

312 Justice Coalition and Calamity Aurora

[Northern Continent, Capital] 1

A huge army of resolute soldiers marched to the walls of the front road of the province of the Emperor, Dan Province. All of them were wearing green-fading armor with shields and flags, waving the pride of the Justice Coalition. Every citizen that had power on the continent watched as the Justice Coalition entered the place where they were prohibited from entering before. But now, because of the truce with the Emperor's governance, everyone was anticipating the result of this truce.

The Leader of the Justice Coalition, Faction Leader Bavo Luo, stood before the Crown Prince, Genius Successor, Justin Dan. He greeted him with respect. His face was calm and sincere, and the Crown Prince looked at him with understanding. He then smiled after his bow at him and went back to stand straight.

"The Dan Dynasty is greeting the Justice Coalition Leader, Elder Luo. I am the Crown Prince, Justin Dan." The Crown Prince pronounced with grace and an honorable voice that could melt any gender with his charismatic appearance.

"I greet the Dan Dynasty as well as you, Crown Prince. The Justice Coalition is happy to be in a 312 Justice Coalition and Calamity Aur...

with them.

'Although it is not safe to assume everything and fix it, I can feel that the Crown Prince is well suited to be the next Emperor. I know that the 312 Justice Coalition and Calamity Aur...

The Crown Prince then gave a resolute expression to everyone. He was observing the Justice Coalition well, and he couldn't see any flaw or hostile intent from them. To hopefully assume it, the Justice Coalition wouldn't do anything that could put the Emperor's bloodline to destruction.

312 Justice Coalition and Calamity Aur...

Coalition had already spied on the three provinces, and we noticed two things: first, the previous people of these provinces had already gone to the unknown enemy's side; and second, they were building a wall facing the remaining provinces they didn't have control over.

However, it was just blurry. We are sure that they built a fort. And to our assumption of whom they might be, we can only think of the Eastern 312 Justice Coalition and Calamity Aur...

Coalition had already spied on the three provinces, and we noticed two things: first, the previous people of these provinces had already gone to the unknown enemy's side; and second, they were building a wall facing the remaining provinces they didn't have control over.

However, it was just blurry. We are sure that they built a fort. And to our assumption of whom they might be, we can only think of the Eastern Continent, which was the nearest power in these three provinces."

weeks and establish some relations, we will not treat them as a threat, but deep inside, we will prepare for them."

The Emperor talked. "Right, that is also what I am thinking. If we pressure them by making them think that we don't care about them, they will definitely expand their land. And the resources they have will surely be short. Although it is just an assumption that they are from the Eastern Continent, the Northern Continent's main power was defending the land from invasion. They were the weakest provinces, and because we were preoccupied with the same as him.

312 Justice Coalition and Calamity Aur...

The respect that people had for the Emperor had no words to explain. For them, he was a divine creature.

"Now, we shall talk about the Calamity Aurora. The Southern Continent's red sky faded faster than we expected. The Intelligence Department got nothing about the red sky, but the possible rate of it being their preparation for the war is high. I am thinking that it could be the end of the Divine Beast of the Southern Continent's slumber." The Emperor said, and just as he ended his words, everyone nodded.

Comment 0

