

Shadows 95

Chapter 95 Dominic's Words It gave Tilda nightmares for a month , trapping her in an endless cycle of self - doubt and self - denial . You could even say that in her previous life , Tilda's depression had worsened a lot because of Dominic's return ! This time , looking at his cold , blank face - a face that looked more like a machine than a man - Tilda smirked with sarcasm . She wouldn't be foolish enough to let his attitude mess with her head again . In this life , Tilda was Tilda ! She wasn't the clueless fool that the Jenson family had seen her as .

She carried herself with cool indifference , like she didn't care about the Jensons at all . Ironically , that made Dominic pay a little more attention to her . Of course , just a little . Dominic felt no affection for his biological sister . Just like Wade and Howard , he thought that Tilda shouldn't had appeared at all . She should had died during those 19 years she was missing , or just disappeared forever . She shouldn't show up in the Jensons ' world at all . The Jensons were fine the way they were .

Seven sons , all close and harmonious , loving parents , and their favorite little princess , Kyla . Kyla was Dominic's sister and pride . He had doted on her since she was a child , and she was the most radiant , most eye - catching beauty in all of Slosa . An unstable element like Tilda would only be a ticking time bomb if she came back to the family .

Dominic didn't want to change his perfectly good life for a person he had no emotional connection to , who was only a burden who happened to share his blood , Dominic's emotional energy was reserved only for his six brothers , his parents , and Kyla . There was no room left for anyone else . It was only because Russell and Blair felt guilty about their daughter being missing for 19 years - and for the sake of their own peace of mind - that Tilda was reluctantly brought back to the family .

Dominic had made up his mind that no matter what his brothers thought , no matter what Tilda said or did , he'd ignore Tilda and treat her like she didn't exist . It was for Kyla and a warning to Tilda to just accept her place as the true heiress , take her share of the inheritance , and not expect more . Tilda wasn't worthy of anything more Dominic couldn't and wouldn't ever accept Tilda as a sister . He never thought his bad feeling would come true in the worst way possible . Tilda cut ties with the Jensons .

And she also had the nerve to sue Russell , trying to humiliate the family . Dominic would not tolerate this ! And just like that , the two groups entered the courthouse . After arriving in the waiting room , Tilda and Andy chatted calmly . They weren't nervous about the trial at all . They were fully prepared and were sure they would win . They had a trump card that the Jensons probably couldn't even imagine

. While waiting , Tilda went to the restroom . And ... She ran right into Dominic . Or rather ... Dominic was waiting there on purpose . He was waiting for Tilda .

Finished " Who knew the Jensons ' eldest son had a thing for lurking outside the women's restrooms ? Truly eye- opening . " Tilda lifted her chin , voice dripping with sarcasm . Dominic just stared at her coldly . He was in no hurry to speak . This was the first time Dominic had really looked at Tilda properly . Tilda almost laughed . The Jensons were strange - each one stranger than the last . In the past , when Tilda was humble and tried to please him , Dominic ignored her and treated her as if she were air .

But now that she was causing problems and had broken free of the Jensons ' control - even opposing them- Dominic was finally looking at her . He even waited outside the women's restroom . He didn't care if Tilda showed up or not - he just waited there . Waiting there , holding onto the slim 50 % chance he might actually see her . If it had been her past life , Tilda would have been so flattered . 36 % 1 Finished But in this life , she just thought Dominic was sick . He was seriously sick !

It was classic , like a kid acting out just to get noticed . " Tilda , " Dominic said in an emotionless voice . It was the first time Tilda had ever heard Dominic say her name . That's right . Even in her past life , when she had lived with the Jenson family for five years , Dominic never once called her by her name . Oh ! I almost forgot ... In her past life , right before she died in a fire that Kyla set , the Jensons rushed in to save Kyla . But for Tilda , the " culprit " who lay on the floor unable to move , they just cursed her , wishing she would die right there .

It was then that Dominic called her name . Only that once . With pure hatred in his voice , he said , " Tilda , you deserve to die ! " Ha . It's so funny to think about it now . How ridiculous . Tilda wasn't in a rush to speak . She just crossed her arms and looked at Dominic calmly . Now that she had been reborn , none of the sad things had happened yet . She was a little curious . Since she was now opposing the Jensons and was a complete thorn in their side , would it push Dominic to say those words ?