

Chapter 1407 Argument

After exiting the secret cultivation chamber, Liam headed straight for the task hall to select his next mission.

Having achieved the "Silver-Form Body" level, Liam found both his defensive capabilities and overall strength significantly enhanced.

Tasks that had once posed a challenge to him now seemed easy.

While Liam browsed the mission screen, Caden, the Lord of Rosefinch, and Christos from the Sanctuary of Human Sovereign arrived at the Celestial Palace in the City of Divinity.

Their visit was to meet with the City Lord.

At that moment, a heated argument broke out between Caden and Christos.

They were arguing because of Liam.

Christos was particularly concerned about the rapid pace at which Liam was gaining points.

Turning to the City Lord with a grave tone, Christos expressed his concerns, saying, "Don't you find Liam's rapid accumulation of points alarming? He has been in the Cosmic realm for only six months, and it's unlikely he fully understands its rules yet. His swift progression might not be in his best interest. In my view, should we consider deliberately slowing his rate of point accumulation?"

Upon hearing this, Caden reacted sharply, his eyes widening in anger. "What nonsense are you spouting, Christos? Liam earns points quickly because he's capable, excelling in tasks and claiming additional rewards! Can you name anyone else who has managed to unlock level-five clearance within just six months of entering the Cosmic realm? Instead of plotting to hinder him, we should be encouraging such a talent! It's the first time I've encountered someone who, rather than thinking of ways to secretly assist such a talent, actually wants to hinder his progress!"

Christos gave Caden an indifferent glance, yet his resolve remained unshaken.

Christos said, "Consider this: Liam's development might be too sheltered, like a flower grown in a greenhouse. This could leave him unprepared for the realities he'll face. He will be without a proper sense of respect for the dangers ahead."

Caden dismissed these concerns with a wave of his hand. "Christos, you're worrying over nothing. You have watched Liam closely for a while. Do you really think he's the type to become arrogant and complacent easily? I don't think you should be worrying about that. Although my time to monitor Liam is limited, I have great confidence in him!"

Hearing Caden's words, Christos was furious. He turned to look at the City Lord. "City Lord, do you find any fault with my worries? How could Caden claim that I'm overly concerned? Even though my worries remain an assumption at this stage, they are not beyond the realm of possibility! You—"

Before Christos could finish speaking, the City Lord raised his arm and cut him off.
