

Chapter 261 Having Lunch

"No..."

Melissa started saying, but Lindsey and Merrick quickly cut her off excitedly.

"Yes!"

"I want to go and see Mommy!" Lindsey raised her hands happily and said, "Mommy is the best candidate!"

"She will definitely win the first place," Merrick added firmly.

Melissa smiled at them and walked over. She touched Lindsey's and Merrick's heads lovingly and said, "Well, since you believe I can win the first place, then I will!"

"What was that?" Johnny's happy voice came from the doorway.

He walked in with a bag of lunch boxes and Everett walked in behind him.

"Before thinking about that, we should eat," Vivienne said with a smile and pulled the table beside the hospital bed for the dishes the men had brought. "The doctor said that Lindsey and Merrick can leave the hospital this afternoon. But their health is not yet the best, so they need to eat healthily. That's why I asked Johnny and Everett to bring food here."

Melissa just nodded. What could she do? Drive Everett back? ⓘ

"That's really considerate of you, Mrs. Mayfield."

"Of course. If we don't do this, who will?" Johnny answered Melissa with a chuckle.

After that, he opened the lunch boxes and put the food on the table. Immediately, the delicious scent filled the room.

"This was made by the servant of the Mayfield family. She has been with us for decades now, and her food is always very good. Even the meals you eat at restaurants can't compare to hers."

The meals were all light, but they were delicious.

Lindsey and Merrick stared eagerly at the food in silence.

"While Lindsey and Merrick stay on the bed, we can sit beside the bed," Vivienne said, making sure that Melissa sat beside Everett. The table was small, so Melissa had no choice but to stay close to him.

She felt uneasy, but she had no choice.

It was funny how she had warned this man to stay away from her hours before, and now, she was about to dine with him. ①

"Would you like some soup?" Everett asked, decidedly more calmer than Melissa. He didn't wait for an answer before placing a bowl of soup in front of her. "Enjoy it. You need to take care of yourself too."

"Thank you," Melissa said as politely as she could. She couldn't refuse with his parents watching them so seriously. She picked up the spoon and tasted the soup.

Indeed, it tasted delicious.

It made her think of the time five years ago when she used to drink this same soup in the Mayfield family's house. Feeling a little strange, she put the bowl back on the table.

Johnny and Vivienne looked at each other after this and smiled knowingly.

If things went on this way, maybe Melissa would come back to the Mayfield family sooner than they thought.

Each person in the ward was in their own thoughts. Even Lindsey and Merrick had something on their minds.

Merrick looked at his mother and Everett while eating. If he was reading the energy between them right, then Aloys might have lost his chance.

But he couldn't let that happen. He wanted Aloys to be his father, and for that to happen, he had to create more opportunities for Aloys to meet with his mommy.

Lindsey, on the other hand, was very happy with what she was seeing. "Mr. Everett Mayfield, I want to eat that." She pointed at something.

"Let me get it for you," Melissa said since she was seated close to her daughter. She held her fork up and asked, "What do you want to eat?"

"I want Mr. Mayfield to get it for me." The girl pouted.

Chapter 262 Meeting

The children were not very ill. So they easily got back on their feet after they were discharged from the hospital.

Naturally, Melissa was relieved. She could now focus on work.

Honestly, winning this competition wasn't very important to her. After all, she could easily find a job in any hospital considering her reputation and strength. Leilany too had nothing to worry about as the heiress of the Green Group. She could have a comfortable life without working.

The only thing that made Melissa keep up with this was the fact that she wanted to make those people who had caused trouble and mocked them swallow their words.

Because of them, she had to win this competition.

"Melly!" Leilany shook Melissa's arm when she didn't answer. "What do you have on your mind? I've called you many times already."

"Oh... What's up?"

Melissa shook and closed the medical record in front of her.

"There will soon be a meeting and your name is on the list. You need to go to the administrative building and get some materials."

"I see," Melissa replied with a sigh.

Since her time in school, what she hated most was writing reports and attending meetings. It was really troublesome and boring. She much preferred taking care of her patients.

She looked up at Leilany with pleading eyes.

"No, Melly, sorry," Leilany said before Melissa could say what she was about to.

"They said you have to get it in person and sign it. This meeting must be very important. However, I can go with you since I have something to do there."

"Okay, then. Let's go," Melissa said resignedly and stood up.

If there was one thing she hated in this hospital except for the annoying colleagues, it was that it often held meetings.

As soon as they stepped out of the department and started walking toward the administrative building, they saw a tall figure coming from a nearby department.

"Melly!" Lukas called excitedly from a distance. He waved as he walked to them. "Hello, Leilany."

"Dr. Wilde," Leilany said shyly.

Melissa looked at her, amused.

Had she really fallen in love with Lukas?

She was sure of this, but she couldn't expose her friend like this. So, she swallowed it and waved back at Lukas.

"Lukas, are you going to the administrative building too?"

"Yes. Mr. Cooper told me there was a meeting."

"Mr. Cooper?" Leilany's eyes went wide.

Suddenly, she could feel how different she was from Melissa and Lukas.

She didn't receive any notice to attend the meeting, but it was only after hearing that Lukas had an invitation that it bothered her.

Melissa was also surprised, but she quickly masked it.

"Leilany, you will learn a lot from Lukas. I heard that he also took part in the competition of interns in his department and won the first place."

"Really? That's awesome." Leilany gave him a thumbs up.

"No, I was just lucky." Lukas waved his hand to dismiss it and added, "You too are very powerful. You have the courage to participate in the competition of senior doctors."

"Thank you. Melly is the one who's really great."

The three of them talked for a while and soon got to the administrative building.

What they saw, however, was the group of senior doctors who mocked them standing at the door.

As soon as the doctors saw them, they rolled their eyes at them and crossed their arms.

"I never heard anything about interns being invited to this meeting. I knew they were shameless, but to this point, I had no idea."

"Does this building belong to you? Are you the only ones allowed to get in there?" Leilany asked haughtily. She was very angry and wouldn't just sit quiet. "What? What makes you think I came for the meeting?"
