Chapter 431 Wynter Has People Everywhere

As for Fiona and Naomi, they still didn't know that the formation of the hotel had been resolved.

Wynter wanted to go and confront them, yet after some calculations, she concluded that it was not worth it.

She should keep the problematic people in her sight so that she could follow the trail they left behind.

Wynter gave Logan a blackened hair clip. "Help me return this to its rightful owner. Put it back into the house."

Logan was not aware of where that hair clip came from.

That was the case until he went to that neighborhood and found the property agent.

When he went up the stairs, he felt chills run up his spine.

The property agent was acting strange as well. "Sir, how about you enter that room yourself? Just lock it when you come out.

As Logan was holding the key, blanking out in the hallway, the door next door opened. A husband and wife were quarreling.

There was a strong smell of alcohol on the man. "Why did I hit you? If you can do your job, do it. If you can't, just quit."

He bumped into Logan when he walked out the door. "Who are you?"

"I'm here to rent a room." Looking at the badly bruised woman, Logan asked, infuriated, "Ma'am, do you need me to call the police?"

The man laughed. "I'm telling you. Keep your nose out of other people's business."

As he spoke, he shoved Logan and walked away, cursing. He accepted a call and said, for me. I'll be right there at the table."

"Wait

"Thank you." The woman walked out, her face pale. "He's not usually like this. He drank today. I still need to go pick up my kid."

Logan understood, yet he felt even more upset.

It was blatant domestic violence, yet the victim did not want to fight back.

Logan gripped the keys in his hand and turned to unlock the door.

Chapter 431 Wynter Has People Everywhere.

The woman spoke again, "You're renting this unit? You look like a college student. Don't you know it's unlucky? You should return it right now."

"Unlucky?"

The woman lowered her voice. "This is where a delivery person killed a girl. After the girl died, those who could move away did so. Would you really dare to live here?"

Logan paused. Delivery man and a girl.

That was what he had heard at the hotel.

He realized then that Wynter wanted him to redress injustice for the girl.

Logan didn't forget Wynter's instruction—she had told him not to reveal his identity.

"I just graduated and have very little money. This place is cheap." Logan waved his hand, looking nonchalant. "Besides, I'm not superstitious."

Doubtful, the woman looked at him until he went inside.

A gust of cold air hit Logan. He quickly followed Wynter's instructions and searched for the thing inside the house.

The woman didn't want to get into trouble. When that incident happened back then, the media kept pestering them.

All she wanted was peace. She closed her door and left.

If she could move away, she would not want to keep living there.

Logan had gotten smarter now. Typically, when a murder happened next door, there was no way that family would be completely clueless. He headed to the police station after grabbing the thing.

It was then that he learned that the girl was said to be hot-tempered. The child she had scolded was right next door.

Sitting there, Logan sent Wynter a message, "Wynter, what do you think is going on with that family?"

"Their testimonies are fishy." Wynter's reply came fast. "After the evidence is submitted, the police will reopen the case. All of that will be investigated."

"They'll get what's coming to them." Wynter was quiet as she typed. "I looked into their kid. Cat abuser. All of this has been submitted to the police. You only need to go along with the people who receive you."

Chapter 331 Wester Has People Everywhere.

Logan became more impressed by Wynter. "Okay. They're in a meeting. I'm waiting."

Logan had never been in this kind of situation before.

It felt almost like a task force. He wondered if Wynter had people in this field as well.

Chapter 432 Wynter Slaps Yvette In The Face

In the Special Case conference room, several people were studying Logan through the screen at this moment.

"Did the Boss send him here?" one asked.

"Yeah, Boss said he is special and can help with the case," another confirmed.

“When will Boss return? Did anyone tell you?” someone Inquired.

“He said he will be back once his studies are stable,” another responded.

“Once his studies are stable? Are you kidding me? What does Boss need to study for?” someone remarked, clearly surprised by this fact.

“You don’t believe me? See for yourselves,” the person said.

Admittedly, when several people in the Special Case conference room observed the chat page, the room fell into silence.

What kind of power could make their Boss focus on studying?

They shouldn’t have asked. Asking it was as if they were asking to be slapped.

Wynter had been waiting with Victor at the bookstore near the school early.

The appointment was at two o’clock, but it was already four o’clock, and the other party hadn’t shown up yet.

Victor had finished his tea and was about to send another message.

Just then, a group of people dressed as scholars came in. Among them, an elderly man, Luis, smiled and said, “My student, Yvette, is truly commendable.

“Even Mr. Winston Senior praised her, saying that despite her young age, she had excellent acupuncture skills, and her analysis of situations was very accurate. It is quite remarkable.”

“Mr. Xalazar, I’m not as good as you said,” Yvette chuckled and said modestly, “If it weren’t for your connections, Mr. Winston Senior wouldn’t have valued me.”

Luis was very impressed by her response. He laughed. Then, looking up, he noticed Victor looking at him. At this moment, he seemed to have remembered something and exclaimed, “Victor, dear me, I’ve been so busy until now.”

While speaking, Luis approached Wynter and Victor.

As if taking Victor seriously, Luis gave him a hug and said, “Victor, it’s been three years since we last met.”

“Yeah, about there,” Victor replied, playing along. “More than three years.”

While speaking, he glanced at Yvette behind Luis.

Then, he shifted his gaze to Wynter again.

When did Yvette become a student of his old friend?

Victor recalled the event that night....

He couldn't help but feel worried.

Wynter, however, just put away her phone. Her expression was as calm as before, not showing even the slightest change upon seeing Yvette. On the contrary, she noticed something.

There was a smell of incense emanating from Luis.

As a medical practitioner, he believed in gods?

Wynter pressed her fingertips against her lucky token, her beautiful eyes deepening.

Yvette obviously also noticed Wynter. She paused briefly with many things going on in her mind.

Ever since she arrived in Kingbourne, she had been striving for success.

No one had contacted her since then, and she would definitely not take the initiative to reach out to that bloodsucking family.

However, she hadn't expected Wynter to be in Kingbourne.

Did that family in the village spare her?

Luck seemed to be on her side.

Yvette clenched her hands, feeling somewhat dissatisfied.

She originally wanted to crush Wynter completely in one fell swoop.

But it didn't matter now. Seeing as she was here with Victor, she must be hoping to seek help.

Before, she would have cared about Wynter's identity as a popular live streamer.

Chapter 42 Wynter Slaps Yvette in The Face

However, now, Yvette herself was the renowned Dr. Yates in Kingbourne,

On the other hand, Wynter had to rely on Victor's help if she wanted to go to school.

This was probably the destined difference between them.

Yvette was in a good mood, especially after seeing Victor's embarrassed expression.

This old man had talked badly about her and was impolite to her before. But now, it was clear who held more importance and success.

"Mr. Xalazar, do you know Mr. Lopez?" Yvette asked knowingly, "Why is Mr. Lopez looking for you?"

Matters like transferring students to another school should have been discussed in private.

Luis was not bothered. Instead, he continued chatting, "Mr. Lopez and I have known each other for a long time. He used to perform many surgeries. He was famous but had a stubborn temperament."

Chapter 43 Let's See Who is Unable To Back Down Gracefully

Chapter 43 Let's See Who is Unable To Back Down Gracefully

"Now it seems time spares no one. Even you, Victor, you've always upheld rules. I have never expected you to find yourself in a dilemma."

Luis patted Victor on the shoulder and continued, "Victor, we're all getting old. My memory is not what it used to be, so I forgot to invite you. Look... It is really not the right time to talk about your junior transferring schools."

"Transferring schools?" Yvette exclaimed, "Mr. Lopez, with my sister's grades, she wouldn't be able to transfer to another school, right? She has always been attending your trade school."

As soon as these words were spoken, many scholars turned their attention toward them.

Luis did not stop Yvette from speaking.

Victor knew what was going on. He felt disheartened, looking at Wynter apologetically. Before coming here, he had promised that there would be no problem this time.

Unexpectedly, even his old friend became somewhat unrecognizable.

“Mr. Lopez,” Wynter said. She was a smart person and knew that anything Victor said at this moment would be looked down upon.

So, she simply spoke first, “I know you missed your old friends, so you turned down Mr. Quinnell Senior’s invitation and made time to see your old friend. But unfortunately, some people misinterpreted your intentions.”

“Mr. Quinnell Senior?”

“This person knows Mr. Quinnell Senior?”

Envious whispers arose around them.

Both Luis and Yvette were stunned.

Yvette responded quickly, “Mr. Lopez, you haven’t been to Kingbourne much recently. How did you become acquainted with Mr. Quinnell Senior?”

“You haven’t been to Kingbourne, yet you canceled your appointment with Mr. Quinnell Senior?”

“This is too much of a brag.”

The other scholars shook their heads when they heard what Yvette said.

Chapter 433 Let’s See Who Is Unable To Back Down Gracefully

“And they even thought of transferring a trade school student here. How embarrassing.”

“How bad must her grades be if she can’t even get into a regular high school?”

“Don’t say that. Victor is very skillful in performing surgeries. He is also a professor.”

“What’s the use? He can’t even handle his affairs properly.”

The commotion escalated.

Victor, a true medical professional, felt his heart grow cold seeing the fellow scholars gossiping like this.

There was pride in Yvette's eyes.

Luis smiled even wider. He feigned kindness and said, "Victor, let's just let the juniors talk nonsense amongst themselves. After all, Kingbourne isn't very big, everyone knows each other."

"Nonsense?" Wynter's eyes darkened as she looked at the two opposite of her. She said, "When Mr. Quinnell Senior was seriously ill in Southdale, it was the Lopezes who treated him. Mr. Lopez chose to keep a low profile, so it wasn't widely known."

She remarked, "After all, a medical professional's intentions matter most, regardless of the patient's identity."

Wynter continued calmly, "I did learn a bit after watching both of your performances today. From now on, I will make sure to publicize every patient I treat. After all, a bit of self-promotion leads to recognition, doesn't it?"

"Who do you think is boasting? Who is seeking recognition?" A scholar, named Robi, couldn't endure it. So, he protested, "Mr. Xalazar's achievements are evident to all. You outsiders don't know much about what's happening here, and yet, you dare to speak so arrogantly."

"Mr. Quinnell Senior did visit Southdale, but the person who treated him was a mysterious individual, certainly not the Lopezes. How dare you speak such falsehoods? You're merely trying to elevate yourself as a junior."

Wynter played with her handphone and smiled amusingly.

Victor couldn't listen anymore. He said, "About that mysterious individual..."

"Who's trying to elevate themselves?" Alexis asked as he walked in with someone. He wore a sharp suit, exuding a business-like aura. His gaze swept over the scholars.

He smiled gently when his gaze landed on Wynter,

Upon arrival, Wynter had sent him a message, informing him that she would be bringing Victor to dine with Mr. Quinnell today.

Alexis had come to pick them up, but he hadn't expected to hear such remarks upon arrival.

Luis knew Alexis, His arrogant expression changed instantly. He quickly smiled and attempted to shake hands...

Chapter 434 Slaps Scholars In The Face

“Alexis, long time no see. The last time we met was in Mr. Quinnell Senior’s office,” Luis greeted.

Luis’ flattery was obvious.

Alexis didn’t shake hands with him but merely glanced at him.

Luis didn’t mind his attitude. Instead, he kept finding topics to talk to him about. He continued, “Why are you here?”

“I’m here to pick up Mr. Lopez Senior.” After Alexis understood Wynter’s instructions, he bypassed Luis and went straight to Mr. Lopez Senior.

He explained, “Mr. Lopez Senior, Mr. Quinnell Senior knew that you wanted to see an old friend, so he specifically asked me not to show up early. After you finish your work, I will take you to the Quinnell residence. Mr. Quinnell Senior has been thinking about you since you left Southdale.”

As soon as these words were said, silence fell over the room.

Alexis’ attitude was like a silent slap to Luis, hitting him hard on the face.

Luis became visibly stiff.

Those who had previously criticized Wynter and Mr. Lopez Senior, saying that they were boasting, instantly felt embarrassed.

Alexis addressed them, saying, “You dare to criticize things you have no knowledge on. It seems you didn’t learn much from your academy.”

Nevermind Luis, even his student, Yvette, dared to talk poorly about Wynter although she didn’t know anything. She even said things about Wynter like being narrow-minded, telling lies and boasting.

The reason why Yvette could say these words was clearly because she felt Wynter was someone with no background. It was only because of this that she could behave so shamelessly!

The scholar, Robi, who had been speaking arrogantly just now, had a wide smile plastered on his face now. He said, “Alexis, you’re right. I was too blind.”

Luis tried to smooth things over, and even wanted to use this scene to get onto the good side of the Quinnells. He put his hand on Victor’s shoulder again and said, “Victor, you’re really something. Why didn’t you tell me earlier that you knew the Quinnells! This is a misunderstanding.”

Victor was wise. He didn’t want to humiliate his old friend.

So, he didn’t refute but brushed away Luis’ attempt to smooth things over.

He said, “The doctor who saved Mr. Quinnell in Southdale was not me.”

Victor’s tone was very calm. He couldn’t pretend to take credit that wasn’t his.

2/3

Robi, who was nearby, heard this. He jumped into the topic again after the situation finally calmed down. He exclaimed, “I told you, the person who treated Mr. Quinnell Senior was obviously that god...”

Before he could finish speaking, Victor interrupted him, “The person who saved Mr. Quinnell Senior was this young lady.”

What?

Suddenly, Robi froze like a monkey. He stared at Wynter in disbelief, asking, “Her? Impossible. She’s so young!”

“Besides, she’s just a trade school student!”

Robi was so frustrated!

They were both studying medicine, so how could she have such a big achievement?

He endured pressure for so long. He stayed with Luis for several years, only to gradually become prominent. Finally, he managed to get himself into the academic circle.

But even so, he hadn’t treated the Winstons, let alone the Quinells. There were too many capable doctors in Kingbourne.

How could this young lady save Mr. Quinnell Senior’s life?

The other scholars were all shocked. They looked at Wynter again with disbelief in their eyes.

They used to think she was arrogant.

After all, how could someone with such an appearance, looking so beautiful and cool, be able to understand medicine?

However, they realized now that Wynter had been surprisingly calm and composed from just now.

It seemed that no matter how embarrassing the situation was, it didn't affect her.

If she really cured Mr. Quinnell Senior, why would she be worried about school?

With such exceptional medical skills, Lals' refusal to accept her would be his loss!

Luis froze with everyone's eyes staring at him. He didn't believe that a young lady could cure Mr. Quinnell Senior's stubborn illness!

Chapter 435 Yvette Is Still Pretending

After all, even with Yvette's powerful acupuncture skills, she couldn't cure all diseases.

Sometimes, she could even be inaccurate..

Luis' only guess was that his old friend was merely seeking assistance on behalf of his disciple to transfer schools.

He said mockingly, "Victor, I know you want to promote your junior, but you don't have to go to the extent of giving all the credit to her."

"Giving her the credit? Alexis is right here. How could I be giving her credit?" Victor asserted. He looked at Yvette, who was attempting to diminish his presence, and continued, "This student of yours was an apprentice of Hilda at that time. She should have heard who saved Mr. Quinnell Senior."

Victor originally had no intention of troubling a junior.

So, when he saw Yvette, he remained silent.

However, every word from her seemed deliberately aimed at undermining Wynter, portraying her as worthless.

This finally made Victor feel unbearable. He said, "Wynter possesses the best medical skills in the entire Southdale. I don't understand why anyone would still doubt her just because she is a trade school student.

“Your student may have been away from Southdale for too long. Perhaps being praised in Kingbourne has clouded her judgment, causing her to forget who she is.”

Yvette originally wanted to hide when she realized that the situation was turning unfavorable.

Now that Victor called her out, she became more embarrassed and awkward.

As soon as Hilda’s name was mentioned, the nature of the discussions among scholars changed.

ne

“Is it the one who got caught?”

“She’s Hilda’s apprentice?”

“Luis must be confused. Why did he accept Hilda’s apprentice as his student?”

Luis stood there, completely humiliated.

Chapter 435 Yvette Is Still Pretending

During their junior days, Victor had always overshadowed him.

It wasn’t until Victor went to Southdale while he remained in Kingbourne that he finally gained more recognition.

This time, Luis wanted to use the transfer of schools matter to embarrass those who had surpassed him in the past in front of all the scholars.

He never imagined that Victor would have such a connection.

Now, instead of getting what he wanted, he became the subject of discussion.

Also, how could Yvette hide such a significant thing from him?

Although the Gibsons’ case occurred in Southdale, the repercussions of it were equally negative anywhere else!

Those associated with Hilda had a tarnished reputation in the medical community!

“Yvette, tell me, what’s going on?” Luis demanded after coming back to his senses. He wanted to distance himself from her.

"If I had known you were Hilda's apprentice, I would never have allowed you into my laboratory!" he exclaimed.

Yvette panicked. She hadn't expected Victor to bring up their past. She had worked so hard to give herself a new identity in Kingbourne. She couldn't afford to ruin it today.

Feeling unwilling, tears streamed down her face as she held her hands. She said, "Mr. Xalazar, most of the doctors in Southdale are the Gibsons' students. After all, the Gibsons hold significant influence locally, and we dare not refuse."

Yvette spoke through her tears, making it seem like Victor was bullying her.

"Mr. Lopez, I don't understand why you had to bring this matter up. I had always known this was my regret, but I couldn't help it. I was just a student. Hilda asked me to be her apprentice. I had no choice."

Yvette sobbed, appearing genuinely pitiful.

The scholars present also couldn't bear it.

Victor had never encountered such a shameless young lady before. He would definitely beat his grandchild, Quinton, to death when he returned home! What kind of friends had he made?

Chapter 436 Wynter Tells The Truth

Quinton didn't know that Yvette, whom Luis mentioned, had put up such an act for Victor in front of everyone in public.

Given Victor's Identity as Mr. Lopez Senlor, it was naturally inappropriate for him to say anything further.

If he kept fussing over what she said, it would have been unbecoming.

Yvette also insisted that Victor was a respected figure in the medical field and prided himself on being a man of letters.

Under such circumstances, it was best for him to not engage further with her.

So, Yvette resorted to this tactic.

However, she overlooked one thing—
Wynter, who could spill the truth regardless of the circumstances.

"Based on what you say, are you implying that you were forced to be Hilda's apprentice?" Wynter asked.

She smiled with her thin lips slightly curved before continuing, "Yvette, I will give you a chance now to tell the truth. Otherwise, I can let everyone in Sacred Heart Medical University know about your relationship with Hilda."

As Wynter spoke, she popped a piece of candy into her mouth and continued, "By then, you won't just be embarrassed. Remember, everything stays on the internet. It just depends on whether I want to dig deeper or not."

Yvette, who had been crying, suddenly choked up.

She looked at Wynter as she bit her lips with unconcealable hatred. She said, "If it weren't for us Yates family taking care of you, you wouldn't be able to survive until now. Are you only satisfied if you drive me to my death?"

"The only reason I didn't target you is because of Grandma," Wynter said, playing with her purple sugilite pendant as she spoke.

She leaned closer suddenly and whispered, "You didn't really think I wouldn't know that you were the one who sent Dickson and Fanny after me, right?"

Yvette froze, and her face became extremely pale.

Wynter straightened up and said calmly, "Don't push the blame on Mr. Lopez. Stop acting like a saint and spill the truth."

Yvette's palms were bleeding from clenching them so tightly. Suddenly, she smiled, "Do you know why Charlie chose me over you? It's because of who you are now."

Yvette thought saying this would give her leverage over Wynter.

After all, she had foreseen that dealing with Charlie would be the hardest.

Chapter 435 Wynter felis The Trums.

Wynter raised an eyebrow upon hearing what she said.

But her subsequent reply caught Yvette off guard.

She said. "I told you to spill the truth. What nonsense are you talking about?" Obviously, Wynter didn't understand what Yvette was thinking. She continued, "Do you have trouble understanding?"

Wette noticed the puzzled looks from those around her.

She felt so embarrassed that she just wanted to disappear.

But she was also afraid that Wynter would really expose the video of her trying to ingratiate herself with Hilda on the Sacred Heart Medical University forum.

That would ruin her image completely!

Without any options left, Yvette spoke again, “My family spent a lot of money to make sure I could become Hilda’s apprentice. I...”

Yvette couldn’t continue. She also noticed that some people began to pity her.

“Wynter, according to Yvette, the Yates family had taken care of you.”

The person speaking was Duncan Scott, a member of the Scott family and a professor at Sacred Heart

Medical University, who had been hiding in the crowd.

There was a reason why Yvette was so influential in the university circle.

In fact, Luis only played a minor role.

The real driving force behind her popularity was the Scott family.

After all, Yvette had ties to them.

And it was not in vain that the Scott family had recognized her. She had helped resolve many problems for them before.

Chapter 477 The Troes

Chapter 437 The True Face Of The Scott Family Has Been Revealed

But today, once Yvette’s reputation crumbled, it would be difficult for the Scott family to manipulate the situation further.

Therefore, Duncan had to step forward, He glanced at Alexis, and then at Wynter. He said, “In that case, you should at least show some mercy.

“After all, you are also a doctor. You should exercise the compassion of a doctor. You can’t let another doctor have no way out just because you saved Mr. Quinn Senior.”

Wynter was sharp and could understand what he was implying just by looking at his expression.

Seeing

that even the Scott family couldn't resist stepping in to help, Wynter responded amusingly, "I was wondering who had such great ability to speak up for Hilda's apprentice. It turns out to be the Scott family.

This statement made Duncan's expression darken instantly. He said, "Young lady, you must speak with evidence."

"Yvette's mother is a Scott," Wynter said casually. "She has been imprisoned for bribery. Isn't she your distant cousin? Mr. Scott, have you forgotten?"

Duncan had never dealt with such a difficult opponent before. He narrowed his eyes and said, "I can't even count how many people there are in our Scott family. If a distant relative commits a crime, how can you blame it on us Scotts?"

"If you don't want the blame to be on the Scotts, then you'd better watch yourself, Mr. Scott. Trying to use moral blackmail on me is a weak move," Wynter said with a slight smile. "But it seems you're quite nervous today, Mr. Scott. I bet everyone here knows of Yvette's connections."

Wynter's smile was intriguing as she continued, "Mr. Scott, it isn't wise to rely on Mr. Xalazar too much. Sometimes you have to play your card openly."

Duncan now wished he could go back in time.

He shouldn't have lost his composure and stepped forward to speak for Yvette.

This woman had done it on purpose!

Yvette deliberately provoked him into speaking up for her, just so that people would associate Yvette and Hilda with the Scott family!

How could the Scott family be linked to Hilda?

If this information got out, the Scott family's reputation would definitely be tarnished, especially when his eldest brother was still in his position!

Duncan stared at Wynter and said, "I didn't expect you to be so articulate, young lady."

"Now you have seen it," Wynter replied with a faint smile. Her temperament remained the same.

Duncan's eyes grew cold. He remarked. "It's a good thing for young people to be passionate, but after all, this is not Southdale. We are in Kingbourne. Let's be friends."

"This sounds very familiar, Wynter quipped, her eyes gleaming "But what if I don't want to be friends?"

Duncan burst out laughing. "Young lady, you're quite a funny one. After all, you've saved Mr. Quinell Senior. For the sake of the Quinell family, as your senior, let me offer you some advice. Whether you take it or not is up to you.

"The Scott family will not let other people deliberately tarnish our reputation," Duncan added.

While speaking, Duncan glanced at Alexis. He said, "I will inform Mr. Scott Senior about this matter and have him speak to Mr. Quinell."

He thought saying this would resolve the matter.

He thought if he said so, Alexis would speak up for him or control Wynter, the genius doctor from out of town.

Unexpectedly, Alexis's attitude was colder than he had anticipated. He said, "Go ahead. Please have Mr. Peter come to our group's office. Mr. Quinell will be available at any time."

When Duncan heard this, he thought Alexis was crazy.

He wondered if Alexis realized what he was saying.

Was it worth letting the two families feud over a mere genius doctor?

"Alexis, you'd better think about whether you can still secure your job after this conversation," Duncan warned.

Before Alexis could respond, Wynter chuckled and said, "You don't need to worry, Mr. Scott. Instead, I think you should think carefully about how to clear the Scott family's name. After all, the Gibsons committed quite a serious crime."

This statement hit hard.

Duncan could only leave in dismay, even forgetting about Yvette..

Chapter 438 Yvette Runs Away

Yvette had always portrayed herself as an orphan within their circle.

She only did so to show off her talent.

Even when Ewan came to look for her, she claimed he was only a distant relative.

Ewan also relied on his association with her to elevate his status.

Everyone's impression of her was shaped by her innocence and politeness. Naturally, they regarded her with a touch of pity.

She was a young girl anyway. It was not easy when she came to Kingbourne for the first time, so the elders sympathized with her struggles.

Who would have thought that she was actually backed by the Scott family!

Now, it was obvious that the Scott family was afraid of getting involved in the Gibson family's affairs, so they treated her like a discarded pawn.

Scholars exchanged glances, silently distancing themselves from Yvette.

Hilda was still being investigated in Southdale. Despite the fact that Mr. Gibson Senior used to be very popular within the circles in Kingbourne, he was not even allowed to leave the courtyard now.

The storm hadn't passed. The authorities were still investigating the case.

After all, it was quite a serious medical corruption case. It wouldn't be settled easily.

Yvette glanced at the stares around her. Her face was flushed crimson. There was no need for her to say anything anymore. Standing there alone now already felt uncomfortable.

"Mr. Lopez, I'm sorry," she muttered before fleeing.

Other scholars began to avoid her.

Luis brought her here because he wanted to completely crush Victor, letting him see that his excellence during their school time was in vain because he couldn't compare to himself now in terms of status and apprenticeship.

Now, he really wished he hadn't come today!

He had specifically arranged to meet Victor here. Luis' expression was amusing. He wanted to redeem himself.

Looking at Victor furiously, he exclaimed angrily, "Victor, you saw what happened. I've lived for so long, yet, I was tricked by a young lady. I even thought she was from your hometown, so I kept giving her chances!"

Victor wouldn't believe such words. But he always tried to spare his old friend some embarrassment. Now, he just wanted to leave.

Chapter 438 Yvaite Runs Away

However, Luis continued, trying to manipulate Victor. He had to do so, otherwise, how could he maintain his status in the circle? He said, "Victor, I will take care of the paperwork for your junior. Don't you worry, I will definitely have her enrolled by next week."

He was trying to take advantage of Victor.

Wynter lowered her head and smirked. Her eyes became dark as she spoke, "Don't trouble yourself, Mr. Xalazar. Where I study is entirely up to myself.

"Although Yvette is of average character, your reputation is impeccable. I've heard you thoroughly investigate students before accepting them, including their family backgrounds. It's odd that you made an exception for Yvette."

After her remark, Wynter glanced at Alexis.

Upon seeing this, Alexis immediately called in the bodyguards.

Luis couldn't restrain Victor anymore. Alone, he seethed with anger, his face contorted with rage.

Some scholars also began to make excuses to leave.

Luis clenched his fists tightly, watching Wynter leave, his face fill with fury.

There were scholars who stayed but only a handful of them.

"Mr. Xalazar, don't be upset. You just have to find a way to cut ties with that student as soon as possible."

“But it is indeed a loss. If the doctor who saved Mr. Quinnell Senior joins our school, it will benefit us in the future.”

Hearing this, Luis sneered, “The favor of a medical miracle can only be used once. If it’s overused, won’t the Quinnell family grow bored? Besides, you all heard what Mr. Scott said just now.

“The Scott family will not let this arrogant young lady off the hook. You just wait. The Quinnell family may protect her for now, but not forever.”

He added. “The relationships between the aristocratic families have always been complicated. Will the Quinnell family risk antagonizing the Scott family over a genius doctor?”

Chapter 439 Get Close And Marry To The Quinnell Family

“Then, she must be a peacemaker, persuading the Scott family to let her go,” Luis said confidently.

He continued, “As time goes by, the Quinnell family will also become tired of this kind of indebtedness. That young lady doesn’t know how miserable the consequences will be!”

The people nearby also found his words sensible.

“But at the very least, we have to regard her highly now,” a scholar said. “Being able to save Dr. Quinnell Senior proves that her medical skills are indeed good.”

Luis disagreed, “It’s just sheer luck.”

Compared to the other party, Luis was more interested in obtaining the ancient acupuncture book from his student.

Once he obtained the ancient book, his position would be secured.

After all, when he saw Yvette applying acupuncture, he noticed that her technique was still not very skillful.

But now it seemed that his chances of getting the ancient book were slim.

Perhaps the Scott family was already one step ahead of him!

Luis was deep in thoughts as he narrowed his eyes.

Meanwhile, Yvette, who hurriedly returned to school, was now extremely pale from anxiety.

She called Duncan several times, but he didn't answer.

It seemed that the Scott family was indeed giving up on her.

Yvette was really panicking at first. When she looked up and saw a hanging advertisement sign, her expression changed.

What was she afraid of?

The Scott family was in trouble.

But she still had some people who were willing to support her.

She was someone who could foresee the future.

She muttered, "Even if the Scott family doesn't cherish a treasure like me, there are still many people who do."

Yvette took out her phone and immediately contacted her friends. She said, "After you go to work, I will come visit you and bring you some delicious food. They say it's tiring to be an assistant, so let me be your energy booster."

"Besides, I have a way to make you stand out in that company," she added.

Yvonne, who had just finished her interview not long ago, immediately smiled. She replied, "Come here quickly. I just took a look at what the company wants me to do. As an assistant, I have to do this and that. It's really not suitable for me.

Yvonne met Yvette through a mutual acquaintance.

At first, she didn't think there was anything interesting to talk about with someone from a small city, until Yvette taught her many tricks. She could even predict some things about herself.

Yvonne instantly felt that she had found a treasure. She exclaimed, "What good idea do you have?"

"I'll tell you when we meet." Yvette finally felt better. She continued, "It will definitely be a surprise for you. I remember you also have a friend who is a popular celebrity. I can make her even more popular."

Yvonne was confident in Yvette. Her eyes lit up as she responded excitedly, "Whatever you say must be right! That's great."

"She has been involved in a lot of scandals recently. Netizens kept saying that she stole someone else's husband and even got herself pregnant. They even said that she had a miscarriage, and she was recuperating in the hospital."

She continued, "Everyone just talks about what they like. Who doesn't like a rich and attractive man? His mistress isn't as beautiful as my friend. Besides, she and the man are truly in love with each other. Yet, the public just likes to criticize her online."

She revealed quite a lot of information.

First of all, she definitely stole the woman's man.

Secondly, she wasn't very good at acting.

But in the entertainment industry, it all depended on how you clear your own name.

Yvette knew a lot and could prevent things from happening. Most importantly, she could get in touch with Tobias.

Wynter only saved Mr. Quinnell Senior and the entire Quinnell family treated her as an honored guest.

If Yvette saved Tobias' life in front of everyone or gave him some tips, how would the Quinnell family react to her?

This thought made Yvette so excited that her eyes lit up. She assured Yvonne, "Don't you worry, Yvonne. I can handle all this!"

Chapter 440 The Scott Family Finds Out About Wynter

“But you should try to speak less about her and that mane affaire in the future. After all, this concerns the public’s opinion, Yvette reminded Yvonne replied. I understand that isn’t this just a phone call between us? Her public relations company has also issued a statement asking people not to defame her. But netizens aren’t buying it.

“Some media companies are still camped outside the hospital, eager to know if she was pregnant since she hadn’t been discharged for so long. My friend is innocent. We can’t wait to see how things go. Her reputation is in need of urgent repair now.

Yvonne sat up straight and added. “If you can solve this issue, my friend will definitely reward you generously.”

Yvette was obviously moved, but she declined the offer, saying, “There is no need for a generous reward. I mainly heard that you have been worried about this matter recently, so I wanted to help.

“Yvette, you’re truly my best friend.” Yvonne sent several messages at once on her smartphone. “Honestly, Yvette, do you know how to tell fortunes? How does everything you say seem to come true?”

Yvette pretended to be mysterious by saying, “It’s not right for me to talk about this.”

“I understand. I’ll introduce you to Mom and her friends. They all believe in this.”

What Yvonne said was exactly what Yvette wanted.

After today, it would be difficult for her to climb up the social ladder just by relying on her medical skills

If she could make people believe she was a fortune teller, then she wouldn’t be far away from glory and wealth.

Wealthy people believed in fortune-telling the most.

But what she needed most urgently now was to get in touch with Tobias!

Yvette hung up the phone. On her screen were all Charlie’s miscalls.

She hadn’t been answering his calls recently.

It was because she felt that the Shepherd family was simply not influential enough in Kingbourne after spending more time here.

After she rescued Tobias and got close to him, she could even marry into the Quinnell family!

The more Yvette thought about it, the happier she felt.

The Yarwoods had a lot of rules, unlike Tobias.

Many people still didn't know that the top singer and dancer was actually the sixth son of the Quinnell family.

But she knew about it, and she could use this knowledge to get closer to him.

"I was so stupid before, always looking for opportunities from those old men, Yvette muttered. She looked at her hands and continued. "God has given me such a good opportunity to be reborn. I should be

bolder

As long as her relationship with the Winston family remained unchanged, she would definitely be the ultimate win

#Tobias refused her offer like that guy from the Yarwood family, then she would watch the Quinnell

family fall completely

Anyway, if she didn't speak, it didn't matter even if Wynter saved Mr. Quinnell Senior.

In less than three months, that old man was going to die anyway.

The Quinnell family was bound to be doomed.

Yvette narrowed her eyes. But Tobias was different. He was always liked by others, whether he was dead or alive.

It would be really nice to have someone like him as her temporary booster.

Yvette thought that after she married into the Quinnell family, she could give them hints on how to revive the family.

Then, the whole Quinnell family would definitely thank her. And everything she desired would come true!

By then, she would have the final say on how to deal with Wynter!

Yvette was deep in her happy thoughts.

Meanwhile, Duncan had already informed Mr., Scott Senior about today's events.

Nothing had gone well for the Scott family recently.

Mr. Scott Senior had a somber expression. He asked, "So, Yvette is of no use now?"

Duncan gritted his teeth and replied, "There was a nosy young lady who interfered and singled out us

Scott family."
