

Chapter 45 Amazed Everyone

Rhonda stopped trusting men after Santino cheated on her.

"I don't care about your relationship with Diana. It has nothing to do with me."

Eliam wasn't good with words. He wondered if he hadn't properly expressed his feelings. After all, it was obvious Rhonda hadn't understood his feelings.

"In fact, I asked you out today to apologize for being selfish before. I shouldn't have asked you to withdraw from the endorsement. So..."

"So you're regretting it now because you know I have no chance to win. Am I right?"

"What do I regret?" Eliam frowned in confusion.

"Didn't you promise that I don't have to repay five hundred thousand dollars I owe you if I withdraw?" Rhonda rolled her eyes. "And you agreed to divorce me. You didn't forget it, did you?"

Eliam's face flushed with embarrassment.

"We can talk about the debt later. Let's forget about the divorce. Grandpa just had his surgery done, and Auntie will leave soon. Our family needs you. We can't live without you."

"Auntie Miranda is leaving?"

"She has a company in Esmesh. She returned home solely to visit Grandpa and help Ingrid complete the admission formalities to study abroad. She will leave once the work is done."

Rhonda was surprised to know that Miranda had a company in Esmesh. No wonder she was arrogant.

Miranda always picked on Rhonda, so she was happy about her departure.

"Please be patient for a few more days. It won't be long," Eliam said softly. He knew that Miranda had been making things difficult for Rhonda.

Seeing that he wasn't going to cancel the debt, Rhonda sighed. However, she wasn't ready to believe men anymore.

Rhonda left the café and walked to the bus station dejectedly. But as always, she felt someone was staring at her. She looked back but didn't find anything unusual.

Rhonda laughed at herself for being suspicious. Just then, a black car screeched to a halt beside her. Two burly men got out of the car and dragged her inside.

As the night fell, the party of Glory Games began in the Atlantis Hotel, the most luxurious hotel in Timhoom.

All the guests had arrived. Many business geniuses and industry veterans graced the occasion. All the finalists were present except Rhonda.

According to the final result of the online voting, Diana defeated Rhonda by ten votes and became the brand ambassador of the games.

Therefore, the event was all about celebrating Diana.

Diana walked in with Miranda, garnering the attention of all the guests. They all believed the red rose of Timhoom was finally back.

Timhoom had changed a lot over the past five years – there were many new faces. Diana was timid at first. After all, everyone was aware of her scandal. She feared that people would laugh at her about it.

But when Diana saw the men ogling at her, she regained her self-confidence.

She puffed her chest, revealing her perfect figure and charm.

Meantime, as Diana looked at the crowd, she spotted a familiar figure. It was Eliam.

He was standing in a discreet corner, wearing an ordinary suit and sunglasses. He looked like a common person, and no one seemed to notice him.

Diana frowned. He had told her that he was busy.

She wondered if he had come to the event because he was worried about her.

Diana wanted to walk over and greet him, but the staff came to invite her to the stage.

The rest of the candidates were already on the stage, except Rhonda.

Diana smiled and gracefully followed the staff onto the stage. Diana felt that all eyes were on her as the staff announced her name on the microphone.

Some were admiring her, some were envious, and some were greedy.

Diana enjoyed being the center of attraction.

She couldn't help but look at Eliam. When their eyes met, her body tingled with happiness.

She felt that every effort she had put into the comeback was worth it. She had waited for this moment all her life.

The party was about to commence, but the main guest of the night, Jennifer, hadn't arrived yet. As the manager of the public relations department of Glory Games, Bella Hannigan was sweating with anxiety.

After the host finished his opening speech, he introduced the candidates to everyone. However, as he called Rhonda's name, no one responded. The host called her name thrice, but there was still no response.

Diana couldn't hide her complacency. She waited for the host to announce that Rhonda was disqualified.

Although Diana was sure she would win, she didn't want to share the stage with an inferior woman like Rhonda.

Just as the host was about to disqualify Rhonda as per the rules, the door of the banquet hall flew open.

Robert and Rhonda walked into the hall hand in hand.

Robert was wearing a white tailcoat, looking handsome and charming.

Rhonda looked dignified and graceful in a Medieval European-style court dress.

Glory Games and Sloan Corporation were about to release a time travel game together. Robert's and Rhonda's outfits represented the male and female protagonists of the game.

The two looked like the characters coming out of the game. Everyone was stunned.

They thought it was a publicity stunt to promote the game. They were all shocked and stunned by their move.

Rhonda, dressed in splendid attire, amazed everyone as she sauntered in. They finally saw the perfect combination of beauty and charm.

Eliam was also stunned. He looked at her with rapture.

The hall broke into rapturous applause. People shouted compliments.

Jennifer followed the two, pleased with her idea. She not only promoted the company's new game but also gave Robert an opportunity to show up in front of everyone. After all, he would inherit their prestigious family business in the future. He had to get used to such an occasion.

Jennifer was considerate.

Meantime, Rhonda was nervous. Her palms grew sweaty. She didn't want to attend the party and had never dreamed of making such a grand appearance. Such an opulent outfit made her feel restless and uncomfortable.

Noticing Rhonda's nervousness, Robert escorted her to the stage.

"Excuse me, Miss Leslie." Hearing that, Bella dared not neglect him. She hurriedly strutted to Diana and asked her to give the center stage to Rhonda.

Diana's face reddened with rage. It was an utter humiliation for her.

But Glory Games was the organizer of the party. Therefore, she had no choice but to listen to them.

Rhonda walked up and stood in the center of the stage.

She looked demure and regal. Besides, the outfit made her look superior to Diana.

What attracted people was Rhonda's temperament.

Although Diana also had a good disposition, people preferred the special one.

Therefore, the gorgeous Diana didn't stand a chance against the majestic and stunning Rhonda.

Diana forced a smile as she fisted her palms tightly until her nails sank into her skin. She tried her best to remain elegant and not lose her composure.

Jennifer gracefully took the microphone and introduced herself and Robert. She thanked everyone for coming to the party tonight on behalf of her father, Michael.

After a brief introduction, Jennifer announced there was going to be an additional live voting session at the party tonight. One of the five candidates would become the brand ambassador of Glory Games.