

Substitute B 261

Chapter 261: Serena Sterling Enrolls

Iris Blue reached out and touched Serena's little head, "Now Anabelle Rathborne is T University's campus belle, but they haven't seen my Serena yet. Once my Serena shows up, that Anabelle will have to step aside. T University's campus belle is none other than Serena!"

Summer Sterling looked at Serena with the pride of a father whose daughter is growing up beautifully, "Absolutely, my Serena is countless times prettier than that Anabelle."

Serena saw that they were getting off track again and quickly coughed, "Dad, Mom, let's hurry into T University."

"Alright, let's go."

The three of them got out of the car together, swaggering towards T University. The security at T University saw them coming and screamed in fright, "Not good, not good, Summer Sterling is here, quickly close the gates, don't let them in!"

The guards immediately closed the gate, their fingers trembling as they picked up the phone and directly dialed the principal's office, "Vice Principal Pace, there's a big problem, that fiend Summer Sterling is here!"

The head principal of T University hasn't been around these past years, and all matters have been handled by Vice Principal Pace.

The three of them were immediately shut out, with T University's gates closed on them, and all the guards lined up inside, watching them with wary expressions.

Serena blinked her long lashes, her clear bright eyes looking over at Summer Sterling, "Dad, didn't you say... you and the Vice Principal of T University were old acquaintances? This welcome ceremony is a bit... extravagant, isn't it?"

Summer Sterling awkwardly chuckled twice, "Yes, Vice Principal Pace and I are old acquaintances. Last time, T University produced a shameless villain who drugged and ruined the daughter of one of my subordinates. I barged into T University causing a ruckus, and Vice Principal Pace tried to mediate but ended up receiving a punch from me, knocking him to the ground, and he lay in the hospital for half a month..."

There's that incident?

"Dad, you," Serena gave an affirmative nod, "did well!"

Summer Sterling hadn't slept well last night, fearing his past impulsiveness would ruin Serena's matters. Now getting Serena's approval, he flashed a bright smile, revealing his white teeth, "Right, Serena? I knew I didn't do anything wrong. It's okay, Vice Principal Pace is probably a little scared of me, that's why he closed the gates and didn't let me in. I don't think he should be such a petty person. When he comes, I'll just apologize to him."

Just then, a series of footsteps came from inside, and Vice Principal Pace hurried over with people.

Seeing Summer Sterling, Vice Principal Pace felt his nose ache. That punch almost broke his nose. Vice Principal Pace, a scholarly gentleman, despised the rogue-style demeanor of Summer Sterling.

"Summer Sterling, what are you doing here? We at T University are strict in self-discipline, we shouldn't have offended you, so why are you here again?" Vice Principal Pace asked.

Summer Sterling took two steps forward, through the gate, his voice loud and clear, "Vice Principal Pace, I'm here to apologize to you. That punch last time was an unintentional mistake. I'll invite you for a meal some other day. Now quickly open the gate. My daughter, who went missing as a child, has returned. Now, she wants to study at your T University."

Who in Aethelgard doesn't know that Summer Sterling's daughter has returned and that this daughter was spurned by her fiancé James Sawyer and even faced a breakup? Everyone's waiting to see the joke, yet Summer Sterling brought his daughter to T University's gate today.

Vice Principal Pace straightened his back immediately, looking towards Serena beside Iris Blue.

Serena was wearing a veil today, so her appearance was unclear. However, the pair of clear bright eyes visible, wandering with light, were captivating.

Vice Principal Pace caught sight of Serena's bright eyes, and his eyes quickly flashed with amazement. What beautiful eyes, he felt like he had seen them somewhere before.

However, he couldn't remember.

All he knew was that she was Summer Sterling's daughter, and women of the Sterling family excel in martial arts but fall asleep when they see a book, a background that Vice Principal Pace looked down upon, thus viewed Serena with prejudiced glasses and bias.

"Summer Sterling, who do you think we are at T University, a vegetable market? Coming and going as you please. Our students are admitted based on merit; I won't give you any special treatment. You should take your daughter and leave. Stop making a fool of yourself!" Vice Principal Pace said coldly.

Summer Sterling's face also turned cold. He reached out his large hand and grabbed the gate, glaring angrily at Vice Principal Pace, "Glenn Pace, you think you're pretty gallant, don't you, dipping your nose into my business? Why don't you find out first who Summer Sterling has ever apologized to? Quickly open the gate; today, my daughter is going to study at T University. If you don't open it, I'll take this gate down!"

As he spoke, Summer Sterling shook the gate forcefully. His natural strength made the iron gate creak under his shake, triggering alarms on the other side.

Vice Principal Pace stepped back a few paces in fright, hiding behind the guards, "Summer... Summer Sterling, what are you doing? Don't be reckless!"

Just then, Iris Blue stepped forward, raising her delicate eyebrows at Vice Principal Pace, "Honey, don't waste words with this old man. This broken gate can't stop me. I'll fly in and drag him out now!"

Vice Principal Pace turned completely pale, his fingers trembling as he pointed at Summer Sterling and then at Iris Blue, finally looking at the guards, "Quick, protect me, protect me well!"

Serena didn't expect to see such a farce. She quickly spoke gracefully, "Dad, Mom, let's drop it. I see Vice Principal Pace is set on not letting me enroll. Let's go back for now."

Summer Sterling turned back, "Serena, nobody can stop us from enrolling at T University. I'll get you in, whatever major you want, whatever class you want, we'll bring our own chair and sit wherever you want. If anyone dares say otherwise, I'll kick them out of T University!"

Inside, Vice Principal Pace trembled all over. He's been running the school for so many years, and it's the first time he's encountered someone like Summer Sterling, even bringing his own chair to squeeze into a class.

Vice Principal Pace grew even more disapproving of Serena, assuming she must share the same nature as her father.

Serena was almost laughing; she, too, was defeated by Summer Sterling's logic. She stepped forward and took Iris Blue's arm, acting spoiled, "Mom, let's not fuss anymore; a forced melon is not sweet. Let's think of another way."

Iris Blue finally stepped back, "Honey, let's listen to Serena."

Summer Sterling glared at Vice Principal Pace again, with an eye expression that said he would regret this, then turned back to Serena, "Serena, let's switch to another medical university, go to A University. I have a real friendship with Principal Tucker of A University."

Iris Blue quickly denied, "No, among the medical universities in Aethelgard, T University ranks first, A University at the bottom. A University is full of some rich kids loafing around, its atmosphere is bad, its reputation worse. If Serena goes to a bottom-ranking A University, she'll probably be laughed at."

Serena, however, smiled tenderly, "Okay, I'll go to A University."

...

The Sterling family took Serena to A University, where Principal Tucker warmly greeted them, "Mr. Sterling, we at A University warmly welcome your precious daughter to join us. These past years, with T University's main principal absent, Vice Principal Pace has become increasingly arrogant. I think your daughter is sharp-witted and filled with talent."