Chapter 145: Zane, Serena Is Still a Virgin

They were all in the prime of their youth, standing together, the teenagers looked beautiful enough to be a framed sand painting from afar.

Hayden Crawford stopped in his tracks, his eyes deeply pained by this scene.

He hadn't expected Serena Sterling to come, and now he understood everything, seeing this scene and Iris Crawford to the side.

So, the genius girl Iris Crawford liked was... Serena Sterling!

Iris Crawford was trying to introduce Serena Sterling to Zane Crawford, for a matchmaking date!

Hayden Crawford's handsome brows quickly covered with a layer of cold frost. He slipped a hand into his pants pocket and called out, "Mrs. Crawford!"

This low, magnetic voice quickly reached the three people's ears. Serena Sterling was the first to turn her head and look, and she immediately saw Hayden Crawford.

Hayden Crawford had just taken off his coat and was now in a tailored black shirt and black trousers, tall and upright. Under the thin shirt material, you could faintly see his well-built chest and strong shoulder line, exuding a mature and handsome masculine aura, filled with strong hormones.

Why is he here?

Serena Sterling quickly held up her dress and jogged over, but the dress was too long, and she accidentally tripped, her slender body about to fall.

Zane Crawford moved quickly, wanting to step forward, but someone was faster than him.

Hayden Crawford stretched out a powerful arm and wrapped it around Serena Sterling's soft waist, pulling her into his arms while reprimanding in a low voice, "What are you doing, being so reckless?"

Serena Sterling was startled as she was about to fall; falling in such a beautiful long dress would be very embarrassing. Now being pulled into Hayden Crawford's well-built and warm chest, she quickly steadied herself and looked up at him, "Mr. Crawford, I didn't expect you to come here, so I got excited. Why are you here?"

Hayden Crawford looked down with his handsome eyes at her bright sparkling eyes, then tightened his grip slightly, pinching her small waist forcefully, "Iris Crawford is my aunt, Zane Crawford is my brother."

What?

Serena Sterling's pupils shrank violently. The headmaster of The St. Lyra Academy was actually his aunt? The Zane Crawford who liked to nap in the pharmacy was his brother?

Iris Crawford was just as shocked as Serena Sterling at the moment. She watched Hayden Crawford holding Serena Sterling, gasping. What was going on?

She was trying to introduce Serena Sterling to Zane Crawford. Everything went smoothly just now, but Hayden Crawford's arrival shattered it all.

Iris Crawford spoke up, "Serena, what on earth is going on? What... what is your relationship with Hayden? Isn't Hayden already married?"

Serena Sterling's waist hurt from the pinch, and her white eyes turned a little red. She also realized something was off with Hayden Crawford's mood; he seemed angry.

With Iris Crawford's question, Serena Sterling awkwardly said, "Yes, Headmaster, Mr. Crawford is already married, and I am his Mrs. Crawford."

Oh my God!

Iris Crawford's eyes widened, her mind blown.

Hayden Crawford's deep, narrow eyes fell on Iris Crawford's disbelieving face, then curved his thin lips into a shallow sarcastic smile, "Mrs. Crawford, you should change the way you address her. Don't call her Headmaster, call her Aunt."

Serena Sterling looked at Iris Crawford and changed her address, "Aunt, I'm sorry for meeting you in such an abrupt way."

Iris Crawford couldn't say a word. The Serena Sterling she liked so much was already married to her least favorite nephew. Rumors outside said this Mrs. Crawford was just a high school graduate, and even Yasmine Sterling said so just now. Iris Crawford really found the rumor absurd. What's "high school graduate"? A genius girl who graduated with dual master's degrees at 15, and you're telling me she just graduated high school?

Iris Crawford looked at Serena Sterling complexly, having a lot to say in her heart. She wondered if Serena Sterling knew about Hayden Crawford's condition, that he... he was a person who came out of a mental hospital!

Hayden Crawford's gaze subtly fell on Zane Crawford, then he lifted his thin lips, "Zane, I haven't introduced her to you yet. Serena Sterling, my wife, your sister-in-law!"

Serena Sterling, my wife, your sister-in-law.

Hayden Crawford's simple words were domineering and forceful, declaring everything.

Zane Crawford stood cold and still, his dark eyes falling on Hayden Crawford's hand, which was still gripping Serena Sterling's soft waist. He had seen him pinch her just now.

Serena Sterling's waist was very slender, and in Hayden Crawford's palm, it seemed like he could snap her soft waist with just a bit of force.

Zane Crawford's dark eyes sank a few degrees. He looked at Hayden Crawford, and a few traces of tension appeared between the two superior-looking men.

Serena Sterling could also sensitively sense the change in everyone's expressions, and even the atmosphere became stiff. She quietly tugged on Hayden Crawford's sleeve, whispering, "Mr. Crawford, it's late, let's go home early."

Hayden Crawford's handsome face carried a faint smile, "Aunt, Zane, we'll head back first, we'll invite you for dinner another day."

With that, Hayden Crawford held Serena Sterling and left.

As Serena Sterling was leaving, she glanced back, waving her little hand at Iris Crawford and Zane Crawford, and said in a small embarrassed voice, "Bye-bye."

Hayden Crawford held her head from behind, domineeringly turning her small face back forward, and the two quickly disappeared from sight.

Iris Crawford stood numbly in place, she looked at Zane Crawford beside her, "Zane, did you know early on that Serena Sterling was Hayden Crawford's wife?"

Zane Crawford nodded slightly, "Yeah."

"What's going on, I liked Serena so much and wanted to introduce her to you, but I didn't expect Hayden had already taken the lead. No wonder that night at Orchid Court, Hayden and Grandma hid everything, they didn't even want us to meet, they indeed hid a treasure. Hayden actually married a genius girl."

Zane Crawford pursed his cool thin lips, "Aunt, I'll leave first."

Iris Crawford quickly grabbed Zane Crawford, "Zane, does Serena know about Hayden's condition, does she understand everything about him? Also, tell me honestly, do you like Serena Sterling?"

Zane Crawford's wavy bangs covered his dark eyes, he didn't say anything, just pulled his arm back and stepped away.

"Zane," Iris Crawford called from behind, "Though I don't know what's between Serena and Hayden, they aren't suitable. If you like Serena, then take her away, I've checked, Serena is still a virgin."

Hearing this, Zane Crawford's footsteps suddenly halted, he looked back at Iris Crawford.

Iris Crawford nodded confidently, "I am sure Serena hasn't been touched by Hayden, she's still a clean girl!"
