Chapter 156 A big pit falls from the sky

However, looking at the bowl of dumplings that was handed to her, a certain girl's stomach let out an unsatisfactory growl and gave her away.

"Eat it, there aren't many fresh shrimps here, the dumplings are stuffed with meat, and I put some dried shrimps in the soup." Ya Molian looked at her and said.

"How do you know I like to eat shrimp?" Lin Caisang blinked and asked.

This person is awesome. He actually knows that she likes to eat shrimp. Even the Lin family doesn't know that she likes to eat shrimp, because she was the one who liked to eat shrimp. As for now...

Lin Caisang said that shrimps are so expensive that they can't afford them for the time being.

"Eat it." Ya Molian said with a faint smile.

Lin Caisang curled her lips and wanted to say she didn't want to eat it, but...she never knew that even her stomach would dig a hole for her!

Muttering 'Forget it' in her mind, she ate heartily.

After a long time, Lin Caisang, who was full after eating, sat opposite Ya Molian and kept staring at him for a long time before opening his mouth.

"Brother Mo Lian, that piece of paper is actually of no use to you, right? Otherwise, let's discuss it and you can... return it to me, okay?"

"No."

Yamolian refused directly.

"no....."

Hearing the two words spit out from his thin lips, Lin Caisang's breath got stuck in his throat.

"Why? Is it possible that you really like me?" Even she didn't believe this.

"Why not? Xiao Sangzi, don't you remember? You saved me right here in this place." Ya Molian glanced at the room and said.

"Yes, I saved you, but..."

"You saved me, so naturally I agreed to you. Do you want me to refuse to repay the kindness and become an ungrateful villain?" Ya Molian continued, not giving her a chance to finish her sentence.

"I....."

"I know that we don't understand each other now, but feelings can be cultivated slowly. You are still young, and there are still two years until you reach the age of hair. There is plenty of time to understand each other."

Yamolian said again.

Lin Caisang: "!!!"

What is this scenario? who is she? Where is she? Why did a big pit fall from the sky and catch her?

"Brother Mo Lian, look at me. I'm so fat. I have to stop to catch my breath after walking a few steps. People in our village secretly call me a fat pig. I can take up more than half of a bed. Moreover, I If you don't know how to cook, do laundry, or do housework, even weeding in the fields, you may get injuries on the insteps of your feet..."

She picked it off one finger at a time, criticizing her faults, and suddenly realized that she was really useless.

"I'm just a typical bad girl who is spoiled by her family. How can I be worthy of you, right?"

"It doesn't matter. I can do the cooking and laundry."

Yamo Lian shrugged and glanced at the bowl on the table with only soup left.

"What does it matter if you are a little fatter? Why should you care so much about other people's eyes? I just think you are chubby and cute. What do you do to outsiders? As for the bed... I will have a big bed made for you in the future. I guarantee you You can roll on it a few times without touching the wall."

Lin Caisang: "?!?!?!?"

He raised his hand, covered his face, took a deep breath, put his hand down, and looked at Ya Molian seriously.

"Brother Mo Lian, just tell me what you want me to do. As long as I can help you, I will do everything I can and never say a word." She spoke to him sincerely.
