

Chapter 1367 Flee

The situation was extremely urgent.

Lindy and her team had just fended off a wave of Titan Bugs. More swarms were bound to follow and encircle them.

A lack of caution could lead Lindy and her teammates to be devoured by the Titan Bugs.

Standing against the incoming tide of Titan Bugs without a trace of fear, Lindy positioned herself at the forefront, her sword poised for battle.

With each swing of her sword, she skewered multiple Titan Bugs.

Despite her valiant efforts and the numerous bugs she killed, the impact was minimal.

There were too many Titan Bugs. As soon as one fell, more of them appeared. The effort seemed in vain unless she could vanquish them all in an instant.

Soon, more and more Titan Bugs surrounded Lindy's team, leaving Lindy with no chance to resist. She was quickly engulfed by their sheer number.

Meanwhile, her teammates, Julio Ellis and Jeremias Ellis, were frozen with fear as they watched Lindy disappear under the swarm. They were brothers.

Terror written all over his face, Jeremias whispered to Julio, "There's no way out for us, Julio. Please think of a plan now. I'm not ready to die!"

Julio, equally terror-stricken, took a moment before responding decisively, "We can let Lindy hold them back. Now is our only chance to escape. We must run now, or we'll never make it!"

Jeremias, understanding the severity of their predicament, nodded earnestly. "Okay. Let's run now!"

Taking the opportunity, Julio and Jeremias started to flee, leaving Lindy amidst the chaos.

But their escape was cut short by another member of their team who stepped in their path.

She confronted the Ellis brothers, having discovered their intention to flee.

Her eyebrows knitted, she exclaimed in anger, "Julio, Jeremias, what are you trying to do? Are you trying to flee now? If the Titan Bugs break through our defense line, escape will be impossible for any of us!"

Caught attempting to flee, Julio was displeased. His expression turned icy as he defensively said, "Don't frame us, Annabella! We were just trying to draw the Titan Bugs away to lighten Lindy's load."

Annabella Brewer, seeing through Julio's poorly constructed excuse and recognizing the fear in Julio's and his brother's eyes, chose not to pursue the matter further.

With formidable adversaries still to confront, she resolved to address their cowardice once the battle ended.

Annabella then spun around, sword ready, and charged back to where Lindy was struggling. She swung her sword with force, slicing several Titan Bugs in two. Reaching Lindy, she grabbed her shoulder and yanked her away from the Titan Bugs.

Although Annabella had managed to pull Lindy to safety, the threat was far from over. The four of them were still drastically outnumbered.

Their relentless efforts seemed futile as they were merely prolonging their inevitable defeat. Besides, with endless waves of Titan Bugs behind them, even a war of attrition would eventually exhaust them to death.

Lindy's gaze had grown dim with despair, acknowledging the bleakness of their situation.

Her teammates shared this heavy sense of doom.

Julio and Jeremias felt deep resentment toward Annabella. They believed her intervention had robbed them of a chance to escape.

As despair deepened, an unexpected turn occurred. The tide of Titan Bugs, which had seemed unstoppable, suddenly faced a powerful and deadly force.

This mysterious force shattered the Titan Bugs' formidable defenses, reducing many to fragments.

Some of the more resilient bugs survived and continued their relentless assault, determined to kill Lindy and her teammates.

Exhausted and beleaguered, Lindy and her teammates seemed doomed.

At that critical moment, a radiant light of a sword appeared.

Suddenly, the brilliant light swept downward, vibrating the air and earth. A deep fissure split the valley floor, spreading rapidly across the terrain.

This mighty stroke of the sword light obliterated the remaining Titan Bugs!

Lindy and her companions' eyes widened in disbelief as they witnessed the swift eradication of the Titan Bugs that had nearly defeated them.

Lindy felt confident that even a formidable level-four Primogem King would fall before such overwhelming power.

With the valley now strewn with the bodies of the Titan Bugs, Lindy collected herself and expressed her gratitude towards the direction of the mysterious savior.

"Thank you for your help! I am Lindy, apprentice to the Primogem Emperor, Sheldon Castro. If you are willing, we would be honored to welcome you to visit our Heavenly Dragon College!"

Annabella and the brothers snapped back from their astonishment upon hearing Lindy's words. They all thanked the savior politely.