

Chapter 1363 Fatal Hex

The remaining Titan Bugs, matching Liam's seventh-stage Primogem Expert level, were spared from the Fatal Hex.

Yet, these stragglers were no real threat. Paralyzed with fear after seeing Liam annihilate their brethren, they scrambled to flee the cave in panic.

Liam sneered, "Running now? Too late!"

He showed no mercy toward his enemy. His loyalty was solely to the Human Clan, considering all other races as adversaries.

The Titan Bugs had invaded human territory for their base, revealing their hostile intentions.

With determination, Liam pursued them with his sword.

Though the Titan Bugs used their special power of the wind element to increase their speed, Liam was confident to catch them.

He utilized his mastery of the law power of the earth and water element to slow his enemies by creating a gravitational field, hindering the Titan Bugs' movement.

Liam caught up with the Titan Bugs effortlessly, his sword piercing a Titan Bug with the power of a seventh-stage Primogem Expert with ease.

The Titan Bugs' formidable defenses were as weak as paper against Liam's sword of darkness.

As Liam killed the Titan Bugs with the ease of a god, the survivors were petrified, unable to muster the courage to face Liam. Shiloh and Trudy watched the scene in stunned silence.

No wonder Liam had dismissed seventh-stage Primogem Experts as low-level. His skills spoke volumes!

Shiloh couldn't help but smile bitterly. He had always assumed Liam's strength was equivalent to a third-stage Primogem Expert at best.

He had even thought Liam's ability to kill a second-stage Primogem King in one strike was solely due to his powerful sword of darkness.

However, after witnessing Liam display a fraction of his actual power, Shiloh realized he had underestimated Liam.

He was astonished to learn that Liam had advanced to the seventh stage of Primogem Expert and had even mastered the Death Power.

Shiloh's surprise deepened when he recalled that just over two months ago, Liam had been merely a five-star Primogem Warrior.

In such a brief period, Liam had attained a remarkable level of power.

Overwhelmed, Shiloh couldn't help but mutter, "Liam is incredible! His talent is among the top ten in the history of the Human Clan!"

Shiloh now felt fortunate he had never crossed Liam and had always sought his friendship.

Had he not earnestly pursued a friendship and gained Liam's favor, the distance between them would have become impossibly wide as Liam's abilities grew.
