

Can't wait for sunrise Chapter 05

Chapter 5 Dissatisfaction

Lara had never liked me since Benjamin and I started dating.

She believed my parents were uneducated and only got lucky in business, and she didn't want Benjamin to bring me home.

On our wedding day, I had arrived at the hotel, but she blocked my entrance.

Only after my parents agreed to give Benjamin a luxury car did she allow me inside.

Over the years, I had done everything to win Lara's approval.

But she still looked down on me and my family.

"I'm not changing the subject; I'm just stating the facts," I replied.

"Cynthia, you're insane. You edited those pictures just to find an excuse for your cheating. For your sake, you even framed Hailey. Hailey and I are just friends! None of what you say is true!" Benjamin retorted, staring at me firmly.

He seemed to be convinced that I could not find any evidence to prove that he and Hailey were having an affair.

After all, I had tolerated his and Hailey's inappropriate behavior for too long, never pushing back.

He assumed I was too naïve to gather any solid proof.

"Edited pictures?" I burst out laughing.

At that moment, the projector showed hospital surveillance footage.

It captured the image of me lying in a hospital bed while Benjamin and Hailey were hugging each other, even sitting at the foot of my bed.

The footage documented their affection from the ward to the corridor.

My father was furious, grabbing Benjamin and wanting to knock him out.

“While my daughter was fighting for her life, you were doing this! You’re even insulting Cynthia now! You and your family are getting more and more disgraceful!” he roared.

Hearing my dad’s words struck me as odd.

When I glanced at my mother, she was staring at the floor and didn’t say a word, but I noticed her missing bracelet.

It was a family heirloom my grandmother had given her, something she never took off. Why wasn’t she wearing it?

Plus, the car my dad drove today wasn’t his usual choice; it was the cheapest Audi.

I turned to them. “Mom? Dad?”

My dad sighed.

Lara piped up, “Your daughter cheated first, and my son couldn’t take it anymore, so he and Hailey...”

Before she could finish, I slapped her across the face.

I felt an overwhelming sense of satisfaction in doing it.

I had wanted to do it for a long time, especially when I noticed the bracelet on her wrist.

“What are you doing, Cynthia? Are you okay, Lara?” Hailey rushed to help her.

Benjamin came charging over. “Apologize to my mom right now!

“I might forgive what you did privately, but if you don’t apologize to her, we’re getting a divorce!”

“Apologize?” I looked at him and laughed out loud.

At this point, I wouldn’t hold back anymore.