Chapter 93 Willing to serve

"Also, I'll prepare a prescription here later. I'd like to ask Mr. Wei to grab a few pills first and find one who is seriously ill and one who is mildly ill to test the medicine. I think everyone will be willing to come over.

"Okay, I'll do it right away."

Captain Wei responded, glared at Mr. Gong fiercely, and then left.

"Miss Liu, you are busy now, so I won't disturb you. First..."

Seeing that the person he was afraid of left, Master Gong also wanted to find an excuse to leave. He thought that the scandal of the Gong family must not be exposed by a few servants, and he had to go and give him a good warning first.

But who is Lin Caisang? How could he not see Master Gong's little thoughts?

He raised his eyes and smiled at Mr. Gong with a smile on his face, "I'm not busy, I'm not busy. If Mr. Gong has nothing to do, would you like to chat with me for a while? It's boring for me to be alone here."

"this....."

The corners of Mr. Gong's mouth twitched seriously several times.

He and Lin Caisang had something to talk about, and they were not familiar with each other. Didn't she already know that he didn't want to talk about those things? Could it be that he wanted to inquire around the corner? After being the head of the family for so many years, dealing with outsiders is not in vain. He still knows what to say and what not to say.

But at the same time, Master Gong also knew what Lin Caisang meant, which was that he didn't want him to see his servants.

"I still have patients at home, so I really can't stay any longer. If Miss Liu wants to find someone to chat with, the other gentlemen should be very happy."

He said bluntly.

"Yeah?"

Lin Caisang's eyes turned cold and he smiled coldly.

"Master Gong is in a hurry to explain something to those servants and let them know everything about me and Capt. Wei, right? Huh?" Since this person is so shameless, what else can she do? You're being polite.

"I....."

Master Gong choked, his eyes flickering and he dared not look directly at Lin Caisang.

The phrase 'tell everything you know and tell everything' was definitely meant to ridicule him, because he just said these eight words, but he didn't tell the truth after that, and he knew it full well.

"In other words, Master Gong is also thinking about Mr. Ling and wants me to take a look at him, right? Master Gong." Lin Caisang asked again.

"you--"

Upon hearing her words, Mr. Gong's eyes suddenly widened and he stared at Lin Caisang hatefully.

"Master Gong, there is no need to be so surprised. I just guessed in my heart and said whatever I said. If Master Gong really cares about Mr. Ling, I think Capt. Wei will be happy to help you with this, and I will also be happy to do my best. "

Lin Caisang said again.

"you you....."

Master Gong was so angry with her that his whole body was shaking.

She was openly threatening him. How could he, a dignified gentleman who was so much older than Lin Caisang, be threatened by a little girl?

"Miss Liu, do you know that more than half of the county government's bounty this time comes from my Gong family."

Naturally, he would not allow outsiders to threaten him. If he wanted to threaten him, it would depend on whether Lin Caisang had the ability. He asked Lin Caisang with a cold face, as if he were treating a clown.

"Of course I know this."

Lin Caisang didn't fight with him and nodded directly.

"Then you still dare..."

"But isn't that what it should be?"

Just when Mr. Gong's momentum suddenly increased and he wanted to laugh at Lin Caisang, he heard Lin Caisang speak again.

"I was just thinking, this county magistrate is too kind. If this happened to me and so many people were harmed, I would certainly confiscate the culprit's home and make him never stand up again! Just let him It's really a bargain for him to offer such a small amount of money, don't you think so, Mr. Gong?"
