennings, we’ve met again.” This time, Benjamin, the team leader of the public prosecutor’s office, came in person. The acquaintances met, and Madeline smiled. “I don’t want to meet you at all.” Benjamin smiled slightly. “We got a call saying you want to turn yourself in.” William pushed away the chair and walked toward Benjamin. “Hello, I’m Maddie’s uncle. My niece made a mistake. I hope you can handle it lightly,” William said - kindly. Chapter 71 Benjamin nodded. “Ms. Madeline Jennings, would you like to talk about it here or return to the prosecutor’s office with us?” “Here,” Madeline spoke without hesitation. Madeline’s eyes were full of laziness and annoyance from being awoken. Obviously, Madeline was about to fall asleep just n ow. Sebastian was closest to her, so he obviously noticed that Madeline was in a bad mood at that moment. Benjamin glanced at Sebastian silently. "Forget it. Madeline is protected by Mr. Faraday. Anyway, it doesn't matter where she does it," Benjamin thought. Benjamin glanced at his subordinates and asked them to clean up the table. Benjamin wanted to use the dinner table as a negotiating table. "Go ahead." Benjamin placed the paper and pencils on the table and crossed his hands. Compared with Benjamin's seriousness, Madeline was a little casual. "I bought Floino's medicine," Madeline said slowly. "Hmm?" Benjamin frowned. Benjamin subconsciously glanced at Sebastian, who was sitting upright. "I forced Mr. Faraday to give false testimony. You don't have to hold him accountable." Madeline raised her eyebrows and took responsibility directly for herself. "No, I did it willingly," Sebastian said coldly. Madeline glanced at Sebastian in surprise and thought, "Is he sick? If someone was to make a false testimony, they must be sent to the small dark room." However... Madeline probably forgot about Sebastian's tricks. "Cough!" Benjamin quickly coughed and pulled the situation back to normal. "Ms. Madeline Jennings, did you purposely buy this drug to hurt Ms. Rosalie Jennings?" Everyone held their breath and waited for Madeline's answer, Rosalie smiled and waited for Madeline to get caught in the trap. Besides, it was on record now. Once Madeline admitted it, she would definitely go to jail.

Chapter 72 "I deny what Mr. Xaver said," Madeline announced. William's face darkened instantly as soon as these words came out. "Maddie, what's going on? Didn't you just say you wanted to confess? This matter is about the reputation of the Jennings family, and I won't allow you to mess around." William spoke from the perspective of a representative of the Jennings family. Everyone nodded in agreement and looked at Madeline, who they angrily assumed was the culprit. Madeline raised her eyes slightly, indifference deep in her eyes. Her emotion subconsciously calmed even Sebastian. "Uncle William, you'd better sit down and rest for a while. Let Mr. Xaver preside over it. Don't take away his job." Madeline sounded innocent and looked harmless. The subordinates who came with Benjamin almost couldn't hold back their laughs. They thought inwardly. "This Ms. Jennings is a bit interesting..." Moreover, they also saw the chemistry between Benjamin and Madeline. They wanted them to be a couple. Madeline was charming and elegant, and Benjamin was a very serious team leader. They thought the two of them were very suitable to be together. But Benjamin didn't know what his subordinates were thinking. He knocked on the table and said, "Quiet. Mr. Jennings, please don't interrupt. Let me finish my conversation with Ms. Madeline Jennings first." William choked momentarily and d stood at the side with a sullen expression. Madeline smiled. She thought, "This Mr. Xaver is okay. He's not the type to flatter people." "Ms. Madeline Jennings, you said that you didn't harm Ms. Rosalie Jennings, so how do you explain the Floino drug?" Benjamin fixed his eyes on Madeline in front of him. He was trying to find a flaw, but he found nothing. Madeline narrowed her eyes. She stopped her laziness. Madeline's red lips opened slightly, and she replied coldly. "Someone stole my stuff. The drug in my lab was stolen, and the surveillance cameras were destroyed, but fortunately..." She threw her phone tightened on the table. "Although they were destroyed, I still accidentally captured these." Madeline her jaw and continued, "All the evidence is on this phone." Rosalie panicked for a moment when she heard that Madeline had evidence. However, she was sure she had destroyed all the evidence and eventually calmed down again. She thought that Madeline must be deliberately bluffing to scare her. Benjamin quickly took the phone, turned on the video, and watched it. There was no sound. Everyone wanted to go over and look; but they couldn't see clearly. "Mr. Xaver, what's the content of the video?" Rosalie asked with a guilty conscience. Benjamin returned the phone with a complicated face. His attitude was obviously much more respectful than before. "Ms. Madeline Jennings, thank you for the evidence you provided. May I ask where this video came from when all your surveillance cameras were destroyed?" "Drones," Madeline answered calmly. Everyone was surprised again by her answer. There were only a few drones in Yarwood. They wondered, "Could it be Madeline was also one of the owners?" Benjamin nodded. Compared with the lab he just saw, it was apparent that the drone was pale in comparison. Chapter 72 "Mr. Xaver, I hope the video just now wouldn't be leaked. It's just for your internal evidence collection. Madeline reminded him casually. However, Benjamin knew if the video were leaked, it would probably cause a sensation in Yarwood. "Ms. Rosalie Jennings, please come with us." Benjamin got up and looked at Rosalie coldly. "Why are you arresting me? The person you should arrest is Madeline. She wanted to kill me." Rosalie looked at Madeline viciously. "The Floino belonged to Madeline was indeed stolen. We need to obtain evidence again, Benjamin explained indifferently. Rosalie was the one who stole the drug. The Floino was placed outside the lab, and Rosalie took it and hurried away. She had no chance to enter or touch the innermost traps of the lab. Madeline smiled. "I didn't want to investigate, but since Rosalie didn't give up, the truth should be revealed." Madeline spread her hands helplessly. Sebastian, who had watched the whole incident process from the side, narrowed his eyes. He was afraid that the matter was not that simple. "What's exactly going on? Can Mr. Xaver explain it to me?" William looked at Benjamin, confused. He thought, "Wasn't Madeline going to confess? Why is he taking Rosalie away instead?" "Mr. Jennings, if you want to know the situation, you can come with us." Benjamin waved to hi s subordinates and said. "Take her away." "Wait a minute!" William hurriedly stopped them. He frowned and looked at Madeline. "Maddie, explain to Mr. Xavier quickly. Don't bother the rest of the Jennings family." Madeline smiled briefly. Then she frowned and said, "Uncle William, thank you for helping me contact the people from the public prosecutor's office. This is called paying someone back in the same coin. Uncle William, you should also learn it properly." "You!" It was not until then that William realized that Madeline had tricked and used him. "And thank you for your treats tonight. I will give your compliments to Grandpa." Madeline then turned around indifferently. Benjamin waved his hand and said, "Ms. Madeline Jennings, thank you for the evidence. We will deal with the false statement before properly." After finishing his words, Benjamin and his men left. Some of the Jennings family's distant relatives couldn't understand the situation. Madeline glanced at the crowd coldly. "If what happened today spreads out, the person who talked will be the enemy of the Jennings family. Everyone, please behave yourselves." Everyone looked at each other blankly. Even if they had tons of courage, they would not dare to spread rumors about the Jennings family. Madeline looked back at Sebastian and said, "Let's go." Sebastian was very obedient today. He silently followed behind Madeline. Madeline came out of the private room and didn't leave immediately. Instead, she went to the front desk to apply for a membership card. When they walked over, the receptionist almost dropped the mouse in her hand when she saw Sebastian. She thought, "Mr. Faraday. Is our boss coming for a secret visit?" When the receptionist was about to say something, Sebastian made eye contact to stop her. "I want to apply for a membership card. What are the rules?" Madeline asked. "Do you like this restaurant?" Sebastian revealed a cold smile. The receptionist was stunned. She felt it was unbelievable that she had the chance to see their boss smiling! She wanted to take a photo, but she didn't dare. "It tastes good. Maybe I will come again next time." Madeline was very picky about food. She didn't like to eat outside, so she learned to cook. Sebastian was lucky enough to have eaten meals cooked by Madeline for three years. "Okay," Sebastian said helplessly. "No need to apply. I... Before Sebastian finished speaking, a woman suddenly rushed out and ran directly into his arms. "Sebastian, I finally found you. I knew you couldn't bear to leave me. Now that I know I was wrong, can you forgive me?" The woman acted like a spoiled girl and rubbed against Sebastian.

Chapter 73 Sebastian's face turned cold immediately, and he pushed the woman away in his arms almost instantly. Madeline couldn't respond for a moment

. When she saw Cecilia, she stood up straight. "Cecilia, let go of me. Sebastian looked at Cecilia, who was clutching the corner of his suit, and his handsome face instantly became a mixture of expressions. Madeline watched the drama next to her. She could watch it for a whole day if there were popcorn for her. Cecilia was so shameless that she could still appear in front of them with a calm face, even after her affairs with an unknown amount of men broke out at the wedding. "Sebastian..." As soon as Cecilia spoke, her tears began to slip down her cheeks. "I have been looking for you for the past few weeks, and I want to explain what happened at the wedding to you. I was wronged, and those things were done maliciously. It was Madeline who always envied me, and she wanted to harm me." Cecilia clutched the corner of Sebastian's clothes tightly, crying her eyes out. The key was that no makeup was smudged by tears on that fair little face. Madeline secretly gave her a thumbs-up. She thought she must ask Cecilia what cosmetics she used if she had the chance. "Cecilia, none of your explanations make sense to me." Sebastian tightened his face, and his eyes were full of disgust. "Sebastian, don't be mad at me, okay? I apologize to you, and I promise this kind of thing won't happen again in the future," Cecilia pleaded humbly. Sebastian abruptly pulled her hands away. Then he said, "Cecilia, I did my utmost to send you back to the military court." Sebastian raised his cold eyes. He obviously didn't want to say anything else. Madeline mused, "This woman was really special to Sebastian. He would probably throw that directly to the dog if it were someone else. The first crush is still the best." person Madeline smiled and planned to leave after finishing the card application. After all, she couldn't get involved in this matter, and she didn't want to. However, Cecilia's anger rose instantly after she saw Madeline's smile. If it weren't for this woman, she would already be Mrs. Faraday. Cecilia bit her lower lip fiercely and put on a pitiful face. "Sebastian, you still have me in your heart, right? You even chose to eat at the place where we first met. Have you forgotten that? You also gave me shares, and you said I would be the female boss of this hotel in the future." These words fell into Madeline's ears, and she paused. Her hand that reached out to take the card suddenly froze. "So this hotel belonged to Sebastian? And Cecilia had shares in it?" she wondered. This was indeed the place where Sebastian and Cecilia met for the first time. Yonahı, his comrade-in-arms, had just passed away at that time. In order to comfort Cecilia, he gave her some shares. However, regarding the statement of letting her be the female boss... It had been too long, and he had no recollection of it. "Miss, this is the VIP membership card. You can activate it now." The receptionist smiled and guided Madeline. Madeline smiled coldly. "Sorry, cancel it. I suddenly found that the food in your restaurant is not Chapive 73 very delicious" Cecilia lowered her head and grinned. She just wanted to make Madeline beat a retreat in the face of difficulties The receptionist blinked, and thought, "Huh? What happened?" "I'll take back my shares. Cecilia, behave yourself." Sebastian said indifferently as he tightened his jaw slightly Madeline knew him very well. Sebastian had run out of patience now, but her patience was almost gone as well Madeline put the trench coat on her and said. "Mr. Faraday, please settle your business first. I'm leaving now. Since we had dinner today, try not to wait for me at the company entrance in the future" Cecilia's eyes widened instantly when she heard that You What are you talking about? How could Sebastian wait for you at the company entrance Madeline, do you have some delusional disorder?" Cecilia looked at Madeline contemptuously. She was still arrogant and wanted to take control over Madeline "Hah Madeline snorted and walked to Cecilia's side in high heels. Yes, I have a delusional disorder, and.... The next thing I'm imagining is to ruin your reputation Madeline's thin lips opened slightly, and she uttered the words coldly. Cecilia suddenly shuddered. Madeline's words that reached her ears made her feel a little chilly "You're crazy, Cecilia cursed subconsciously. Madeline tutted twice and strode toward the door. Sebastian panicked, got rid of Cecilia, and quickly followed. "Sebastian, don't go Cecilia didn't expect Sebastian to chase after Madeline, so she hurriedly trotted behind. "Ah!" Cecilia exclaimed and fell to the ground. Sebastian, it seems my foot was sprained." However, Sebastian didn't look back and chased after Madeline without hesitation. He wanted to explain Madeline weakly supported herself on the wall when she got outside. She drank a little too much just now, and the alcohol was too strong. Her state of intoxication was getting higher. She was already trying to support herself when she was in the lobby. "Madeline" When he saw the girl in the corner. Sebastian breathed a sigh of relief. He told her. "Cecilia was a surprise. I didn't expect her to come here? "No need to explain. It has nothing to do with me. Madeline breathed slightly and pressed her eyebrows to force herself to wake up. She thought. "It was a mistake to drink!" Madeline had begun to regret it. "I'll take you home first." Sebastian also noticed something was wrong with her and reached out to hold her. Madeline opened her eyes and took a step back, widening the distance between them. "No need. I'll take a taxi back." "You drank today. It's dangerous to take a taxi. I'll drive you home." Sebastian's tone was tough. It left no room for Madeline to refuse. Madeline's mind was unclear. When she saw the handsome face getting closer to her, she sneered. She was a face-judger that couldn't resist Sebastian's appearance. Chapter 73 Sebastian helped the woman get in the car. Madeline sat in the passenger seat. Her eyes narrowed, and her eyebrows frowned inadvertently. The car slowed down a little. Sebastian took off his coat and was about to put it on Madeline when she suddenly opened her eyes and asked, "Have we arrived?" "No." Sebastian pursed his lips and said. "You can continue to sleep for a while." "No need." Madeline sat up straight. Her state of intoxication was almost over. She thanked him, "Thank you for taking me home." "Madeline, you don't have to be so polite to me." Sebastian frowned and was slightly dissatisfied. They got along like strangers now, and it made him feel uncomfortable. When she was with other men, Madeline could talk and laugh cheerfully. Madeline smiled and didn't reply. She tilted her head out of the window. "The scene tonight was good," she exclaimed inwardly.

Chapter 74 The car slowly stopped at the entrance of the mansion. Madeline took 20 dollars from her bag and placed it on the passenger seat. After that, she opened the door and exited the car in one go. It was obvious that she treated Sebastian as a taxi driver. This action then completely infuriated Sebastian, who also got out of the car and asked, "Madeline, what exactly do you take me for?" Madeline licked her lips in confusion and answered, "A driver." Those two words made Sebastian's face turn pale with anger. "Is this woman still drunk and hasn't sobered up yet? How dare she humiliate me like this?" he thought. "Thanks. Now, please go back." Madeline waved her hand coolly, then adjusted her jacket before walking away without looking back. Madeline really treated Sebastian like a taxi driver. Sebastian leaned against the car and looked at Madeline's back with a deep gaze. Madeline climbed up the stairs while holding onto the handrail. When she drew the curtains, she saw Sebastian's car speeding away from the window. Madeline curled her lips and thought. "If it's not meant to be, there's no point in forcing it to happen. I won't waste any more time on the same man, even if he's really an outstanding person." Madeline leaned against the wall. Her body had no strength left, and her stomach was churning intensely. Blargh! She let out a retching sound and quickly jogged to the bathroom, where she vomited all of the food she had just eaten. Madeline sat on the ground, feeling weak. "I should have known better. I shouldn't have tried to prove myself just now," she said to herself. Madeline lowered her eyes and struggled to get up. After that, she washed her face with water. A simple action like that caused her to sweat profusely. "Who's there?" Despite feeling weak at that moment, she remained vigilant. Madeline took out the pocket knife from her pocket and clenched it in her hand. The sound of leather shoes rubbing against the floor gradually approached, Madeline leaned her entire body against the white wall but did not conceal the murderous intent in her eyes at all. With a click, the door of the bathroom opened. Madeline instantly moved to the door and pressed the pocket knife against the man's thigh. "Madeline, it's me," the man said helplessly. Madeline lifted her head and looked at the man. "Sebastian? Why did he come back? And... How did he get in?" she questi oned inwardly. "It's very dangerous to leave the door open when you're home alone," Sebastian commented in a low voice. Madeline felt like she was hallucinating. Chapter 74 It seemed like she had indeed for gotten to lock the door just now. "W-

Why did you come back?" Madeline asked as she turned her face away, not wanting Sebastian to see her in such a pathetic state Sebastian raised his hand and answered, "I went to buy medicine for you. I'm worried about you, for you're alone at home." "Why are you worried? I won't die," Madeline said calmly.

She was just drunk and did not have any serious illness. "Are you unable to walk? Let me carry you back to your room." Before Madeline could reply, Sebastian bent over and held her in his arms. "Put me down!" Madeline's beautiful brows furrowed slightly. With his long arms and legs, Sebastian carried her into the room in just two steps. Since it was pointless for her to struggle, Madeline simply gave up and stared at Sebastian's chin. She chuckled softly and said, "Mr. Faraday, don't you hate touching me? What's going on this time? Did something upset you?" Sebastian's arms visibly stiffened. "Put me down," Madeline said coldly. She did not want to be a substitute for Cecilia. Sebastian pursed his lips and bent down to put Madeline on the bed. "Don't degrade yourself. You clearly can't drink, so don't force yourself next time." Degrade? Madeline smiled. Ever since she fell in love with Sebastian, she had already given up on herself and the Jennings family. "You're overthinking it. Mr. Faraday. I didn't drink for you this time but for the Jennings family." Madeline answered. Even as she sat on the bed, Madeline felt weak. "I'll go prepare the medicine for you. It can nourish your stomach, Sebastian said as he turned around with the medicine in his hand. "There's no need for that. Madeline smiled weakly. "Mr. Faraday, you can leave now. It's inappropriate for you to stay here in the middle of the night. I won't be able to explain it too when they come back later." Madeline closed her eyes. It was evident that she was chasing Sebastian away. Sebastian went straight to the kitchen. It was his first time preparing the medicine, so it was chaos. Ultimately, he still turned on his phone and prepared the medicine by following a video. Madeline did not have the strength to pay attention to him. Thus, she lay on the bed and slept. immediately. When Sebastian brought the medicine in. Madeline had already fallen asleep. The dim light at the head of the bed shone on her calm and beautiful side profile. In fact, in the past three years, he had countless opportunities to spend time with Madeline like that. However, Sebastian chose to sleep in the office most of the time. Suddenly, Madeline turned over and muttered in a low voice, "Louis, don't disturb me when I'm sleeping." When Sebastian heard the name "Louis," his face instantly turned cold. Chapter 74 "Great. I really shouldn't have come, he thought. Sebastian put the cooked tonic in the casserole and left without looking back. As soon as Sebastian left, Madeline suddenly opened her eyes. She was pretendin g to be asleep just TOW. Madeline got up and opened the lid of the casserole. The tonic inside had sunk. Madeline could not help but sneer. It was difficult for Sebastian to make it, as he knew nothing about medicine. Madeline stared at the casserole, and her expression changed. <what<span="">exactly did Sebastian want to do? Did he really think of me as a substitute for Cecilia's she thought. It was already completely dark outside when Sebastian came out of the mansion. He had psychological issues and could not drive at night. Hence, Nolan was already waiting outside. "Mr. Faraday, w- what's going on? Why are your clothes-

" Before Nolan could say the word "torn," he was frightened by Sebastian's cold gaze and swallowed his words. Nolan gulped and asked himself, "How intense was the situation? How did Mrs. Faraday bully Mr. Faraday into such a state?" "Mr. Faraday, please get in the car. Nolan tidied his clothes and opened the door respectfully. Sebastian glanced sideways at the car and hummed in response. Sebastian got into the car coldly, and Nolan could feel the former's hostility. This shouldn't be happening. He shouldn't look like this after coming out of Mrs. Faraday's house," Nolan commented. inwardly. "What does it mean when a woman calls out another man's name while sleeping?" Sebastian asked with a frown. He eventually decided to ask the question. "Of course, it means she likes him. A woman only dreams of the man she loves when her feelings for him are the most sincere. So, naturally, she'll call out the name of the person she likes." Nolan answered. Nolan was very interested in this topic and was instantly intrigued. Little did he know, Sebastian's expression darkened even more while sitting in the passenger seat. "Like?" he thought. Sebastian clenched his fists, and the veins on his forehead bulged. "What a fickle-minded woman. We've only been divorced for a few days, and she has already fallen for another man?" he said to himself. Sebastian felt like something was stuck in his throat, and there was no way for him to vent his anger. "Mr. Faraday, did Mrs. Faraday call out your name?" Nolan tried to be clever when he spoke. "Shut up." Sebastian spat the two words coldly.</what<

Chapter 75 Madeline struggled to open her eyes. She had a hangover, and now she still had a headache. Madeline rubbed her stomach and felt it was empty. She had vomited all the things inside Last night. She tilted her head and saw the medicine next to her. It had already turned cold, so she didn't drink it Madeline got up from the bed and went to the toilet with the pot. Then, she poured the medicine away. Although Sebastian made it, she didn't appreciate it at all. In Sebastian's heart, she was just a substitute. Once he thought it through, he would let go of her. Madeline wiped her hands. As soon as she came down tairs, she heard the doorbell ring- "Who is it?" she asked. When she opened the door, she was almost scared to death by a bunch of bright red roses. "Am I receiving flowers early in the morning? Madeline was stunned for two seconds. "Maddie." A small head popped out from one side, and the person breathed a sigh of relief when she saw Madeline. Madeline crossed her arms around her chest and raised her eyebrows slightly. She asked. "Cassandra?" "Maddie, I'm here to apologize to you!" Cassandra said as she squeezed in pitifully. Madeline curled her lips. She stepped aside to let Cassandra in and said. "I would think that came to confess your love to me if you hadn't told me just now." It was rare for girls to send flowers to girls, especially roses that symbolized love. "I don't mind if you agree to be my girlfriend. Maddie," Cassandra said delicately. Madeline was speechless. "I'm not into you." Madeline said wickedly. Cassandra gulped. She was about to fall for Madeline. Madeline was so cool that Cassandra didn't want handsome guys anymore, Madeline was enough for her. "Cassandra, you came here early in the morning just to send flowers and apologize?" Madeline asked as she massaged the spot between her eyebrows helplessly. Her unreliable friend often did these unpredictable things, making her feel her headache had worsened. "No, no, no/The flowers are just part of it. I have something else." With that, Cassandra took out a stack of A4 paper from behind. "Maddie, this is my 10,000-word self-reflection. Please have a look," Cassandra said as she bowed and held her reflective essay solemnly. The title was [In-Depth Review of Me Making Maddie Angry by Betraying Her.] It did look comprehensive from the title. Madeline took a look at the pieces of paper. There were indeed about 10,000 words. Madeline twitched her lips. She asked, "Did you write this?" Cassandra raised her finger and swore, "I wrote it word by word. There is no exaggeration in it. Chapter 75 Please forgive me. Maddie. I've been crying these two days. I have no mood to sleep and eat too. I feel sad at the thought of you ignoring me." Cassandra said with a pitiful and sincere look. Madeline knew that Cassandra hated writing the most, and she must have reflected on herself to write 10,000 words "Silently girl Madeline snorted. Then, she said, "Okay, I forgive you, but remember not to betray me in the future Cassandra instantly changed her expression and jumped up. She said. "I promise! There will be no next time! Maddie, I love you so much." Cassandra hugged Madeline and kissed her. Madeline was a little disgusted. She said, "Let's have breakfast together." "I'll make it," Cassandra volunteered. Madeline raised her eyebrows. She wanted to rest, and since Cassandra wanted to cook, she let Cassandra have her way. Cassandra was also a cooking expert, and the dishes sh e made suited Madeline's appetite. "Maddie, let's take a picture," Cassandra said as she blinked and raised her phone happily. Before Madeline could react, Cassandra had already taken a photo. In the photo, Madeline was holding a sandwich and looked cold. It was just a photo, so she didn't take it seriously. Cassandra hurriedly hid it as if she had photographed a treasure. "Maddie, eat up. I'll drive you to work later." Madeline thought, "She's acting like a child." In the end, Cassandra really drove her to work. Cassandra drove a black, top luxury car. When Madeline got out of the car, several senior employees happened to see her. "Maddie, how about I pick you up tonight?" Madeline leaned against the car door and curled her lips teasingly. She asked, "Ms. Yale, are you not going out with your boyfriends?" Cassandra replied, "They are not as important as you. If you call me, I will fly over to you, Maddie." Cassandra had a flattering expression and looked like she wanted to lick Madeline. It took her a lot of effort to let Madeline forgive her. Sisterhood was the most important thing, and men were nothing compared to it. Madeline said, "Hahaha, no need. I have a lot of things to do in the company tonight. I'm afraid it will be late. I'll just take a taxi back." After saying that, Madeline closed the door. Her smiling expression turned cold in an instant. The senior employees who had just seen that scene couldn't help pursing their lips. "Ms. Jennings just got off the luxury car..." "Is Ms. Jennings a sugar baby for a rich kid?" "Hala, probably. Otherwise, how could she become a CEO at such a young age and be parachuted into the company? How could she have such good resources?" Chapter 75 "Just as I expected. Being good-looking has advantages. Senior employees like us who work hard couldn't earn as much money as a sugar baby in the end. "Exactly. Pretending to be rich and influential with her title of Ms. Jennings." "Stop it. Let's keep working hard. We don't have the same advantage as hers, so we can only accept our fate." The senior employees whispered and disdained Madeline. And Madeline, the protagonist of this matter, didn't know that the scene of her getting out of the luxury car had already spread within the company. It was exaggerated in the process.

Chapter 76 The photo of Madeline getting out of the car was shared among company employees, and it was secretly posted on the internet. Madeline quickly became a trending topic as a result of the photo being posted on the internet. A netizen with the username CCThe DumplingLover commented: [Damn, the CEO of the Jennings Group has a sugar daddy?] ComplexSociety: [What the heck. He even drove her directly to her office in the luxury car. Isn't their behavior enough to speak for itself?] ThoseWhoAre PureAreHuman: [Ms. Jennings almost certainly pulled some strings, and she is not a simple woman. I'm curious about her sugar daddy.] EasyToGet5 Kills: [I want to know what happens next. I'm desperate to find out who that person is.] The news that the CEO of the Jennings Group had a sugar daddy quickly became trending topic. When the door was kicked open, Madeline was looking down at the documents... Madeline clenched her teeth and turned to face Louis. "What exactly are you doing? Don't you realize how dangerous startling someone can be?" She wondered if she had recently spoiled Louis to the point where he had become too ignorant. "Madeline, I'm the one who should be asking what you're thinking." Louis' face was filled with rage. "Tell me, Madeline, which bastard sent you here this morning?" he inquired. Louis almost had a car accident on his way to work that day after seeing the trending topic. Madeline was perplexed, wondering. "What is he talking about? And who is this bastard he's talking about?" "Madeline, I know you've just divorced and are in a bad mood, but you can't retaliate against Sebastian in this way. Even if you do intend to retaliate, I believe I am the better candidate. Why do you want to go outside and look for some random man?" Louis sighed and kicked the chair next to him to express his rage. Madeline, he believed, had been defiled. The more he considered it, the worse he felt. He intended to beat the man up first thing in the morning, Madeline rolled her eyes and pushed the document aside. "Who told you that nonsense? What retaliation are you referring to when you say I found a man outside? Have you read too many novels? Or have you not yet awakened?" Hearing that, Louis angrily threw the tablet on the table. "You should read it for yourself. It's trending right now. Even a celebrity who cheated would not be as well-known as you." Amused, Madeline held up the tablet. "I'm not even a celebrity. Why are people making news about me?" she wondered. When Madeline finally saw the keywords, the smile on her face faded. Someone had posted that she was driven to work in a luxury car, that she had a sugar daddy, and that her private life had been exposed, including a photo of her going in and out of the bar. Madeline's eyes narrowed, and there was a hint of coldness in them. "Take a good look at yourself, Madeline. You have a lot of attention. But don't be concerned. I'm going to blacklist those people right now." Chapter 76 Despite his dislike for the owner of the luxury car, Louis still cared about Madeline. He would handle everything Madeline did. "There's no need for that," Madeline objected, attempting to halt him. "Please assist me in informing Wilson not to blacklist them, or else those people will believe I'm guilty." After hearing that, Louis became even more depressed. "But I don't want to see photos of you that bastard." with Madeline sneered, "You've misunderstood something. Cassandra drove me here this morning in her new car, which she had just purchas ed. I guess someone took advantage of the situation to slander me. "Cassandra?" Louis was surprised when he heard that name. For the entire time, he was envious of a woman. "Maddie, why didn't you tell me sooner?" Louis was enraged even more when he saw the beautiful woman in front of him. "I almost had a heart disease when I saw the trending topic earlier." Madeline raised her eyebrows and replied, "You didn't give me a chance to explain. Furthermore, do you believe I need to go outside myself to find a man?" When Louis heard that, he looked at her and realized she was telling the truth. After all, she was a woman who dared to dump Sebastian, implying that she didn't require another man to fill the void. "Even though I know everything now, the netizens are unaware of the truth. They all think you only have your current position because you have a sugar daddy." Louis gradually added fuel to the fire. Madeline smiled and said, "Life is so stressful, and everyone is happy to talk about it. Don't get too worked up." Louis looked at the pen in her hand, thinking, "Maddie is really a wolf in sheep's clothing. Others who did not know Madeline may not have recognized her personality, but he was certain that someone would suffer soon. "Maddie, if you need anything, just let me know. I will certainly do everything in my power to assist you." "All right, you're free to go now. Try to avoid those netizens. Otherwise, you will be the man who becomes the next trending topic." After saying that, Madeline curled her lips. Although Louis appeared to be carefree, he was a wise man who would protect her at any cost. With a dejected look, Louis said, "I'd rather be the one who is rumored to be your boyfriend. If that's the case, I'll unquestionably defend you." "I dare not even think about it." Madeline's thin lips curled into a sly grin. You are a member of the Coleman family, so if I defile you, those women who are attracted to you will drown me without a doubt. Louis was rendered speechless. "Maddie, please stop making fun of me." "Well, I guess I'd better get back to work. You are now free to leave for work. After saying that, Madeline lowered her head and went to work. Louis was relieved to learn that it had all been a misunderstanding. He had a family meeting coming up, so even if he wanted to accompany Madeline, he didn't have time. As soon as Louis left, Madeline raised her head and smiled coldly. Chapter 76 Then, she picked up the phone and said, "Jonas, check all the surveillance footage at the building's gate." She was convinced that it had been spread by company employees. It appeared that she needed to handle it properly, or else everyone would think she could only become a CEO because she had a sugar daddy. Inside Faraday Corporation, a woman sat entranced on the black couch, boringly holding a magazine. "Sebastian, your wife is about to be snatched away. How come you're so composed?" Susanna couldn't help but sit up and stare at the man in a suit across from her. Her nephew's thoughts became more complex as he grew older, and they were beyond her comprehension. After hearing that, Sebastian paused for a brief moment before e continuing to work with the pen in his hand. Susanna became enraged and stood up. "I know you're handsome and talented, Sebastian, but Maddie isn't half bad either. I'm sure she'll find someone better than you in an instant. If you don't do your best now, it will be pointless to cry later." Susanna stood in high heels in front of her nephew, persuading him firmly. "When will you go back?" Sebastian asked, his head raised indifferently. Susanna was taken aback when she heard that. Her nephew didn't listen to her after she had talked to him for so long. "I'm not going back until you solve the problem right now." Susanna wrapped her arms around her chest, as if she wouldn't leave until he did what she said. "All right. Feel free to stay in the hotel," Sebastian replied indifferently. The next moment, Susanna rubbed the space between her eyebrows. She was suffering from another migraine. "The news is currently trending. Do you really don't care?" Susanna put her hands on the table and continued, "Sebastian, men don't have to worry about their image. Only when a man can hold his woman in his arms can they be considered skilled." Sebastian pursed his lips as he remembered what had happened the night before.

Chapter 77 He couldn't get recognized by Madeline at all. Why was he acting so petty and low? "Sebastian, what are you actually thinking? Tell Aunt Susanna. I can help you." Susanna was extraordinarily concerned about her cold nephew, Sebastian. Sebastian rubbed between his eyebrows irritably and replied, "It's none of your business." Susanna's heart ached with anger. She asked, "Why isn't this my business? Now that you've grown up and become a brat, you're not listening to me anymore?" Sebastian was speechless. They were almost the same age. Sebastian calmly raised his arm and called his uncle, "Your wife is in my office. Can you make her leave?" Susanna rolled up her sleeves. "I'm telling you, it's not easy to find anyone to make me leave. Go and apologize to Maddie now. Tell her that the owner of the luxury car is you, and then act like a hero saving her in distress." Susanna was still talking. But Sebastian didn't take it seriously. Sebastian threw the phone into Susanna's arms and said, "It's your husband." Hearing that it was her husband, Susanna suddenly changed her expression. "Darling, I'm here..." "What? You've sent me something again? I'll be right back!" Susanna heard her husband's voice and smiled. Susanna was in a hurry to go home to collect the parcels. She didn't want to waste her time here. "Sebastian, grab your chance. I'm leaving now." Susanna hurriedly picked up her bag and went out in high heels. Sebastian smiled. He thought, "Wayne has always been spoiling his wife, Susanna. They have been married for several years, but Wayne is still spoiling her. If not for the fact that Wayne couldn't leave this time, he would have followed Susanna. But... They didn't have to show affection in front of me." On Twitter, the trending tweet became more and more popular, with a few million reposts, and some netizens also began to poach information about Madeline. But nothing was found at the end of the day. Sebastian looked at the tweet with a gloomy face. He zoomed in on the luxury car and checked the owner himself. The result was that all the owner's information was protected, and the password needed to be cracked. Sebastian tightened his jaw and turned off the computer directly. He thought, "She's just a half-hearted woman. Why should I care so much about her? I must be crazy!" Sebastian: [The car is mine.] At twelve o'clock, Sebastian's private Twitter account suddenly posted a tweet. Chapter 77 The whole platform was immediately shocked by the tweet. ImShockedOhMyGosh: [Was this Sebastian himself? Mom, I'm successful now. I saw Sebastian post a tweet in my lifetime! Is he the sugar daddy of Madeline?] WhereCanIFindPotatoes: [Is this what I should be seeing? Is it true? Madeline played her cards so well. She could even handle Sebastian?] SebastianIsMyBoyfriend: [Sebastian's account must've been stolen. I don't believe it, and I will never believe it! Madeline, can you stop being so shameless? Can you stop trying to gain fame from Sebastian? Can you not steal his account?] SebastianIsMyHusband: [It had to be Madeline who did this. Madeline, you're screwed and you're in trouble. My husband will come to deal with you soon.] ThisWomanIsDisgusting: [Madeline, please check my Twitter name. How dare you uglify my prince charming? Are you sick?] MadelineIsPrettyToo: [I'm waiting for a twist. I don't think it was sent by Madeline. I believe in Madeline.] There were positive and negative comments, but most netizens thought that Sebastian's private account must have been stolen and that it was also done by Madeline. After all, Sebastian was the prince charming of Yarwood and hence, he seemed out of reach. Everyone thought that he shouldn't be falling in love with an ordinary person, let alone let anyone meddle with him. Not to mention that someone was Madeline. In the Mind Our Own Business group chat, there were more than 99 messages. Natalie: [What happened? Was the past love resurrected? Or is this Sebastian making trouble?] Yulisa: [Don't make me feel bad. We just had a bachelor party, and Maddie signed the divorce certificate. What's going on now?] Nina: [I've messed up my painting. What's going on between the schoolbag and Maddie?] Everyone was stunned when they saw the trending tweet. Sebastian's tweet was so spur-of-the-moment. Natalie: [That's crazy... Maddie was kept by her ex-husband? What's the logic? What happened? Where is Maddie? Hurry up and explain to us.] Then everyone in the group chat kept mentioning Madeline. And Cassandra, who had been watching, said: [Don't you guys think the situation might be different? Maybe that luxury car was mine?] There was no reply in the group chat for two or three seconds. Then they all started swearing. Natali e: [What's the situation with Sebastian's tweet? Did he intentionally do it to make Maddie look bad?] Yulisa: [He's a scumbag. He won't leave Maddie alone even after the divorce.] Nina: [Girls, let's find ghostwriters to avenge Maddie. I don't believe that Sebastian could manipulate all of this?] Natalie: [Yes, he can.] Madeline, who hadn't spoken for a long time, suddenly said: [He didn't do it.] Chapter 77 Madeline stared at the tweet for a while. It was indeed posted by Sebastian's private Twitter account. However, Sebastian didn't have the access to his private Twitter account. He didn't even have the Twitter application on his phone. He wasn't a fan of Twitter at all. All his posts were from the official account. So she was sure that Sebastian didn't post this tweet. Natalie: [Then who sent it? The account couldn't have been stolen, right? Who was so bored that they would do this?] Yulisa: [Maddie, why are you so sure?] She thought, "Yeah, why is Madeline so sure?" Madeline put down her phone and lowered her eyes. Although she didn't want to admit it, it was true. She knew him better than Sebastian himself. Some of Sebastian's habits had long been part of her. Madeline typed a string of words in the message box but deleted it again. M She thought, "Forget it. I don't have anything to do with this anymore. It's useless for me to explain to them." When Madeline refreshed Twitter again, she found that the tweet posted by Sebastian had been deleted. There was another new tweet. Sebastian: [Sorry, the inaccurate words caused a misunderstanding. It was a new car in the Faraday family's garage, which has nothing to do with Ms. Madeline Jennings. The rumor ends here.] It was also posted on Sebastian's private Twitter. Madeline tilted her head and leaned against her chair. This time, she was sure that Sebastian sent it in person. "Haha." Madeline curled her eyes and thought, "This topic has gained enough popularity on the Internet." Jonas pushed the door open and came in. "Ms. Jennings, it was indeed caused by several old employees. The situation is getting worse now. Should we take some measures?" Jonas frowned. Now that cyberbullying was getting more and more serious, if this were to continue, the shares of the Jennings Group would be affected. Now that Madeline's position was unstable, it would be harder for her if the shares fell.

Chapter 78 The scene caused by Sebastian just now was becoming more and more popular. "Are those old men having a good time?" Madeline played with her phone and smiled. Jonas was a little confused, so he said, "Ms. Jennings, isn't this matter tricky?" He thought that Madeline was acting too calmly. "It's a bit tricky. I have to waste some time taking photos." Madeline rubbed her eyebrows, and her delicate face looked annoyed. Jonas was stunned. He thought, "Is Ms. Jennings in her right mind? How come she is still thinking about taki ng photos?" By now, the gossip about Madeline had gone viral. It was said that Madeline, as one of the shareholders of the Jennings Group, was not taking responsibility and would sooner or later lose the reputation of the Jennings Group. Anyway, all kinds of bad comments made Jonas' head buzz. In fact, it was just gossip. The situation was not as critical as everyone said. Obviously, someone was trying to spread the rumor. In the office next door, the board of directors was a little excited when they got together. "Mr. Jennings, the gossip came in time. We can take this opportunity to pull her down directly." The one Quintus was referring to was Madeline. They had been dissatisfied with Madeline for a long time. To them, she was just a little girl, so she shouldn't have been in a higher position than them, and if Madeline were to stay in the Jennings Group for a long time, she would have taken a majority of the shares. It was bad for them! Adrian turned the bead in his hand calmly. "What's the hurry? The initiative is in our hands now. Let's wait. I'll let her kneel down and beg me." Quintus' eyes lit up as he said, "Mr. Jennings, you're so thoughtful. Adrian curled his lips and thought. This little girl wants to fight with me? Even her father was no match for me. How could a little girl be stronger than me?" He was sure that Madeline wouldn't turn over just because of a rumor of her affair. Next, he would drive Madeline out of the Jennings estate to avoid future troubles. Just as they were talking and laughing, the secretary knocked on the door and entered in a panic. Seeing his secretary's pale face, Adrian waved his hand and said, "Calm down first. Is there anything important worth panicking for?" "Is Madeline's rumor suppressed?" Adrian sneered as if he was joking. To him, it was impossible. The secretary nodded in horror, "Mr. Jennings, why don't you go out and have a look?" "This car is really beautiful. Can I take photos?" "Okay, whatever." Madeline waved her hand. Cassandra thought to herself, "Maddie is acting so generous... But this car belongs to me." This car was the limited edition one that she just bought. A little girl came forward awkwardly and said in embarrassment, "Ms. Jennings, your best friend is so Chapter 78 good that she really bought the limited edition. I... Can I take a picture with her?" Madeline tilted her head and said. "Do as you like. You can ask Cassandra what she thinks." Cassandra muttered silently. "Now, not only has the car become an exhibit, but I am also becoming a model." Cassandra grabbed Madeline's arm nervously and asked, "Maddie, did I help you to clarify this. time?" Madeline was in big trouble this time, so as soon as Madeline called her, Cassandra rushed over. Just now, Cassandra and Madeline took a photo next to the car and planned to post it together with the information about her picking up the car on the Internet. Madeline smiled and said, "Thank you, Cassandra. You've helped me a lot this time.” Cassandra’s eyebrows fluttered with joy. I’m willing to help my Maddie.” “Ms. Yale, can I take a photo with you?” Several employees stared at Cassandra eagerly. Cassandra’s mouth twitched. She wondered, “Just because I bought a car, I’m becoming an influencer now?” “What’s going on?” Quintus saw the chaotic situation at the door of the company and felt a little unclear about the situation. Adrian’s face darkened. “Maddie, what’s going on? The company is not a market. Why is it in such a mess?” Hearing her uncle’s voice, Madeline pulled herself out. She looked back and smiled casually. “Uncle Adrian, it’s lunch break now. Everyone is having some entertainment outside. We can’t interfere too much, can we?” Adrian approached and looked at Madeline angrily. “Maddie, I know this gossip makes you uncomfortable, but I can’t watch you doing this!” “You are my brother’s daughter and also my niece. I won’t watch you fall. Find your boyfriend and hold a press conference to clarify your relationship” Adrian was acting as if he cared about Madeline. Madeline sneered and answered, “Yes, you’re right. Please help me organize a press conference. I don’t know how to contact them, as I only know a few people.” Adrian coughed and felt amused. He felt like Madeline was so stupid that she believed everything he said and replied, “Leave it to me, Maddie. Now go sort out what you want to clarify later. After all, it’s about our company’s reputation. We should be cautious.” Madeline nodded perfunctorily. She thought that he talked so much that she almost couldn’t act in concert with him anymore. After saying that, Adrian hurried to plan the press conference. “Is there a problem with this old man’s brain?” Cassandra rolled her eyes silently. “Heh... He’s not just a brainless person. He’s also ambitious. He wants to replace me, but he doesn’t deserve it.” Madeline smiled frantically, and the mole under her eye became clearer. Cassandra roared in her heart, “Madeline is crazy. I like her so much.” Chapter 78 Madeline tilted her head and said to Cassandra, “I ordered some takeaway, and we’ll have some after the press conference.” “I’ll go back to the office to deal with something first.” Cassandra looked at Madeline’s arrogant back and smiled. If she were a man, she would fall for Madeline. Adrian was indeed an activist. He worked so hard to watch Madeline fall. In just half an hour, he brought the whole press conference over. Madeline sat on the chair next to the host, her red dress swaying arrogantly. Her eyes were slightly raised. Even if she didn’t smile, her dimples were obvious. Madeline was so pretty, and every feature of hers was perfect. “Where is he?” Adrian looked around and didn’t see the man. He was a little anxious. “On the way.” Madeline said three words perfunctorily to her stupid uncle, Adrian. “Maddie, you’re usually willful. However, those who come are officials. It took me a lot of e ffort to find them. Make that man come here quickly.” Adrian lowered his voice and pressured Madeline. Madeline raised her eyes and chuckled. “What are you panicking about? Are you afraid that I’ll mess up your plan?”

Chapter 79 Adrian was startled. He felt that Madeline had seen through his thoughts a moment earlier. “Ahem. I was looking out for you.” Madeline stopped smiling and said. “Then sit still. The show is about to start.” A hint of slyness flashed in Madeline’s eyes. Adrian was immersed in his thoughts all this while, so he didn’t notice anything wrong. “Welcome tuning in to the news. We are having this press conference to clarify the rumor regarding Ms. Madeline Jennings.” As it was agreed in advance that Madeline would not show her face, Madeline picked up the microphone as soon as the press conference started. In the next instant, Adrian was flustered, and his face turned red. “My best friend Cassandra sent me here this morning. She just got her new car and wanted to show it off to me, but no one expected it to become a huge misunderstanding.” Madeline’s voice was soft with a hint of helplessness. The host was stunned and thought, “What is going on? Why are her words different from what Adrian had said?” Hearing that, Adrian lost his temper. “Maddie, what’s going on?” Madeline smiled and didn’t reply. “It is also on Twitter now. If you are interested, you can have a look.” Madeline’s cold voice sounded again. “Ms. Jennings, are you playing a joke with us?” The host grimaced as he felt that they had been tricked. Madeline opened her palms with an innocent expression. “I was also notified last minute to attend the press conference. I don’t know anything at all, and I was not the one asking you to be here.” Madeline pushed away all the blames with just a few words. The host suddenly realized that Adrian had tricked them. Remaining magnanimous, the host stated, “Since it’s a misunderstanding, we will end the press conference now and take it as we have explained everything.” Adrian hurriedly got up to stop the host. “Wait a minute. I haven’t given my explanation yet.” The host glanced at Adrian coldly and said, “We are very busy. We don’t have time to play along with your act, Mr. Jennings.” Looking at Madeline’s grin, Adrian finally realized he had dug a hole for himself. Adrian suppressed his anger and said, “Maddie, how could you lie to me?” “I didn’t. Aren’t you the one who wants to clarify things, Uncle Adrian? I was being cooperative all the time.” Madeline’s innocent expression would easily fool one, but all Adrian wanted to do now was strangle her to her death. “Mr. Jennings, don’t come to us for something like this again,” the host said blankly before leaving. Chapter 79 Adrian quickly chased after the host to explain himself, afraid of offending the latter. Madeline chuckled and thought, “He shouldn’t do so if he didn’t have the skills. Silly Uncle Adrian, you’ll only get more trouble sooner or later.” Madeline’s gaze turned cold suddenly. She noticed Adrian also h ad some strengths. For example, he was good at pretending. That was how he completely fooled her parents, who passed away on a bridge. Madeline clenched her fists, and her intense hatred almost made her lose her breath. "Ms. Jennings, your move was awesome. I saw Mr. Jennings apologizing to the host, and he almost knelt just now." Jonas held back his smile and shared the good news with Madeline. Madeline suddenly came back to her senses. I see you are quite concerned about these things. How are things going with Liam? When can he help us with the shooting?" Jonas became serious and replied, "Liam can work anytime, but his manager..." "Schedule it this afternoon since I have time. I'll go and have a look." Simplicity Fashion was the first brand she founded after joining Jennings Group. She must run it well, so her parents would feel at ease. Jonas nodded and left to prepare the brand content. Madeline's clarification quickly became trending on Twitter. "You brat! You're so dumb! I had arranged everything for you, yet you had to explain yourself at a press conference. Despite having a great opportunity, you came to a dead end. You are way more clueless than your father and would deserve it if someone stole Madeline's heart. She is so excellent but look at you. You are not worthy of her except for your good looks. Besides, you have a bad temper. You should stay single forever. I'll introduce Maddie to my colleagues." Raging. Susanna called and reprimanded Sebastian and then hung up the phone. After Susanna scolded Sebastian harshly, the latter was certain it was her, whom he thought was unreliable, who posted on Twitter. Sebastian swiped through his tweets with his fingers and saw mostly Madeline's name. After their divorce, Madeline appeared on Twitter more frequently. Sebastian wondered if he had hidden Madeline's posts back then. Seeing Sebastian had been paying attention to Madeline's matters recently, Nolan chimed in politely, "Mr. Faraday, it's a little ridiculous for it to be trending. It's a mere rumor and shouldn't cause such a big sensation. Did Ms. Jennings offend someone?" Sebastian suddenly narrowed his eyes, and a hint of hostility flashed on his cold face. He exclaimed inwardly, "Nolan was right. Someone indeed secretly instigated all of these. I guess the Lambert family is also part of it and trying to covet Madeline's position." "Keep an eye on the elders in the Jennings family. Tell me in advance if there is anything suspicious." Sebastian put his phone on the desk and stopped looking at it. Nolan knew that Sebastian couldn't let go of Madeline and suffered to protect his pride. He thought there was nothing wrong with winning her back since Sebastian still had feelings for her. Besides, Madeline wouldn't know a thing if Sebastian cared for her secretly. "Mr. Gardner, stop overthinking, or I won't mind finding someone to replace you." Nolan shivered when he heard Sebastian's cold voice. Chapter 79 "Yes, Mr. Faraday. I'll get back to work." Staring into space, Sebastian touched his heart and noticed his heartbeat didn't increase. With that, he reckoned he was curious instead of still having feelings for Madeline , who had changed a lot. He wanted to know the reason behind her actions because he couldn't get used to the sudden change. After comforting himself, Sebastian sat on the chair in frustration. Some people indeed liked to deceive themselves. Meanwhile, Madeline was rather more relaxed. She carried out her plan step by step and vowed to dominate Yarwood sooner or later and hopefully replace Sebastian. "Head straight to the filming set. Remember to bring me an umbrella later," Madeline reminded Jonas while putting on sunscreen. She never slacked off when it came to skincare. Madeline's skin was delicate and beautiful. As she was at the age when beauty mattered the most, she used skincare products with the best quality but not cosmetics. "Liam's manager is slightly difficult to deal with. Let me do the talking later if anything happens." Jonas was afraid of unnecessary trouble, so he told Madeline in advance.

Madeline had been pretending to sleep all this time. She slowly opened her eyes when the car stopped. Madeline stretched out her hand to put on her hat and also took out an umbrella. After making sure everything was ready, she got out of the car. "Wait for me here. I'll go myself" Madeline raised her eyes. The sun was shining brightly in the sky. It was so hot that Madeline could feel the burning sensation as soon as she got out of the car. Her delicate skin couldn't stand the heat. Jonas had always listened to her words. He sat in the car obediently. Before Madeline reached the recording studio, she saw a familiar figure. It was Sebastian. Madeline wondered why he was there. She curled her lips, Faraday Corporation was indeed a big company. Sebastian had already received the news that Madeline was about to cooperate with Liam. Madeline took a step closer and saw Vivian, who used to mock and sneer at her, talking to Sebastian with a wide smile. "Mr. Faraday, I look forward to our collaboration." As soon as Vivian finished speaking, she saw Madeline not far away, and she instantly put on a mocking expression. "Ms. Jennings, you're here just in time. I was about to talk to you about the collaboration." "Do you want me to terminate the contract?" Madeline raised her eyebrows and said indifferently. "Yes. Vivian crossed her arms in front of her chest and said. "It was Liam who acted rashly and signed with an infamous company. Now I have to stop the loss in time." Sebastian didn't expect to see Madeline here, so he looked a little shocked. Previously, he didn't know that Liam had collaborated with the Jennings Group. "Haha." Madeline sneered, "The contract terms state that if any party breaches the contract, they will have to pay ten times the compensation!" Vivian remained unbothered. "It's just compensation. Our company can afford it. How ever, you should think about it carefully. Without Liam, your brand will go bankrupt.” Vivian was very arrogant. “Ms. Scott, you don’t have to worry about that,” Madeline raised her eyes and said. She thought that since everything had been set in stone, she didn’t want to deal with Vivian anymore. “Oh, by the way, Ms. Scott, remember to look at the compensation amount. Don’t go back on your word,” Madeline reminded kindly. Vivian pursed her lips as she wondered how much the compensation amount could be. “Madeline.” Sebastian considered for a moment before calling Madeline. However, Madeline didn’t even look at him. She disregarded his presence, turned around, and left. -

1 Sebastian pursed his lips and felt that something was wrong. When Jonas saw Madeline returning so soon, he immediately noticed something was wrong. Chapive No “Ms Jennings, did Vivian try to make things difficult for you and fail?” Jonas made a reasonable guess. Madeline put away the umbrella and rolled her eyes at her assistant. Jonas was getting more and more out of control with his words. “The contract was terminated peacefully. You can follow up on this matter and deal with it.” Jonas was left speechless. He wondered how Madeline could say it so calmly. Liam was a famous celebrity. Jonas wondered how they could so hastily decide not to collaborate anymore. “Ms. Jennings, let me talk to them once and see if there is room for discussion.” “No need for that. They found a bigger brand. Madeline replied with a smile. “Perhaps if we think from another perspective, we might get something unexpected.” Jonas was confused, as he saw Madeline smiling mysteriously. “The university students are about to graduate. Find me a few suitable candidates for our apparel. We can get a high return at a low cost.” Jonas was shocked and didn’t understand what Madeline said. “Liam is popular, so even if our clothes get popular, everyone will say that it is because of the celebrity effect, which is not helpful to our brand. However, if it gets popular because of a normal person... Madeline narrowed her eyes and looked into the distance. She took the risk to gamble this once. Jonas understood Madeline’s plan. He seldom questioned her plan, but it felt a little risky this time. Madeline rubbed her temples, thinking it was not a waste of time today. At least she knew that Faraday Corporation had played a significant role in it. It seemed that the two companies could not get along peacefully in the future. “Jonas, put all the information you can find about Faraday Corporation on my desk.” This time. Madeline wanted to know how powerful Faraday Corporation was. Jonas nodded. He sensed a storm brewing. When Madeline got off the car, she received a call from Natalie.. “Maddie, can you forward me Dominic’s WhatsApp number? He helped me last time, and I haven’t had a chance to thank him.” Madeline vaguely sensed something else. “Nat, are you...” “Ahem, don’t think too much. I don’t mean anything else. I just feel bad.” The more Natalie said, the lower her voice became. Her face turned red in the end. Fortunately, she was talking on her phone in a secluded corner.

er where other nurses wouldn't come, so she wouldn't be embarrassed. "All right. How can I not give you his WhatsApp number, Nat? I'll forward it to you." Madeline directly forwarded Dominic's WhatsApp number to Natalie. Natalie wiped the sweat from her hands, took a deep breath, and then added Dominic. In addition to thanking Dominic, she also wanted to ask Dominic for help.
