

Shadow 1051

Chapter 1051: The cave \(2\)

In the past, he is one of the general of the World Government. But nowadays he is more known as the other leader of the Shadow Guards.

He had abandoned his samurai armor and don the dark leather armor of the Shadow Guards. Most of the members of the Shadow Guards usually wears leather armor.

But this did not mean that their leather armor could not withstand attack like a metal armor could.

In a world of magic, the category of armor does not play as much as importance as its material. A high level leather skinned from a powerful beast could even exceed the defense of a metal made armor

Not to mention there is still tattooist that could draw totems on one body, or Inscriptionist that could inscribe Words of Power and many other supplementing class that could raise the level of the armor.

Shinji look left and right. His hand is at the handle of his sword

He would be ready to slash the moment he senses any danger coming to him.

‘Something.... happened here’ he said under his breath. He could sense the massive surge of energy that is still present in the entire island.

‘Loki?’ he asks himself.

He got the order from Sasha to take note of any weird sudden surges of energy.

A few hours ago, when he just got back to the Centre Palace, someone reported that there are a few surges of energy that had happened that fits the bill.

But it is far away from Pandemonium. But at the same time, it is also the closest island to Pandemonium.

Though considering the size of the island now, it is quite hard to think that this island is probably once just a patch of small lands that would probably be corroded by the sea someday and end up back to the bottom of the ocean.

This island is now the size of Europe.

That is a big ass island.

Even though Shinji himself is a Disk Formation leveler, he took a few hours to travel from the Centre Palace to the edges of Pandemonium border.

Before, one hour is enough for him to circle the world a few hundred times.

This just shows how large Earth had expanded and how the energy changes after the Multiversal Convergence.

At first, Shinji thought it is only because of the sudden change of the size of the Earth that made it seems like they were slow.

But then Shinji had another thought.

Probably that is not the only factor that Disk Formation leveler seems slow.

It must be remembered that a Disk Formation leveler could travel the stars and fly through asteroids belts and planets.

With a Disk Formation cultivation, one could roam the Universe.

Thinking of how large the universe is, unless you could travel in the speed of light, you would be probably be dead before you could find any planets that have civilizations.

It is then not logical for Disk Formation leveler to not be able to circle the world as fast as before just because the world expanded.

Could the world have expanded so big that it surpasses the mega clusters of worlds?

That is not possible. Since that is the case, Shinji believes that the energy of the world restricts and pressure the Disk Formation leveler.

It is like the gravity is once again pushing them down.

But that is not quite accurate either since if that is the case, babies that was born that did not have any energies in their bodies would probably be crushed by such pressuring gravity

It is like a Law. Coded into reality that forces everything that is under that law to comply

This pressure is subtle and could not easily be felt. Shinji shakes his head.

Regardless of the reason, Shinji had arrived here far too late.

He tries to envelop the island with his divine sense but the disturbance on the energy is so powerful, that his divine sense went haywire.

He gives up on that course of action very quickly and then began exploring the island. He slowly flies to the air and look down.

Even though he could not use his Divine Sense, he could still use his eyes too look at the island from above.

It is an empty island with lots of forest and hills. There is also a lot of rivers that is connected to the sea. It looks like a pristine land that is untouched by any touch of humanity, like a lost world

And then he could see a place so thick with energies that he is quite sure that is not formed naturally

‘I think that place is worth investigating’ he thought to himself

He flies toward that area and landed.

The moment he set down his feet on that area, he could feel the energy on the ground. The ripples that occurs the moment his feet landed on the ground seems to affect waves of waves of residual energy that was left behind

It is without a doubt a site where it was closest to the source of the surge of energy. Of course, this is just simply his deduction and not something that he could verify completely.

But he didn't think that his thoughts are wrong

'This is probably the area where Loki activated his teleportation channel. Considering he had helpers, probably one of the Three Demoness.' He talks to himself.

Sasha had condensed the report but he could read between the lines. If there is a teleportation channel the moment the sealing dome was neutralized, that means there must be someone that is helping Loki.

Loki has many secret forces.

But the most public of his secret forces is the Three Demoness. Shinji as the Vice leader of the Shadow Guards also was privy to the knowledge of the Witness Protection program of Sasha which shelters The Broker.

So, he knew that it could not be Riana. She would not let something happens to her lover. Then there is only Trisha and Greisha left.

Greisha is quite talented in battle. But she is too young and Loki rarely uses her. As such, Shinji conclude that it is Trisha.

Still knowing who did it, did not benefit the Shadow Guards at all. He only sighed.

He is about to leave and report this matter when something caught his eyes.

'What is that?' he asks himself as he walk forward. He saw something. Not far away from him, there is a large boulder.

But around that large boulder, even though he could not see something out of the ordinary with his eyes, he could sense that the area round the boulder seems to be distorted

And it is not distorted in the usual way where everything seems to be cracking space, but instead, it was like the boulder and the area around the boulder in a constant flux of existing and not existing.

Time and Space around it seems normal in first glance but as Shinji observe sit more, he notices that there is time dilation around the boulder.

It is so minuscule time dilation that it is hard to sense it if not for him taking his time to observe the area

He has to check it out.

Pushing the thick bush in front of him, he finally saw some crevice in the middle of that large stony boulder.

It is easy to miss. Shinji walk even closer to that crevice and then his eyebrows raised.

'This is an entrance to a cave' he thought to himself as he slid inside the crevice and went inside. The moment he went inside, his mouth is open and his eyes widened. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

All around him is runes, magic circles and all kinds of symbols that he did not even recognize. There is hundreds of them on the walls, on top of the ceiling and under his feet

A lot of them are worn down but there are still some that is still in good condition.

‘Whoa’ he said. And there is a smile on his face.

Then he brought something resembling a warlike talkie out from his bag of holding and then he adjusts something on the right side of that device before finding the right frequency.

Then he said to the device

‘Call the Research Department. Send them to my location’

Then he waited for an answer as his eyes tries to see where does this formation ends.

As far as his eyes could see, the entire interior of the cave seems to be filled with magic circles, runic characters, symbols, hieroglyphs and other methods of writing like cuneiform and there is even dots and dashes that must denotes something.

Shinji is not some formation master but he is sure that the scene that he saw now would be like a pirate found a cave full of gold for formation masters.

Then a voice come out from the device.

‘The Research Department is now researching the size and determining the old location of cities and villages in Pandemonium and also measuring the energy level all over Pandemonium right now. As such manpower is quite limited, Vice Leader. How many you want us to send?’

The receiver is reminding him, if the matter is not that important then it is enough to send only a few.

A few means only two or three people.

Shinji is silent for a while and he looks again at the cave and then he said back to the voice

‘Send them all’

Chapter 1052: A brief walk in the nowhere land \(1\)

Nowhere Land

A few hours before Shinji discovered the cave, Loki and Trisha went inside the portal and is back to Nowhere Land.

The Nowhere Land before the expansion of the world was somewhere beneath the island of Jan Mayen.

It is a Norwegian volcanic island in the Arctic Ocean.

There is no permanent population there before the Fall and after the Fall, there is not even a lot of people there considering monsters of the sea sometime would come up from the bottom and rest in the island.

It is basically an empty island after the Fall. With monster roaming around the area and the waves of the Arctic Ocean bring coldness that is colder than ever

It is an island partly covered by glaciers, mountainous and have three prominent lakes. After the Fall, the island is claimed by Denmark under the World Government lead.

Things happens and it had been returned back to Norway during the six years of Death Monarch absence.

Still, it is not an island of importance.

The World Government had taken the island to construct one of their black sites there.

It is a good place to construct a black site.

It is far from human cities. Not many people know of its existence. And it is an island. Add a couple of magical fortifications around the island and it could be quite an impenetrable island.

Though, one must question the obsessiveness that World Government has with islands. Maybe, it is just to fit with the aesthetic of their floating Island of Peace

They did get the island and they did try to construct the black site.... but with disastrous result this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly the constant attack of sea monsters (which is titanic in size) and the inhospitable climate of that area during a storm that would break down most of their technological device and buildings had causes them uninterested.

Most of them are actually the schemes of Loki.

After all, if the World Government had used the island as their black site, sooner or later, they might find some irregularities on the island and Loki own place would then be discovered

So, they pull out from the project.

As for the return of the island to Norway it is simply a gesture of goodwill and to ease the relations between the two country.

In the past, some party of Europe is under the rule of the World Government while the other part is under the influence of the Republic and other forces.

Denmark and Norway was also in the World Government sphere of influence at that time.

It wasn't until the World Distribution Event that the entire Europe is ruled by the Republic and the North America ruled by the World Government

And it took a few more years before Europe truly acknowledge the Republic as the ruling force of Europe.

During the time under the rule of the Republic, the acknowledged leaders of Norway and Denmark, with Denmark still having a king, and the representative of the Senate of the Republic, and the leader of Norway, Denmark in a symbolic gesture of goodwill propose the return of the island back to Norway in the Senate

The proposal was approved by the Right Chancellor.

As there is no objection by the left and High Chancellor, the proposal went through and the ownership of the island returns back to the hand of Norway.

This useless island in the eyes of many and good only to further some political agenda in the Senate actually bore a secret prison.

If they knew that the island actually houses one of the most well-guarded and secretive prison in the world, they would not be so quick to throw this island to one another like it is some kind game of exploding bombs

But right now, this island is no longer could be categorized as an island.

At least if one looks at the size. It resembles the entirety of Europe and Asia combined together. That is how large the island right now

There are mountains that reaches the size of Everest, and tall hills.

There is large rivers and forest all around.

There are large monsters that burrows underneath the surface of the land, monsters that slithers on the ground, flies in the sky and swimming in the ocean

Some of them are the original monster that have evolved because of the mass of energy that is spreading all over the world.

But there are also monsters that had come out from the portals and mix with the original monsters.

The shape of the island is still the same, only the sizes that had changed. And other than, there is also more obvious changes like the climate of the island.

It is not only colder; the winds are also harsher. The wind could freeze the air. When it storms it would bring down icicles of ice from the clouds.

Strange trees had sprouted out from the ground in area that is full of mass of concentrated energy.

There are also all kinds of volcanoes that has sprouted form the ground, spurting out fumes. Most of them is active volcano.

If before it is uninhabitable, now that this happens, it is even more uninhabitable.

Energies seems to be wafting out from the ground and some monsters from the sea had even come out to the ground, marking some places of the island as their home and nest

Some had even chosen their breeding spots.

Nowhere Land had been separated from the island during the expansion. But it is quickly attached back when the island had reached a certain stable threshold.

Nowhere Land is called the Nowhere Land but it did not necessarily have a land. But now, it had.

The artificial intelligence had used the soils of the Jan Mayen island to expand itself and possessing more land than before

The bigger Jan Mayen is, the better it is to hide the Nowhere Land. Deep below the surface of the island, there is a prison.

This prison itself is situated in some kind of independent space, yet this independent space attached and tether itself to the physical world of Earth prime, attached itself to the island

Considering Loki cultivation when he first created the Nowhere Land, it is impossible for him to suddenly create an independent space.

As such, he had to be creative. The semi-independent space relies heavily on its connection to Earth Prime as the source of energy that kept the Nowhere Land functional

As such when it unhooks and untethered its connection with the island, there is some damage to the Nowhere Land and the best way to describe it, was that power was down.

Power was never down in the Nowhere Land.

But to avoid expanding in a way that is unsustainable, the Artificial Intelligence of Nowhere Land made the decision to untethered it for a moment

While the decision to untether it is made by the Artificial Intelligence, to attach it back requires manual method. Which is what the Three Demoness had been doing.

Of course, Riana also sent her avatar to help with the tethering of the Nowhere Land after she finished helping the forces of Pandemonium fighting the demonic invasion of the Seresian demons.

But after what Loki had done in Pandemonium, that avatar had already dissipated when she was knocked unconscious by the Broker.

To reach this prison, there is tunnels.

This tunnel itself could not be accessed in normal ways. It is not surprising since nothing about the Nowhere Land is normal

The methods of accessing this tunnel is also secretive.

If not, it could not be considered a secret prison at all. To enter this tunnel, one need to have the key.

The key of course is not shaped like a key but instead it is shaped in long thin cylinder with a diamond shape.

On each side of the long thin cylinder there is inscription that is always ever-changing, like an encryption key

And each personnel of the prison have this key.

It generated random addresses in the key but it could only do so when the wielder of that key touch it and activate it.

It responds to one particular essence energy, fingerprint and the reverberation of the soul, making it a top encryption technology outstripping any encryption method of the Seven World Power.

If any other person tries to activate it, the key would self-destruct.

This shows how secure this place is.

And even if you pass the tunnel, you would not instantly go to prison. Loki appears in one of the glacier, near one of the lake.

Though looking at the lake right now, it looks more like a sea.

Behind him is Trisha.

Loki did not say anything as he brought out his key and click on one of the inscription on the key.

The key lights up and a location is imprinted into his mind.

'Use my location. There is no need to generate so many dimensional addresses' Loki said and Trisha only nodded.

Loki then uses his super speed to reach an area a few hundred kilometers away from his teleportation spot.

Chapter 1053: A brief walk in the nowhere land \(2\)

Loki look left and right and Trisha looking at him from behind, close her mouth, trying to stifle her laugh

Loki smiles knowing that he managed to make Trisha laugh even without turning his head back.

He knew if he turns his head back, Trisha would pretend she did not laugh

Then he focused back his mind

He is quite amused seeing the changes of the island. But it is nothing that he had not seen before.

The world during the Sovereign era is even bigger. If not how could it contain Gods fighting each other?

Even if the Multiversal Convergence didn't happen, Earth Prime is destined to change. As long as the All Source is here, it would gather energy and spews out energy

If not how could the people of Earth could rise to the level of Sovereign that fast. Most people on Earth did not know that even to reach the level of Disk Formation in the vast Universe is a hard task

Most people have to train and prepare themselves for hundreds of years for geniuses. And thousands of years for those who did not.

The All Source helps not only in directly helping humans absorb the energy of the world, it is also pure in nature.

Of course, as people walk their path their energy tainted.

That of course do not apply to people like Azief and Katarina since both of them walk the path of Perfection

And as for Sovereign level existence, only the top tier civilizations have such being with that level of power.

The example of such cases is Odin, Zeus, Hades, Jade Emperor to name a few powerful beings in the Universe that possess Sovereign level power.

But, it is also because of the All Source, that there is a need for Earth to possess a Sovereign.

Maybe that is why, the All Source quickly and effectively give power to human to reach a level that would take people millions of years to achieve in only one hundred years

To many other powerhouses in the Omniverse, what they know about the All Source is only on the superficial level.

What they know is that it is called the World Orb or Rejuvenation Essence.

To some worlds who is undergoing the Age of Decadence, where the energy of their world is exhausted, the World Orb, to them is a miraculous ancient artifact that could reverse the fate and destiny of their civilizations and of their world

To many, that is the reason why so many powerful beings fought each other around five thousand years ago, near the Milky Way galaxy.

Some of their fights even spill out to Earth and there are traces of their battle all over Earth, unknown to the researchers on Earth

There is even a spaceship left behind by one of these civilization in the bottom of the ocean. Loki had check it.

But he did not activate it.

The people of Earth called it the Baltic Sea anomaly.

Even though it is an ancient technology, this ancient technology comes from one of the most advanced civilization during the Celestial War five thousand years ago.

Actually it is something that Loki had found during his early years as a Disk Formation expert in the original timeline.

This time, he would not make the same mistake he did the last time trying to activate that ship

But even though it is a war that started five thousand years ago, the ship itself seems to come from a more ancient past.

The only way to explain why the carbon dating of that ship seems to be older than five thousand years is probably because the ship were battling some other forces through time and space.

The carbon dating that Loki used is not the same way that humans used the method of carbon dating. Loki uses magic and his calculation of fate and destiny

The best deduction that Loki could make was that the pilot of the spaceship was fighting during five thousand years ago during the Celestial War but then as they fight through Time and Space the ship went back in time, probably multiple times.

The ship itself might have travel through the Mesozoic era and fighting throughout time all over Earth before finally crashed into cold snowy area.

The people of the Earth had seen this spaceship before in some tabloids, famously known as the Baltic Sea anomaly.

But the brightest mind dismisses it as simply a rock formation.

Loki couldn't blame them

To the minds of a primitive civilization, of course, such advanced technology would go over their heads

Concealing and stealth technology has been activated automatically by the ship when it crashed and burn.

That is not something that could be uncovered by Earth primitive technology

What humans don't understand, their either fear it, or dismiss it. To the scientist researching the spaceship, they determined it to be a geological formation.

There are distortions of the single sonar image of that spaceship is attributed to cheap inaccurate sonar instrument that was improperly wired and calibrated.

To them, it is nothing but some rocks

The truth is more fantastical.

Loki himself had went to that place and research it.

Since he is determined to not make the same mistake, he had to research it carefully this time.

What he found was that there is a magical energy around the ship. No human before the Fall could have detected it. Since nobody had magic as it was in the past.

There are still witches and warlocks all over the world but what they can do is simply some spells that do not harm those that have great will and tenacity

Either way, it is not an amount of magic enough to be used so freely like it is today

As such, regardless of what the technology use, it would either distort the surveillance technology or appear to be simply something normal

Illusion magic also seems to play a part. Appearing to look and changes the particles around it

Some of the humans even wanted to make it normal attraction.

Even though the shape itself look like Millennium Falcon, that is not the shape of the ship hidden under that rock sediments.

Instead the shape is simply made by some force field to hide the true nature of that spaceship.

The reason why Loki remember that ship so much is because he wanted to use it. He now does not have the resources like before.

Before as the Regent of Pandemonium, he holds controls of a fleet of spaceships. There is around a dozen Battlestar.

Budiman might be quite relaxed in his work but there are many builders that have risen up in level and working five days a week to create more powerful Battlestar.

There is even a Battlestar that could not fight head to head with Disk Formation leveler. Before, any Disk Formation leveler could destroy Battlestar easily.

It is understandable because the rate of technological advancement is not as fast as the development of personal strength.

But as time passes, slowly the technological advancement is catching up.

The World Government is also focusing on researching many new technologies

This is to control the population of godlike people.

Those who have reached Disk Formation could truly be considered godlike.

Of course now that the world expands, and energy is pouring in, with Death Monarch, Hikigaya and Jean breakthrough to Divine Comprehension, the ceiling of power is raised again.

But it did not change the fact that if not for the pressure of the world, once a Disk Formation leveler went out the atmosphere of Earth, their power could explode in great force and their speed would akin of the speed of light

As such, the trend of pursuing technological advance is still continuing especially for the great powers to deter criminals and uncontrollable factors.

Slowly, there would come a day where the levelers could be constrained by a fleet of normal soldiers.

As for Loki, his interest in the spaceship is simply because he knows there is a lot of ancient treasure there that would surely help him increasing more of his trump cards.

It is never bad to have too many trump cards.

As for the matter of the World Orb and the other forces out of this Universe that coveted it, Loki did not need to make too much preparations about it

Some of them did not even know the lore surrounding the World Orb. They did not know how dangerous the World Orb is and how hard it is for these people to use it.

Though, one name does come to mind. Fir Her Waz, Loki thought to himself

As for the other advanced civilization of the Universe, most of them did not know why the war five thousand years ago happened and who stopped it.

Even Loki only learned about it during his time under the tutelage of the real Loki, the Cosmic Trickster.

Instead of a story, he accidentally touches one of the memory servers of his teacher.

It was then he saw one of the memory that is related to the Celestial War this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

Chapter 1054: The peculiarities of nowhere land \(1\)

He then saw the vast Universe warring with each other, countless of lives that even he found it hard to calculate the casualties of that war

All kinds of battleships, magical and machinery, all kinds of discipline of the Laws of the Omniverse was employed in that war.

He saw tens of trillions of spaceship filling the universe, like they were sands in beaches. Some of them rides beast the size of ten Earths.

Some ride wooden ship that sail across the stars, like the dark space is the ocean and the stars are fishes

All kinds of races, from monster like races to humanoid like races, fought against each other.

They did not only fight in the main Universe, they also fought across all kinds of realities, time pockets, other worlds and parallel dimension.

They were war all over the entire Omniverse.

Any civilization that have advanced knowledge about the All Source all scrambled to get the All Source.

The promise of an unlimited source of energy, of a world, the chance for rejuvenation of their Universe, where their fate and destiny could be reverted and the final conclusion of their story could be rewritten, would drove anyone mad with desire

They know more than the beings of today, of the true ability of that artifact.

But after that war, most of the advanced civilization Other than those who survived that war, not many alien civilizations today know the true ability of the All Source.

Rejuvenating the worldly energy is but one of its function. It is a weapon created personally by The One.

He crafted it with his Omniversal power and His majesty is in it. It could revert fate and destiny, and could create the impossible.

Loki also saw how terrifying that war and how it ended.

All of these races, some demonic in appearance, others look like Immortals, some looks like a being of light and so on and so forth, so many of them that Loki himself could not possibly name all of the races that participated in that war but as many that enter that war, there were many more that had died in that war

Their essence and energies fill the entire universe, scattered through all kinds of realities and dimensions.

The fabric of reality itself was on the verge of breaking down.

And then the Elder of the Universe interfere with this matter as the surviving civilization of that war wanted to continue the battle until only one civilization left standing.

He split the All Source to seven pieces.

Out of the few that survived, the Elder of the Universe gave each one of the seven pieces to seven strongest factions in the Universe after the war.

That leads to the formation of the United Intergalactic Alliance, headed by the seven great civilizations that emerge as the winner of that war.

That is what he knows about the All Source.

And he knows even more. But, he doubts some alien civilization in the middle of nowhere would know about it.

And even then he only knows it when he travelled the Universe during his half Sovereign era, finding a way to become Sovereign in a world where the Will of the World was ripped apart

Loki at that time had to find another way to become Sovereign because of Raymond decision to ripped the Will with some of the other Sovereigns.

Loki sighed inwardly.

Death God established the rules, and the other Sovereigns follow in line.

That era was one of the most prosperous era but it is not without its flaws

While one could not say that the Sovereign did not sometimes accidentally destroyed parts of the world, rarely there is innocent caught up in their affairs.

He only exception to this is of course the War of the Sovereign which involves the world powers at the time and the Sovereigns

The mortal world and the divine world seems to clash at that time.

Sovereigns against sovereigns, mortals against mortals and so many mortals had died and even two Sovereign had fallen that day.

So, even though some of what happen today change a lot of the script of the Time Crisis, Loki is not surprised to see the expansion of the world.

Of course, in his original timeline, it was not as exaggerated like this during his Time Crisis.

At that time, he would not be qualified to participate since he was just at the level of Seed Formation at that time

And his age at that time was around twenty-five. The Time Crisis in this timeline was accelerated. It is not even twenty years after the Fall, but everything seems to happens even more faster. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

But even then, the world did not expand this large and possess this much of concentrated energy

Since the worlds that had managed to connect itself with Earth Prime at that time is a meager number compared to this Time Crisis.

Loki estimated around three thousand worlds was about to synch up with the Convergence. That is not counting some other dimension that is attracted by the dimensional tears

And while it did not fully sync up with each other, the energy does flow toward Earth Prime and these other worlds.

Loki would not be surprised that if in some worlds, magic can now be practiced.

After all, as the energy of the other worlds flows toward Earth prime and since Earth Prime has the All Source, the biggest beneficiary of the Multiversal Convergence is the world.

Not the people of the world, but the world itself.

But, this is also true of the other worlds connected even slightly during the Multiversal Convergence.

Even though they did not absorb as much as Earth Prime

It is undeniable that certain power and energy of the All Source went to these other worlds and sometimes that is all some world needed.

A catalyst to jumpstart an entire new path to advance their civilization to a higher form of power

And of course, the barrier between world in that worlds that temporarily about to sync up with the Earth Prime is weakened.

That is a problem.

That is another thing that Loki hope that the World Council would pay attention to.

The Orvanians had done a good job of closing most of the portals and Multiversal points around the Milky Way galaxy and it surrounding star clusters.

But they must be a lot of the anomaly that they did not have time to close.

Or maybe, they do not think it is their job to close certain breaches. Unless, it reaches a certain point of damage toward the Multiverse, the Orvanians would not move.

Loki is betting that Hirate might have some technology to close these breaches before it could repeat the same thing

He once talks with his brother, Azief about his experience in Earth two and his brother said that some scientist in that world manages to create some kind of bomb that could close portals to other worlds.

Of course, the size of the tear of barrier between worlds in that Earth two is not as severe as Earth prime but there is precedent there.

Loki did not know much about the technology to close breaches. Yes, he does know a lot of things but he does not know everything.

And there is still a fact that a huge chunk of some information is not given to him by Number Seven

If he was a Sovereign, a snap of his finger and these portals would close simply by him snapping his finger.

He sometimes regretted that he did not study that much upon technological advance made by the great power of his time.

But of course, he had some knowledge of machinery and technology. And he still has his ability to calculate certain things

If not how could he have created the Nowhere Lands and make it remains as secret as it is today

He admits he infused magic in his technology, but almost all new technology on the market right now is machinery combined with magic.

Of course, there is another way which is to interact with high advanced civilizations and learn from them.

As of now, the only alien advanced civilization that made contact with Earth and is not hostile is the Orvanians.

But it is not good to interact with Orvanians a lot.

It is even worse if they rely on them too much. Some of the technological advancement that the World Government had made is because of their diplomacy with the Orvanians.

Fortunately, Orvanians is not interested in meddling with Earth, or any other galaxy.

This is their unchanging policy since the time of Sithulran.

There are guardians of the Multiverse.

While Earth prime is special because of the secret it holds and the fact that this is the Will of that Supreme One, it did not mean that the Orvanians would not do anything.

If this is any other worlds, the Orvanians would have been more aggressive.

Chapter 1055: The peculiarities of nowhere land \(2\)

While they do not interfere in the matters of the Universe unless it involves reality bending, worlds and dimension colliding shit, they do make an exception.

When a certain world keeps attracting this kind of problem, the Five Seat of Orvan would employ more aggressive methods like erasing memories or plucking out people who forces that world to such strait out from the stream of time and existence.

And that is among the threats that Sovereign guard the world from. Loki is quite sentimental today

‘My lord, are you going to keep standing there?’

‘Ah’ Loki exclaimed, startled by the sudden voice. He almost did not realize that he had reached his destination

He is in front of some rocks and boulders, the wind blows strong harsh wind bringing the coldness of the air. A few hundred meters from them, Loki could see a snake the size of a Titanoboa slithering across some forest

Loki glance toward that snake as the snake seems to treat Loki like his snack. The moment he glances toward that snake; he releases a bit of his energy.

Saber intent seems to shoot out from his eyes and cut the diamond scale of that snake.

Like a hot knife cutting butter, the snake scales fall down to the ground and the snake immediately retreated

Loki clicked his tongue.

‘This mind of mine’ he complained to himself.

His thought process is fast. Even when he is moving in super speed, his mind we rethinking all of that in the span of a few seconds.

He could not help it. Sometimes, he thinks of these old memories of another timeline. Of course, it is not simply because he is struck by nostalgia or something like that.

It is just that he revised his memories.

Certain memories would disappear sometimes. Side effect of using the method of separating each part of the soul into seven kind-of-thing.

At times, he also just stares at some empty space and think about all kinds of memoirs.

What he fears the most is not only losing the memories, but also if he somehow distorted some of the memories

Because of that, his calculations also included some backup plans if he were ever to destroy some memories and step into the wrong path

The key to a flawless calculation of fate and destiny had to be started from the cause. Fate and destiny come when cause birthed effect

Of course, there are some that went out of this calculation. Effect that does not come from any cause.

There is one certain thing like that in the Universe

It is not something that he could calculate.

But for other things, like some kind of law of motions, there is a way to determine them with his calculations.

Every single action in the universe produces a reaction. an original starting point

One step, one blows of wind, a simple moving of one pebble of a stone, start a chain reaction of events with further offshoots spanning out in all direction and so on and on as duplication and replication take place.

That is the simple explanation of some laws that underpinned his calculations of fate and destiny.

But this is only one of it.

This alone could not calculate all kinds of factors that needs to be calculated for Loki to flawlessly execute his plans without mistake

As there are particles, atoms that even though one could not realize it does affect something. And once something affects other things, it creates a reaction

Kind of like a butterfly effect.

Loki, each time when he makes a calculation, other than this laws, he also needs to distinguish between causal relations or mere correlations which is hard to distinguish if you only see one part of the story

Cause and effect sometimes do not explain everything.

When all you seek is causal relations, he would never be able to see the real power that binds, a metaphysical glue that binds event together

Most of what he could see, if he only uses the law of cause and effect is regularities, the constant conjunction of certain sorts of observation.

Only by going further, go beyond the evidence of memory and senses that he could see more.

And the Universe, the Omniverse and all of its subsets did not necessarily plays by the same rules.

As for the causal effect, this also had something else that it could also be think of as irrelevant sometimes

This is mostly observed in physics

If you can't observe certain particles or atoms, how can you measure them? if you can't measure them, how can then you put it in an equation.

Causality has a definite direction in time, causes have to happen before the effect.

Yet, the basic law of physics, appear to be time-symmetric.

If a certain process is allowed under the basic law of physics, a recording of the same process played backward will also depicts a process that is allowed by the laws.

This is not entirely to disprove the causality effect.

It simply because sometime the cause is unidentified and as Loki had known, not all worlds and all universes possess the same Law.

He then shakes his head. Once again, his mind goes to other places.

Loki could notice that Trisha is looking at the back of his head even without him turning back

He turns back for a moment and wave his finger, like he is reminding Trisha of something.

'You know I sometime.....be like this'

'I know' Loki nodded and said.

'I guess enough thinking for a few moments'

'If my lord wanted to save time, that would be advisable'

Loki chuckles.

Trisha had been waiting for him to use the key for a few seconds already. But she was not as frustrated as she appears to be.

She must be still angry about him calling her his dear little child.

'Forgive me. I was lost in my thoughts' Loki smiles and chuckles a bit. Today, brings a lot of memories to him.

One of the events had been completed. Six events to go. Feeling that the time for the battle of the End is nearing make him feel a lot of emotions.

bad emotions. Good emotions. And feeling of hope and despair fighting against each other.

Of course, the Battle of the End would not happen for a few more hundred years. But to him, a few hundred years is nothing.

He then sighed.

Trisha pretend she did not hear it as Loki brought out his key and throws it to the ground.

The ground shakes for a second, as the key seems to merge with the ground. Magic circle full of all kinds of word character is rearranging itself inside the magic circle

It did not emanate any powerful surge of energy.

it is designed not to since if each time they enter the Nowhere Land a surge of energy is released; it would not be long before someone find out that there is something wrong about this island

The ground then suddenly depressed. But it is only depressed in a small circle. Such circle only fit two people

It seems the magic circle would adjust itself according to the people it wanted to bring.

And it did not simply depress the land, the land inside the small circle fragmented and then revealed a spiraling dark abyss that seems to lead to nowhere. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

Loki did not say anything as he jumps into the dark abyss followed by Trisha.

He jumps into it without hesitation followed by Trisha who did not look like she had just jumped into an abyss leading to darkness.

A moment later, they arrive at another area. It is almost like they were teleported there. Loki tilt his head left and right a bit.

He did not seems surprised at all. And his face is as calm as ever.

Trisha check to see if is anything missing on her person. Loki notices that.

‘What are you doing?’

‘Checking if something is missing’

Loki seems puzzled.

Then he asks

‘Is there a case of something missing when going through the tunnel?’

Trisha simply said

‘Heard some of the staff in the simulation room said they lose some stuff. Minor stuff. Some lost their keys. Some lost their access cards. Others lost a part of their clothes. Common thing about them all, is that they have a bit of energy signature around each of the items that is missing’

‘Maybe, it had something to do with Slimey. I will check on him. Maybe, he is hungry. The last time I gave him any food was a few years ago.’

Loki laughed

‘You called one of the monsters of the Dark Universe, Slimey?’

Trisha raised her shoulders and said

‘he is not that bad.’

Loki then remind her

‘That slime is one of eldritch creature’

‘A baby eldritch creature’ Trisha countered.

Loki could only shake his head as he turns back to see the sprawling puzzle in front of him. He is teleported into a mazelike area.

Trisha also stopped talking about Slimey and then look at the maze area in front of her

She shakes her head and said

‘You know, my lord, I always objected putting this maze into the design of Nowhere Land’ she said.

Loki just waved his hand like he is dismissing Trisha objection

‘Don’t you think it made the Nowhere Land more mysterious like this’

‘I think my lord just like to torture the staff of this facility’ Loki only chuckles at this.

Chapter 1056: A joyful reunion \(1\)

The maze also functions like the address code in the key. It is ever changing. But since he is the one who design the maze, he understood the logic of the maze. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

But, he did not need to solve the maze since he is the administrator of the Nowhere Land. His key is of course different from other people key.

And this is actually a backdoor. It is faster than using the other methods. And there is only a few staff that was allowed to use this backdoor.

He walks inside the maze.

And Trisha follow him from behind.

The maze is full of white misty air.

For the staff, this misty air, at most would only hinder a bit of their sight.

It did not matter whether you are Pillar Forming leveler or Disk Formation leveler, no matter what kind of powerful vision you have, once you were blocked by this mist, it would hinder your vision.

This mist like most of the thing that is in the Nowhere Land is also not something that is naturally here. Like the walls of the facility is taken from some other land, this mist was taken somewhere around the Stonehenge.

Loki did not simply come to the Stonehenge every year to just talk with Erika. It would not be like him to do things without purpose.

He also grabs a few things there.

However, the mist reacts differently to enemies. To enemies, the mist would not simply hinder their vision, it would also poison them

It is not lethal however. As most of it is kind of like a tranquilizer.

After all, this place is mostly about keeping people inside. While it is not easy to enter this place, to get out of it, is even harder.

And Loki borrows some theme from World Government prison, The Maze.

Well, it is not like the World Government original idea to add a maze on the entrance of their prison. They too got the idea from the Maze of the Minotaur.

Then after going out of the maze, finally they arrived toward the building of the prison.

Loki nodded in satisfaction as he looks at the new and improved look of the building.

‘It seems that there have been a lot of changes even to this bleak land’

Trisha walks and stand beside Loki and said

‘Well, the prison needs to be bleak for the prisoners. It doesn’t have to be like that for the workers too right?’

Loki nodded

Then Trisha added

'We deal with torturing people, madmen, psychopaths. You would not believe the things that come out of their mouth. Though we do torture them once in a while to release our stress, still, it is not good to always be subjected to such mental stress'

She said

'It would not be bad for us to relax a bit during our rest time. I built a few rec rooms for them. And the simulation staff were kind enough to help. One of the person working in the simulation room had the same personality as that one office character, so we called him Dwight'

Loki raised his eyebrows and said

'I watch the memory disc. The Office is quite funny' she said and not missing a beat she continues

'Though the people in the Killing Room, I mean, the Extermination Chamber always seems giddy for some reason when it is their shift. I think they have something wrong in their heads just like the prisoners' she said

Loki eyebrows raised higher and said

'I don't think that they would like it if they heard such words coming from you'

'Ah, don't worry about it my lord. They know what I think of them. And they don't really care. After all, the background of those people serving as the executioner of the Extermination Room is not one would call usual background of good people. They have some stories.'

Then she chuckles looking at Loki

'Just joking. Taking some pages out of your playbook, my lord'

Loki chuckles.

'You become cheekier as years passes'

'And my lord is still the same. pretending not to understand, pretending to be blind. Why am I so cheeky? Why I do not like being called a child? It seems my lord would always pretend' She sighed

Loki only smiles bitterly.

'Let us go inside before we talk about certain things' Trisha nodded.

As they walk outside the building of the prison, Loki could see some staff of the prison drinking coffee under the canopy while talking with each other

Some is laughing with each other while some is reading something from their AI phone. It almost seems like they do not know what is happening outside the world right now

Well, not every organization in the Nowhere Land is military armed organizations or clandestine operatives.

Some of them maintained the internal working of the Nowhere Land and did not meddle on the outside world matters.

Every once in a while Loki would encounter some of the staff walking along the hallway. They all bowed towards him with respect.

Even though Loki wears a different face every time he came to the facility, it is not hard to recognize that he is Loki.

After all, Trisha walk one step back behind him like some kind of bodyguard.

This is a respect accorded to him and that alone is a sign to the staff.

Trisha is one of the highest ranking people in the Nowhere Land.

And her other two sisters.

But even then, the three sisters would walk behind Trisha as she is their oldest sister and it would not be that Trisha walk behind them

There is only one other person that have a higher ranking than her and that would be the creator of the Nowhere Land, Loki the Trickster.

So, when they see that Trisha humbled herself to this person, even if Loki change his face to a beggar, people would still know it is Loki the Trickster

They quickly passed the normal hallways and then reaches toward a room. The area around the room is all guarded with robotic soldiers.

The robots are all controlled by the Artificial Intelligence of the facility. Trisha only raise her hand and the robots all nodded.

Loki did not want to transform to the face he had used to register himself with the facility but the AI of the facility already is accustomed to the ever changing face of the Trickster.

Loki open the room with another key and Trisha follow him inside. Inside the room, there is a portal. But this portal is chained by four floating chains. The chain itself is stuck on four stone tablets

These stone tablets seem to hold this chain from being sucked into the portal.

Loki walk toward the portal and enter it without hesitation. Trisha also enters and a second later, they are now in the Prison

'Ah, home sweet home' Loki said. Loki then touch the walls.

He nodded in satisfaction.

'Glad to see that there is no problem with the walls.' He thought to himself.

The prison interior is made by cementing it with mixture of certain soil found in the Bubble Land.

One of the concerns of his when the world expansion happens was that the cement would broke off.

One had to be prepared for all possibilities after. Trisha then said

'There are some cells that have the cement falls off. Greisha is containing them. But other than that, the prison wall is still quite intact, my lord'

'That's good. As for Greisha.... Haish...I don't know what to do with her. She is too young but I do not deny that she had a talent. A dangerous talent but a talent nonetheless. Her flaw is that she is too eager. And she wanted my acknowledgement all the time.'

'She loves you. To her, you are her father. She wanted to make you proud. And out of the three of us, you love her the most'

Loki shakes his head.

'I dint know why you and Riana both think like that' He sighed and there was silence in the halls. No one is walking along the halls.

There is a section of the many hallways inside the prison which is reserved for Loki and a few others.

As such there is no sight of the staff walking around

'I know' he said

'I know that he wanted to make me proud. She did not have to do that. I am already proud of her. That is why it is so hard for me. She is taking more and more risk.'

'Tell her that'

'I did. But, she thinks that I am saying that because I do not trust her as I trust you or Riana. That is why I try not to involve her too deep' Loki could not tell this to others. He did not even tell this to Sina.

Sina knows that the three sisters for Loki is like his daughter.

But other than that, she did not know much. Because the matters of the Three Sisters are his matters and those three.

It is a part of his life he is not fond of sharing with other people. Because he wanted to protect those three.

At least this, he did not reveal to anyone.

It is hard for Loki because he did not want to forge so many bonds.

Forging bonds of brotherhood with Death Monarch is imperative and even inside his calculation.

Even if he did not forge such bond with Death Monarch, he was tasked to at least not be his enemies.

After all, he came here to help and not to become enemies with the one person that could stop what will happen

That is not something he had to worry about since this is in his plan. That included Sofia and the other figures near Death Monarch

All those people also did not need him to worry about them. They are all capable enough and their destiny is strong.

Loki only guided them sometimes, giving something to them that should be theirs, smooth out a few path in advance and favors like that

But as for the Three Sisters, these three little kids that he had picked up, they were not in his plan.

And while he tries to not develop too strong of a feeling, trying not to be attached, how could it be easy?

Chapter 1057: A joyful reunion \(2\)

‘You take us in for a reason. Trisha said

Loki did not deny it and nodded

‘True. But, I do not wish for this life to be everything for the three of you. After the Fall, the world had become very harsh. If you have no use, if you do not fight and if you do not have strength, you could not live. Some people survive doing some sly and terrible things. Some are lucky enough to survive that with their sanity and moral intact. But whether it is evil or good, they are the survivors. I raised you and give you skills. There is a Price.

Trisha only smiles bitterly and nodded, agreeing with him.

She knows the harshness of the world and she think it was luck that they three were picked up by Loki and not some other people.

‘But, it is not like I would use you forever. And this is not the only way to live your life’ He paused for a second and then he said

‘I am.... preparing things’

‘Preparing things? What do you mean by that?’ Trisha said.

There is something a little wrong with what Loki said. Trisha just don’t know why, but that is the feeling she gets.

Loki did not seem to want to talk about it but his smile seems a little sad. Then his mind remembers what is about to happen.

Now, that the Time Crisis had ended, this period is the period where Sovereign is born. After Azief become Sovereign, the battle for the Divine Throne would begin

He worries about this three little kids. Worry that they would get sucked into the battle for the Throne.

They are powerful enough and resourceful enough. Loki had changed the fate of this three little girls and he is not sure whether all of it would be good.

But other than the battle for the Divine Throne, he also needs to be prepared for some other possibility.

Possibility that he had never entertained before

Things had been brought forward a lot. It would be weird if some things did not change. Even fate and destiny could not hold back this tide

The six events after the Time Crisis should happen after the battle of the Divine Throne

But now, anything goes. The reason why he needs to prepare is that he needs to leave some protection for the girls.

He is about to return to Origin after Azief become the Sovereign.

That is the plan. He just didn't know the full details of that. The full details seem to be in the head of Number Seven

He just hopes that there would be a plan that could guarantee the safety of these three people.

Loki did not want them to be close to the Sovereigns because rarely nothing good happens when Gods consorted with mortals

And there is also the fact that these three might even use the things that he had taught them and participate in the Battle for the Divine Throne.

That would not end well.

Then Loki just shakes his head. And Trisha could only look at Loki. There is silence between them again. Trisha did not say anything as they walk alongside each other in the bleak dreary hallways of the prison.

There is many prison in this facility.

And there is even a certain theme to it.

Loki did not walk just for the sake of it. His eyes are doing calculations and seeing through the magic circles and formation embedded deep underneath the cement.

His eyes are looking at it and trying to see if there is any magic circle that get unhooked or untethered. That would be a huge problem if there is one and he did not notice.

The people inside these prisons are all monsters in their own rights.

Loki would not really feel at ease if one of them escaped because of his negligence.

The next few days, he needs to make sure that there is no breach in the security of the spell before he could make contact with the Crime Alliance.

But, there is still something he needs to do and explain. Trisha doesn't seem impatient though. She trusts that he had made the right decision concerning the matter of Riana and Nathan

Still Loki thinks he is taking too much unnecessary risk. And the child.... the moment he taught of Riana child, Loki also felt a little sad for the little one

Loki however wanted to settle all of this before night. he is planning to have a feast tonight. Greisha would be back by then

A family reunion. It is long overdue.

Loki is heading to his office and after a few minutes of walking he arrived at the hallways leading to his office.

Along the hallways, there is no defect.

Even the hallways seem like a maze.

There are only a few hundred more hallways he needs to check.

Of course, he could not check it personally like before. Or more accurately, he couldn't check it by himself right now.

He intends to wait for the berserk energy all over the world to calm down before using his authority to scan all irregularities in the magic formations and other protective measures that has been put into place.

They walk a few minutes and saw some of the damages that happens to the facility. But it did not damage the integrity of the magic circle around the facility

At least not in the area nearby. Then after a few more minutes' walk, Loki arrives at his office. He quickly enters the office and sat down on his chair

Like he had expected, today is a quite a long day. He pours himself a drink. Loki do not need to drink.

But the drink inside the jar that he had just poured is not a normal drink.

It is made from some of the best herbs that is nourished by the energy of the world

Not only it tastes good, it is also rejuvenating. He needs to calm down his mind. He is thinking too much and he fears that he would be burdened by the information

There were a few times where he would just lose his consciousness and went into dream mode where his mind rested for a bit from all the calculations.

He did not want that to happen.

Taking a few sips, he finally relaxed.

Trisha sat down on the chair near the office door. The office itself is large the size of a two classrooms.

There is even a bed on the other side of the office. Sometimes Loki would not go to his quarters and instead spend time on the office

Truthfully, he spends most of his time in the office than his quarters.

As such, that bed is in case if he wants to sleep in the office. Such a normal human behavior, sleeping that is.

But it does have its benefits even for such a leveler of Disk Formation.

Sometimes, Loki just wanted to mute it all down and stop thinking for a while.

Loki sighed and for a moment, there is only quietness in the office.

There is a certain sense of calm that seems to fill in the quietness.

Loki felt safe here because this is his place. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

Everywhere else, there is always a chance of being attacked or schemed on.

After all, other than the Six Great powers that will be hunting him, there is also Yewa Hafar who would try to do a lot of thing to stop his plans from coming to fruition.

But now as he is in his office he laid back on his chair as his chair stretched backward giving him that sweet comfort for a few moments.

A few minutes just passed by like this before he opens his eyes and exhale his breath

Then he got up from his chair and said

'It is time to bring your sister back' Trisha who were looking at Loki the entire time, also got up and nodded.

Then Loki brought out the grain from his Bag of holding and held it in his palm. There is a smile on his face.

'You think your sister will be angry?' Loki said.

Trisha think about what Loki had done and she nodded

'She would. But, I don't think she would be mad for long. It is the best solution. For an impossible situation'

Loki could only scoff at that.

'I know I planned it to be like that. But, I truly did not expect that she had a child. I could guess that she had something with the Broker. I just didn't think she married him and even have a child with her'

Then he sighed

'Or maybe I did. And I just don't want to believe it. Sometimes, the truth we wanted to hide from ourselves is the heaviest. With you three, I sometimes, bend my principles. That is very dangerous for me. Because the stake is too high to get it wrong'

There is silence for a while as Loki seems to hesitate. He closes his eyes for a second and then after taking a deep breath, he opens his eyes again.

He is taking some moment to calm himself down.

Trisha knows what Loki is worrying about so she said

'Don't worry. Second Sister would not blame you for what you had done' Hearing this Loki chuckles.

'This time you are wrong. I am not thinking about your second sister. Of course she would not blame me. After all, this is the punishment for trying to trick me, the Trickster.....' he paused for a second before adding

'-but she is not going to be too happy about it either'

Smiling he then activated the Grain Palace and coming out from the Grain palace is three figure.

There is Riana with her baby in her arms. And beside her....is Nathan

Loki laughed and said

‘Now, let’s talk’ he said.

Chapter 1058: The truth of the scheme \(1\)

Riana look around her and for a moment she was surprised before she finally knows where she is.

Inside the Grain Palace, she could not see the outside. Actually, there is a function to see the outside but she did not have the full control of the Grain Palace.

Not to mention she was unconscious in there. Inside the Grain Palace, there is a large patch of land, floating mountains and waterfall falling from the side of the mountains.

Clouds filling the artificial sky of the Grain Palace like it is a separate world. It was like the entrance to Heavenly Palace

Immortal air and chaos energy seems to exist side by side harmoniously

Loki had made many adjustments inside the Grain Palace. She only notices this later when she was conscious again.

Her child seems to be guarded by sentient beast that live inside the Grain Palace. And when she was conscious she finally realizes that there were Nathan also in the Grain Palace

The time in the Grain Palace differs heavily from outside the Grain Palace. Loki did not only change the interior of the Grain Palace; he had also changes the Laws inside the Grain Palace.

To her, she has been spending time inside the Grain Palace for a few hours already. But she still did not feel at ease because she did not know what Loki is planning.

Even when Nathan got up, he also did not exactly understand what Loki was trying to do. But then they were suddenly ejected out from the Grain Palace.

She saw Trisha, her older sister near the door of the office. And she shakes her head, a bitter smile on her face.

Trisha look at the baby and she smiles

She come closer to her second sister and said

‘Let me hold her. Let see my niece’ Seeing how happy Trisha look, it releases a certain heaviness from Riana heart.

Riana smiles and she gave her daughter for Trisha. Trisha put the baby in her arms as she slowly rocks her from side to side

Then Trisha looks at Loki and said

‘I’ll give time for you to explain to them. I will bring her to the nursery. It is better to let her sleep’ Loki once again raised his eyebrows

‘We have a nursery?’

Trisha smiles and nodded.

'There is many staff. And it is not like we forbid office romance. My lord should really come here more often instead of always coming here when you need something'

Loki just shakes his head as Trisha go out of the room and close the door.

Now inside the room there is only three people

There is Loki. There is Riana. And there is Nathan who is looking at the office with a look of utter amazement

He then looks back at Loki and said

'I thought that you kill me'

Loki only smiles but he did not explain anything as he clicks his finger and poof two chairs materialized in front of the table on the opposite side from where Loki is standing.

Both of them sit down as they look at Loki who is also slowly sit down at his chair. There is a smile on his face

For a moment, Loki only look at their face and did not say anything. Nathan was uncomfortable with the long silence and the staring but he did show it in his face

Riana on the other hand look down at her chair, not daring to see Loki

And then he said

'You see, I, Loki, even though I killed quite a lot of people, most of the people I killed are criminal, evil people. There is rarely a time where I kill someone who is innocent, who is unrelated to the business I have. I prefer to find another way. And there is always another way' he said smiling

Nathan and Riana could only listen as Loki continued

'I need people to believe that I kill you. That, I, as you so eloquently said, become one of them. A monster. I need the world to believe in it. But- '

And Loki look at Riana and sighed

'But, you are my daughter lover. At least before I knew that you were her husband. My plan was a bit different than what I have executed. I planned for the world to believe that you and Riana both died under my hands. That is the original plan'

Hearing this Riana was shocked.

Loki smiles gently at her and said

'I wish to use that death so you could free yourself and live freely in this world. I never expected that you have a child. And, if I kill you even as I know that you have a daughter, that is too big of a leap for those crime lords to believe. They might believe that I could kill one innocent man. They might believe that I could kill you both in a bout of anger.'

'But they would not believe that I would harm a daughter of mine who had a child. It is out of character of me to do such things. Those crime lords also know that I would never do such a thing. Because I have done a lot of business with them'

'Instead of making them convinced, it might backfire. So, I had to improvise on the spot'

'If not for that one mistake, both of you could retire freely right now'

Riana finally understand what her father had done. She looks at her father and there is tears on both of her eyes, dropping down this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

Loki saw it and he shakes his head.

Nathan then frowned as he tried to make sense of it all and then he asks

'then, why did you look like you were really going to kill me?' Loki then began explaining to both of them that the Crime Alliance would surely investigate this matter

From what Loki had known about the Crime Alliance, they have someone who could see through the past.

At this, Nathan also remember that there is such a guy among the employs of the Crime Lords.

As such, Loki had to pretend, to make his acting really real, that he truly had the killing intent and desire to destroy the Broker.

But because of the surge of energy, the things they said would be garbled.

That is why Loki keep releasing powerful surge of energy around him

To distort the possible complete investigation

And with a little bit of manipulation of Truth by Loki, the vision that investigator would have would corroborate his story

He needed to threaten and appear to kill Nathan to make sure that the investigators are convinced of the story and for him to finally gain the respect of the Crime Lords

The reason why Loki knows so much about the investigator is because Loki had met him once in his timeline. Of course, this part of the story he did not share with Riana.

Nathan leaned back on his chair and shakes his head while smiling.

He closes his eyes and sigh. But on his face there is a smile. With Loki plans, right now, the whole world had believed that he had died.

It is just a pity that Riana did not die too. If not, both of them could retire from the tumultuous era that is about to come.

This is why when Loki relayed the news to Trisha that Nathan had died, instead of feeling sad, Trisha was feeling happy.

Because she knew that now Nathan is free. But then Nathan have another question

He then sits back straight up, stare at Loki and ask

‘Then, why did you hit me so hard? And making all of that drama like you were really going to kill me? Is it simply because you wanted to make the investigator believe your narrative?’

At this, Loki stares back at Nathan and said

‘You married my daughter without telling me. I think a little bit of punishment was needed, don’t you think?’ He said as he looks at Riana and Riana blushed

He pointed his finger at Riana and wave it up and down at her

‘You.....what a headache’ Then Loki laugh.

Loki too leaned on his chair.

It is a pity that he could not make Riana retire with this event but there is still time before the First Sovereign is born.

He needs to prepare for these three sisters.

He had hoped that he could kill Riana and make the world believe she is dead so that when the time comes, she would not get involved in what is about to happen.

But, it has to be change a bit.

This is also because he just had changed to Number Two. Certain memories did not manifest yet and the old memories is just acclimatizing.

As such, his calculation hit some snag.

Nathan is now relaxed a bit.

He did not like that Loki had make him suffer such pain but he could somehow understand.

And only now that he remembers that Loki could be considered his father in law.

Even though Riana is not related at all to Loki, they were many times that Riana said she wish her father could attend her wedding.

It is clear that Riana very much treated Loki as her father.

She wanted his love, his blessing and his approval. Yet at the same time, she also fears that he would be disappointed at her.

Chapter 1059: The truth of the scheme \(2\)

He had never thought that when Loki found their safe house that they would get their happy ending.

Well, this is not quite a happy ending to some people.

But to him it is.

He had long wanted to get out from the whirlpool of the power struggle in the world.

The Seven great powers that fought against each other in the dark, the Crime Alliance, and the many other forces that is biding their time in the shadows, ready to come out once these titans duke it out with each other

He never thought he could escape it.

Because he has the Book of Secrets and he is the Broker.

He had to keep using the Book of secrets because he knows, that without any value, he would be discarded.

He was kept under protection by the Shadow Guards because he provides intelligence to them. If not how could the Shadow Guards tolerate him.

There is a reason why Sasha did not bring him to Death Monarch. Because they both don't know what Death Monarch would do to him, if he ever shows his face in front of him

Regardless of Nathan intention, he co-founded the Crime Alliance. A such, he is one of the enemy that pandemonium wanted dead.

The only escape....at least in his mind, was death

But with what Loki had done, he no longer had to worry. He smiles and then looking at Loki he said

'Thank you' He means it from the bottom of his heart

Loki look at him and scoffed

'trust me. I didn't do it for you.' Then he added

'As for the Book of Secrets, I think you've notice' Nathan nodded

'I don't mind' Then pausing for a second he then said with a calm tone

'I don't know how you do it but it seems that you managed to split my unique class and put it into the Book. Now, the Book is truly not bind to me anymore. Is this the Price for this freedom?' He asks

'Why? Do you want your power back?' Nathan chuckles as he shakes his head.

'It's fine. Knowing a lot of secrets is not as good as one thinks. Then he looks at Riana beside her, and hold her hand.

Then he said

'I would only strengthen myself strong enough to protect my family from now on. It is good to start anew. Maybe, I would be just a simple warrior' he said with a smile as he squeezed a bit of Riana hand

Riana look at her and smile. And because she smiles, he smiles.

Nathan right now around Orb Condensing stage

Loki had done something to him when he was enveloped by that huge amount of energy

Even so, Nathan did not blame Loki.

He knows why Loki came to him. he wants to take control of the Book of Secrets. That could not happen unless he dies.

But when he dies, his unique class could once again be inherited by someone else who fulfill the requirements of the class.

At least that is what he thought. It is clear now, that Loki had found another way to make sure that he could use the Book of Secrets without killing him who had created such an item

But Loki seems to have a method to seal the unique will into the Book of Secrets. Nathan could already think of how Loki would explain this to the Crime Lords.

He would probably say that when Nathan died, he seals the Unique Will inside the book so that he could have complete control over the Book.

It would make it even more legit.

Since the Crime Lords probably also believe that only by the original owner dying that one such item could be taken control of.

Nathan admired Loki farsightedness at this moment and shudders to think how deep his planning was.

Loki then said

‘Riana, you should take a rest. From what I heard from Trisha she had modified the place. And as for you’ he said as his eyes went back to Nathan

‘Don’t ever reveal yourself to anyone. I already take a lot of risk saving you when it is simply easier just to kill you. And-’ he paused for a second before saying

‘Treat Riana good. If not, I don’t mind making the lies become the truth’ Nathan nodded and smile

‘I promise you’ Loki just shakes his head.

‘Still, you don’t have a trustworthy face. I wonder what she sees in you’ he could only sigh at this as he exhaled his breath.

Riana was about to say something but Loki raise his hand and whatever she wanted to say is stuck on her throat.

‘I know; you have more questions. And probably there is a lot of things you wanted to say too. But.... I am tired’

He then added

‘Let us talk tonight. On the other side of the forest there is thick trees and the energies around that forest is also quite weird. I bet it would distort any surveillance methods. We could have a barbecue, like the old times’

He looks back at Nathan and said grudgingly

'You are invited' Nathan nodded

Loki then gesture to Riana to exit the room. Riana got up and as she got up Nathan also got up. They look at each other and they smile.

The smile is subtle but one could see a trace of happiness in each curve of the mouth

There is still this surreal feeling in their hearts

Just a couple of hours ago, they were ready to live without each other.

But now, that they are together, safe and sound and also free from the burdens that plagued them.... all of it seems like a happy dream that they almost couldn't believe it.

It was like they were dazed because of this sudden euphoria that they could not exactly describe.

But Riana understood her father.

She nodded and said something under her breath

'Thank you' She said it gently, almost as faint as the blowing of a wind in a calm day but Loki heard it. And he smiles hearing it.

They slowly get out of the room.

Now, Loki is alone in the room. He already had the Book of Secrets but he is not intending to check the book right now.

Instead, he opens his drawers. There is a rectangular object the size of a tissue box. It is thin and has a grey metallic color.

He brought it out and put it on the table.

Then he pushed the bottom in the middle of that object and the object expanded becoming wider. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

It looks a lot like a laptop, the primitive technological device before the Fall

It is designed to look like a laptop.

After all, this is still not yet the prosperous era where there is peace and people would have time to design things

For now, most of the creation is more focused on functionality. Of course some builders and architects do inject some of their personality to their works

But those people are usually those that have found their path. Most builders just build whatever they were told to build.

This laptop-looking item however does have some personalization.

Because Loki rarely commissioned things to others when it is something that he would use regularly.

This laptop emits magical energy and if one brought out a measurement of energy reading, the energy reading would be minimal because most of its energy is contained in the circuit of the laptop.

He called it the Imaging Magical laptop.

Yes, he did not pay so much attention in naming it.

Considering that this is already the tenth iteration of this laptop, Loki decided to not care that much about its name.

In the end, the only one that have this technology is him so it did not matter what he names it.

But he does feel cringe saying it.

He shakes his head and open the laptop lid.

And all kinds of runes appear.

It is unlike normal laptop where you see all kinds of computer icons.

Instead of icons, there is only running lines, like that Matrix movies moving inside the Imaging Magical Laptop

But unlike the Matrix where it has 0 and 1 running down the lines, there is runes. And these runes did not come down fast

Instead it is slow.

Loki touch the screen and made a gesture of opening his palm.

The moment he did that, the screen expanded to cover half the surface of the office.

Loki get up from his seat as he walks toward the holographic image and narrowed his eyes on one particular rune

Each rune contains large amount of information that even some supercomputer would find it hard to measure

He tilted his head to the right and shakes his head

'This could not be right' He said to himself

'No, no, no. This isn't possible' He come closer to that rune. And as he narrowed his eyes and look closer to that one particular rune, his face turns dark

'Shit. Fuck' he cursed as he felt like he wanted to break some stuff.

No one would believe it if they see Loki right now. Loki rarely lose his calm. This is one of the few times that he had lost his calm

Instead of angry, it was more of a frustration.

Then he knocks his chest a few times.

He forces himself to calm down.

He closes his eyes and take deep breath and inhale and exhale air.

The energy of the world around the facility had also increase because of the Multiversal Convergence so he is now inhaling energy and slowly after a few second he become calm again

‘Another event brought too early. Is the event going to change order?’ he thought to himself.

Chapter 1060: A new variable

Loki rub his chin as he tries to remember certain memories in his mind.

‘I think I remember it right? There should be no mistake about something so important. A new variable?’

‘If I’m not mistaken it is the Marriage, the World War, and only then it would be the Attack of the Last Son of Yrinia’

Yes, he saw Fir Her Waz, the Last Son of Yrinia in the information packed into one of the runes in his laptop-like device.

Loki need to know more.

His fate is very related to Fir Her Waz. He got the Book of Mysteries from the wreckage of Fir Her Waz ship.

He did not even have to think too much to know that this has Yewa Hafar trace all over it.

Only he knew the connection between him and Fir Her Waz and have the means to give Fir Her Waz the location of Earth without revealing himself.

If not, Fir Her Waz would be wandering space for a lot longer.

It seems that Yewa Hafar has begins his counterattack.

It might be because that Yewa Hafar wanted to remove the unstable factor which is him, that today, this event happens.

Loki snap his finger and the office door is tightly closed and runes glowed all over the walls as it mixed and connected with each other

Unless someone who is Divine Comprehension that is trying to open the door, anyone below Divine Comprehension had to expend a lot of time simply to open that door.

He did not want to be disturbed. He walks to the runes and touches it.

The moment he touches it; vision appears in his mind. He saw a large continent. It is unlike any continent that he had seen before.

Loki could move in this vision. As he willed it, he appears inside the vision in a translucent form.

This vision is not some premonition or some illusion but a recording.

But unlike normal recording, he could go inside the recording and even interact with the things inside the recording.

It combines simulation abilities which is calculated by the magical hexes that is embedded in the program of the laptop.

But it is not that he is travelling into the past.

While he could affect what happens in the recording, it did not change anything that happens in reality because this is simply a recording.

He saw a forest that is burning with high intensity.

The flames reached the clouds and burns the clouds. There is trail of clouds from above trailing down.

Loki narrowed his eyes toward the location and he teleported to that forest. Even before a second could pass he is already at the forest

He wanted to confirm something.

If it is true, then there is another problem that he had to solve.

He already had a lot to digest. He had got the information that Odin wanted to meet Azief.

That is another problem that he had to solve. He also needs to quickly increase his strength so that he could prevent Odin from meeting Azief too early.

He knows Odin probably have his own plans. But, Loki fears that Odin would interfere with his plans. Too much cook will spoil the broth

They might share the same objective or not. At least, he needs to talk with Odin. As for reaching Odin level, that could only be achieved if he is a Sovereign.

But at least he could negotiate with Odin. After all, Odin, like him, knows what will happen in the future.

There is always something that they could talk about...if it is about this topic.

And then before he could even rest after solving the problem of his daughter and the Broker Book of Secrets, now, there is a chance that Fir Her Waz is on Earth

That is what one of the runes of observation that he had put on the clouds is showing him when he did a cursory glance to the runes before

He had put a lot of runes of observation on the skies of Earth before. It is subtle and it did not touch upon Heaven Will as such, it is not discovered by the Heavens and by Death Monarch

After all, the other runes that is connected to the runes of observation is the runes of stealth.

He did not want to believe in it which is why he touches the runes and enter into the recording to see it carefully.

Maybe, it is also a trap by Yewa Hafar. Maybe he disguises himself as Fir Her Waz to force him to make a move or disturb some of his plans.

After all, Yewa Hafar probably knows where he got his powers. So, it is not out of the realm of possibility for Yewa Hafar to do such a thing.

He could see that whatever causing this flame it is not a normal flame. The heat seems to distort the space around the flame

'Advanced technologies mixed with some kind of energy particles.' Loki concluded. The smile fills the sky. And Loki tries to analyze it the best he can.

This happens a few hours ago.

Right now, the area might have changed so he is using all of his observational ability to make sure that he could use it later to track this area.

He tries to remembers some part of the topography of the area. There are no creatures wandering about. Some part of it is damp.

'Coming out from the sea' Another conclusion is made. However, there is a lot of trees and forest.

The grass is green and tall, and each of them seems to emits energy in and out of their pores. Loki take a few more glance before he flew toward the area of the fire

'Something falls down from the sky'

'I truly hope it is not you, Fir Her Waz' he thought to himself.

As he flew he memorized all of the surrounding. At the same time, he calculated the possible changes that would happen to this area.

With so many continent popping left and right all over the world right now, it would be hard and time consuming for him to try to find each continent one by one.

As such, he could only try to deduce the possible changes of this continent and create a similar enough sketches so that he could come here again

He appears in front of a crater. The flames are all around the area, engulfing the area, scorching the ground

Around the crater a powerful shockwave exploded. It flattened the forest. Loki look at all this uninterestedly.

There is still ripples of the shockwave lingering all around the area.

'A powerful impact. Would the regeneration of the world energy cover up this impact?' his face turns dark as he had the answer.

It is very possible. Loki look to his left and right and he nodded to himself.

Judging by all the energy that is all around this newly birthed continent, it would not be long before the area around the crater would be covered up by fast growing vegetation. This is what he is afraid of

This differs heavily from the way he got the Book of mysteries.

Yes, he did get the Book of Mysteries from the wreckage of Fir Her Waz ship. But the circumstances are not like this.

Fir Her Waz did land on Earth. He landed during the time of the Sixth Sovereign. Or was it the Five? Loki slowly forgotten some details.

At that time, Loki is recovering back to Half Sovereign. But, many have known that the Will of the World had been ripped apart and the path to Ascension had been broken

Many people have different thoughts on why Raymond had spearheaded such attack on the will of the world but regardless of why, it greatly disadvantaged Loki

At that time of course, Loki did not know why. It is only after being a Sovereign that he knows why Raymond did such a thing.

And like the God of Death, Loki did not agree with what Raymond and the few other Sovereigns had done

He might be doing it with the bets of intention but it was not his decision to make.

And no one knows whether what he did truly would stop some of the tragedy that Raymond think might happen.

What happens instead was the domination of Sovereigns over all creation in the Milky Way galaxy and a few other colonized galaxy

It was then that Loki found the spaceship during the reigns of the Sovereigns

But the spaceship location at that time was that it is under an underwater cave. Inside the spaceship, he found the Book of Mysteries and manage to learn the things inside it.

At that time, he was also learning magic from Morgana.

The Book of Mysteries bring him to another level and he found a way to reach the path of Ascension without going the normal route that Death God had created

He succeeded.

That is how it happens the last time. This time however, it is too different. Someone that should have appeared after a few Sovereign had been born is appearing now.

The Battle for the Divine Throne did not yet even commence. Azief is still not walking toward the path of Ascension.

That itself is a big miscalculation. Then now the location of the spaceship is also wrong

Loki is in a dilemma. He already knew all the spells in the Book of Mysteries. Of course possessing its physical copy also have its advantages.

But this is reserved for him after he returned back to the origin. Only the can certain things flows along its course.

He could not just take the book right now. But he also could not just leave this out of nowhere and risk it falling to some other people hands.

This is no longer the problem of Death Monarch

This is the problem that he himself might not be in the equation in the future.

He clicked his tongue.

'Got to make sure everything is orderly.' He did not believe that he is the one that says such thing.

Loki come closer to the center of the explosion. Flames pass by him and ripples of shockwave seems to phase through him

Because it is simply a recording and Loki held full control of this recording, he could wish anything to happen inside here.

He could stop time here to see battles that he could not view in his current speed, and he could even zoom in and zoom out to see things that he might miss

Surveillance system of the magical era is very terrifying. He then saw a pile of metals. And his expression become.... complicated.

Because even though some of the metals look like it was destroyed completely.

On the parts that are not, the pile of metal that is very big looks like a spaceship that Loki had seen before

'Shit, it is really him' Then he saw someone coming out from the piles of metals. Purplish light haze seems to leak from the spaceship.

Energy around the area seems to be deconstructed. Loki look at the ship. It is damaged harder than from what he remembers.

The wings of the spaceship seem to be shredded apart. There are also deep gashes on the side of the spaceship

The inner hull however is fine.

Loki do not know where the other part of the ship had gone to.

Loki shake his head and instead of focusing his mind on the wrong thing, he changes his perspective and once again he is back in front of the area where he saw someone coming out from the pile of metals

Loki saw Fir Her Waz coming out from the wreckage. green skin and purple blood.

The Last Son of Yrinia.

The one who had fought against the heroes of the world. Loki is very interested in where Fir Her Waz is going but then the recording began to become blurry

'Ah, shit'

Loki look around him and he could see that energy that the ship had emanated seem to reach with the surrounding causing him unable to get the other parts of this scene.

The world inside the recording stopped.

The recording had ended. Loki could only shake his head and then his consciousness is back inside his body this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

Not even one second had passed.

'There is Fir Her Waz. Then there is Odin. There is still my plan of infiltrating the Crime Alliance. This is not making it easy for me' he said to himself.

He walks to his chair and then sighed. As he sighed lean back feeling the leather skin on his back, he rubs his temple

He then closes the laptop and push one of the same button on the side of the laptop as the laptop once again shrinks to its original size.

Loki opens his drawer and threw it in.

Then he brought out something that look like an old telephone during the eighties. A digit desk telephone where he had to pull the number

There are only three numbers that he pulled before the line connected him to someone. Loki is talking with someone and he talks with this man for quite some time.

Sometimes he frowns and sometimes he sighed.

Whatever he is talking about with this man, it is clear that Loki attach quite an importance toward the call as he surrounded himself with all kinds of noise and sound cancelling properties

Even though the office itself is free from any surveillance device and it should not be possible for anyone to overhear or try to do some surveillance on Loki, in a prison facility that he created, a measure that could even be considered as overkill, Loki had always been cautious.

But this goes beyond cautiousness. It is clear that for some matters he did not treat it as secretive as this.

Or maybe, it is because he did not yet get all the memories for Number Two and so, it I always advisable for him to act such a way rather than leaking some of his plans.

For about half an hour they talk to each other and then Loki put down the phone back into the drawer.

'One task down' He got up from his chair and then he takes a deep breath.

'Better wait a few more days before moving rashly' he thought to himself as he went out from his office to join his family