

Chapter 496 You Are Like A Sister To Me

"Yes." Arielle nodded.

Keira then understood why Melissa wanted to leave the hospital, and it was for this very reason. She clenched her fists tightly, venom flashing across her eyes.

Melissa had prepared all the necessities for herself and packed her luggage. She had even bought daily items for Mona, who was taken aback by the sight of everything.

"Ma'am, I don't need these cosmetics," Mona said. "I am a bodyguard, and I seldom use these."

Mona attempted to take the items away, but Melissa refused.

She knew that Mona was afraid of spending money. She firmly stated, "Mona, you are a girl. Girls like to dress up. You should do this. What's more, you will work as my assistant in Timton, so you should make yourself look more beautiful."

Mona couldn't argue, knowing that it was all for work.

"But I am unconcerned about make-up, and I don't know how to use these things," she admitted as she held the cosmetics in her hands and felt embarrassed.

Melissa opened the lid of the powder box with a smile and proceeded to apply some on Mona's face.

She then patiently explained how to use each item.

After an hour of guidance, Mona understood.

"Then I will have a try," Mona said, following Melissa's instructions.

A few minutes later, she had transformed into a beautiful girl.

Even though it wasn't a professional makeup job, Mona still looked much better than before.

Mona was actually a beautiful girl. It was just that she rarely dressed up.

"I gave you all these cosmetics. If you ever need anything else, just let me know."

Although Mona seldom dressed up, she had seen those luxury cosmetics before. They would have cost at least tens of thousands of dollars to purchase.

"No. This set will be enough. I seldom use those things. I will use them when we go out. If I don't need to do anything, I will not use them," Mona replied, waving her hands.

"Alright, if you ever need anything, just let me know. Don't be so polite," Melissa said.

Mona had never been treated so well before, and Melissa's kindness overwhelmed her.

Mona looked at Melissa thoughtfully for a long time.

Melissa touched her face and asked with a smile, "Is there something on my face?"

"No, nothing. You look so beautiful today, and you're such a caring and kind person. You're like a sister to me."

Melissa smiled at Mona's words and said, "If you think of me as a sister, you can just call me Melissa."

"I..."

Mona hesitated. Even though she wanted to call Melissa by her name, she felt awkward since Melissa was her employer. She also thought of Melissa's noble status.

"Miss Sherman, I appreciate your kindness, but I am not sure if it's appropriate for me to call you by your name. You are my employer, after all."

Melissa reassured her, "Please don't worry about it. We are more than just an employer and an employee. We have formed a bond, and I consider you family. So, please feel free to call me by my first name."

"I..."

Mona attempted to address her as such, but ultimately, she couldn't bring herself to do it.

As Melissa and Mona were preparing to leave, Aloys arrived to see them off.

"Knowing that you are going to Timton, I wanted to come and see you off," Aloys said as he approached them.
