Chapter 15: Talking to Sam and Kyrn

Allison

I sat down at the kitchen island with Sam and Kyrn.

“Before you think about not giving Tommy a chance.” Sam said as she pulled out a chair for herself. “I want you to hear our stories. Okay?”

“Okay.” I said nodding.

Maybe hearing their stories will give me a better understanding about what I should do. If I should give him a chance or go back home and-

Oh shit! Gideon.

Oh no oh no oh no.

I cringed at the thought.

I wonder what’s going to happen when he finds out that there is no food on the table.

Or worse.

When he founds out I’m gone!

“Are you okay?” Kyrn asked.

I snapped out of it and looked at their faces sketched with worry.

“Oh ya.” I lied. “I’m just thinking about all of this.”

Sam smiled. “Don’t overthink. It turns out to be bad. That’s what Chloe always said to me when I was doubting Xavier. And I’m sorry she couldn’t be here. She went to run errands with Zander.”

Kyrn nodded. “On to the story. So when we were your age, our parent’s left to go on a trip. Sam called me over because her boyfriend cheated, so being an awesome friend, I brought movies and ice cream.”

"But." Sam smiled. "On my way home, I came to a stop light. I was bawling my eyes out because that's when I found out my boyfriend was cheating. But at the stop light, a huge truck pulled up in the other lane."

"Your mate was in that truck." I said quietly.

Sam smiled. "Along with Kyrn's mate, Jay, and Chloe's mate Zander and a friend named Ryan. I didn't know that werewolves were real. So when some random guy came up to my doorstep and kept calling me 'mate' and 'mine', I was a little freaked out."

"What did you do?" I asked.

Kyrn smirked. "Kick them in their jewels and booked it out of there."

I let out a small laugh. I could see them doing that.

"And of course them being them, caught us and put chloroform over our mouths so we would stop fighting." Sam said rolling her eyes. "And that's when Kyrn and I woke up handcuffed to a bed."

I gulped. "I know you guys are trying to help me decided, but that right there was not helping what so ever."

"Shit." Sam sighed. "I'm sorry. But I can honestly tell you this. Tommy will never to do that to you. And trust me. Kyrn and I gave Xavier and Jay hell for that. We kinda kicked them a lot in their manhoods. But anyway, back to the story. Later on down the road, we kept trying to escape and they would bring us back every time. They wouldn't give up. But that's also when Kyrn and I learned about werewolves."

Kyrn nodded. "We were attacked by rogues. Evil werewolves if you will. The guys saved us. They cared about us. No matter how many times Sam and I called them monsters, or tried to hurt them, or tried to run away. They were always there for us. It took some time to get used to it all. But we did."

"Kyrn's right. I'm glad I didn't reject him." Sam smiled. "I was happy with Xavier. He was the best boyfriend and mate that I could ever ask for. He would drop anything to make me happy. If I was having a bad day, he would take the day off of his alpha duties and be with me. Same with Jay and Kyrn. They loved us the moment they saw us. And Tommy. Well Tommy loves you."

I stared at her wide-eyed. “H-He what?”

Sam laughed and nodded. “Tommy loves you Allison. He keeps trying to get you to break down your walls so he can get through and see the real you. He truly does care about you Allison. He was always so excited to get a mate. And when he found you at school, he wouldn’t shut up about it. Every chance he got, he would go off about how gorgeous his mate it and how she would look so good with his arms wrapped around her as he hugged her and kissed her telling her how beautiful she is.”

I hid my face as I started to blush.

Kyrn laughed. “We are pressuring you to say yes, but all we ask is that you give him a chance. He really does care for you. And everyone cares about their Luna. And believe me when I say you won’t regret it. It is one of the best things that will ever happen.”

I nodded. “Okay.”

Sam and Kyrn smiled widely.

“As in okay you’ll give him a chance?” Sam asked excited.

I nodded again with a small smile. “Yes. I’ll give him a chance.”

“Yay!” Kyrn yelled jumping up and doing the happy dance.

“But what if he hurts me?” I asked worried.

Kyrn immediately stopped doing the happy dance and pulled me into a hug.

“Oh honey.” Kyrn cooed. “He would never hurt you. I don’t know who has been hurting you, but that will stop. You have all of us.”

I nodded. “Thank you.”

“And maybe you’ll trust us enough to tell us your story.” Sam said softly. “We aren’t pressuring you at all. You can tell us when you are ready.”

I nodded. “Thank you Sam and Kyrn.”

“Anything for you sweetie.” Sam smiled as she pulled me into a hug. “Now I do believe that you have a mate worrying his ass off outside.”

I giggled and nodded as I ran to the door.

I flung the door open and ran over to where everyone is standing.

Tommy's head snapped up when he heard me and turned to face me.

Everyone watched amazed as I lunged for Tommy and tackled him into a hug causing us both to fall on the ground.

"Where's the fire Allison?" Tommy teased as he picked me up in his arms and stood up.

"Yes." I whispered into his neck.

"Wait what?" Tommy asked bewildered as he sat me down. "Y-You're accepting me?"

I nodded with a smile. "Yes. But it might take some time for me to get use to everything. But I trust you."

Do I really trust him?

But the moment I saw that gigantic smile etched onto his face and his eyes twinkling with happiness, I realized I do.

Probably more that I should actually.

"Oh my gosh!" Tommy yelled as he picked me up and spun me around in his arms. "Thank you so much Allison! You won't be disappointed."

I giggled and clung onto him as the sparks tingled against my skin.

"Nice to know you'll stick around." Michael laughed as he slung his arm over my shoulder.

I laughed as a Lulu pushed him away and walked over to me with Cali.

"Okay. Now that you accept us, I would like to introduce myself again in the proper way." Lulu smiled. "I am Lulu Elliot. And I'm mates with Michael. Sadly."

"Hey!" Michael yelled as Lulu and Cali snickered.

I laughed softly.

“And I’m Cali Hart. Mates with Adam.” Cali smiled.

“Nice to meet you both properly.” I smiled. “And Cali. I need to say this because I was really freaked out before and never got the chance to say it. But I absolutely love your hair.”

“Duh.” She winked as she flipped her purple hair over her shoulders.

“Glad to know that you’ll hang with us now.” Zia smiled as she walked up to me.

“Thank you.” I smiled as I hugged her. “For everything. For sticking up for me and telling me that you care. I know that I didn’t believe you then, but I do now.”

Zia laughed as she hugged me tightly. “You don’t have to thank me. I would do it again for you in a heartbeat. I could tell that you didn’t have a lot of people in your life when that happened. I wanted you to know that people are here for you.”

“Wait. What happened?” Tommy asked.

Zia growled. “Vanessa and the bitch squad.”

Tommy growled too. “I hate her.”

“I think we all do.” I mumbled.

I said that thinking no one heard me, but when everyone busted out laughing, I knew I was wrong.

“If you’re gonna whisper something.” Michael said in between laughs. “Be even quieter than you normally would. Werewolf hearing.”

I huffed. Stupid wolf hearing.

Tommy chuckled and wrapped his arm around my shoulder.

“Come Allison. It’s getting late and I’m pretty sure you are tired.” Tommy said softly.

I nodded with a smile.

“Okay good.” Adam yawned. “Chasing Allison was such a work out.”

I laughed.

“You’re so weird.” Cali smiled.

“That’s why you love me.” Adam winked.

Cali smirked. “Got to go to bed. Night!”

Adam watched in shock as Cali ran for the house.

“You little!” Adam growled and chased after her.

“Just think of it.” Xavier laughed. “That’ll be you guys one day.”

Tommy beamed and I hid my face behind my hair as my cheeks turned red.

“Xavier!” Sam laughed. “Don’t embarrass the poor child.”

“And besides.” Zia shrugged. “She won’t be running away from him like that. She’ll be running away in fear. I mean have you seen Tommy’s face?”

“Aren’t you a little comedian today?” Tommy grumbled as he pulled me with him towards the house.

“I like your sister.” I giggled.

Tommy let a smile slip through. “Ya? Me too. She can be a handful sometimes. But I love her to death. I’d do anything for her.”

I smiled up at him.

I love how he talks so highly of his sister.

Sometimes I wish I had a sibling. But then I remember Gideon. I wouldn’t be able to stand by and see my sibling go through the same stuff I go through. So I’m also glad that I don’t have one. But it does get lonely at times.

“Here is your room.” Tommy sighed.

“Are you okay?” I asked.

He nodded as he scratched the back of his head. “Ya. My wolf and I want you to sleep with us in my bed, but we both know that you aren’t ready for that. So that’s why you have the guest room across from my room. At least you’re somewhat close.”

I smiled and gave him a hug. “Thank you Tommy.”

Tommy returned the hug and picked me up a little. “Anything for you. And don’t worry about it. I would never pressure you into anything.”

Tommy set me down and he gave my cheek a quick kiss before he disappeared in his room.

After getting ready, I got into the giant bed and fell asleep.

“Oh Allison?” Gideon laughed as he tried to find me.

I ducked down even more behind the old couch hoping he wouldn’t find me.

“I won’t hurt you.” Gideon coeedy. “I just want to talk to you.”

I stirred in my sleep at the nightmare.

“Come here Allison.” Gideon smiled evilly as he spotted me.

I jumped as he grabbed the couch and shoved it out of the way.

“G-Get away from me!” I yelled as I backed up.

I felt the wall behind me and I cursed at my luck.

Gideon laughed.

“This is what you fucking get for running from me!” Gideon snarled as he back handed me across the face. “You are a fucking dumbass thinking you could get away from me and run with that Tommy boy!”

I cried even harder as he delivered a kick to my stomach.

I tried to wake up, but I couldn’t.

“S-Stop.” I whispered as I wheezed in pain.

“Not going to happen.” Gideon said deadly as he pulled out a knife.

I woke up with a scream before the knife could go through my body.

I felt my hands move on their own as they felt my body.

No cuts, no nothing.

I fell back against my pillow and took deep breaths.

It’s only a dream Allison. It’s only a dream.

I shut my eyes, but they immediately popped open when I saw his face.

Screw it.

I jumped off my bed and swung open my door.

I ran across the hall and opened Tommy’s door and jumped into his bed shaking.

Tommy screamed a little and jumped, which caused him to fall off the bed.

“What the hell?” Tommy asked with glowing eyes.

But once he saw me, his eyes went back to normal.

“Allison?” Tommy asked as he sat back in his bed.

“I’m sorry for scaring you.” I whispered as I held his blanket over my head.

I felt the blanket being slowly moved from on top of me and Tommy’s face came into view.

“Are you okay?” He asked worried.

“I um had a bad dream.” I said playing with the corner of the pillow case.

“Do you want to talk about it?” Tommy asked as he moved closer to me.

I shook my head. “Not right now.”

Tommy nodded with a small smile. "You can take my bed. I'll sleep on the couch right over there, okay?"

"Wait." I said as I quickly grabbed his wrist.

"Yes?" Tommy asked me with hopeful eyes.

"Every time I close my eyes I see him. Will you..." I trailed off as I lost my words. "Will you please stay?"

Tommy smiled and nodded. "Of course."

Tommy slid into bed and put the covers back over us.

"Thank you." I mumbled into his chest.

Tommy chuckled and wrapped his arms around me protectively. "Anything for you Alli."

I smiled and snuggled closer to him as I felt the amazing sparks again.

Right before I drifted off to sleep, I heard Tommy whisper something.

"I love you Allison."
