

Substitute B 385

Chapter 385: She and Hayden Crawford Made the Entertainment Headlines

This time entering the forbidden area didn't lead to finding the treasure chest, so it was considered a failure, but not entirely without gain, because Serena saw wolves and two illusions. She needs to consult related texts to find clues.

Serena told what happened in the forbidden area to Xia Bang and Iris Blue. Xia Bang exclaimed, "Serena, did you say you encountered wolves?"

"Yes." Serena nodded.

"That shouldn't be. Why would there be two wolves in the backyard of the Academy's radio station? Wolves are fierce and fearsome beasts. Without the secret art of wolf taming, no one can subdue them."

A thought flashed in Serena's mind, "Dad, what is this secret art of wolf taming?"

It was Serena's first time hearing the term "secret art of wolf taming".

Xia Bang looked at Serena, "I've only heard about it. They say there was once a girl who mastered the secret art of wolf taming. She rode on a wolf's back, galloping, and all wolves obeyed her commands, making her their queen."

Serena remembered last night that the two wolves had once knelt on one leg in front of her, reverently worshipping her, as if treating her as their master.

But she didn't know the secret art of wolf taming.

Serena thought for a moment, "Dad, Mom, there's actually a question I've always been curious about. Do you know where my mother came from? I've always thought she came from the City of Aethelgard, but since arriving here, I've found that people in Aethelgard don't know where she came from."

Iris shook her head, "Serena, we're just like you; we don't know where she came from. She suddenly appeared in Aethelgard, and she's never told us where she's from. But I always feel that she came from some mysterious land."

I see...

Serena furrowed her delicate brows, "The mystery is getting bigger, but I always feel... I already know something. If I can seize just one point, I can personally unravel the layers of mist. But right now, I need clues. Do you know if there's any place in the City of Aethelgard that sells information, something like an information broker?"

Every city has a place like an information broker, selling various information, and the City of Aethelgard, being full of hidden talents, should have one too.

Sure enough, Xia Bang nodded, "Yes, there's a Seventh Young Master in Aethelgard."

"Seventh Young Master?" Serena's eyes lit up, "Who is this person?"

"We don't know who he is either. This person has never shown himself, but it's said he holds all the secrets of Aethelgard. Everyone has something visible and hidden on them, and the hidden parts we've carefully concealed do not want outsiders to know. Yet this Seventh Young Master has mastered everyone's secrets. Supposedly, his informants are spread in every corner of Aethelgard; a street vendor or a noblewoman could be his people."

So amazing?

Serena suddenly thought of Tiana Ford. Tiana's affection for Old Man Knight was a secret deeply hidden in her heart, right? No one in the world should know, but Seth Sullivan knows.

Seth Sullivan?

Seth Sullivan!

Serena's long lashes trembled. Last time, she already knew Seth was best at playing with people's hearts, a mysterious and powerful presence. Could he have something to do with this Seventh Young Master?

Serena suddenly had a very bold idea, could Seth Sullivan be... the Seventh Young Master?

After arriving in Aethelgard, her mother took in a few apprentices, all of whom had medical talent. Seth was her last disciple; he couldn't learn medicine, so what did her mother teach him?

"Dad, Mom, since this Seventh Young Master sells information, there must be a way to contact him. How can we reach him?" Serena asked.

Xia Bang shook his head, "We can't reach him because it's always him who actively contacts those who want to buy information."

"What?"

"Serena, you heard right, it's always him who reaches out to those who want to buy information. If you want to buy information, then prepare your money and wait, wait for the Seventh Young Master, this god of luck, to descend upon your head. This transaction has never been equal; you are the one chosen by the Seventh Young Master. Therefore, the Seventh Young Master is a meticulous and terrifying person, and a legend in this Aethelgard."

Serena felt a bit disheartened. Does this mean she can't find the Seventh Young Master?

Last time, she was so close, almost could have dragged Seth Sullivan out.

This feeling grew stronger. She was sure Seth Sullivan was the Seventh Young Master, and the Seventh Young Master was Seth Sullivan!

Serena stood up, "Dad, Mom, let's end today's chat. If there's any progress, I'll let you know. I'm heading to the radio station now."

"Wait, Serena!" Iris quickly grabbed Serena, "There's something I need to tell you, you haven't seen today's entertainment headlines, right?"

"No, what's up with the entertainment headlines? Did some big entertainment event happen again?" Serena didn't really care about the entertainment industry, so she naturally didn't know.

Iris immediately handed over an entertainment newspaper to Serena, "Serena, today's entertainment headline features Hayden Crawford, and... you!"

What?

Hayden Crawford and she made the entertainment headlines?

Serena immediately took the entertainment newspaper. Lowering her eyes, she saw that it was about Hayden Crawford's hotline call to D Radio being exposed.

That night, for some unknown reason, he called her D Radio station and engaged in a war of words with the ABCD netizens under his registered account. Now, he successfully incited public anger, and these netizens removed his disguise, exposing him.

Today's entertainment headline is about the President of Crawford Group, Hayden Crawford, romantically involved with D Radio's beautiful host Serena Sterling, with their live call exposed.

Serena's head buzzed as if exploding. Their phone call went viral on a loop, and now the listening and sharing rate had exceeded one billion.

All the netizens knew that the girl Hayden Crawford was talking about was her. It was her who seduced him the first time they met, seduced him the second time, seduced him the third time, and after hooking Hayden Crawford, she disposed of him.

The netizens were having a field day with heated comments like,

Oh my God, is our Mr. Crawford done for? The dream of millions of girls is now shattered.

Didn't see Serena's level of seduction toward men was so high that even our aloof and ascetic god, Aethelgard's top noble, Hayden Crawford, fell under her charm.

I've been corrupted, Serena should write a book, titled 'How to Nurture a Vixen'.

+1, the title could also be 'Serena and Her Men'.

Serena's face turned beet red, and she flipped to the part where Hayden Crawford was arguing with the netizens on his registered account, and she was stunned, gaping in disbelief.