

Shadow 1131

Chapter 1131 - The Number One World Power IV

When one is living inside the history themselves, they did not know how big of an impact their decision, their choice would be for the future.

Azief then shakes his head, throwing the thought about the cube from his mind. Instead he once again thinks about tomorrow

Tomorrow would be the sixth day. That is the limit that Jean could hold that portal time fluctuation before it returns back to its original flow.

There are all kinds of feelings when he thought about tomorrow. Since he had no certainty whether he could win, there is this feeling that he is walking to his death

In the past he might get scared.

But after countless of time he brushed with death, he felt numb to it.

It is not that he had become fearless of death. It is just that he is accustomed to it. It is not that he did not appreciate his life, it is only that, he knew he could not live with himself if he did not try to save Katarina

Azief had always regarded the safety of his life as the most important. But there were a few times he would ignore his own survival.

It is when someone he cares for is in danger.

As he grows stronger, he also grows lonelier. There are few people that could accompany him and even chase after him

When he reach this level, he grows to appreciate such companionship even more. And Katarina?

He owes her too much to ignore her plight. All of the problem on this Earth could be resolved easily if only Death Monarch refuses to go to the Seresian world

If he delayed it for a few years, then Azief could probably raise his strength and fight the Demon King and win.

To some people, Death Monarch going to the Seresian world, a place where the Demon King has all the advantages while Death Monarch himself did not experience any leap of power is a stupid and a suicide mission

To them, if Death Monarch wanted to just preserve his reputation he just has to say that he would avenge Katarina.

To some people, the reason why Death Monarch is so anxious to save Katarina and even make such agreement with Jean is because he did not want to be labeled as a coward or heartless

Everyone knew how many things Katarina had done for him. Everyone also knows how powerful the Demon King is

But he insisted on going to the Seresian world, without giving himself time. How could then the people of the world had confidence that Death Monarch could go into the Seresian world and be victorious?

The best thing that could happen is that Katarina is still alive and was not harmed.

But this is the best scenario.

The worst scenario that could happen was that Katarina is already dead and the only thing that is waiting Death Monarch on the other side is a death trap.

However, if Death Monarch say he would avenge Katarina, instead of trying to save her, he could stay on Earth, hone his power and only then he would go to the Seresian world and avenge Katarina.

Even though it is quite heartless, everyone could understand the reason. And Death Monarch is still able to retain his reputation and power.

'See, I still avenge her'

To some people this is something that could be done.

And many of the faction of the world that wanted Death Monarch to stay even hope Death Monarch would do such a thing

But some people are not Azief. Azief did not decide to save Katarina because of his reputation. It is also not because he had owed her too much

It is because, no matter how he denies her, there is always a part of his heart that is reserved for her.

From the moment he saw her, there is this feeling that he could not shake off. He would not say that four letter word, but that is the feeling he felt for her. The same feeling, he had for Sofia.

How could he then let such a person dies?

Even letting her there for one day is already torturous enough for him. Because of his calmness, people all think that Death Monarch is being rational right now.

Only he himself know how stormy his emotion is. How worried he was that in this past five days that Katarina is already dead.

The hope that she is still alive is the reason why he keeps going those past four days in space, trying to breakthrough even though it could have broken his Perfection Path.

For someone who is as obsessed as Azief on moving to a higher level, the fact that he had even thought of abandoning the Perfection Path and try to breakthrough regardless whether or not his Perfection Path could be retained shows how important Katarina is in his heart.

Fortunately, there is the Eterna legacy and his Perfection Path was not broken.

Tomorrow is the day.

if he finds out that Katarina is already dead, then he would do his best to return, hone his strength and then when he comes back to the Seresian world, he would bury that world with her.

If she is still alive, then he would do all that he could regardless of everything to bring her back. That is why he is also thinking of preparation for tomorrow.

He thought of bringing some of the experimental weapon that the Research Department had made.

There is no knowing what he would encounter the moment he enters that portal.

There might be an army stationed there ready to capture him.

Or Balfor Q'un might be there to kill him and take the rings from him. Azief had the thought of removing the ring from his finger.

But he had his reason for keeping the ring. He is trying to prepare for anything. And the ring could be a bargain.

While he could not say that he is an expert in using the ring he still have a few tricks when it comes to the ring

He sighed a bit.

There is a feeling of nervousness as he thinks of the battle with the Demon King. This time he would not have the help of the Heavenly Will and he would not have the whole world helping him

He would not have any allies there and he would also not have the Orvanians helping him from above.

Thinking about it again, it truly felt like he is going on a suicide mission. Then he shook his head, removing such thought from his mind and focused at the task in hand

'She is a bit late' he thought to himself. He is still waiting for Sasha.

Of course, he could have just teleported to Sasha position but he thinks it is unnecessary and he did not want to use his Divine Sense to check what she is doing.

While his Divine Sense is powerful it still consumes energy.

It is kind of absurd if he simply uses his Divine Sense to spy on people all the time. He looks at the four doors around his office.

His office has four doors that lead to four different places.

And like most of the things inside this office, the door is of course not a normal door. The doors are all black and there are runes carved onto it.

There is also lines in each rune that connect it to another rune like some kind of electrical circuit. When it is open, the runes would light up and its function would be activated.

The East Door would open to the Garden of Pandemonium.

Azief Garden had been destroyed during the expansion and the Keepers of the Palace had been hard at work for these couple of days to restore it back and to add more color to it.

If he opens the East Door, and step out of that door he would not get out of the office instead he would be teleported to Garden of Pandemonium.

The West Door would lead to his private library and study.

Inside the library, there is thousands of information stored in a book. Of course, these books are also not like normal books before the Fall

Instead one just had to open the pages and the information of the entire book would stream into one's mind.

As for his private study, sometimes when he wanted to relax or catch a break that is where he would go. It is where he would do his official work.

Of course there is no such thing before. But since breaking up with Sofia, he thought that he need to busy himself with some work.

It is quite funny.

If people knew that the reason why Death Monarch suddenly began to exercise his power in Pandemonium is because of his breakup, they would probably be dumbfounded.

Some people in the court had always wanted Death Monarch to take charge.

And some people like the status quo.

But they probably could not have expected that the reason Death Monarch began to pay attention to Pandemonium matter is simply because he wanted to occupied his mind with other things other than thinking about his breakup.

Because of the sudden request, the private library and the private study is still in partial construction.

Knowing it is the request of Death Monarch, the architect and the designer of this private library and private study put more effort on this than any other construction in Pandemonium.

One must know that to erect a three story building would only take two hours.

But a private library and private study, even after one day, it is only a partial reconstruction with the Research Department also involved.

There is also a dining room that is being constructed alongside the private library and study

The west door then would lead to the private library, the private study and the dining room.

Then the northwest door would open onto the main corridor of the West Wing. Yes, the designer had imitated the White House Oval Office to a high degree of precision.

Azief himself is impressed. It is quite hilarious when he thinks about it.

If anything, it would be the World Government that would design their office like the White House.

The reason is because Raymond once became the King of the United States for a while before he joins the World Government.

Even though it is just an empty gesture, recreating back the White House and sitting on it could create the illusion that the World Government has legitimacy over the United States considering that Raymond once conquered most of the major cities of the United States

Even though the United States seems like a democracy, to Azief it was always like a plutocracy.

Their people and their government are controlled by corporations. And they don't even know it.

There is only an illusion of freedom there. Once that freedom touched the bottom line of the rich and powerful, then that freedom ends there

At least Raymond was not a hypocrite. Azief laughs at his own thoughts. He looks at the northeast door.

The northeast door opens to the office of his secretary.

But he had no secretary.

He never asks for one.

But during Loki's regency, Loki had a few secretaries to help him organize his schedule.

Right now those secretaries are resuming back their duties in the government. But Azief could always call them back and serve under him.

Azief also looks at the interior design of the room. Right now the room is decorated plainly. The Keeper of the Palace had asked for his input on how to decorate the office,

In other words, he is to decorate his office to his personal taste.

Azief himself did not think that there is so many things to do just regarding his office

He had to choose new furniture, new drapery, and even the oval shaped carpet to cover most of the floor

There is also artwork that he had to choose.

However, each of these places are not connected by a room. Even when you open the door it is not like you would walk to those destinations.

Instead, each door is a teleportation conduit.

The Centre Palace is one of the places in the world that has the most complicated teleportation channel probably in the whole world.

Some places in the palace are a forbidden place to teleports. As to places that one was allowed to teleport to, it follows a certain rule.

Like some kind of transmission that could be cut off.

Azief himself did not understand most of it.

He understood teleportation and he himself could teleport himself as this has something to do with his ability to control space and time around him to a certain degree

However, the way teleportation is employed in governmental offices and workplaces is something that is more methodical and more systematic.

If what he does is magic, then what these people do with teleportation could be considered like a scientific method of magic.

It is orderly. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

If Azief wanted to understand it, he had to learn it from the bottom up. But even he does not have time to learn this kind of method.

And it was unnecessary.

The Palace might allow teleportation in-house but it clearly did not allow people to transport themselves into this Palace.

There are more formations and spells to forbid teleportation into the Palace then before.

Thousands upon thousands of layers of spell and array formation that overlapped each other to form a powerful anti-teleportation effect

Of course, in any formation there is a key.

And as the ruler Azief had the master key enabling him to teleport in and out of the Palace without triggering the array formations and spell.

He had check the formation and to is surprised he found out that even he, a Divine Comprehension leveler would take some time before he could break such array formation.

Because the array formation is connected with the protection formation of the palace, triggering one would trigger the other.

The fact that if one stacks enough formation and stack it in the right way to complement the other formation strength, it could even repel a powerful leveler shock him

He believes that the other world power would not mind spending a lot of resource to stack tens of thousands or even millions of protection formation as long as it could deter powerful leveler from directly teleporting to their base.

And because of that Azief issue another order to the related department to add more formation until even he could not break it.

While the Research Department could not really create a formation that is truly invulnerable to his attack, they have created an array formation that is so powerful that even a Divine Comprehension leveler has to spend a lot of time and energy to break such formation

Quantity over quality.

It really works. Azief knew his power. Right now, if the whole world wanted to kill him, they probably would be able to do that.

But the only way that they could do that is if they pool all the power and resources of almost every world power and throw at him everything they got.

The end result is his death and probably the almost extinction of humankind. That is the conclusion that not only he reached but also the other world power.

Of course, this did not include Jean and Hikigaya in the equation.

If they sided with the world the damage could be minimized but that is still the kind of damage that no one wanted to bear.

And there is always the possibility that he could still escape. After all, not everybody knows the trump card of Death Monarch.

Hirate regardless of his feeling toward Pandemonium continued dominance in the world politics would not let the world be driven to the point of breaking

In theory, quantity could always beat quality.

It is just that as Azief had reached Divine Comprehension level, the quantity of people that is required to kill him had risen considerably.

When he was in Disk Formation, there were only a few Disk Formation level in the world.

Still, at that time, if the world really wage war against him, Azief chance of winning the entire world is around 30 percent

It is why Azief divided the world into seven. Each of them have their own interest and Azief could use that to divide them.

But now, he no longer needs to do that. He did not even have to worry that the world would unite against him as long as he does not do anything too crazy.

Loki in the past six years had tied a lot of interest of the world powers to Pandemonium.

At this, Azief saw that Loki had some expectation of Pandemonium and might even have some plans regarding it.

Or it might be that Loki is just fond of him and wanted to help him. he chuckles a bit thinking of him.

It is precisely because he knew that the world would not want a war with him that he boldly declared that he would protect Loki.

Chapter 1132 - The Message I

Even if the whole world condemns him, they would not dare wage war against Pandemonium.

Of course, individuals that wanted to exact revenge would still come and probably try to assassinate him.

But unless they are of Divine Comprehension level, such assassination attempt would be nothing in his eyes.

He then sighed and takes a deep breath

And inhale and exhale. His mind is too cluttered.

In a way, it is good. It has only been five days. He is still quite depressed with what happen with Sofia.

He did not know where she is.

But he had her phone number.

The communication device did not yet have any name. But it looks like a phone, it acts like a phone, so Azief started calling it a phone.

Of course it did not have the same keypad like the smartphone before the Fall, but it had all the characteristic of a phone.

And who would dare to correct him?

'Sasha is taking her time' he thought to himself.

Even through his tone sound like he is displeased, that is not his feeling at al. After all he knew how hardworking she is the past couple of days.

And he knows that she is preparing some report about what happens with one of the asset of the Shadow Guards.

She wanted to explain it to him.

Azief did not like what she had done. But he would reserve her judgement until all facts are laid out to him.

Azief did not know that Sasha sought and use the service of the Broker.

He did not even know that there is division that is akin of Witness Protection Service.

Now the Broker is dead and if he were to believe the report it was Loki.

Loki just right after the Multiversal Convergence ended and went to Pandemonium, and engage in a battle with the Broker and kill him

He was also surprised to know that the Broker actually marries one of the Three Demoness. And that they had a baby together.

Loki of course would not kill the baby but Azief suspected that after this the relationship between Loki and Riana would not be the same as before.

Of course, he himself did not know whether Rina loyalty is high enough that she could ignore that Loki kills her husband but that is not his problem to worry about.

This time Sasha did not hide anything from him and told him everything that she knew about the matter.

He was surprised to know that there were so many things that he does not know in Pandemonium.

Sasha was not kidding when she said she is going to expand the Shadow Guards

He was surprised to know that the Broker, one of the founder of the Crime Alliance is actually sheltered by his people

Some people might raise the banner of justice to get the support of the people. But when Azief started his crusade against the crime families and criminals, he did not do it to gain popular support.

He could forgive crimes that did not harm people lives. But those that do, and do it knowingly, Azief had no mercy to them.

No one knows why he is so tough and so merciless against criminal but no one dares to ask. And it is not like Death Monarch is a sharing person.

The Crime Alliance was born because of the desperation of the crime families who could not live under the same sky as Death Monarch

If not for the appearance of Void who could neutralize all powers, energies and laws of the world, the Crime Alliance would have long been eradicated.

And there is also the fact that Azief himself sometimes rarely on Earth. If one counted the days where he truly reigns in pandemonium, one would find that his reigning days are very short.

Azief did not like to explain why he was so adamant on his stance against these hardened criminals.

And he had never thought that Sasha would use the service of the Broker. he knows Sasha is not as clean as her robes.

She might wear white robe, shining like the moonlight but Sasha is a woman that lives in darkness and she might not always see eye toe eye with him on certain matters.

Azief wanted to wait for her to explain.

Sasha is one of his most trusted person and also one of the most loyal.

Azief knows this with certainty because faith energy, that illusory energy also comes from her.

She has faith in him and in her faith lies her loyalty. He then looks again at the phone.

'Tch' he clicked his tongue. Just right then he was thinking about Sasha and yet, once again, his mind wander to Sofia.

He could call her right now. But...Haish...he sighed

'I do not have the luxury of time right now.' He then became determined.

Of course, he had prepared things and measures for the people that is related to him if anything were to happen to him.

But Azief did not intend to go to the Seresian world to die.

He would come back.

And he wanted to make something clear to Sofia. And he hesitated whether to let her know now or to tell her later. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

'I will come back' he thought to himself. He had this confidence that whatever he would find or encounter in the Seresian world, he would come back to Earth Prime

So, he calls the number. But there is only the sound of static. So, the words he wanted to said remain unsaid.

'I want you to know wherever I am, whatever I am doing, if you are ever in need, I would be there' that is what he wanted to say to her.

He just sighed.

There is only silence in the office.

The clouds on the outside of the window moves gently pushed by the wind, the sky is blue and the clouds is white, looking at it, one mind just become blank and that is what Azief did

He just needed to stop thinking for a while and just blank out for a few minutes.

Then a few minutes later Sasha arrived. She knocks the door and she was immediately let in

She stands in front of the desk. Azief is still looking at the clouds and he sighed the moment he felt that Sasha is there

Sasha frowned.

Then he turns his chair to look at her. Sasha looks at him and then she looks down.

'I need an explanation' he said. Sasha only nodded and began to talk.

This time, Azief did not engage in any idle talks.

When the news that Sasha was called by Death Monarch, many political entities of the world was paying attention to this.

They were all thinking what will Death Monarch tells Sasha. Some people knows that Sasha had shelter the broker.

Some people only knows partial information that Sasha had harbored a dangerous criminal.

As no one is willing to spread this story too much fearing Pandemonium harsh reaction, other than the world powers, most of the others did not have too much detail of the matter

To some others, the summoning of Sasha is a common occurrence.

If there is an official in pandemonium that is summoned frequently by Death Monarch, it would be Sasha so to some people there is nothing weird about it and they did not

Right now in the office, Azief had heard her explanation. Then he began talking about his own plan.

Sasha who is still standing in front of the table, nods every time Death Monarch gives her an order.

This is probably the only time that Death Monarch has given her so much order in one day

Some orders that he gives her is very weird. Others are something that is under her expectation but there are just some orders that she could not just understand

They also talk about the matter of the successor. Death Monarch answer to her was quite surprising and she did not know how to interpret it.

It even seems a little bit irresponsible. But there is a warning in that order.

Sasha chose not to think too much about it.

Since it is Death Monarch decision and Pandemonium is the land that he had opened up, she could not really defy any of the orders

Then she and Death Monarch have a heart to heart talk about her relationship with the Broker. It is nothing like the world expected.

Some people expected that when Death Monarch found out that his most trusted subordinate had been cooperating with one of the founders of the Crime Alliance, he would lose his shit and might even exterminate Sasha like she was a bug

What they could not have expected was that Death Monarch and Sasha seems to have some civilized conversation about all of it.

What people doesn't seem to understand was that Sasha is someone that Azief had been working with for almost a decade.

For Sasha to lose his trust, she needs to do something that truly touched his bottom line.

But the thing about Sasha is that she knew his bottom line and she is wise enough not to cross that line.

And the trust that they built with each other is not so easily broken.

'And that is all of it' Sasha said.

Chapter 1133 - The Message II

Azief shakes his head

'I don't really know how to categorize what you did. I am not here to judge too much. I believe that people could change. But could doesn't mean that they would. I have seen so many people trying to change but failed. Changing is hard. Especially for people like the Broker. It is like a leopard trying to change its spot.'

Doesn't that mean it is impossible? Sasha thought in her heart

Azief then said

'But from what you have told me, the Broker had changed. He has been helping you gather information and foil a lot of the Crime Alliance attack and schemes toward Pandemonium and threats to the world'

Sasha nodded

Azief chuckles.

He heard a lot of incredible things.

The things in the report is a watered down information.

There is always a chance that some of the information of Pandemonium could be stolen.

Since that is the case, it is still imperative for them to meet one on one with each other for him to get the full story

He also found out that Loki wanted the Book of Secrets. He heard the rumor of such thing but he never pays much attention to it. The reason is simply because he is preoccupied with something else

That is Loki way of entering the Crime Alliance and making g sure that he would be protected against the world power without relying on him or Pandemonium.

Of course what Azief didn't know is Loki deal with Sasha. And Sasha did not speak of it to Death Monarch.

Azief found no fault in Sasha story so he simply said

'When I ask you to expand the Shadow Guard, I didn't think you would expand it to cover almost everything under the Heaven'

Sasha did not say anything to this as she only smiles.

Azief then look to the side, looking at the scenery outside his window.

The clouds are moving gently and slowly, the wind breeze seems to be very calm and the birds flying freely in the sky

Such scenery calms his heart and he said

'Out there, the whole world seems to want to know my next move. As for inside Pandemonium, there were tens of thousands of people that probably wanted something to happen when I summoned you to my office. The rest of the world might not know this story yet but I know it would only be a matter of time before the news that we have the Broker and it is we that sheltered him, would be a common knowledge among the intelligence community'

'I scrubbed all of the evidence. They could talk about it but they would have no evidence of it' Sasha said

'I heard there are people who could do that' Azief nodded but then he added

'But I also heard that there are people that could dig information that even scrubbers could not erase'

Azief sighed as he turns back to look at Sasha. Sasha is not such a tall girl. She is petite and give the impression of an elegant small bird.

But this petite and somewhat adorable looking woman in her eyes, to the people of the world, she is a woman of great power and possessing influence that could change the world situation.

She derived her power from the authority he bestowed upon her. As long as he stays on top, she would always possess this power.

'Your position is a position of power. And that power comes from me. Even though you were created to help me, to become my eyes and ears, my sword and shield, the scope of your work had permeated to the politics of the Court'

Sasha did not say anything to this.

She only listens. But there is some fear in her heart. She fears that Death Monarch is displeased that her influence had now even reached the court.

Azief seems to not notice the fear that Sasha felt as he continues

'Sometime my will and my interest clashed with those of the Court. But before I could even speak about it you would already solve it for me'

There is silence for a while as Azief seem to observe Sasha. Sasha did not dare to match eyes with Death Monarch.

But she felt his stare on her.

There is a feeling of pressure building up around her.

Sasha is a Disk Formation leveler.

And Azief is a peak of Divine Comprehension leveler, only one step forward and eh could break through to Essence Creation.

If he wanted to, he could break every bones in Sasha body just by starting at her and uses the laws of the world to pressure her.

As such, being stared at by Death Monarch is never a pleasant experience. For a few seconds he did not say anything. And with each second passing, the dread in her heart grows stronger.

He then said

'That is unnecessary. '

Sasha felt her heart drop. Even though he said it gently, Sasha knows that it is a warning.

Azief then said

'Learn to balance things, Sasha. It is not like there is anybody in the court that would try to challenge my will. You are an efficient worker. I will even say that you are too efficient. Give them a chance to do their job. I might not interfere that much in the day to day operation of this continent but I know that those people in the court are not incompetent'

'I have no complaint when you go after some corrupt officials because exterminating them is also my will. But there are people that wanted to serve me and serve the people here'

He paused for a second before adding

'This is why people are discontent with you. You meddle too much. The inner court must stay as the inner court. There is no need for you to meddle too much there' Even though it looks like an advice, Sasha would not mistake it as an advice.

This is already Death Monarch being kind in reprimanding her.

She knew very well this is his warning to her. She herself did not know the limit of things she is allowed to do. It is now clear to her that the inner court is that line

Now that she knows, she would act accordingly.

And knowing Death Monarch, he would not give many warnings.

Sasha nodded. Azief once again stares at Sasha and he believes that Sasha would understand what he means.

This is the reason why he would not easily replace Sasha. This woman has always been someone with a good sense

He already waves the stick. Now, he also has to give some carrot.

He added

'But as long I'm here, the Shadow Guards position is very stable. You understand what I mean right?' this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

Sasha nodded. Then Azief ask another question

'But what if I am not here?'

Sasha understood what her boss is trying to say to her

She then said

'My lord would be victorious'

'Is that flattery?'

'Faith' she said.

Azief would say faith is useless in the past. It is not like he could win if people have faith in him. But he knows more now so instead of ridiculing her words he simply said

'That is a good answer' Sasha smiles a bit. And Azief chuckles and he also smiles. They look at each other and the tense feeling between them disappeared.

The trust between Death Monarch and Sasha is not something that could easily be broken. As they look at each other, they both felt a sense of nostalgia.

Sasha laughs. And he, looking at Sasha laughing, he also laughs.

Azief was about to say something else when he suddenly went still. His eyes narrowed and his body seems to be tense

Sasha who is still smiling also notices the sudden change in her lord.

'My lord?' Azief then got up from his chair and his body bursted with power, ripples of shockwaves billow from his entire being.

Sasha was forced five steps backward. Each step that she took leave a deep depression on the floor.

The tiles cracked in a web like manner.

'My lord, what happened?' Azief no longer has that trace of smile instead his forehead creased and he had a solemn expression on his face

He is hearing a message right now. Of course, he is the only one that could listen to this telepathic message.

And the content of the message is what makes him act like this.

There is only two people in the world that could send such telepathic message to Death Monarch.

It is either Hikigaya or Jean. And the voice that is echoing in his mind right now is Jean. He could not help but feel anxious when he heard what Jean had said

And in that split second he made his decision

Chapter 1134 - The Unexpected Accident

'Shit' he cursed under his breath.

He then turns to Sasha and said

'Sasha'

'My lord'

'Remember what I told you before. contain the chaos. If the people in Pandemonium wanted to wage a civil war, then by all means go head. But make sure that the civilians and the innocent people do not get caught up with it. I have leave with you some methods that would help you. Talk with Lukas'

'I understand. But my lord. You are saying it like you are going to the Seresian world right now' Azief smiles bitterly and nodded

'yes. That is what I am going to do'

Hearing this Sasha was shocked. She thought that Death Monarch would go tomorrow on the sixth day.

But it did not take long for Sasha to form some hypothesis.

She looks at Death Monarch and said

'There is problem with the portal?' Azief nodded.

And then not waiting anymore, feeling both trepidation and anxiousness, the space around him seem to break and the time around him also began to dilate, creating two different kind of time atmosphere between the one around him and the one around Sasha.

It was like time moves differently in these two area. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

Then he took a step forward and disappeared in front of Sasha eyes.

Sasha could only see the slight fluctuation of space and time before Death Monarch disappeared.

She is now alone in the office and her eyes narrowed. She knew she must make quick action.

She was shocked of course, but she quickly calms down and noted what needs to be done.

'I need to make sure that this did not create panic' she thought to herself as she left the office. No one notices that Death Monarch had left Pandemonium.

This time, Azief did not even bother with any theatrics. His plans could not keep up with the changes.

And he had to adjust accordingly. A second later, he appeared on that island, with a powerful entrance.

BOOOM!

A powerful shockwave exploded in that area where he suddenly appears.

Azief energy soars to the sky, the clouds split into two, the wind around him were pushed away in all direction, creating a sweeping gust that flattened the forest in the ten kilometer radius.

If not for Azief holding the force back, it might even flatten the entire forest in the whole five hundred kilometers.

The ground where he is standing seems to be disintegrating.

As Azief grounded himself to the area, the time around him began to stabilize and the disintegrating ground began to reform again like time went in reverse.

This would not have happened if Azief was a little bit calmer.

He had forcefully break through the space barrier and affected time.

Before the resistance of the will of the world was not as strong. But now that it had a surge of energies from all kinds of world, it has become strong.

And while it is easy for Azief to still travel the world because of some advantages he had, the fact that he was so anxious causes him to break it with all of his power, instantly appearing in the island just a second after he disappeared from the office

The space around him still bends.

Because of the bending of space, the space, the area around Azief seems to distort the surrounding area.

And there is even some space break.

The booming sound is the echoes of this space bending.

It only took that long for Azief to travel millions of miles away from his office to reach the island hill.

In the distance he saw Jean. But that is not the only thing he saw. He saw the portal on top of that hill expanding.

He saw the space around the portal seems to shakes. Space tears appears all around the portal. Azief frowned.

The Orvanians and the other world power had been hard at work closing all of the breaches toward Otherworlds.

But as the portal expand it seems to tear off the bandages that the world power had put onto the Multiversal Barrier.

He also saw Jean avatar. There are hundreds of him, each one is tasked to a space rip. The space rip is expanding with a speed that is unprecedented.

His true body is restraining the main portal while his Time Avatar is closing the space rip. But it almost seems like a pointless endeavor.

As Jean closes one rip, another rip opens

And so on and so forth.

In just a few second, Jean had already closed a few hundred space rip yet there are more and more space rips that appears.

The fluctuation of energy around the hill had also risen. Like a dust storm sweeping through, this fluctuation of energy causes even Divine Sense to be distorted.

'This is bad' he thought to himself.

Azief heard from Jean that it was bad. But it wasn't until he is here, he could see how bad it is.

'The other world power could not act as fast as before. If they did, they would have noticed this fluctuation of energy'

Azief clicked his tongue. There is also the fact that since the world expanded, this island is millions of miles away from any nearest continent.

Even Hikigaya if he did not monitor this area would not notice such thing is happening here. And it is like Death Monarch thought

Hikigaya did not monitor this place because he did not want to seem like he is meddling in other people business.

But it is because of that he did not know that right now, Jean would quiet appreciate him if he had snoop around a bit and notice this fluctuation of energy.

Jean probably did not have enough energy or range to also contact Hikigaya while at the same time restraining the energy that is building up on the hill.

'If another Multiversal Convergence is triggered again, then who knows what kind of monsters that would come this time?' he thought to himself

He took a step forward.

The distance between him and Jean is a few hundred kilometers away. With one step, he travels that distance in less of a second.

He appears right beside Jean.

BOOM!

He felt the shockwaves trying to push him. the moment he appears beside Jean it was like throwing a stone in the path of a fast moving energy.

It collided. But Azief is not a small pebble that would break and shatter when colliding with such energy.

So instead of throwing Azief backward, the force of that energy colliding with an unmovable object creates a powerful shockwave that exploded to the surrounding area

Azief eyes narrowed the moment that force exploded to the side

Jean was right beside him.

Azief saw in that one millisecond that the shockwave would hit Jean. He controls the laws and the element around him and that shockwave was contained by a protective membrane.

BOOM!

BOOM!

BOOM!

The sound of explosion echoes all over but none of it touch even the robe of Time Monarch. Azief had created a spherical invisible membrane around him, limiting the power of that shockwave.

Jean notices Azief but he did not even have the energy and time to turns his head to look at him. His palm is open and he acted like he is pushing something.

His entire body is trembling and energy is coming out from his head and his feet. Divine Comprehension leveler no longer sweat like normal people.

They also would not have the same biological problem like normal human.

When normal leveler is fatigue or in immense stress of after fighting a long battle they would sweat.

But for Divine Comprehension leveler, they leak energy.

When they are injured, they do not leak blood whether it be red or golden.

Instead they would leak energy.

It is weird because Azief could swear he saw people who are stronger than Divine Comprehension leveler still leaks blood.

But this is not something that he should think about right now. because Jean is leaking a lot of energy right now.

If he is a normal human, Azief would describe him bleeding from all of his orifices.

He looks at his left and right and saw there is more space rip. Jean is not only constraining the portal trying to prevent it from being big enough to trigger damage to the Multiversal Barrier.

Right now, the Multiversal barrier that connects Earth Prime to other dimension is very fragile.

After all it was just broken through a few days ago. Azief swing one of his finger toward one of those rip

A powerful sword will shoot out from one of his finger splitting that space rip before the space rip immediately disintegrates into the Void

Then the temperature around the entire hill drop down a few degrees.

Clouds gathers, thunder roars and lightning split the sky.

BOOOM!

On the dark sky, flying across the clouds are dragons. At least that is how it would look like to the person looking at it from the ground

It is actually thunder slithering across the clouds.

'Fall' Azief mutters.

Chapter 1135 - Word That Move The Heavens

The sound of the thunder reverberating all over the sky is like a sound of a hammer breaking down the Heavens

The sound travel's the world three times, the clouds exploded into mist

And below the heavens, a word is uttered

'Fall'

His word seems to have some power over the world. The moment it was uttered, changes happened to the laws of the world

Jean who was beside Azief could feel that the rule around him seems to be touched.

But he has no time to appreciate this kind of power.

His entire body right now is under immense pressure as he tries to make sure that the main portal did not go out of control

He had seen the damage that a Multiversal War could do to Earth Prime. The reason this portal even existed is because of his guilt and Azief stubbornness.

He was insistent in keeping this portal happen. As such, he could not let another Multiversal Convergence to happen

He gritted his teeth and explode with even more power. Around Azief, the Laws are being used. The power of the Elements is under Azief control.

Tens of thousands of golden thunder bolts rained down from the sky, splitting and decimating the space rip with ease.

But Azief did not ease up. He could feel that the more he destroys it, the more chaotic the energy around the hill.

He had guessed how to stop this space rip. His intention was never to truly eradicate all of the space rip. Because he knows that is not just possible.

More and more space rips tear down the space around the hill.

In the distance, the hill seems to melt as their atomic matter seems to be disintegrated.

Jean avatar who was in the air multiply even more.

Azief taps Jean back and a surge of energy flows through his entire body and Jean's energy lessened.

But this did not change the current problem.

'I have to at least lessen this burden' Saying this he stomped his feet to the ground.

BAM!

The ground did not explode but a wave ripples underneath the ground. The force of his energy went deep into the ground.

BOOOM!

A second later hundreds of blocks of solid soils flew toward the sky. It was like someone had just carved the hill with rectangular scoops.

'Break' Azief said and the rectangular block that is floating in the air exploded.

But instead of the soil coming back down to the ground in a rain of soil matters, it exploded into tiny pieces of soil that is floating in the air.

Azief waves his hand and these tiny pieces of soil turn sharp.

Azief understood the method of the sword. He had reached "Everything is a Sword" a long time ago.

The soil is merely an enforcing medium which he exercises his sword skill.

Each soil is a representation of a sword, and each representation of the sword carries a will, an intent, an illusion turned real, a lie turns truth, a mirage that turns to reality.

A sword cuts. And his sword is the sharpest. And it cuts the deepest. His will is sharp. And as such, his sword will be sharp.

A sword that has the force resembling something that could cleave worlds is embedded in each of these soils.

It flew to the tens of thousands of space rips that are opening all over the island.

Some of the space rip began to expand in a matter of nanosecond.

From an opening of one centimeters, it grows exponentially bigger to one-meter horizontal cut in space in just a few second.

Like someone drew a line on the empty space. Like someone trying to claw their way out from some dimension.

Swish!

Like a fast gust that is coming out of nowhere, the small bits of soil cut the space rips into two.

Before it had the chance to expand even bigger, that force cleave these space rips into particle atoms that scattered in the first moment of contact

Each of this small dust of soil did not have the appearance of a sword, but it possess such sharpness that it could even cut space and time around it.

Before the space rip could expand it was cut like a hot knife cutting butter.

The time and space around the island become even more chaotic as the space around the island itself began to become distorted.

If anyone could see the island right now from a distance, they would see that the skies and the sea around the island is spiraling into a void

This would be a visual phenomenon as the space around the island itself seems to be distorted

In the sky and around the forest, the soil keeps flying around cutting each and every space rips into pieces

Each time a piece of the soil destroyed a space rip, the soil itself also disintegrates.

The scenery was very beautiful and terrifying all at the same time. On the sky, lightning seems to illuminate the sky.

Above the island, dark clouds that seems so ominous hover above the island

Surrounding the island, a dark fog appears from the sea that seems to shrouded the entire island so that even those who look for a distance could only see a large fog covering their vision

Then there are also the thunderbolts that seems to rain down from the Heaven striking the space rips like a God hammering down evil beings.

It is like the island is the site of Heavenly Extermination.

The reason why such phenomenon happened on the island that it almost seems like the island is being attacked from Heaven and Earth is because Azief is attacking it.

Azief still have one third control over the Heavenly Will.

And after his victory over the personification of the Heavenly Will, the Heavenly Will could not prevent Azief from using the power of the Heavenly Will as much as he wants

Right now, the island is truly being targeted by Heaven and Earth.

Flashes of lightning could be seen streaking down from the clouds to the ground.

The forest that stretched for thousands of miles seems to be burned by some mystical fire.

Once this lightning bolts streak over the forest, instead of burning into flames, the forest was instantly reduced to ash that is then carried away by the violent wind that is blown by the sky.

Storms raises up hills and blocks of land. Some of them are windstorm that seems to shred everything that is in its path

It is no different from a shredded as the force of this windstorms are enormous.

Some beast that is late in running away from this calamity that came down from the Heaven and rises up from the Earth were shredded into pieces of meat

As for the spies and the scouts that was in the island before, most of it were pushed toward another continent by Jean.

Azief notices that when he did a brief scan of the island. Other than the beast and monsters that is already here, all of the humans that were stationed here is gone.

EXP from these monster seems to feed the Heavenly Will.

Azief knew the risk and benefits of using the Heavenly Will to work for him.

Right now he is using his energy to use the Heavenly Wil. But the EPX is divided between him and the Heavenly Will.

There is still that rift that he created in the Heavenly Will dimension.

But using the Heavenly Will to counter this weird phenomenon where space rips suddenly appearing by the tens of thousands, without a doubt, it is also healing the personification of the Heavenly Will

In other words, he is also strengthening the Heavenly Will.

Azief had realized this for the moment that the Heavenly Will began to have a persona that certain thing is not as easy as before.

Instead, some things had become a bit more complicated.

But Azief believe it is necessary. Even if is strengthening the Heavenly Will, he believes that the benefits outweigh the risk

Azief did not know why the space rip suddenly appears.

And he is reluctant to use his energy for fear that another demon king might come out from the space rips.

If another demon king were to appear, he needs to be in his top condition.

As such, he uses a bit of his manipulation of the Law of the Elements and the Heavenly Will to strike down the space rip. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

And windstorm is not the only kind of storm that appears. There are even firestorms that reached toward the clouds and burns the clouds away.

Dark clouds, windstorms, fire storms, the scene was a scene of destruction that is both terrifying and beautiful at the same time

And there are also the thunderbolts that created large impact crater, turning everything around it scorched black.

The island itself is shaking like there is a large earthquake that is about to arrive. Ripples of shock wave spread out in all directions.

The shakes created avalanche on some of the mountain that is one the island creating a large dustbowl that shrouded some parts of the island.

Most of these mountains are not stable as they were formed by magic.

And with the space and time around the entire island destabilizing, it affected these mountains. Avalanches happened on the mountains.

Rifts opened up on the ground and some land experienced sinkhole phenomenon.

Deep abyss was formed on some parts of the island, swallowing an entire thousand-mile forest deep into its depth.

Some of the area around the coast seems to be breaking off and slide down toward the sea, creating a large shockwave on the surface of the sea.

Which in turns create turbulent waves all over the area of the shore. Waves rises up and flood some of the coastal area of the island

And while all of this is happening, Azief did not even move a step from where he was a few second ago.

He is still there, standing beside Jean.

Chapter 1136 - Leaving Earth

All of the thing that is happening all over the area of the island is actually happening in a very short time.

But in that short time, there were myriads of action that was taken. It was like the Heavens is fighting the space rips, like a war between the forces inside the world and the forces outside of it.

From the moment Azief saw the space rips and execute his heaven shaking method, it has only been a minute.

In that one minute, tens of thousands of space rips were destroyed. Thunderbolts and lightning crisscrossed each other to annihilate the space rips.

It almost looks like it is nothing to him to do such thing. Like it was an act of sweeping his hand and bringing such powerful force descending to Earth is nothing but merely an inconvenience.

This kind of power that could destroy tens of thousands of space rips, intangible things that could hardly be attack by normal method of attacking is truly shocking.

If such method is used against the world, one could only imagine the sheer magnitude of the casualties that would be inflicted

But Azief did not feel at ease. Instead, his frown become deeper. He knows he could not do this continuously. This few strikes that he had did had almost destroyed the entire island.

If he continues in this path, then this entire island would probably be destroyed.

In the distance, he could see that there are even more space rips that appears.

And not only in the far distance.

The area around him also began to show some signs of instability. He saw a flower regresses back into a shoot. He saw small trees suddenly grows up to be ten meters tall.

It is not the phenomenon of energy growth but instead time reversals and time acceleration.

It is not coming from him. And it is not coming from Jean. The source is something deeper.

It come from the instability of the main portal. And as the second passes the time dilation become stronger.

'The Multiversal Barrier' he mutters to himself.

The reason why the Multiversal Convergence happens in the first place is because the instability of the barrier between worlds.

One could think of it as frequencies. Parallel worlds are there but could not be accessed because of different frequencies.

Vibrating in some different frequencies, never colliding, never meeting.

it is a simple way to explain a complicated idea

It is why the multiversal worlds that is stacked upon realities did not collide and crash against each other and why there is no Multiversal War in the history of Earth prime.

However, the Multiversal Barrier that is separating Earth Prime and the other Earths in the Multiverse become weaker each time someone punctured it.

Small puncture may not do anything. It is too small for anyone to notice the abnormality.

One might not even sense such small puncture.

But once there is too many holes, the rip become bigger. And as it become bigger, the barrier become weaker.

It becomes fragile and malleable. And then weird stuff would happen. Sometimes, people had memories of something that did not happen yet they could swear that it did happen.

There is a name for it called the Mandela effect.

The world which has been breached and have their realities slowly merging and assimilating with the realities of another parallel world would also experience déjà vu more often.

What they called déjà vu is merely the counterpart of their lives in another parallel world had experienced.

They sometime would even saw a structure that did not exist to appear before disappearing. Like seeing a continent on a vast sea or a sea on the desert and so on and so forth

When the barriers between worlds and dimension become weak and malleable, it is then this weird phenomenon would start popping off.

Some powerful world could sense this calamity before it happens.

Because usually the reason why the Multiversal Barrier is compromised in the first place is because the living being on a higher civilization level had tampered and meddle with the Multiverse

So, each time, someone travels to another parallel worlds or another dimension, the rip become bigger and bigger until finally the barrier is simply a thin wall where with enough force, one could break through it.

Sometimes such opening between worlds does not even need some external force as the space ripped itself because of the damage that was inflicted to it and began connecting the worlds.

That is what happens to some people during the Multiversal Convergence.

Some of the Otherworlders on Earth right now was sucked into a large space rip and before they knew it, they arrive on Earth Prime.

And they were some that was already on the verge of finding Multiversal worlds when the instability of space and time on Earth Prime reach the pinnacle thus paving the road to the Multiversal War that happens five days ago.

And right now, something probably had happened to the main portal that causes such instability in time space continuum

'This must be handled carefully. If not the world is going to have another problem' this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

On the sky, Jean Time Avatar was relieved most of their burdens after Azief uses the thunderbolts and the soils from the ground to destroy the time rip.

So, the real Jean in front of the main portal could now have a bit of time of reprieve.

Azief immediately asked him

'What happened?'

Jean shakes his head and said

'I don't know. There is an external force that is trying to close the already stable portal. Whoever attacked this portal, it also messes with my Time Energy'

Jean then look at him and said

'You have to enter right now. I could not hold it for long. If you took too long, instead of coming to the Seresian world after five days, the time differences would be five months.... And look at what is happening now. This portal seems to induce instability in the time space continuum. I don't how or why.... but something big must have happened on the other side'

Azief understand what Jean is trying to say.

If he is late and did not enter the portal right now, the next time he enters the portal, instead of the current five day differences which is the same time schedule as Earth, when he arrived there in the Seresian world it would be five months later.

'This is bad' he thought to himself. He had guessed it. He just hoped that his guess was wrong. But as usual, bad hunches is never wrong.

Azief then pointed his finger toward the distance.

Tens of thousands Sword Will exploded from his finger as it cut down tens of thousands newly formed space rip in the distance

The sound of space being cut is like the sound of supersonic boom halted midway.

The sound screeches around the area, creating soundwave that spread out through all direction, flattening the grass and cracking the ground.

Web-like patterns cracks appears all over the ground. Some of them even depressed in a weird manner like it had been stomp by a giant.

With the thunderbolts raging in the distance, storms of wind and fire ravaging on the other, one might have though, with all of this methods and powers, the space rips could easily be contained.

But Jean and Azief serious face shows that thing is getting worse.

The space rips appear in other places, faster than before and it is even slowly bigger than before.

The range of these space rips also began to widen like it is spreading outwards from the island.

Right now most of the effect of the time and space is contained in this island.

But if the space rip began to went out of this island range, then it would become harder and harder for him to reach to this matter and the word might experience another Multiversal Congruence event.

Azief sighed inwardly

Time

That is the thing he did not have right now. He looks at Jean and tap his shoulder. The tap did not last even a second but energy fills Jean entire body.

Then he said

'Thank you. The thunderbolts would stop after I enter. Don't let your guard down. I don't think what is happening to the portal is something that is natural' Jean nodded.

Azief then look at the portal. He could no longer see the vague scenery of the Seresian world.

instead what he sees is simply the distorted image of the Seresian world. There is the red sky of the Seresian world and it also seems distorted.

Time is moving faster on the other side. The time channel between the two world is being desynchronized he could not make heads or tail of this phenomenon.

He took a last look at Earth, his gaze seems to travel millions of miles to saw a woman who has a bow behind her back flying in the sky, among the clouds like some kind of an immortal fairy.

He had never uses his Divine Sense to seek her since the breakup. But now that he is about to enter into a world where he might not live, he wanted to look at her before he goes.

Azief and Sofia did not break up because they no longer love each other. Instead they break up because the love hurts them.

The point was, that they break up because they love each other too much. Sofia loves him so much that it hurts.

And he loves her so much that he would not mind letting her go, because he always believes that she would come back to him

Then he closes his eyes. His gaze no longer saw her and then opening his eyes and without hesitation he jumped into the portal.

And Death Monarch disappeared into that portal. But the moment he jumps inside that portal, the instability of the portal fluctuated.

Chapter 1137 - The Curtain Is Lifted I

The moment Death Monarch jumps into the portal, the portal begin collapsing inwardly like it is being eaten form the inside.

Like a spiraling black hole that is threatening to suck everything into it.

'Shit. I need to close it before it collapses' It is different when he collapses it and when the portal collapses by itself. One implies control. The latter implies loss of control

And right now, as Azief disappear into the portal, Jean could feel a powerful force that is about to come out from that portal.

It is this mysterious force that causes the portal to destabilizes and causes it to collapse into itself.

'I could not let it pass' this is his thoughts

Jean takes a deep breath and then he claps his hand.

As he claps his hand a powerful force exploded from his palm. It exploded forward, directing toward the portal.

Wherever it passes, time around that area seems to split into two. It was like the force is a sword that cuts through time.

The sky above him also splits into two.

One could even see the starry skies above between the rift like Jean had cut the layers between the ozone

One could see there is a rift up above in the sky

And the clouds seem to travel upwards like some kind of an updraft on the sky is gobbling up the clouds

The portal like it was following the movement of his hand close shut.

BOOOM!

The moment the portal close itself a powerful shockwave sweeps the entire island. All of the forest on the island seems to disintegrates into atom particles.

Jean Time Avatar on the sky is also disintegrated.

And it is not only Jean Time Avatar that was disintegrated. The space rips all over the area was also affected as there were also swept away.

There was a powerful force that seems to neutralize all of the time phenomenon on the island.

It was like a bomb had been detonated and the shockwave of the bomb spread out from the portal.

Jean was the closest to the portal and he bears the brunt of it.

But unlike his Time Avatar, Jean true body is not so easily disintegrated.

Around him there is floating spirals of energy. There are three floating spinning spirals above his head and three floating spirals around his left side and right side.

These floating spirals seems to negate all of the effect of this blast.

Time around it seems to slow down.

But Jean is gritting his teeth, and his entire body is trembling. There is a force sweeping slowly over his body, like a wind that blows. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

Yet, this wind did not bring coolness instead it brings a small taste of destruction. Jean could feel the sweeping waves giving him pain like his skin is being melted away.

But, if you look at him, look at his skin, other than the fact that it cracked, one could not see such effect that would warrant such description of pain.

And that is the terrifying part. The destruction is inert, silent, invisible.

'Shit, what the hell happened on the other side?' he thought to himself. His face is getting red and energy is leaking from the cracks on his body.

He was actually performing Time Stop, one of his new tricks that he had learned after breaking through to Divine Comprehension level.

It had something to do with controlling the quantum particles around him, making time itself stop

But for some reason the properties of this blast seem to negate his power making it only be able to slow down the explosion.

Around him everything was disintegrated into atom matter before it disappears.

Lakes and mountain, hills and rivers, the animals and the beast, all of them were disintegrated into nothingness

'I could not fight this for long' And he did not need to.

After all, the only reason this island is a place of attention is because there is the portal leading to the Seresian world here

Now, that the portal is gone, the island has lost its value.

And the island itself is on the verge of being totally destroyed so Jean did not take long before he makes his decision to get away.

The spirals converge as one as it holds off the powerful force that is slowly coming to touch him.

But even then Jean could see that the spiral that is used to hold off that force is already on the verge of collapsing the moment Jean push it forward

Jean then quickly teleported himself away from the area.

And he appears up there in the sky, far away from the blast of the island. The moment he teleported himself, there is no longer any resistance for that blast in the island

BOOM!

A huge sound of explosion and a powerful shockwave exploded out

The impact of the shockwave created a tidal wave that spreads out for tens of thousands of kilometers, the shockwave travels the world five times.

That is amazing feat considering the size of Earth right now

Jean robes sways left and right wildly, like he is in the presence of a storm.

Jean look at it with utter trepidation.

BOOOM!

The sound of the explosion was so loud that it disperses all the sky above it in the hundred kilometers radius.

The island itself disintegrated into nothing.

There is only a turbulent sea, waves that are the precursor of a large tidal waters that is about to rise, a depression on the sea area that is about to bounce back like some kind of ping pong ball that is hit upon the ground.

A force that is about to wipe out a lot of the new island in this vast sea. Jean gulped a bit

'Fuck' he cursed.

Above his head, the thunder and the lightning receded from the Heavens. The storms of winds and fire dies out and slowly the world calms down again.

The oppression of the Heaven dissipated. Jean look at the Heavens above him with complicated expression

His eyes changes.

There is an hourglass symbol in his pupil. And he could see more than just the skies and the clouds and the stars above the sky.

He frowned.

'Is this the scene you saw, Azief?' he thought to himself. What Jean is seeing is a golden bluish aura that covers one third of the skies of the world.

Strings that seems to connect to each and everything under that sky seems to gather around that sky.

Like some kind of a holy light of enlightenment, this golden skies seems to dimmed.

Chapter 1138 - The Curtain Is Lifted II

And then, for the two thirds of the sky, there is a golden and purplish clouds with white aura swirling around each of these clouds.

And then between them is a large deep rift. The purplish clouds are trying to devour the bluish clouds but it could not pass that dep rift

Jean suddenly avert his gaze from that rift.

His eyes are bleeding.

'Shit. It is worse than looking at the sun' if one could see his eyeball right now, it has shriveled like a rotten grape.

He wipes the area of his eyes with his hand and his eyes returns back to normal.

'Sword Intent' he mutters to himself.

He was shocked. That deep rift, that chasm that seems to lead toward the Void is shrouded with Sword Intent

And he could only think of one person that could create such a deep rift. This rift is a dimensional tear and with one look, he could tell that it is a sword attack

And there is only person on Earth that Jean knows that could create such a powerful sword strike on Earth Prime. It is Death Monarch.

Did Death Monarch once again fought against the Heaven? He thought to himself.

The answer is yes considering that there is a rift that separates the Heavenly Will

The sword attack was so powerful that even just by looking at it, Jean felt pain in his eyes like his eyes is being pierced by swords.

This could not have happened and could not have hurt him if not for the fact that this sword strike is imbued with the power of Laws.

He looks at the sky again, this time wanting to see more.

Even as he looks at the sky, the area around him and the island seems to experience some kind of a time lag.

The tidal wave is forming but a formation of such a tidal wave that should be almost instantaneous is slow.

He has enough time to look what is in the sky. He looks up and saw something more beautiful but also more terrifying.

What Jean saw was the dimension of Heaven and Earth where the Heavenly Will resides. He could see it but he could not go there.

There is a border between the two domain. Separated by that rift.

But that is not the only thing he saw. he saw something else when he looks at the sky and his frown become deeper.

He saw in the border of the rift between the two domains, there is a person. That person looks like a dot from the distance

Jean focused his vision and his eyes widened when he saw that person appearance. "that person" look at him like he had noticed Jean was looking at him.

This person that is standing on the border between that rift, looking at that rift with hatred is a person wearing a purple robe, tightly hugging to his body.

Emanating a powerful purplish aura, that person is trying to cross to the other side of the rift but it seems he could not even move a step forward from the area he is floating.

There are butterflies on his shoulders and the butterfly itself seems to be connected to a string.

But this is not what made him widened his eyes. It is the fact that this person has the same face like Death Monarch and then it clicks to him

'the personification of the Will of Heaven' he thought to himself. Not all worlds have Heavenly Wills. And in some worlds it is not called Heavenly Will.

But in this world since some people had already started calling it the Heavenly Will, the name stuck

It just surprises Jean that the Heavenly Will would use the appearance of Death Monarch.

But when he thinks about it a bit, he could understand why. Azief is the only human, the only inhabitants of Earth that has been able to usurp the authority of Heaven

If there is someone that the Heavenly Will is in close proximity with it would be Death Monarch.

The Heavenly Will look at him and for some reason Jean gulped.

Even though they are separated by dimensions, it almost felt like they were in front of each other, looking at each other eyes.

It is the same face. Yet, the feeling of looking at the eyes of the Heavenly Will is quite different than looking at Azief eyes.

There is a coldness in that eyes.

Like he sees everything in this world as insignificant.

Then the Heavenly Will avert his gaze and Jean also close his eyes. When he opens it up again, he no longer sees that dimension.

He still felt the chill that runs in his heart when he saw the Heavenly Will looking at him. It is not good for the Heavenly Will to pay too much attention to him.

All of this happen in five second from Jean looking at the sky to him closing his eyes and looking back at what is happening to the island.

To him, it was a short interlude.

It was just pure curiosity.

For he felt the might of Heavenly Will and curios of the heavenly Wil.

So, when he looks at the sky, he uses the laws of the world and found the location of that dimension.

So, it was brief. But in the real world, the effect of the explosion from the portal is just beginning.

Jean look below him and he could see the raging sea wave rising high. He looks at another direction

A few thousand miles from here, there is a large island. There is no people there but it is teeming with life.

In that one split second, Jean eyes seems to be able to see the lines that would lead to the future and he could see that according to his calculation, that island would be swept away by this tidal wave

And unlike some tidal wave, the tidal wave that is about to envelope that island would destroy every life that is there.

And it would go on and on

It is an impacts that such new island could not endure.

But after that island, it would sweep more and more, killing more and more living beings until it might reach a point that it would agitate certain sea monsters that should not be awakened. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

Or bring about a change to this new world in a form of a new catastrophe. The most fearful thing is always the things that are unknown.

Jean sighed

'Since I could help, why not help?' he mutters

He waves his hand gently.

But in that simple movement the waves around him seems to be restrained by an invisible force.

The surging wind that is blowing harshly suddenly seems to stop.

The sound of the waves, the sound of the wind, the scent of the sea all of suddenly seems to have disappeared all of a sudden.

The clouds in the area did not move.

The tall surging tidal wave that is about to fall down stopped and halted in midair, the scene is very magnificent in itself

Like a tall wall that emerged from the sea.

Each cubic meter of the water possesses such great power that if it had fallen down, it would create an impact that would probably reach the other continents.

The sea is vast but even then, the impact of this tidal wave would probably destroy any coastal cities.

Jean could see it.

While he did not have powers to see the future like the Oracle, with his mastery of time, he could deduce what would happen and what have happened before.

Time after all, is not really an arrow that pointed forward. It is the mind that give the feeling that time moves forward

Time is just.... that.... Time.

The sky above his head did not move, the water did not move and all elements halted near him, like he had paused the entire surrounding.

And in this timeless world, only he had Time.

If one looks at the tidal wave that is suspended in midair, one could see a more magnificent scene

It was like someone had frozen each droplet of water. Froze each particle that make up the existence of water and everything around it.

In the radius of the tidal wave, everything was stopped.

Chapter 1139 - The Curtain Is Lifted III

Whether it be a splashing drop of water, a particle that is about to move from one position to another, the gaseous substances that is about to form because of the fire storms that is being extinguished by the sea water, everything halts.

If Azief could have seen this, he probably would have complimented Jean. Because it is not only the physical and tangible things that is affected.

Even the smallest quantum particle is affected somehow. And while it is not entirely perfect, when Jean polished his skill, his mastery over the control of Time would also increase.

But amazingly enough, the area outside of that influence seems to move naturally. The clouds around his head did not move.

But if you look far enough, the other parts of the world, the clouds move, the water flow, the wind blows.

But not around him

There it is, frozen in time

Time splits into two. The one that move and the one that didn't. Like a part of that area is forever immortalized in a painting.

Jean while he did not seem to be under any pressure, he is actually anxious in his heart.

The control that is needed to do what he just did, requires perfect control.

If not, he would run the risk of creating another timeline accidentally, which creates another parallel world and might create an unforeseen circumstance

Jean look toward the tidal wave that is halted by him and then he closes his palm gently like he was grasping the wind.

The tidal wave seems to be distorted in shape which is quiet bizarre considering that the tidal wave is not an elastic or even a solid object in nature

But like a jelly, it changes its shapes

The area around the tidal wave seems to crack and then it exploded but the droplets of water did not explode out in a great explosion.

The water did not scatter toward all directions. Instead, when he gently makes a grasping motion, the force of the laws crushed the water of the tidal wave.

the tidal wave dissipated calmly down and time run normally once again.

Everything become calm.

This is the least he could do.

The only affected area during all of this crisis is only around the island.

Jean laughed bitterly.

It seems that while Divine Comprehension leveler ability to inflict damage increased even more, their ability to contain the damage that they had done is also incredible.

The Heavenly Will that had helped Jean before had also receded.

Jean Time Avatar were all destroyed during the blast and Jean felt the burden on him, feeling the pain of multiple timelines dying gathered on him

For a moment, he just stands there floating in the air, his robe swaying left and right. His eyes turn white and a green aura swirls around him, causing time regression around him

He took his time to heal himself. The cracks on his skin disappears and his aura become stable again.

Then opening his eyes, there is only a vast sea in front of him. There was no trace at all, that they ever existed an island here.

One could see that the energy of that blast is very powerful.

For a moment, Jean thought was blank.

Then when he finally could think of something, the first person he thought of was Death Monarch

Jean is quite worried about Death Monarch. He does not know what would happen to the world if Death Monarch were to die.

Death Monarch did not able to convey his decision regarding the matter of the world distribution event

If he had one more day, only one more day, at least the matter would have been discussed. But because of such an unforeseen circumstance now Death Monarch is no longer on Earth.

Jean could only sigh at this.

'I hope you succeed' Jean seem too said to the wind.

Jean is one of the people in the world that believes that Azief would come back. He had done a lot of life defying stuff that this confidence just come naturally.

Then cracking his neck, Jean eye become determined

'Now, that this is settled, it is time to make sure that the world did not fall in chaos in his absence'

And then he looks toward a direction on the south. His gaze travelled millions of miles to see a floating island and mutter to himself

'And I still, need to remind Raymond to hurry up. If not, he would be left behind. The world need to have some stability' Jean thought to himself.

Of course, the first place he wanted to go back to is to Paulette. It has been a long five days.

Every day is nerve wracking experience.

Of course, because of what he had done both during the Multiversal Convergence and after, he had raised a great prestige among the people of the world

He had saved many people, powerful people and common people alike.

Other than the Arrayist Sage, many people felt thankful toward Jean as he was the reason why so many people survived the catastrophic damage when Death Monarch Azief and the Demon King from another world fight with each other

But Jean no longer seek prestige.

When one reaches their level, prestige naturally comes to them.

All he wanted right now is to go back home, kiss the woman he loves and sleep a few days and woke up to a perfectly cooked pancake

Paulette is not what you would called the elegant feminine woman.

She had her rough side. She still likes playing with her Sniper and she cleans that gun of hers every few weeks.

She still tries to follow some of his old general to battle. But the world is not like before where there is always people to fight.

She has calmed down a bit after all of these years.

And she liked vodka.

She used to hate it. She said it tasted like puke.

But time changes everyone.

As for pancakes, something she never had the experience of making, she makes pancakes, because she knew he liked it.

Like he had learnt to play the guitar because she likes it.

Jean is already thinking of having a perfect morning with the perfect woman beside him, and a perfectly cooked pancake.

Maybe asking for the perfectly cooked pancake is a bit much, knowing Paulette cooking skill but at least, he would have his perfect morning with the perfect woman.

But then he thought about something else and his feeling felt a bit sour. Since he is going back to the Republic, he would see Boris.

And what happened today could not be hidden. At least for a few hours, no one would catch a hold of this news. But, the news would break.

'Haish' he sighed.

He does not know how to break this story to him.

He knows how much Boris love his sister. If there is one person that could make Boris leave everything behind, it would be his sister.

'What should I tell him when even I don't know what truly happens?' he thought to himself.

He did not know what happened to cause such an abnormality to the portal but he is quite sure that it is nothing good.

But he doubts that is the answer that Boris would like to hear. He shakes his head and thought to himself

'I'll cross that bridge when I get to it'

He then waves his hand and the area of space around him seems to become like a static distorted images and then took a step toward that space and disappeared like he was never there

The sea is calm, the waves laps gently and the sky is clear with sparse clouds like a perfect sunny day.

It almost looks like nothing had happened here when just a few second ago, a powerful tidal wave had formed that would have sweep across the vast ocean sweeping everything along its path.

It is quite incredible what a Divine Comprehension leveler could do with their power. Incredible and terrifying all at the same time.

Everything looks fine but with Death Monarch no longer in the world, some people would make their move.

Whether the world power would be able to calm and pacify the world or the dark forces that have long been suppressed by Pandemonium would come out and wreak havoc upon the world and reclaimed their spot in the sun, it is still early to make any guesses.

But....it has started. A curtain of a new era has been raised.

An era of a great competition.

The era of the Divine Throne is about to commence! this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

Chapter 1140 - Inside The Portal

Azief opens his eyes again.

A certain heaviness press over his entire being that even the action of opening his eyes is something that is quite difficult to do.

But it takes only a few second before he easily resists that feeling of heaviness. Still, it is not something pleasant.

If he had the choice, he would just close his eyes.

But he wanted to make sense of where he is now.

There are all kinds of feelings inside his heart right now. But the most prominent one is none other than anxiousness.

'There is too much information' he thought to himself.

He could feel that his entire energy is his body in disorder. The Laws around him is also hard to detect.

Every time he thought he could mobilize some of the Laws, the laws around him suddenly changes its properties faster than he could respond

He had opens his eyes before and he had to close it because it was too much for him

And now he is trying to open it again.

He opens it and his mind seems to be overwhelmed again by the heaviness that seems to press his entire mind down.

Everything become distorted and he had no choice then to close his eyes again

'Shit' he curses.

'I refuse to believe that I could not familiarize myself with this pressure' he thought to himself.

Each time he opens his eyes and look around him, his entire senses is being overwhelmed.

He had tried to focus on only one part of the things he saw but even in that one part, his senses almost crumbled because of the overwhelming information contained in that one part of thing that he saw.

And then closes it back again as his senses is being overwhelmed. As he closes his eyes he prepared himself.

And then he opens it again. This time, he focused on a very small part of the area.

He could finally see where he is right now.

His body is floating in a place that is hard to describe.

Because it changes and have no definite shapes or any landmarks or signifying signs that he could use to describe it

But it is bright. But it is not so bright that his eyes could see everything and not so dark that he couldn't see anything.

He looks at his floating body that seems to move toward a certain pulling force. He looks at his hand and his hand is translucent.

He could see the energy that is flowing in his body. And his organs. His organs are unlike human organs.

While it retained the shape of normal human organ, Azief could see it is shrouded by all kinds of energy.

Azief felt a bit confused seeing this. Because his body is energy itself but at the same time it could be solid and yet non-solid whenever he felt like it.

But he remembers some race in the Universe that had power surpasses him but could not have non-solid body.

Is it another path? Or is it something that he must choose when he rose to the top?

Body refinement or energy manipulation? It is still something that is not in his realm so there is no need to think too much of it right now.

Even right now, his mind seems to think of the way forward. In such a timeless domain, for his mind to wander it is an acceptable thing

Then he looks around him, focusing to only see one area at a time.

To separate his consciousness to see only one part of a portion of a vision while maintaining a certain speed of seeing requires deep and precise concentration.

He looks in front of him and at his back. It is like he is in a tunnel of nebulous gasses. It is colorful and full of energy

But there is no path. Like in space, it is hard to determine the direction. Whether he is going forward or backwards.

Whether he is up or below.

But he knows that he is moving toward a direction.

Because he could feel that he is being pulled by a certain force toward a certain direction.

Whether this direction is forward or backward, he had no way of knowing it. But if his guess is correct, then the force that is pulling him is the direction toward the exit of the portal

The Seresian world

'Can I push forward?' he thought to himself.

He tries to move forward, trying to somehow veer of the path yet he felt a powerful force that steers him back to his current position

'hmm' Azief mutters to himself.

While he could move his hand and feet, he could not move away from the path that he is in now.

Like he is in a super speed lane and the area on his left and right side is a lane for other places.

'I could go to the other lane. But I think if I did that, I would end up at someplace else' this is the deduction that Azief had made

He began to slowly understand what is this place.

When he tries to veer of the path Azief had felt the sensation of something that is very familiar for him.

It is the sensation of breaking through the barriers between world.

Azief trusted his senses.

He believes that if he changes his lane right now, he might be able to freely move in this space but he might be sucked toward another world

Since he could not move forward faster or halted his speed, Azief chooses to look to his left side.

His eyes seem to be able to see the particles and quantum elements of the barrier between his lane and the other lane and then he nodded to himself

'I think I would be immediately sucked to other worlds if I break through to this side'

What Azief had seen was that the space composition of the lane beside him is quite stable unlike the lane he is in right now.

And then he thought to himself

Why is the lane beside him is stable?

But not his lane?

Does it have something to do with the instability of the portal? And what kind of force that could make instability between such an already unstable channel between worlds?

Then Azief felt it again.

His eyes twitched and he closes his eyes for a second and then after a few moments where his head did not feel like it is pulsing Azief opens his eyes again

This time he could see more and take in more information.

Maybe it is because his mind slowly adapts to the area it expands his thinking and his mind power.

Azief could even feel that his Divine Sense had an improvement by two percent.

Two percent might not be a lot but actually for someone who had such a powerful Divine Sense like him, an improvement of even one percent is a large improvement.

The reason why it is so hard for one Divine Sense to improve is that there is no obstacle to it. When one uses it and exhaust it to the limit, it would slowly adapt and slowly get powerful.

On Earth, especially for Azief, there is hardly anyone or anything that could hide from his Divine Sense

And in a way, his Divine Sense is rarely challenged

But in this place, not only was it challenged, it was pushed to the limit. And because of that there is now an improvement

Like most of the way he improves his strength, it is only by forging through ahead, surpassing your limit that you could go further and become stronger.

Azief felt a little bit happy.

He does not know what waited him on the other side. Any increment of strength is something that he should rejoice about

This time he looks wider than before and as such he could see things he could not see before.

Even as his speed seems to reach a speed that is almost the speed of light travelling through this tunnel-like channel, he could still see the images and sceneries around him

All around him are images and scenes though it could not be accurately called a scene or images. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

Instead it is more accurate to call it glimpses of life. Glimpses of Otherworlds.

That is what he saw. Life in some other worlds. And the moment he saw all of this, he felt a bit down.

Because the conclusion for such a scene is not something that he hopes to happen to him

He guessed it. Of course, a guess could always be proven wrong. But he doesn't think that his guess this time is wrong

Because usually the bad premonition is almost never wrong

This tunnel is connected to all the worlds in the Multiverse. That is his guess.

The thing is ...this channel is a channel that only connected Earth Prime and the Seresian world. It should not have mixed with other channels of Otherworlds.