

Substitute B 352

Chapter 352: She's Terrifying!

Anabelle Rathborne laughed like a blooming flower, "Mrs. Kerr, Serena Sterling is at D Radio Station, it's that one."

Anabelle enthusiastically pointed the way.

"I know," Mrs. Kerr said, entering D Radio Station.

Anabelle and Tiana Ford wanted to follow inside for the show, but the bodyguards Mrs. Kerr brought stood outside the door, blocking their way, "Sorry, you can't go in!"

What?

They couldn't go in?

Anabelle and Tiana were so excited last night that they couldn't sleep, just waiting to see Serena Sterling get torn apart today. Mrs. Kerr arrived as promised, found Serena's door, everything was smooth, but Mrs. Kerr unexpectedly wouldn't let them in, which was a bit unexpected.

Now they were shut out, unable to see the spectacle.

What to do now?

At that moment, a staff member said, "Old Man Knight, Director, it's time for the test broadcast at A Radio Station."

The test broadcast time had arrived, and it had to be conducted!

Old Man Knight and Yvonne Knight didn't know about this matter, and Anabelle wanted to perform well in front of her grandpa and mommy, to give them a big surprise. Now Old Man Knight looked at Anabelle, "Annette, this is your first test broadcast, don't be nervous, I believe in you."

Anabelle tugged at the corner of her mouth, "Alright, I'll go in now."

With that, Anabelle leaned close to Tiana Ford's ear and whispered, "I'll go in for the test broadcast first, you find a way to get into Serena Sterling's D Radio Station to check, make some noise, as long as there's a commotion!"

Tiana nodded, "I know."

Anabelle entered A Radio Station with Old Man Knight and Yvonne Knight, while Tiana made a cup of coffee and then went to the door of D Radio Station. She looked at the bodyguard, "I'm delivering coffee to Mrs. Kerr, let me in, please."

This time the bodyguard stepped aside and opened the door, "Please come in."

Tiana walked into D Radio Station, and at once she saw Mrs. Kerr and Serena Sterling chatting on the sofa. Mrs. Kerr was holding Serena's little hand, and the two were talking happily.

Tiana took a sharp breath and froze on the spot, completely doubting her own eyes. Wasn't she supposed to see the original wife tear the mistress apart?

No, it must have been her entrance that was wrong, she needed to try again!

At this moment, Serena Sterling looked up, her bright eyes fell on Tiana, "Tiana, weren't you bringing coffee to Mrs. Kerr? Then bring it over."

Tiana could only step forward and deliver the coffee.

Serena Sterling and Mrs. Kerr sat on the sofa, Mrs. Kerr glanced at Tiana, "Serena, who is this person, is she your friend?"

"No, she used to be my friend, but not anymore. Her name is Tiana Ford, she's the one who sent you the messages last night."

Now Tiana stood there while Serena sat, yet Serena's calm aura was overwhelming. Her clean and transparent gaze landed on Tiana, carrying a hint of disdain. Though her tone didn't seem mocking, Tiana felt embarrassed.

Mrs. Kerr picked up the coffee elegantly, took a sip, "So that's it, everyone wants to climb higher, that's not shameful. What's shameful is stepping on a friend's back to climb higher. One should not be two-faced, or else life will teach you the lessons of being human."

Mrs. Kerr was the deputy director of the People's Hospital, having exceptional conversation skills and charm. Her words were not blunt but exceedingly sharp. Tiana felt as if two slaps had been harshly delivered onto her face.

Now she stood next to Mrs. Kerr and Serena Sterling, feeling humbled and embarrassed like a maid.

Tiana realized that this was Serena Sterling's strategy. Serena had calmly lured her here, then slowly stripped her of her shame, making her stay here for reprimand.

In fact, having been with Serena for a while, Tiana was well aware of Serena's strategies, and that's why she had been so uneasy and fearful in recent days.

Serena Sterling watched Tiana's increasingly pale face and slowly curved her red lips, "Mrs. Kerr, last night my teacher took me home and I ate a table full of dishes you made yourself. Your culinary skills are improving so much, if this continues, I'll come over just for meals."

Mrs. Kerr harmoniously played along with Serena, "Serena, you're more than welcome. I'm just worried you won't come. Originally, I was out on a medical visit, but heard from my old husband that you were coming, I hurried back."

Tiana's ears buzzed, what did Serena call Mrs. Kerr, teacher's wife?

That day, Old Man Knight asked Serena Sterling about her relationship with Professor Kerr, and Serena said Professor Kerr was her teacher, and she was his student.

She spoke the truth then, but no one believed her.

Turns out Professor Kerr really was Serena Sterling's teacher, and Mrs. Kerr was her teacher's wife.

Wrong.

Everything was wrong.

Tiana felt as though she had been struck by lightning, pushed into an abyss. It turned out she was wrong, everything was wrong, Serena Sterling and Professor Kerr were merely in a teacher-student relationship, and last night, Professor Kerr brought Serena to dinner at Mrs. Kerr's, who cooked the meal herself.

Oh my, what had she misunderstood?

Anxiety and panic overflowed from Tiana's eyes, Serena had known in advance, hadn't she? She knew what she and Anabelle were plotting. She just hadn't exposed it, playing along with the plan.

What was Serena Sterling planning?

Tiana suddenly had a very ominous premonition, she immediately turned to leave, she needed to get out of here quickly, she needed to be far away from Serena Sterling!

Serena Sterling was too terrifying!

At this moment, Serena's clear and soft voice echoed from behind, "Tiana, since you're here, don't tell me you naively thought I'd just let you walk away?"

Tiana stopped, her eyes full of precaution as she looked at Serena Sterling, "You... What do you want?"

Serena Sterling rose and slowly walked over, "Nothing much, just want to return to you the needle you stuck in me!"

Tiana wanted to escape, but her eyes gleamed coldly, as Serena's hand swiftly gained a long Golden Needle, and she directly stabbed it into Tiana's head.

...

A Radio Station.

Tiana hadn't returned yet, so Anabelle had to start the test broadcast. Her voice was very sweet as she softly spoke to the radio station, "Dear audience, this is the evening emotional segment from the Academy on Air, I am your host, Anabelle Rathborne. Tonight is not lonely, and I will accompany you through the upcoming moments."

Yvonne Knight glanced at the real-time listening chart, and the staff next to her had already given a thumbs up, "Director, the listenership for the test broadcast has already broken the record."

A Radio Station already had a large listener base, and with Anabelle's charm, the first test broadcast broke records, and many people outside were listening.

Old Man Knight nodded with satisfaction, truly his granddaughter.

Anabelle's pretty little face also showed a proud smile, actually breaking the record was within her expectations, but she wondered what was happening on Tiana's side.

At this moment, the door to A Radio Station opened, and Tiana walked in.

Tiana had returned!