

My Husband Is A Secret Billionaire By Wiuu

Chapter 17

Chapter 17

Jane was stunned and suddenly had a bad feeling.

She looked in the direction of the voice and saw that it was Ava Zeller. She had not changed much and still had a haughty look on her face. The way she looked at Jane was still full of hostility.

It was no secret that Ava liked Adam.

Adam turned around and accepted Ava when he couldn't catch up with Jane, which also became a thorn in her heart.

"Oh, I've been sitting in your office for a while." Ava walked to Adam and deliberately took his arm. "I was wondering why you didn't come. It turns out that you were chatting happily with Jane here! Did I disturb you?"

Adam's face was a little ugly, and he gently pushed Ava's hand away from Jane.

"What's wrong?" Ava pulled her up again and tightened her grip. "The whole company knows about us! What's there to hide from Jane?"

"Ms. Zeller, you've misunderstood." Jane smiled awkwardly. "It was a department meeting just now. I'm new here, and Mr. Frank specially asked me to stay because he wants me to deal with some important things so that I can integrate into the group as soon as possible."

"Oh?" Ava gave her a sidelong glance. "You have a lot of things to learn, especially in terms of interpersonal relationships. The sales department is a vital department of the company. A good marketing department needs to compete in sales skills and social interactions!

"For example, don't take credit for others. It's useless."

Jane could tell she was warning her not to covet what did not belong to her in the company. This was especially true for men.

Jane lowered her head and chuckled.

"Ms. Zeller, don't worry. I'll study hard." She looked at her. "If you have any questions in the future, I'll ask you more!"

"You're Adam's subordinate. I am not sure if I am qualified to teach you anything.

Ava glanced at her and curled her lips.

Just now, she said those harsh words deliberately to annoy Jane. Unexpectedly, this girl didn't listen to her at all. So she was miserable.

Adam quickly pulled Ava away, and Jane heaved a sigh of relief.

She came to work to make money. She'd better avoid conflict with others.

She could understand Ava's hostility towards her, but she thought that if she were careful at work and could not find fault with her, she would naturally not make trouble for her.

However, she was still too naive.

Since Ava found out she had entered Adam's department, she would come here every few days.

On the surface, they were discussing work, but she came to monitor Adam.

She would find some menial jobs for her.

For example, she would ask Jane to run errands, repair the printer, and even water the plants in the company.

Some colleagues defended Jane and whispered, "Isn't there a cleaner in the company? Why does she ask our sales department staff to water the flowers..."

"Shh, keep your voice down! Don't you know that her uncle is a shareholder in the company?"

All of a sudden, there was no movement in the office. Everyone looked at Jane with sympathy. Some sighed, and some shook their heads.

It was not good for Jane to make enemies as soon as she arrived at the company.

Moreover, for sales department members, the number of contracts was directly related to the salary.

Jane, who hadn't signed a single order for a month, naturally became a bad example for the regular meeting.
