

Invincible Little School Doctor

91: Chapter 91 Stay Overnight 91: Chapter 91 Stay Overnight The force was strong, and Xiao Haimei felt a numbness course through her body, which started trembling as if electrified.

A sensation beyond description arose in her heart—it was akin to pain mixed with a touch of intoxication, and involuntarily, she let out a “woo” of a moan.

Ye Haochuan saw the pain on her face, yet her eyes looked as if they were veiled with a layer of mist, giving off an indescribable allure.

“You...

you admit it?” Xiao Haimei glared at him, her voice steeped in resentment.

“Admit my ass!” Ye Haochuan yelled, “If I really had my way with you, wouldn’t you feel pain down there?”

Xiao Haimei thought about that.

If she had been violated, indeed she should feel some pain down there!

But then, why was she all wet?

What was going on?

Seeming to understand her train of thought, Ye Haochuan grumpily explained how he used qigong to dispel the drug in her system.

“Really?” After hearing the whole story, Xiao Haimei asked, somewhat elated.

“Would it be false?”

If I had really had my way with you, would I still be dressed right now?”

Ye Haochuan was furious, “I really don’t know how you manage to be the chairman.

Jumping to conclusions without understanding the situation—are you also this impulsive when managing Haishan University?

Humph, to put it bluntly, if you keep going like this, Haishan University will eventually be ruined by your hands.”

These words were harsh.

After her stepmother entered the Xiao Family, Xiao Haimei became independent, sharpening herself in every aspect, striving to become a powerful businesswoman, not wanting to disappoint her beloved grandfather.

Her grandfather had confided in her that in today’s society, the family business is not only inherited by males.

If Xiao Ding proved unreliable, it would be passed down to her.

She would marry and have children, and if a boy was born, he would carry on the Xiao family name, to continue the family lineage.

Now, hearing Ye Haochuan say this, undoubtedly touched a raw nerve deep inside her.

However, at this moment, Xiao Haimei actually calmed down, thought over Ye Haochuan's words, and felt she might have indeed misunderstood him.

But recalling his usual lecherous nature, she doubted him again.

"I'm asking you, did you take advantage of me when you were dispelling the drug just now?" Xiao Haimei stared him down, scrutinizing every slight change in his expression.

As for this question, of course, Ye Haochuan would rather die than admit, because even if she suspected, no one else had seen it.

"Don't think so low of me, okay?"

When the drug took effect, you were like a horny sow, desperately trying to seduce me.

I was busy saving you, how could I have the mind to take advantage of that?"

“What did you say?”

I was like a horny sow?

And desperately trying to seduce you?” Xiao Haimei was so furious and embarrassed at this description that she clenched her fists, nearly ready to fight him again.

Ye Haochuan snorted, unafraid, and said shamelessly, “Besides, if anyone took advantage, it was you taking mine.

I was the one at a loss.

Look at my face, and my neck—they’re covered in your kiss marks.

If you don’t believe me, go ask your little maid; she knows exactly what happened.”

Seeing indeed traces of lipstick on his face and neck, Xiao Haimei’s face burned with shame.

Even if unclear about the details, she could fully imagine how disgraceful her behavior had been.

Thinking this, Xiao Haimei suddenly felt that she had indeed wronged someone.

Further considering that if he hadn't had medical knowledge, she would have probably lost her virtue.

"Alright, I've explained everything I need to.

Hurry up and go wash.

You sweated a lot just now; you must feel very uncomfortable...

Oh, and this is Gu Kaizhi's original painting.

Please make sure to store such an important item more securely in the future.

Had I not arrived in time, it might have fallen into the hands of your bastard of an older brother," Ye Haochuan said.

After he finished speaking, Ye Haochuan took the original Gu Kaizhi painting and handed it to her.

Xiao Haimei took it, momentarily speechless.

Ye Haochuan got out of bed, stood tall, and arrogantly said, "With what happened tonight, I figure you're uncomfortable just seeing me.

Fine, tomorrow, I'll deliver my resignation to your office, goodbye!"

After speaking, he didn't hesitate and strode away.

"Stop."

Ye Haochuan paused in his steps.

"Ye Haochuan, I was irrational just now, wronging you, and I apologize.

Can you please not blame me?"

Listening to Xiao Haimei's almost pleading apology, Ye Haochuan was secretly thrilled, but he maintained a composed appearance and said indifferently, "Sister Mei, you are the dignified chairperson of Haishan University, and I am but a humble school doctor employed by you.

How could I possibly hold a grudge against you?"

Hearing this, Xiao Haimei knew he still harbored some resentment.

Other than saying sorry again, she didn't know how else to console him, but she was relieved—at least he wasn't insisting on leaving.

The events of tonight had changed the way Xiao Haimei saw him; he was no longer just an ordinary school doctor.

She was determined to retain such talent at any cost.

“Doctor Ye, can you stay tonight and have a few drinks with me?”

After a long thought, Xiao Haimei finally came up with this reason to keep him.

Stay to have a few drinks with you?

Ye Haochuan’s eyelid twitched.

This couldn’t be as simple as staying for a few drinks, could it?

Seemingly noting his suspicion, Xiao Haimei’s pretty face blushed as she hurriedly explained, “You see, it’s very late now, and the school gates are already closed.

It won’t be easy for you to get in.

I have a spare room here where you can stay overnight.”

Ye Haochuan thought it over and agreed it made sense, so he stopped being fastidious and agreed to stay.

In truth, aside from that, he also had a concern.

Knowing Xiao Ding’s vindictive nature, if he left now, it might give Xiao Ding an opportunity to come back and harm Xiao Haimei.

“Then, Sister Mei, you go freshen up, and we’ll have a good drink later,” Ye Haochuan said with a smile, glancing at her disheveled clothes.

Xiao Haimei felt his burning gaze and her cheeks turned even redder; she lowered her eyelids, not daring to meet his eyes.

Ye Haochuan chuckled to himself and found an excuse to leave...

Meanwhile, in a luxurious villa living room at Tianxiang Apartment.

Yang Xue, in a robe, looked at her son Xiao Ding’s pitiful and bedraggled state and seethed with rage, “Son, who did this to you?”

“Who else could it be?”

Of course, it’s that slut’s lover, Ye Haochuan!”

Xiao Ding then exaggerated his ordeal of the night, especially not omitting the part about his future inability to function as a man.

“What?” Yang Xue could hardly believe it.