

Star of Space 63

Chapter 63 I might as well die...

Next door is Ya Molian's house. He lives alone all year round. Where can there be the sound of women crying?

"Something happened, I'll go take a look.

Lin Changhong threw the prey on the ground and ran to the next door.

"Brother..."

Lin Caisang wanted to stop him, saying that it was someone else's business, so don't get involved.

But after all, it's not anyone else's business. Although Lin Changhong calls Ya Mo Lian big brother, his hunting skills come from Ya Mo Lian's sect. In fact, he has a master-disciple relationship.

It is definitely impossible for the eldest brother to ignore Ya Molian.

"Sang Sang, let's go and take a look." Lin Laojie rarely came out. Ya Mo Lian had helped their family a lot in the past few years. He didn't want anything to happen to Ya Mo Lian, so he mentioned it.

"All right."

Lin Caisang nodded, she just thought she was just a spectator.

...

On the other side, in the yard of Ya Molian's house.

Just after putting down the prey hunted from the mountain, before Ya Mo Lian could take a breath, she saw Ya Hai bringing Ya Nian'er, Ya Jinshi, Ya Sui'er and Ya Po Zhu, and the whole family came to Ya Hai angrily. In Mo Lian's yard.

"Oh my god, Ya Mo Lian, you are an ungrateful thing. My Nian'er sacrificed his own reputation to save you. You don't know how to repay your gratitude. You can just marry my Nian'er. Last time, you killed a wild boar and you even said They don't even want to bring meat to my house!"

The one who keeps crying is Yahai's daughter-in-law, Yajin. The couple is a good match, and they both like to play tricks.

Because they were coming all the way from their home, there was already a scene of commotion on the road, and many good-hearted folks who came back from the fields also came over. When they saw the Yajin family sitting on the ground and howling, some people despised it, some people were disdainful, and they were also indifferent. I feel that Yamolian is really nothing.

"Ya Mo Lian, you wolf-hearted things are simply not human. If I had known better, I shouldn't have let my Nian'er save you and let you die. My Nian'er Bodhisattva saved you with a kind heart, but you repaid your kindness with revenge. , you bitch!"

The Yajin clan was still howling there.

But looking at Ya Molian, she acted as if nothing was wrong. She went into the main room of her home, poured a bowl of herbal tea and drank it in one breath. Then she wiped the corners of her mouth with her sleeve and came out to look at Yahai's family coldly.

"Have you howled enough? Get out of here!"

"you--"

After hearing what he said, Yahai was so angry that he fell down and almost lost his breath.

"Brother Mo Lian, how could you do this? Nian'er didn't ask you to marry me, but I saved you back then. That's a fact. You... how will Nian'er behave in the village in the future if you make her like this? I might as well die..."

Ya Nian'er took a step forward, pretending to wipe away her tears, and secretly looked at Ya Molian, who had a plain face.

Originally, she really looked down on a country hunter like Ya Mo Lian, and she also felt that Ya Mo Lian had a hidden disease and could faint in broad daylight. For her to marry such a person would be like marrying a loser. Widowhood is designated in the future.

But a few days ago, she actually heard that Ya Molian killed a big wild boar and distributed it to several families in the village.

Would a man who could kill a big wild boar have a hidden disease?

Ya Nian'er began to doubt.

After hesitating for a few days and watching Yamo Lian running up the mountain every day, holding more or less prey in her hands every time, she finally couldn't sit still anymore and felt that her original decision was wrong.

Therefore, she encouraged Lin Hai and Ya Jin to come to Ya Molian's house to cause trouble.