

Chapter 1545 The Birthday Gift

Liam gazed around the Vaughn family estate, taking in the festive decorations and the joyful expressions of the Vaughn family members.

A pang of nostalgia hit him suddenly, bringing memories of the Hoffman family back on Blue Star. If only those unexpected events hadn't occurred, his grandfather might still be alive.

As Liam stood lost in his reverie, a middle-aged butler emerged from the Vaughn family courtyard. When he saw Cecil, his face lit up with joy.

He hurried over and exclaimed, "Young Master, you're finally back! You haven't returned home much these past years. Please, come in!"

The butler stepped aside, gesturing warmly for Cecil to enter.

Cecil, half-amused, replied, "Ramon, I returned home once just a few months ago. How can you say I haven't been home much?"

Ramon chuckled. "I miss you so much when you're away," he said.

Noticing Liam beside Cecil, Ramon asked, "Who might this gentleman be?"

The butler's question pulled Cecil out of his thoughts. With a light slap to his forehead, he replied, "Ah, how could I forget to introduce our guest? This is Liam Hoffman, my friend."

Turning to Liam, Cecil said with a smile, "Come on, let's head inside."

At the mention of Liam's name, Ramon's eyes widened in astonishment.

Stories of Liam's exceptional reputation had already reached him. It was almost unthinkable that someone of such prodigious talent was attending Katherine's birthday celebration.

Quickly composing himself, Ramon stepped back with a welcoming gesture, his respect evident.

Liam offered a subtle, courteous smile to Ramon.

Then, Cecil led Liam into the Vaughn family's residence.

Seeing this, Ramon couldn't help but mutter, "The young master is truly blessed to have a good relationship with someone like Liam."

Guided by Cecil, Liam entered the hall.

The room was filled with the Vaughn family's guests, many of whom had arrived a day early to celebrate Katherine's momentous birthday.

As Cecil stepped into the hall, his voice rang out cheerfully, "Great-grandmother, Uncle, I'm back!"

All eyes instantly turned toward Cecil.

An elderly woman, seated at the center, looked at Cecil with a warm gaze and nodded. "It's good to have you back. Is this your friend? Invite him to sit."

Not missing a beat, Cecil puffed out his chest with pride and declared, "Great-grandmother, this is my good friend, Liam Hoffman! Uncle knows him, too!"

A ripple of surprise swept through the room as murmurs broke out among the guests.

The hall buzzed with excitement at the revelation that Cecil's friend was none other than the famed genius, Liam.

Liam, exuding a calm confidence, stepped forward with a polite smile and said, "Thank you for welcoming me into your beautiful home."

With that, Liam retrieved a vial from his sleeve, handing it to Ramon, who had followed Cecil and him inside.

"This is my first time here," Liam said to Katherine with composed sincerity. "I heard of your significant birthday and prepared this as a gift in haste. I hope you won't find it lacking. It's a drop of the Blood Sovereign's blood essence."

The moment he finished speaking, a wave of astonishment swept through the hall.
