Chapter 78 Clowns Nobody wanted Andy as an enemy . 423788 If the Rowses ever got into court trouble and Andy held a grudge with them , their opponent might imite him to their team . The Rowses would be completely screwed by then. Even the Jensons wouldn't risk crossing him - they'd rather win him over If the Rowses found our Clive had angered Andy today , he'd likely end up with broken legs . Clive immediately regretted acting so rashly . He wan't usually like that but seeing his friend treated unfairly just set him off Sorry . Mr. Saville .

I was too impulsive just now ." He bowed to Andy as he spoke . Tilda couldn't help but burst out laughing She laughed so hard that tears came streaming down Clive acted like he'd been slapped in the face and instantly backed down He looked like a clown To Clive , her laughter was pure mockery . He was so mad that he could feel it in his chest , but he didn't dare speak Young people can be proud , sure , but know your limits . " Pissing off the wrong person can be way worse than offending me ." Andy still didn't look at Clive . He just dropped that meaningful line .

Clive didn't even have time to process it He could tell Andy didn't care enough to argue and didn't even bother to look his way- Clive had never felt so humiliated . Facing Andy , he couldn't get angry - only feel respect . Trying to escape the awkwardness and Tilda's laughter , he slunk away . The staff began tidying up . Everyone else looked away , disappointed . The drama was entertaining , but no one dared gossip . Clive and Wade - just watching them was enough drama . If anyone tried to spill the story and got caught , their families would crush them instantly .

The richer the people , the harder they guarded their reputations . No one would risk their comfortable lives for something so stupid . Now , everyone's respect for Tilda and Andy grew even more . Those two were on a whole other level and were untouchable . Even Wade and Clive slinked away like whipped dogs , let alone the rest of those second - tier rich scions . Once Wade and Clive left , Andy just shook his head and sighed . " The Jensons are pathetic . "
