

Supremacy 1261

Chapter 1261 King Maxwell Vs Elder Dragon Berserth. I

Seven days later...

"The challenge has been accepted, the battle's date will be announced soon." Queen Ai notified.

"He sure took his sweet time." Felix glanced at the notification with an emotionless expression.

He already expected that Elder Dragon would delay the battle as much as possible to finish the absorption process.

From his spy's point of view, he had just finished 30% of the amount.

"You think he will absorb everything before the battle?" Asna wondered, "The SG Committee might schedule the battle in fifteen days and he could do nothing about it."

"Yes, he could." Felix shook his head, "He might not be able to order them directly, but they won't reject a request from him to push the battle back a month."

Felix understood that the SG Committee would not refuse Elder Dragon for such a harmless request.

In fact, they would probably welcome it to build more hype around the battle and jack up the tickets' prices.

Felix didn't seem to care much about such little schemes as he continued focusing on his training and integration process.

Elder Dragon wasn't the only one benefiting from the delay as Felix planned on hitting 75% in his integration before the battle too!

Days went by in a jiffy and before long, the day of the promised fight had arrived.

If a single word could describe the alliance's atmosphere, it would most definitely be craziness!

Everyone had been counting the days in anticipation of this one-in-a-lifetime battle, knowing full well that millions of years could pass and no one could top it off!

This sort of historical moment made everyone interested in watching the battle even if they absolutely hated games or fights.

With this sort of interest, the viewership could be said to have absolutely smashed the record!

'840 trillion concurrent live viewers and still rapidly climbing...Am I dreaming?' Sir Victoire gulped a mouthful to ease his rising agitation.

There was still an entire half an hour before the battle begin and the streaming viewership was already closing on the impossible number of One Quadrillion!

Ever since the foundation of the alliance, no one had even managed to hit five hundred trillion total viewership.

Yet, this battle was already close to doubling and even going past it!

As the judge and MC, this was a massive honor that every other MC desired more than anything!

Though, such numbers were possible only because the SG Commite had decided to stream the battle for free instead of putting it behind the monthly subscription.

This made everyone ignore the illegal streaming sources and just watch from the official website.

'Those old fogies are really geniuses to take this road.' Sir Victoire praised this approach.

He understood that it might seem like the SG Committee made a fatal mistake as it would be losing an insane amount of profit from the streaming revenue, but in reality, he would have done the same.

Making this battle free made it insanely easy for everyone to watch it instead of jumping through hoops to spectate it from illegal sources in the dark network.

Since there was a considerable percentage of people who never bothered to even watch a single supremacy game and preferred other entertainment sources, watching this game might change their minds and bring them into the platform.

After all, Felix and Elder Dragon were considered the two Top G of the alliance and their battle was bound to be legendary.

"There is sure a lot of attraction today, huh." Asna commentated while lying her head on top of Felix's lap and watching the stream of the overcrowded stadium.

"If I still cared about my merch, this will really be the biggest stage for advertisement."

Felix chuckled, knowing that his agent Emma and a business manager would choke him to death if he missed such a heaven-sent opportunity.

But, he really didn't care anymore about supremacy coins as he had finally reached the stage where he could never run out of money and there wasn't anything that interest him to buy.

Before long, the half-hour was concluded and both Felix and Elder Dragon were given warnings that they would be teleported to the arena in two minutes.

"I will be right back." Felix smiled at Asna as he gave her a gentle kiss.

"Go kick some ass." Asna cheered while looking lovingly into his eyes, knowing that Felix had prepared so much for this day.

In her eyes, it was finally time for him to get paid for his efforts.

WHOOAAAAH!! CLAP!! CLAP!! CLAP!!!...LANDLORD!!

The moment Felix and Elder Dragon were teleported to the stadium, their eardrums almost ruptured from the insanity before him.

No one was chanting harmoniously or even screaming on the same note!

Some were clapping their hands until they turned red, some were screaming gibberish with smoking ears, seemingly about to have a stroke, and some were yelling out Felix's name.

Alas, no matter how much his fans tried to chant his name on the same note to overpower the noise, they keep failing nonstop.

This was to be expected as most of Felix's fans failed to get tickets even when they wanted to go into debt!

The cheapest live ticket's price was inflated to twenty million coins!

A sum that shattered the hopes of every loyal fan as these prices could never be afforded by commoners.

In other words, most of the current live spectators were rich figures across the entire universe, stretching from influencers, streamers, businessmen, actors, singers, and the list goes on.

Felix honestly wasn't bothered in the slightest by this. He merely kept his emotionless eyes affixed on Elder Dragon who was standing ten meters away from him.

"I am surprised you didn't come down here while sitting on a throne." Felix taunted with a faint snicker.

Believe it or not, most viewers had never seen Elder Dragon standing up before in his humanoid form.

He was always on his throne, appearing lofty and staring down at everyone with a condescending expression.

"I am surprised you even decided to show up. Didn't your spy show you what you will be dealing with?" Elder Dragon replied with an indifferent tone.

This statement didn't catch anyone by surprise besides the ones having no clue what he was talking about.

Felix and his councilmen already had a great inkling that Elder Dragon knew about their spy since he would be stupid to not think that he wouldn't be spied on by the void nation.

Most of the ten rulers believed the same...Too bad, they had absolutely no way of proving it and they knew that accusing Felix without evidence was useless.

So, they were forced to drastically change the way they act and take all important decisions to the UVR.

Elder Dragon clearly didn't give a sh*t about being spied on or Felix finding out about his enhancements.

"You must be really confident." Felix smiled, "I hope your confidence lives up to the expectations."

"I assure you, it will." Elder Dragon said one last time with narrowed eyes before turning around and walking to the other side of the arena.

"Cough, Ladies, and gentlemen, you have already been waiting for far too long. So, without any further delay, how about we kick this historical battle off right away?!"

Sir Victoire was forced to give up on both his introduction and interviewing plans the moment he noticed Felix and Elder Dragon walking to their positions.

He understood that the tension was already too intense to put himself amidst it.

Thus, he swiftly helped them reach their positions by teleporting them and began the countdown with everyone involved.

"Three!! Two!! One!!....FIGHT!!!"

Chapter 1262 King Maxwell Vs Elder Dragon Berserth. II

The arena chosen was a normal vast land space with forests, rivers, lakes, and some hills across thousands of kilometers.

Elder Dragon stood tall above a moderate-sized green hill in his humanoid form, towering over the nearby trees.

Under the sunlight, his scales glistened and reflected the hues of the surroundings. His pupils shrank to slits as he locked eyes on Felix's infrared aura.

A deep growl came from his throat as he inhaled deeply, bringing in the surrounding air.

In his mouth, a condensed ball of black fire that was crackling with evil force formed as he exhaled.

Elder Dragon directed the lethal bullet at his adversary with a sudden flip of his head!

The small but deadly ball of black fire sped across the space while leaving a trail of smoke in its wake, turning trees into ashes, and evaporating rivers from the sheer propelled heat!

Although it was coming at Felix with an unprecedented speed, he wasn't fazed in the slightest.

He kept his emotionless eyes on it until it was right in front of him.

Then, he merely slapped it with the back of his hand in a single swift motion, causing it to get distorted in slow motion before its trajectory was changed forcefully.

BOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOM!!!!

A blistering inferno of extreme heat and a charred, smoldering heap were all that were left behind when the black fire bullet ended up landing at a hill right behind Felix.

The viewers were left staring with mouth agape at the arising mushroom cloud and released shockwave that erased more than a thousand kilometers around it!!!

"What...What a start..." Sir Victoire found it hard to commentate as everything happened way too fast for him to comprehend.

The entire attack took less than a second and Elder Dragon had successfully aimed and even landed a monstrous nuke in this duration even though the distance was thousands of kilometers!!!

This was just too shocking even for the dragons!

While the viewers were cheering idiotically at such spellbinding fireworks, only the dragons understood just how difficult to pull this attack off.

"To condense such a powerful fire orb, I need at least half a minute...That's if the orb didn't end up collapsing on itself." Clan head Ygos shared with a solemn tone as he sat with his peers.

"Likewise..." Clan head Azesdirth took a deep breath to calm his emotions, "He is really in a different league."

"Unfortunately for him, he is facing an opponent in the same freakish league." Clan head Kyrsum mentioned as he eyed Felix's infrared aura amidst the mushroom cloud!

He didn't move even an inch from his position after eating a direct nuke!

Under the spooked eyes of the viewers, Felix merely walked outside of the smoke with his entire body as illuminated as a light bulb.

His eyes were as emotionless as before, but this time, they were completely covered in green electrical charges.

Before anyone could react, Felix disappeared from his place, leaving behind him an explosion of green electricity and a deep crater!

BOOOM!!!

The moment he resurfaced again on the big screen, everyone felt chills course on their spine at the sight of him blowing Elder Dragon's entire hill into dust!!

As for Elder Dragon? He managed to evade Felix's punch as he anticipated this counter-attack.

In fact, the only reason he fired that nuke while knowing that it would do nothing but power up Felix was to bait him to engage in hand-to-hand combat!

Whoosh!!

"Let's see what you can do when your masters aren't here to save you." Elder Dragon remarked coldly as he unleashed his shimmering dreadful sharp claws.

He launched himself at hypersonic speed in direction of Felix, who was left deep inside the self-created crater.

Life-like black flames emerged from Elder Dragon's scales and coated his claws and entire body, making him resemble a demonic evil soul.

Cling!!!

Instead of the sound of flesh ripping apart, a metallic noise echoed thunderously from the dusty crater, catching the viewers by surprise.

Whoosh Whoosh!!

Some expected that Felix had used his battleaxe to block Elder Dragon's claws, but when those two flew out of the crater, they realized that they were wrong.

"Are those crystalized claws?"

King Treznor raised his eyebrows in surprise as he eyed Felix's hands that were wearing two sets of white adamantine crystalized claws!

They seemed tinted with a hint of green color and had long purplish lines inside each claw.

They resembled Elder Dragon's claws greatly in both size and shape, which made him exhibit a frigid expression.

"Are you mocking me?" Elder Dragon narrowed his eyes coldly at Felix who was still glowing.

In his eyes, it was just a taunting stunt to use his exact weapon to fight him.

Even the viewers felt that Felix was taking it too far and was being too cocky for his own good.

Elder Dragon spent millions of years using those claws to bring ruination to all of his enemies.

His fighting style was already close to perfection as those claws were more than just weapons.

Now, Felix was daring to combat him using his own fighting style?

"He is really asking for a beating." Clan head Ygos scoffed.

Felix didn't bother to answer Elder Dragon's inquiry as he launched himself at him while using his levitation spell.

He was also going at a hypersonic speed, making it impossible for the viewers to track him down properly.

But for Elder Dragon?

"Too slow." He sneered as he evaded Felix's claws easily, not pushed to even block them!

In the eyes of most of the viewers, they merely appeared like two fast-moving auras, one black and the other green, but in the eyes of The Ruiner and strong figures like him? They could see full well that Felix was being played.

"Based on his reaction speed, he should have crossed nine hundred thousand BF as we expected." Meriam said with a serious tone.

"This isn't going to end well for our king if he has nothing planned." Mammon remarked.

BOOOOOM!!

The moment he said so, Elder Dragon stopped dodging Felix and smashed him in the stomach with a flaming round kick!

Felix ate the kick like it was nothing due to his destruction immunity, but he ended up getting completely engulfed in a flood of black flames!

Whoosh!!

Felix emerged from the flames with an indifferent expression even though his skin could be seen getting corroded, leaving black bloody patches!

However, before those marks could spread far, they get healed almost instantaneously!

"You are really the personification of irritation." Elder Dragon said with an irked tone as he realized that Felix's also possessed an insane rejuvenation.

This meant even if he relied on his strategy, this fight could literally last forever!

Still, he had no other option but to continue his onslaught.

Boom Boom Boom!!

Felix held his position akin to a mountain even when Elder Dragon kept coming at him over and over again with a furry of unblockable strikes!

Felix allowed himself to get hit most of the time as it was the only way for Elder Dragon to create an opening.

Felix took advantage of each slight opportunity he had to launch his own counterattacks with his glistening crystalized claws!

Cling! Cling!!

Unfortunately, Elder Dragon wasn't as generous to allow him free hits.

So, even when he left openings, his monstrous reaction speed allowed him to block with his claws, causing sparks to fly all over the place!

"I am honestly surprised that Landlord's claws aren't destroyed." High Chieftain Lokaka commentated with a taken back expression.

Most of his peers and viewers also were under the impression that Felix's claws would break after a couple of clashes even though they were made out of adamantine.

That's because Elder Dragon's claws were sharp enough to slice through almost anything!

If Felix used normal adamantine gemstones, they would have been indeed shattered a while ago.

But, what he used was nonother than an extremely condensed version, which enhanced their durability immensely!

'He really isn't giving me an inch.' Felix narrowed his eyes in irritation after another failed attempt to cut through Elder Dragon's scales.

He hadn't chosen claws just for the sake of humiliating him, but also because they were the best option to inject soul poison directly through the wounds!

All of his claws had small thin tubes filled with liquified soul poison in the center and connected with the tips.

He planned on poisoning his soul with this method since it was impossible for his other poison abilities to touch him when he was completely covered in black flames.

In fact, the innate heat released from Elder Dragon right now was covering many kilometers, causing even some faraway trees to get burnt!

Felix wasn't feeling it due to his fire immunity, but it didn't mean that it wasn't there.

Felix understood that almost any sudden weird movement that he made would alarm Elder Dragon and make it easier for him to dodge whatever ability he used.

His reaction speed was just that good, which was normal considering that there was a whopping two hundred thousand BF difference between them.

This was one of the reasons why no one could stand up to the Elder Dragon in the entire alliance.

When there was a massive reaction speed, nothing really worked against him since everything would appear in slow motion to him.

It didn't matter if one could blow an entire planet with a punch...As long as the attack didn't land, then it was just useless.

This was what was happening to Felix right now as he possessed so much in his arsenal, but at the same time, he understood that it would immensely difficult to land anything on him.

Boom!! Cling!! Cling!!! Thuud!!...

The two combatants continued to trade punches, kicks, and some elemental abilities here and there as they were both focused on winning this seemingly impossible conflict.

The peaceful and beautiful landscape was turned into an absolute hell as they traveled across the entire place, not stopping their feverish clash for even a split second.

'I didn't want to use this, but he is clearly afraid of my poison.'

In the end, Felix was the first to separate from the melee battle and Elder Dragon seemed also cool with it.

Both of them looked at each other while being separated by hundreds of meters.

Felix's wounds from corrosion healed at a noticeable pace, causing Elder Dragon's irritation to intensify.

Felix ignored his look and got rid of his crystalized claws, causing Elder Dragon to raise his guard to the limit.

"Destruction cube." Felix uttered with a flat tone as he extended his palm forward.

The same dark red aura-like cube manifested from his palm again.

However, everyone was taken aback when they noticed that the cube stopped growing after reaching the size of a Rubic cube.

'Hmmm? Is he going to use it as a projectile?' Elder Dragon's expression got solemn as he was warier of destruction abilities than poison.

At least poison could react to fire. Destruction was a concept that didn't react to anything and sought pure destruction of anything that it touched!

In other words, it didn't matter if his scales had 99% indestructibility...As long as it wasn't 100%, he would be erased by a mere touch!

However, Felix didn't throw the cube at him.

He merely waved his hand to the side and the small cube began multiplying rapidly until Felix was seen holding into a long sword made out of red cubes!!!

This was the doing of none other than his last active ability, Destruction Infestation!

"Let's try again, shall we?" Felix uttered with a cold tone as he waved the menacing destruction sword around!

Chapter 1263 King Maxwell Vs Elder Dragon Berserth. III

Elder Dragon's scales tensed up at the sight of the destruction sword, knowing deep down that his situation had just gone from bad to worst!

'He can't touch me with my reaction speed, but at the same time, I can't risk going on atta...'

Before he could finish his thought, his attention was captured by a spherical potion that Felix had beamed.

He didn't know what it was for, but he was certain that it wouldn't be good for him.

He was right in his assumption as the potion was called Reaction Booster Viel and it was a rank-five potion with a five-star difficulty!

This was the highest known grade for any potion in the alliance and Felix was already capable of concocting some of them!

Potions with this kind of grade had one of the greatest buffs possible, but at the same time, one of the worst side effects. Yet, Felix drank it in one gulp without an ounce of worry!

In less than a second, the potion's effect was already in place as Felix's brain began working on an overdrive akin to overclocking a graphics card!

'This really feels unnatural, good thing I got used to it during my practices in the past month.' Felix uttered with a deep frown as his vision turned slightly distorted for a moment before becoming normal.

This potion's effect was extremely potent as it forced the brain to work at least double its speed, which in turn enhanced the reaction speed, allowing Felix to finally match Elder Dragon!

Though, it was merely for five minutes and the moment the effect ended, Felix would end up with a nasty blood poisoning stemming from his brain.

This side effect was extremely potent as it was capable of killing off the user with a chance rate of 90%!

But in the case of Felix? This side effect was a joke against his poison immunity!

"Thank you for waiting, I will make sure to pay you properly." Felix said with a cold smile.

"..."

Elder Dragon remained quiet and prepared himself for the clash, knowing that there wasn't much for him but to wait.

After all, he could neither surrender nor turn his back on a confrontation with his overbearing pride.

Whoosh!!!

Abruptly, Felix charged forward with his sword held high, ready to strike Elder Dragon that stood before him.

Everything seemed in slow motion in his eyes but Elder Dragon's movements as he could finally capture them in time!

So, the moment Elder Dragon attempted to evade his sword, Felix caught him by surprise after changing its trajectory to slice through his massive torso.

Elder Dragon's instincts came to play and saved him by forcing his torso to twist abnormally akin to a snake, causing the tip of the sword to fly inches from his black scales!

Unfortunately for him, Felix's sword was just as flexible.

'Blow!'

With a single command from Felix, the passing sword shattered into multiple red cubes and went through Elder Dragon's body!!

'Sh*t!' Elder Dragon's expression turned for the worst as he smelled his death approaching, knowing that those cubes would erase anything they touched!

However, he was soon taken aback by an abnormal pain coming from his scales.

'What the hell?!'

When he scanned his body, he found out that only his black scales were erased, exposing his bloody flesh in the open.

It was like he was skinned alive!

Whoosh!!

Without hesitation, Elder Dragon released inner explosive black flames in front of him, causing Felix to get engulfed in them while he was sent far away as the black flames acted like jets.

When he put enough distance from Felix, he stopped and examined his body again with seethed expression.

'Bastard!' Elder Dragon cursed hatefully as his heartbeats accelerated rapidly at his humiliating appearance.

It was like he was standing nude before the entire alliance without anything to hide!

"He actually marked just his scales. Your boy is really the personification of evil."

Erebus chuckled as he stared at Elder Dragon, who covered his entire body with black flames again to hide his exposed flesh.

"Does he need to go this far?" Cherufe wasn't pleased in the slightest by Felix's attitude toward this battle.

He realized that Felix had no intention of just ending the fight as fast as possible, but to shatter Elder Dragon's pride completely!

"This is personal for him." Thor shrugged his shoulders, not caring that his student's actions weren't approved.

If Cherufe knew that his champion almost killed Felix if it wasn't for his masters' saving him, he wouldn't be opening his mouth now.

Elder Dragon literally tried to kill Felix in the past even though there was a massive gap in strength between them.

Felix was merely paying what he owed.

"You need help with that?" Felix commentated with a faint icy smirk as he eyed Elder Dragon's scales recovering at a slow pace.

Dragons might have an amazing rejuvenation, but that's only for external and internal wounds like slashes, blunt attacks, or such.

Felix had utterly erased his scales from existence, which meant his body needed to create new ones from the start instead of healing them!

"I will kill you..." Elder Dragon gritted his teeth hatefully as he stared daggers at Felix.

"I am waiting, but before then, let's play, shall we?" Felix laughed a bit menacingly, causing most of the viewers to feel shivers course down their spines.

"What's that?"

Sir Victoire commentated in confusion after Felix suddenly manifested a long blue cubic sword on his other hand...It was exactly the same as the red one besides the color.

'He really is as unhinged as our Lord.' King Mahit thought to himself as he was watching the stream alone in his throne chamber.

He knew exactly what Felix was going to do with the blue sword and it felt wrong even for him.

Whoosh!!!

Not giving a sh*t about anyone's opinions or feelings, Felix disappeared from his place and appeared right next to Elder Dragon.

Then, he swung at him with his blue sword, forcing Elder Dragon to prioritize evading yet again!

He couldn't even use his claws to block the swords since they were made out of auras and his black flames were also useless against them!

The only legit way to deal with them was by not dealing with them.

But Elder Dragon just couldn't accept turning his back on a confrontation and running with his tail tucked between his legs...His pride made it impossible!

So, he kept trying his best to remain untouched by the blue sword.

Alas, with Felix's reaction speed being on par with him now, it was close to impossible to keep dodging his attacks forever.

Whoosh!!

In the end, Felix used a unique back strike to slice Elder Dragon from the middle with his blue sword.

'Huh?'

When the sword went through him, Elder Dragon was left with a stunned expression as he realized that his erased scales had been reconstructed back like they were never deleted before!

He looked down once and lifted his head to stare at Felix...When he saw him smiling diabolically, he couldn't help but feel his heart skip a beat.

Whoosh!! Whoosh!!

A split second later, Felix sliced through the air with a flurry of strikes from both of his swords, causing Elder Dragon's scales to get erased and then reconstructing them back on under the dumbfounded eyes of the viewers!!

No one knew what was going on, making them unable to comprehend this freaky and abnormal scene.

They came here to spectate a legendary battle, but it was turned into a one-sided dalliance!

Elder Dragon was being shown to the entire universe as nothing but a plaything to Felix as he couldn't even defend himself from having his scales either deleted or reconstructed!

It was the peak of humiliating a fighter as it made even idiots recognize the massive gap between Felix and Elder Dragon!

The worst part? Most viewers weren't too interested in the fact that Felix was almost immune to every single attack from Elder Dragon.

This made it hard to feel any sort of sympathy for Elder Dragon from the majority as in their eyes, they felt that Elder Dragon should be a god!

After all, he was being pumped as the strongest untouchable monster for two million years until everyone's image of him was that of an unkillable god.

Yet, here he was, being toyed around like a weakling undeserving of an ounce of their respect...

Felix spent a lot of his time preparing to give Elder Dragon the worst possible defeat in the history of the universe and this was merely part of it.

Crack!

While no one could hear it, Elder Dragon's overbearing godly image was slowly shattering in everyone's minds...Whether it was dragons or other viewers.

Elder Dragon was the only one who seemed to have heard or more precisely, felt it happening even though he couldn't see the viewers.

'The fight can't end like this...I can't lose my respect...I can't...I CAN'T GO BACK TO BEING A NOBODY!'

Chapter 1264 King Maxwell Vs Elder Dragon Berserth. IV

With one inner furious roar, Elder Dragon took off into the sky at an insane speed using intense flame jets on his legs!

Then, he beamed five potions that seemed to be filled with bloodish content...He threw them in his horrific mouth with their glass bottles and gulped everything together.

Before the viewers could even guess the potions' names, Elder Dragon's body began growing at a rapid pace while changing his form drastically!

In less than a second, the transformation was over and Elder Dragon could be seen flying hundreds of kilometers above Felix in his original form.

A form that struck terrors in everyone's hearts the moment they saw it!

A form that was so majestic, his godly image in everyone's minds was restored instantly!

With a wingspan that stretched over hundreds of kilometers, Elder Dragon took to the sky with its powerful wings beating a thunderous rhythm as it soared into the clouds.

His body was muscular and sinewy, covered in thick, pitch-black scales that seemed to absorb the light around him.

There was nothing to compare with his humanoid form as his size made the entire battleground seem like a playground for children.

Yet, Felix didn't seem fazed in the slightest even when Elder Dragon covered the entire sky above him!

'At last.'

In fact, he actually smiled a little like he was hoping for Elder Dragon to take this form.

"Is this really the best decision?" King Treznor frowned, knowing that dragons' original form provide an insane boost to physical strength, but at the same time, it made them more prone to attacks.

Usually, this didn't matter to dragons as their scales were capable of reflecting 99% of damage...But against Felix? All inner circle leaders knew that he would be nothing more than a free target.

"He has obviously run out of options." Fishermen Queen Everley shook her head, "King Maxwell is just unbeatable."

Elder Dragon knew all of this and still took this form...He didn't do so as one last random desperate attempt, he went for it for a precise purpose.

"I CAN'T KILL YOU AS A MORTAL, BUT I CAN PLAY WITH YOU JUST AS WELL AS A GOD!" Elder Dragon roared furiously, causing the nearby clouds to get pushed away by the thundering soundwave.

It was clear to everyone that his rage had already taken over his mind as his body seemed to be releasing a visible crimson aura.

"Dragon fury." Felix murmured, "Did he pull it off? Did he cross past his mortal limit?"

Primogenitors, ten rulers, and most inner circle leaders had looks of expectations and curiosity as they stared at Elder Dragon, wanting to know the same answer.

With Elder Dragon's original form being this colossal being, his physical strength meant that he should be actually much closer to the one million mark.

Though, even if there was just ten thousand BF, it should be extremely difficult for him to cross it with just his innate dragon fury's buff.

That's why Elder Dragon took those ten potions as they were called Immortal Strength Potions.

Each was capable of boosting one's physical strength temporarily by a flat one thousand BF regardless of the user body's limitations!

Most physical buffing potions were somewhat useless for strong beings like Felix and Elder Dragon since the body's limitation reduce the buffs significantly.

The Immortal Strength Potions were considered not the best by the majority since the flat increase was trash compared to other buffing potions.

But in the case of Elder Dragon? It was exactly what he needed to push past the one million line!

'This is it! This is the feeling of being superior to everyone! This is what I always sought!' Elder Dragon remarked with a crazed look as he felt like he had control over every single cell in his body!

It was like his soul was finally in tune with his own body, making him have a sort of grandiose feeling like he could control everyone and everything around him.

The best part? His reaction speed had been enhanced to the point his entire look of the world was changed.

His mind seemed to be working at a hundred times the normal speed, making it close to impossible to be ambushed by anything below his reaction speed!

"This is what it feels to be a god." Elder Dragon smiled coldly as he eyed Felix, "I will make sure that you experience it as well."

Whoosh!! BOOOOOOOOOOOOOM!!!

Everyone was left absolutely stupefied after Elder Dragon disappeared from his location and reappeared in a deep crater on the ground, completely annihilating hundreds of kilometers of surface area!

It was so sudden, it was like he teleported...With that massive size of his, it seemed too illogical and abnormal!

'Damn, the difference is really unbridgeable.' Felix smiled wryly as he teleported from the depth of the crater without a single injury on him.

He wanted Elder Dragon to go past one million line to experience the true strength of primogenitors' level beings.

He wanted it to be in a real fight so the situation would register in his mind that it was as serious as it could get.

But now? He recognized that it was not helpful at all.

That's because he also couldn't see Elder Dragon's movement just like everyone else!!!

It was like all mortals were thrown in the same pot against primogenitors level beings regardless of how close they were to them in strength.

This test finally convinced Felix that he should stay the f*ck away from the Darkins unless he crossed the one million line.

Whoosh!!

"Why are you running? Weren't you having fun before?"

Elder Dragon emerged from the self-created chasm and appeared above Felix, resembling a horrid dragon glaring at a hopeless man in most fantasies.

Still, the look of fear or worry that Elder Dragon was fishing from Felix was nowhere on his face.

This made him more pissed off as he believed that Felix thought he couldn't die even if he used the corrosion of his flames on him.

"I will make you regret your choice of not ending me when you had the chance." Elder Dragon opened his enormous mouth wide open, showing his dreadful teeth that were as big as skyscrapers.

Then, he gathered an insane quantity of pure black flames in his throat before breathing it towards Felix!!

'It's time to break him completely.' Felix grinned diabolically as he stood under the dragon's breath like a bug before a blowtorch.

'Concept Destruction Trident...Mark Black Flames.'

Without an ounce of fear, Felix merely created his trademark red trident and held it in front of him.

This comical scene made the viewers feel dumbfounded as the trident's size made it seem like a joke compared to the incoming flames.

Alas, their reaction was forcefully changed the moment Felix uttered those two words, "Volume Expansion."

The two-meter trident suddenly became as towering as a mountain!

Felix wasn't holding it anymore but actually hovering in the middle of it with the same unfazed expression.

Before the viewers could react to this bewildering scene, a much more shocking one appeared in front of them.

The Dragon's breath disappeared into the ether the instant it entered the trident's massive body...

"..."

"..."

"..."

The viewers might have been left stunned, but no one reacted as strongly as Elder Dragon whose unblinking eyes refused to move from the massive trident.

This scene was the last straw that broke the camel's back as Elder Dragon's last source of confidence to win this fight stemmed from his black flames.

Now, he was watching it getting devoured as if it amounted to nothing...

After the dragon's breath ended, Elder Dragon didn't make any other moves.

He just seemed frozen place...

Meanwhile, Felix created a crystalized throne and sat on it with a carefree expression.

He rested his chin on his hand and stared directly into Elder Dragon's enormous slits for a few moments before saying with a flat tone, "I allowed you to become a god to show you that even in your supreme form, you still can't amount to anything before me."

This statement had cut through Elder Dragon's heart and pride akin to a knife cutting through butter.

It pained him more than anything that Felix had done in the entire battle since he knew that it was the truth!

His most precious defenses were nothing against Felix's abilities.

His overpowering physical strength was useless against Felix's destruction immunity.

His potent and dreadful black flames were a joke against his fire immunity and concept destruction spear.

Now, even in his god form, the supposed peak form that no other mortal had attained before, he was still incapable of defeating Felix...

To add salt to an injury? All of this was happening live in front of more than one quadrillion viewers...

"So, how about you save me the trouble of decapitating your head and just bow down before me." Felix said with an indifferent tone, "Bow down and accept me as the one and only Grand Supreme. Then, I might consider giving you an honorable death."

Chapter 1265 King Maxwell Vs Elder Dragon Berserth. V (The End)

Felix was this bold and confident in his statements only because he was certain that Elder Dragon would never opt for surrender.

In this battle, he had only two choices, either death or victory.

Felix was making him understand that if he decided to bow down, he would spare him and kill him normally, allowing him to get revived.

Obviously, this wasn't going to happen as well, which meant everything that Felix said was just to piss and humiliate Elder Dragon even more!

'My saga can't end like this... I have built this entire era with my own hands... It can't end like this... It can't...'

Felix's taunting words sure took a toll on Elder Dragon as his mind and heart refused to admit that he had already lost his Grand Supreme Title.

A title that he possessed ever since the foundation of the SGAlliance as no one managed to take it from him.

While other figures in the top ten were referred to as Supremes, only the number one was given the title The Grand Supreme.

It was the most authoritative and noble title in all of the platforms as it was given only to the strongest being in the entire alliance!

Now, Elder Dragon was watching it slip through his fingers in the most humiliating manner possible.

'MY SAGA CAN'T END LIKE THIS!!'

When rationality failed to help, his emotions took over, causing him to charge toward Felix with a maddening look!

BOO000000M!!

The throne was shattered instantly and Felix was launched akin to a canon ball into the ground, breaking through one hill after another.

When he stopped, he merely jumped out of the rubble while dusting his ass in a carefree manner.

The giant red trident followed him along like an aura that was a piece of him.

BOOOOOM!!!

Before the viewers could react, Elder Dragon continued assaulting Felix with his overbearing strength.

"This is a bit sad to watch.." Emperor Lokhil sighed, "How the great have fallen.

"This day was bound to come eventually."

Queen Alfreda shook her head, "Nothing is constant in this universe besides the universe itself."

In her eyes, everyone and everything had an expiration date regardless of strength or longevity.

Some fall in a mere day after their birth and some need billions of years...But, everyone had an expiration date.

"I have never thought I will see the composed and indifferent Elder Dragon losing his mind in my life.. King Maxwell is really something."

The Vulkans' Lord Azen commented as he sat with his peers.

Everyone smiled wryly as they watched Elder Dragon continue bringing utter destruction into the battlefield without any positive results.

Felix wasn't even scratched and the pain of those collisions? He took them like a champ as his pain tolerance was already on an unfathomable level due to his insane integrations.

Felix neither defended himself nor attempted to escape. He allowed Elder Dragon to continue venting his anger and hopelessness on him.

He knew that sooner or later, his temporarily boosted strength would run out and he would suffer from the side effects of the potions as well as his dragon fury. Then, he could make his move and end this once and for all.

As expected, after five minutes of nonstop useless attacks, Elder Dragon was finally forced into an abrupt halt after his body reverted back to its mortality status.

Cough!! Cough!!

He coughed a large amount of boiling blood as he kept breathing heavily while his vision seemed distorted.

"I can't...I can't accept this.. I refuse."

He kept repeating with great difficulty as he tried his best to locate Felix through his §*cked up vision.

Losing the enhanced reaction speed made it impossible for him to get back to his previous level without such nasty consequences.

To make matters worse, his dragon fury's boost was rapidly losing its heat.

The fact that he managed to keep up his peak rage consistent for five minutes straight was already an achievement on its oWn.

With those kinds of side effects piling up one after another, Elder Dragon could be said to be at the weakest point in his life.

Felix was waiting just for this moment..

"You finally grew tired?"

Felix teleported in front of him with a blinding light that caused Elder Dragon to squint at him.

With his distorted vision, he was seeing multiple versions of Felix in front of him.

"You are just a bastard human who shouldn't be worthy to even wipe my claws clean..

This isn't right, this isn't fair.." Elder Dragon spoke with great difficulty as blood kept rushing from his mouth.

"It's alright, you are experiencing the stage of denial" Felix smiled at his nasty words, "I will save you the trouble of going through the remaining stages."

The moment he finished speaking, Felix began growing at a rapid speed until he matched Elder Dragon's size, reaching more than hundreds of kilometers!!! Because he had absorbed all the force from the past five minutes of beat down, his body became brighter than the sun itself, making it impossible for the viewers to even see his skin!

Before they could react, Felix manifested a gigantic crystalized white sword and held its hilt.

The crystalized sword reflected the light coming out of Felix, turning it into a sword of angels used to deliver eternal judgment upon the sinners!

Felix wasn't done yet as he covered the sharp side of the sword with massive red cubes that were marked to target only the scales.

Then, Felix lifted the sword up high with one hand, touching the ceiling of the sky. He looked at Elder Dragon with an emotionless expression and uttered,

"Once more, pride has doomed another great dragon.

Felix couldn't forget Domino who had a bright future ahead of him. He even considered befriending him as he liked his personality.

Alas, when he was faced with defeat, his pride got the best of him and he was turned into an insufferable being incapable of accepting his loss.

All of this was because of the dragons' inner pride.

Here he was, punishing another dragon due to the same problem...

Without waiting for a response, Felix swung the sword in a single motion at the unmoving Elder Dragon who seemed to have been stuck in the denial stage. He just kept murmuring that he couldn't let his Saga end at the hands of a human over and over again even when the sword had already touched his forehead.

Slice!

The red destruction cube coating erased the annoying scales, allowing the sword a smooth journey from Elder Dragon's head to the bottom of his abdomen...

The slice happened so fast, the viewers barely blinked and Felix had already retracted the bloody sword.

"It can't end like this.. It..can't. It..

Elder Dragon went quiet only after his mouth and throat began separating from the very center like the rest of his body.

Whoosh! Whoosh! Under the stunned eyes of the viewers, Elder Dragon's separated halves fell into the ground in a seemingly slow motion.

Blood, flesh, organs, bones, and other bodily fluids were seen disengaging from his body midair, creating an unforgivable scene for everyone.

No one spoke or breathed out loud as their eyes remained affixed on the falling corpse of their leader, their founder, and their previous strongest and most respectful figure in their world.

It was like the entire universe was giving him a moment of silence to pay respect even when there was nothing about the battle to be respected...

Thud! Thud!! With two loud thunderous bangs, Elder Dragon's separated corpse settled on hundreds of kilometers of surface area, appearing like the corpse of a slain god. If this wasn't happening in the UVR, everyone knew that Elder Dragon's corpse would be worshipped by new civilizations after eons passed...

Alas, before this thought could take root in their minds, everyone took a deep cold breath at the sight of Elder Dragon's red flesh turning darker while shrinking in size like it was being eaten by worms.

Although his size was that of hundreds of kilometers, it barely took a few seconds before only Elder Dragon's blackened sickening bones were left behind..."Your child sure knows no mercy to those who wronged him." Aspidochelone spoke with a faint wry smile as he knew that Felix had completely wiped out

Elder Dragon from existence. Queen Ai might not have announced it out loud, but the primogenitors knew immediately that Elder Dragon's soul was killed by True Poison before his body...

When it came to souls, almost all mortals had the same standard defenses against attacks. Elder Dragon was no different as his soul was not special in this department.

As for the source of the True Poison?

Most viewers were blinded by the light, but the primogenitors saw that Felix's sword was filled with liquid True Poison.

-Congratulation to Landlord for his victory after eliminating Elder Dragon

Berserth!-

Under this deafening silence, Queen Ai released this announcement three times

after Sir Victiore failed to do his job.

No one could blame him.

He was just as stunned as everyone else at the notion that the SGAlliance had lost one of its last founding members forever.

How they did know exactly?

At the same time as the announcement, Queen Ai sent an automatic message to every single member of the alliance. -The Grand Supreme Elder Dragon

Berserth has passed away.-

It was a short and emotionless message,

but it brought out emotions from everyone as whether one hated or loved

Elder Dragon, no one thought that there would be a day when he go to the other side..

'I might have taken his title and humiliated him in a battle, but his presence in everyone's heart is just too deep.'

Felix thought to himself the moment he got teleported back to the stadium and was met with utter silence instead of cheers over doing the impossible and dethroning Elder Dragon...

Chapter 1266 Retiring Under A Public Outrage.

But this silence didn't last for long as Felix had an obsessed fan base that cared literally about nothing but him!

LAAAAANDLOORD!!!! CLAP!! CLAP!! CLAP!!...

The cheers and chants were faint and spread out due to the low numbers of his fans, but since everyone else was as quiet as mice, they took over the stadium rapidly!

This caused the remaining spectators to start breaking out of their daze one by one. Some joined Felix's fans in their cheers while the majority had absolutely no clue how to react properly to Elder Dragon's death.

Even the dragons' reaction seemed conflicted as most of them felt that Elder Dragon's death shouldn't have happened, but at the same time, they couldn't really curse out Felix or blame him.

After all, they respected strength above anything else and they believed that it was within Felix's own right to kill his enemy in a one vs one battle.

"He really did it..." Clan Head Kyrsum murmured with an absentminded expression.

Clan heads Ygos, Azesdirth, and Bymid all glanced at him with the same look.

They wanted Felix to kill Elder Dragon for real as it would finally open up his leadership position for competition again after millions of years of his dictatorship.

Now that it happened, it felt too surreal for them...

"He might not have the best character out there, but he was one of the greatest alliance leaders we ever knew."

Emperor Lokhil sighed as he glanced at Elder Dragon's empty chair, "I will kinda miss him."

"I still don't know what caused those two to have such bad blood between them." Queen Alfreda shook her head, "Maybe the result would have been different otherwise."

"Doubtful." High Chietain Lokaka remarked, "Elder Dragon will never accept his defeat and losing his grand supreme title."

This means they will keep going at each other throat every decade until King Maxwell finally gives in and kill him once and for all."

"Bad blood or not, there is only one Grand Supreme Title, and clearly none of them are going to give up on it."

This was the logical side of the whole situation and the ten rulers all could see it happening in real life.

But most viewers didn't look this far...All they knew was that the alliance's founding father was killed for real when he had the possibility of revival.

This caused most of them to end up flipping off on Felix and actually start to bad mouth him or boo him, which made the entire atmosphere change for the worst!

Felix already anticipated public outrage and didn't seem to care that much about it.

He merely waved his hand at his fans with a faint smile as he always do for their continuous support throughout his long journey.

Then, he turned his back and teleported outside of the stadium one last time, knowing that from today onward, he was never going to step foot on this platform again.

"Ladies and gentlemen, ahhh, there is going to be a ceremony for the title's bestowment in three days. You are all free to attend and celebrate this historical moment in our lives."

Sir Victoire finally got his sh*t together and tried to control the atmosphere after seeing Felix's departure.

Unfortunately, emotions were running high and no one really listened to him...Felix's fans were extremely upset that their idol's last game was turned into this by other viewers.

They weren't able to even celebrate the fact that he had broken Elder Dragon's win streak record and even set a new unbreakable one of having more than twenty-nine continuous wins!

The ten challenges were considered wins even if they were forfeited, which meant Felix's haters had nowhere to hold him from this win streak ever again.

Alas, Felix's fans weren't given even the chance to brag as Elder Dragon's death was just too of a serious matter that affected everyone.

"Well, I guess you guys have won the race." Erebus gave a slow clap to Felix's masters.

"What's your next move now? Take another human under your wing and restart the climb?" Cherufe scoffed...He was clearly still irritated by how the battle turned out to be.

"Nope, we are retiring." Thor shrugged, "Jurmi and I took part in this to teach those darkins rats a lesson. Now that they have been kicked out of the council and games altogether, there is no point anymore."

"I took part for the sake of Manicial Monoliths." Lady Sphinx added, "I have already taken all the pieces that you had."

In a sense, all of Felix's masters had their goals achieved from the platform too, which really was considered a happy ending for everyone involved.

"So, I guess we won't be seeing much of you anymore in the games...A shame." Siren sighed in disappointment.

As much as she disliked Felix defeating her champions nonstop, she still preferred having him in the games since it was more entertaining to bet with three primogenitors at once.

While Felix's masters had already fulfilled their desires from the platform and the games, the rest of the primogenitors were doing all of this just for entertainment purposes.

Now that Felix had reached the end of the road in the most spectacular manner, every one of them knew that it really wasn't going to be the same without him or his masters...

Obviously, there were still racial games and Felix could potentially join the Void Nation Team or The Human Team.

But honestly? Felix wasn't really needed in both teams as his void nation was already strong enough to dominate even the dragons in racial games.

Meanwhile, his human race team could be led by Noah and Olivia after they exit the Elemental Galaxy.

Just Noah alone was capable of soloing the entire racial games platform if the void nation team wasn't considered.

So, unbeknownst to the raging viewers, this was the last time they were ever going to see Felix in a game again.

One could only wonder if their reaction would be the same if they knew this...

"It's a good thing we didn't waste our time on Elder Dragon." Saurus said as he closed the stream for the battle.

"I expected the battle to go on that brat's side, but I still didn't think he will be this dominant." Wendigo shook his head.

"He even lost after becoming a temporary deity." Saurus frowned, "That concept destruction ability is capable of acting as the perfect barrier against anything he marked, which will make it difficult even for us to kill him with elemental abilities or spiritual pressure."

The ability to destroy concepts entailed that even the invisible spiritual pressure could not bypass the destructiveness of the element.

This meant the concept destruction trident could be considered as the perfect shield against almost anything... It literally took offense as the best method of defense to a whole different level!

Elder Dragon would have realized that his spiritual pressure was also useless if it was enhanced with his reaction speed during his fake breakthrough.

The only reason his spiritual pressure remained the same was that it was heavily connected with his true self as a whole.

If Elder Dragon truly achieved a deity level in a proper manner and his entire body was transformed permanently, then, his spiritual pressure would have been improved to match his new status in the universe.

Using potions and such to cross the one million line wasn't it.

"If we want to continue with our plan, you can expect that there will be some resistance if you didn't manage to ambush him before he could react." Saurous said with a deep frown.

"Indeed, you must kill him before he uses this ability to defend himself." Wendigo said as he eyed his partner Manananggal.

"You guys are worrying too much." Manananggal said calmly, "Even if he had his masters near him, I will still be fast enough to kill him before he or they can do anything...Nothing is faster than internal blood impulsion."

"We know, but it's best to still be cautious. This is going to be our last attempt at his life and we are paying our freedom for its sake." Wendigo narrowed his eyes, "It must work."

Don't forget, we are also owing Illusion primogenitor a huge favor over his additional help. I can't imagine what that unpredictable trickster will ask from us later on." Saurous said with a slight shiver coursing down his spine after recalling their meeting with the Illusion primogenitor that happened four months ago. Ad AX

Four Months Earlier...

The darkins could be seen stepping into a living room that greeted them with a warm and inviting atmosphere. It exuded both comfort and sophistication.

The walls were a soothing shade of pale blue, complemented by subtle metallic accents that added a futuristic touch to the decor.

They walked towards a plush, oversized sofa that seemed to beckon them to sink into its cushions.

In one corner of the room, a sleek, chrome fireplace crackled with an artificial flame that danced and flickered like the real thing.

The heat radiating from the fireplace was just enough to create a cozy ambiance without making the room too stuffy.

"Where is he?" Saurous asked as he sat with his peers on the cushions.

"Who kn..."

Before Wendigo could finish his sentence, he felt a slight touch on his rear, forcing him to jump up instantly.

His peers reacted the same as they were also touched.

When they looked at the cushions, they had an irritated expression clouding their faces at the sight of two beautiful star-like mischievous eyes and pale slender feminine hands emerging from the cushions.

"Your tushies are still as perky as ever." A soothing giggle echoed in the room, making the three primogenitors' eyelids twitch in annoyance.

"And you are still as bothersome as ever."

Wendigo called with an irked tone, "Loki."

Chapter 1267 How Deeply Was He Involved?

Abruptly, a breathtaking woman emerged from the cushion and sat on it with one leg crossed above the other. 1

Her hair was an enchanting shade of deep blue, shimmering like the ocean on a sunny day. It cascaded down her back.

Her eyes were a bright, piercing green that seemed to sparkle with an inner light, and her delicate features were framed by a few strands of hair that fell gracefully around her face.

Her skin was smooth and flawless, with a hint of natural blush on her cheeks that gave her a youthful glow.

Her slender figure was accentuated by a form-fitting dress that hugged her curves in all the right places, and she moved with a grace and poise that suggested both confidence and elegance.

Her overall appearance was nothing short of breathtaking, with an otherworldly beauty that left anyone who saw her spellbound.

"We are here for serious business, so let's put the pranks aside, Loki." Saurous said with a stern tone, not affected in the slightest by her enchanting beauty.

"I know, you want information about Lord Khaos." Loki smiled at them.

"You were spying on us? Haven't we told you to stop doing that." Wendigo showed a displeased expression.

"Ahhh, sorry but no can do, your current conflict with the Asgardians is the most entertaining story right now." Loki giggled while covering his mouth, making the Darkins' eyelids twitch in irritation.

Unfortunately, they knew that the moment Loki's found something entertaining, nothing would make him drop it.

"Forget it, you creep. What can you tell us about Lord Khaos? Is he really afraid of stepping into the Paragon of Sins' area of slumber?" Saurous inquired with a solemn tone.

"Hmmm, I don't know about the term 'afraid', but he is definitely avoiding the void realm's territory of what is beyond the great void." Loki replied while rubbing his smooth fair chin, seemingly used to scratching a beard.

His mannerism was that of a man through and through, but his beautiful female appearance would really trip anyone off.

The Darkins never asked him about his current appearance since they knew that he was into shapeshifting and always had a new appearance once in a while.

In fact, no one had ever seen his real appearance before besides Lady Sphinx as she was the only one capable of seeing through his perfect illusions with her Truth Vision.

"How confident are you?" Manananggal inquired.

"Ummm, 90%?" Loki shrugged his shoulders, "Lord Khoas is an old good pal of mine, but he is really too secretive even for me. All I know is that I heard a rumor of him having a fallout with the Paragon of Sins back in the days when she was still awake. So, it's fair to assume that he wants to stay away from her."

"A fallout? That's new." Wendigo and his peers looked at each other with startled expressions.

Just like the rest of the primogenitors, they assumed that Lord Khoas' relationship with the Paragon of Sins must be somewhat unfriendly due to the mess she created in his peaceful realm...But they didn't think it would be due to fallout.

"That's all I know, whether he will hunt you down or not, that's for you to find out." Loki said.

Manananggal and his peers looked at each with solemn expressions and took their conversation on a telepathic level.

'What do you think? Should we go for it?'

'I think 90% is high enough to take the risk.'

'I honestly would have done it for much lower.'

It seemed like the darkins were convinced to commit to their plan as 90% was more than enough for them to take such a risk if it mean finally getting rid of Felix once and for all.

'If we did this it means we won't be able to return back to our side ever!' Saurous narrowed his eyes.

'It doesn't really matter that much for any of us.' Wendigo said coldly, 'We have been kicked out of the primogenitors' council and most of our descendants have been massacred while the rest became refugees...There is nothing to come back to in the first place!'

The fact that Felix was solely responsible for all of this made it easier for them to make the decision.

'Well, I have heard that the alliance is making plans to explore and expand on what is beyond the great void. Saurous said, 'If everything went smoothly, the UVR's signal will cover that territory and we will be able to access it again. So, we really won't be losing much.'

'You're right.'

The two main issues with their plan were Lord Khaos and the fact that they would be losing the UVR's connection.

Now that it looked like both of them were somewhat handled, there wasn't much of a downside.

'Just to be safe, I suggest both of you go ahead of me and let me handle the assassination alone.' Manananggal suggested calmly, 'Lord Khaos must be having his eyes on that brat. I might kill him in time but I am not certain I will be able to make out alive.'

While Manananggal could afford to lose his clones, those two could be screwed big time if they angered Lord Khaos and got caught by him.

So, it was best for them to travel to the other side before the assassination attempt and leave it for their partner.

'I want to rip that little f*cker with my own hands.' Saurus said coldly, 'But, you have a point!

"I am glad you have made up your minds." Loki smiled widely, "This is going to be fun."

"You really are a bastard."

Wendigo and his peers got vexed after realizing that Loki was listening to their telepathic conversation.

They knew that he had the means of doing this, but they didn't think that he would be insolent enough to eavesdrop in front of their faces.

"I already told you that I am quite invested in this story." Loki acted upset, "It's your own fault for not including me willingly."

Knowing that there was no escaping from Loki's forceful inclusion, the darkins could only sigh in defeat and leave him be.

"Plus, I can even help you out." Loki showed a mischievous smile as he manifested a small blood drop in a glass vial before them.

"Is this?" Manananggal raised an eyebrow in surprise.

"Yep." Loki sent the blood drop towards them and said, "I am not giving it for free, of course."

"What do you want?" Saruous asked with a serious tone.

This might be just a normal blood drop in the eyes of other people but before the Darkins? It was the last key in their assassination plan!

"Since you will be immigrating to the other side, I want you to help spread out the UVR's signal in the demons' territory." Loki requested, "The alliance won't have problems with the other races, but the demons will most definitely reject their wooing attempt."

"May I ask why?" Manananggal spoke with a composed tone, "This has nothing to do with the deal as we accept it, but I am really curious why are you trying so hard to put the entire universe under your illusion domain."

If anyone were to hear this, they would have felt chills course on their spine at the implication of his statement!

It wouldn't take a genius to realize that the Illusion Primogenitor Loki had a massive connection to the UVR's existence as a whole.

But how deeply involved was he? It was clear that only primogenitors seemed to have this kind of crucial information.

"I am just running my own experiment." Loki merely smiled and didn't add any further.

The darkins glanced at each other and dropped the matter at once, knowing that Loki was really weird and his motives were always incomprehensible.

Since he couldn't bring harm to them with his experiment, they really didn't give a sh*t about what he do with the others.

So, they thanked him for his help and left his place with the blood drop.

After the room was emptied, Loki waved his hand casually and four holograms emerged in front of him.

What's shocking was that those holograms were showing the Darkins' point of view in addition to Felix's in real time!

It was like he hacked into their brains and was capable of seeing exactly the same view without raising a single alarm in their minds!

He manifested a cocktail with a straw and spectated the holograms with a look of anticipation.

"I have been following your story ever since your unigin girlfriend joined my world. Please do not disappoint me and end your story now. It will be a long while before the main entertaining event begins." Loki wished as he watched Felix's screen place with the blood drop.

"It will be really disappointing if my only source of entertainment ends preemptively...Really disappointing."

Chapter 1268 It's Time To Put You To Rest...

Back to the present...

"Did you manage to track him yet?" Saurous inquired.

"No, he is still constantly on light speed mode. Manananggal informed as he eyed a spinning blood drop on his palm.

"Isk, he is bound to stop eventually." Wendigo clicked his tongue in irritation.

Ever since they had left their meeting with Loki, they kept attempting to use the blood drop to track down Felix's location.

It was more than possible since the blood drop was 100% the exact copy of Felix's blood!

If the Darkins asked Queen Ai or anyone to give them this drop of blood, they would have been denied thoroughly since they had no permission from the owner.

But, Loki was clearly outside of the system's control and could do whatever he wanted with all the Data in the UVR.

In fact, he could even give them the exact location of Felix by tracking his AP Bracelet. But, he obviously found no fun in this.

Nevertheless, with Manananggal's perfect control over blood, he was the only one capable of tracking locations by a mere blood drop even on a universal scale.

Unfortunately for them, Felix almost never bothered to stop his spaceship from leaving the light-speed mode since he spent most of his time in the UVR.

Though, the times when he exited the UVR to integrate with his bloodline kept helping the Darkins narrow his area.

Right now, they had already located that he was in the Milky Way Galaxy and to be precise in his Federation's large territory.

"Just be patient, we are getting nearer and nearer.." Manananggal said with narrowed eyes.

"By the way, I have concluded the deal with Lord Dune. He said he will open a private wormhole leading straight to the other side and keep it open for us." Saurous shared.

"Good, we will depart the moment it's done."Manananggal nodded.

Naturally, Manananggal was going with them too as he knew that Lord Khoas would definitely hunt down all of his clones after the deed.

Since he only needed one clone for the assassination and he was linked with it through consciousness, they could supervise the assassination from the safety of the other side.

It might seem cowardly, but when someone reached their level of wisdom, there was no such thing as cowardly actions or honorable actions...Just actions with consequences.

Three days later...

On the day of the Grand Supreme Ceremony, the Mariana Capital City's streets were alive with anticipation as the sun rose.

Days of anticipation led to this gracious moment, when the city's residents lined the streets in their finest attire, waving flags and banners in the air.

While the majority were humans, there were many people from other races also participating in this historical day.

The city was vast but still, all of its streets were crowded to the brim with excited and feverish citizens.

Houses and buildings were decorated with large pictures of Felix in different poses and attires throughout his entire journey on the platform.

Even the sky wasn't left at peace as there were many slow-flying airships, pulling humongous holographic screens, showing Felix's most viral and extraordinary videos from his games.

Such as the moment when he surfed above a rushing magma river inside an erupting Volcano!

Everyone declared that he was a dead man, yet he proved them wrong and escaped to safety while also securing the win.

Or the epic moment where he slayed the Kraken...An entire alliance of more than thirty players got absolutely owned by the Kraken.

When everyone thought that this monster was unkillable, Felix proved to them again that the impossible wasn't in his dictionary.

The current highlight was showing exactly the moment when Felix took off into the thunderstorm without wings.

Lightning flashed and thunder roared in the background as he began free-diving towards the monstrous Kraken while spinning around himself to create more powerful momentum on the bulky end of his tail.

Under the trillions of people right now in the city with their heads lifted into the sky, Felix went through Kraken and emerged from the other side bloody, tired, and pained, but victorious!

Clap! Clap!! Clap!!!..

"I was there. Sob, I was there.."

"Man. This hurts bad..."

"I still can't believe our Lord is retiring...Sniffle, is this really it? We only got less than twenty games from him."

Most citizens watching those highlights couldn't help but feel emotional as to whether they were there when those epic scenes happened or not, they still wished collectively for more...

Alas, Felix had reached the end of the road for real...There was nothing more for the games to offer him as he literally almost owned the entire alliance now.

He was the Grand Supreme, the Void Nation King, and the Humans recognized leader... He had the backing of Queen Allura, Queen Alfreda, and even potentially King Mahit.

This meant that he had five votes in the bag in almost any decision made by the ten rulers.

His authority could be said to even surpass Elder Dragon as the friends and allies he made on his arduous path backed him up.

Right now, Felix could be seen standing on the balcony ledge of his newly build majestic palace.

The majestic palace, with its soaring spires reaching high into the sky, stood in the middle of the city.

Although Felix wasn't considering himself to be royalty or even interested in creating a royal family, his people made him insignia with his family's name...It was displayed on tapestries and banners that were hung across the entire palace.

"They really are going all out for you." Asna said with a mesmerizing smile as she stood next to him and locked her arms with him.

"I would have gone for something subtle, but I really had no say in this." Felix smiled wryly as he recalled his senior sister Allura scolding him for wanting the ceremony to be lowkey.

In her exact words, she said that the Grand Supreme ceremony affected the entire alliance's population as a whole since it marked the birth of a new leader, a new alliance, and a new era.

It would be disrespectful to make a lackluster ceremony.

Obviously, Elder Dragon's death wasn't forgotten so soon as many people decided to boycott attending or watching the ceremony's stream.

The public outrage had yet to be squelched and had gotten even worse when Elder Dragon's funeral finished two days ago.

Fortunately, the humans didn't give a sh*t about Elder Dragon's death when their king was the one replacing him.

So, even when many people boycotted the ceremony, its liveness wasn't affected in the slightest.

So, even when many people boycotted the ceremony, its liveness wasn't affected in the slightest.

"King Maxwell, it's time." Zosia informed after entering the room.

"I will be there soon." Felix nodded at her before looking at the sky with a tint of sadness...To be precise, he was looking at his in-game name that was written in clouds.

"We had a great run...But, it's time to put you to rest my old friend."

With a forced smile, Felix turned around and walked towards the door with Asna holding his arm.

As the door was closing behind him, a glimpse of the name appeared from the balcony.

UNPAID LANDLORD.....

Chapter 1269 Grand Supreme Ceremony!

Ka-Thump!!!

As the giant well-designed royal gate was pushed wide open by two guards, Felix, and his Madam stepped forth inside the throne chamber with arms locked together and nonchalant expressions.

The majesty of the royal throne chamber was readily apparent. The space was large and had tall marble pillars supporting its high ceilings.

The walls were covered with beautiful tapestries that showed historical and triumphant episodes throughout his entire journey.

Every step he took on the polished marble floor reverberated throughout the space.

The throne itself was situated at the far end of the space, elevated on a dais. It was a massive building made of dazzling gold and set with priceless stones.

Felix's emblem was shown on the throne's back, while the seat was upholstered in the richest crimson velvet.

Even with grandeur and magnificence, it dimmed out the instant King and his Queen showed their presence before the attending guests.

The ten rulers were all here even King Mahit for some reason.

The Void Nations' councilmen were also situated behind the throne with solemn expressions, appearing like royal guardians.

Zosia, The Maganda Chief, Princess Bird Alisa, and the rest of the anti-royalty alliance OG members were seen standing at the side of the throne chamber even higher in position than the inner circle leaders.

Lara, Lobna, Naima, Ishtar, and the rest of the witch academy teachers were also attending in their finest dresses, appearing as glamorous as possible.

Winfried, Hamaru, The Fang, and the rest of the Void Mercenary Branch leaders were seen gazing at Felix and his goddess girlfriend with complex looks.

In fact, almost everyone attending this ceremony seemed to have mixed emotions at the sight of Felix getting nearer and nearer to the throne.

"This really feels surreal... Naima spoke telepathically with her friends, not daring to even breathe out loud in the presence of Felix and Ansa.

They might not mean it, but both of them were releasing an authoritative pressure like two perfect deities born from the same mold and for each other.

'It sure is...Who would have thought that hooligan in our academy will reach this height in less than two decades. Ishtar smiled wryly, 'I barely managed to master two rank three potions in the same time frame!

'Felix..'

Princess Bird Alisa bite her lips tightly as Felix walked past her and gave her a faint gentle smile before continuing on his path.

Two decades was enough time for her to mature and grow into a fine beautiful woman who would make any man gift her a ring at the slightest opening.

That faint smile from Felix made her realize that he still saw her as that little annoying child who can't articulate her emotions in an honest way.

'You will be alright! Magnda Chief smiled bitterly as he placed his hand on top of his daughter's head and lowered it.

He knew more than anyone that his daughter have loved and wanted Felix for more than two decades even when he stopped interacting with her.

Alas, just the sight of Asna alone was enough to completely shatter any competition for Felix's heart.

He didn't even need to do anything for other women to realize that they couldn't amount to Ana in beauty, confidence, and natural goddess-like demeanor.

Since this ceremony was being streamed live, billions of dreamy women's hearts were shattered just like Princess Bird's at the sight of this perfect couple.

Only Selphie resisted Asna's overpowering traits and was still trying her best to fight for a place in Felix's heart even when he already rejected her.

"Your Majesty!"

Thud! Thud! Thud! Thud!..

The moment Felix reached the throne, Arthur, The Ruiner, Meriam, Mammon, Aegnor, and Candace all took a knee simultaneously with the most respectful expression.

This sight alone had made many inner circle leaders frown a little as it made them understand that Felix had such a strong grip on his overpowering void nation.

Whether they liked to admit it or not, having Felix as the new Grand Supreme made them honestly nervous for their future.

Who could blame them? He was even more overpowered and scarier than Elder Dragon.

"Arise."

The councilmen stood back up and returned to their positions after the order. Felix held Asna's hand gently and helped her sit first on her own dignified chair.

Only then did he sit down and looked at everyone with a smile that exuded utmost confidence and authority.

"I appreciate everyone accepting my invitation to the ceremony, I am truly honored to be in presence of friends, colleagues, and family" Felix said with a grateful tone.

"We are the ones honored by the invitation." Maganda Chief smiled while the others nodded in approval.

Seeing that everyone was ready, Felix stood up again with a serious expression and looked directly into the transparent camera in front of him.

As the new Grand Supreme, he was dutied to make a speech that addressed the entire alliance as a whole since he was considered the eleventh member of the ten rulers.

"My dear people, I am humbled and grateful for the trust you have placed in me as I stand before you today as your new Grand Supreme. I have fought tooth and nail for this position as I always knew deep down that I can do wonderful things to make our lives easier and worth living."

"I am very aware of the obstacles the alliance has faced in the past and Elder Dragon's extraordinary role in overcoming them. I am not here to bad-mouth his legacy or hard work to create those peaceful times."

"I am standing before you here for one single reason...I have a vision of progress, prosperity, and peace for our alliance.

Felix paused as he narrowed his eyes, making everyone's hearts skip a beat the moment they stared directly into his eyes.

"So, my first task as the Grand Supreme is to explore what lies beyond the great void."

The moment this statement left his mouth, almost everyone was left stunned as this was the first time they hear about this.

Only the inner circle leaders were knowledgeable about the alliance's exploration plans and they were under contracts to keep such Intel to themselves.

'Looks like the ten rulers want to use this platform to gauge their citizens' reaction. King Treznor thought to himself.

He understood that Felix had no permission to make such an announcement alone even if he was the Grand Supreme.

This meant a vote was carried in the ten rulers' assembly to make the news public in the ceremony.

As expected, this kind of news wasn't easy to digest for everyone as the majority didn't even bother to learn about the other side of the universe.

Still, the zealous citizens of the alliance all broke into massive waves of feverishly excited cheers, whether in the stream chats or in the streets!

[I can't believe they are giving it another attempt! I heard that High Chieftain Lokaka almost got lost in the great void!]

[This is massive news!! I heard rumors that more than 40% of the universe is cut off from us by the great void!]

[Dear god...I can't even fathom what kind of races and lifeforms exists on the other side.]

[Am I the only one who thinks this is a very bad idea? Who knows if the other side is filled with monsters and races much stronger than us combined? Won't be inviting trouble?]

Trouble? How can you even say that with a straight face? The SGAlliance is the most powerful entity in the universe and nothing can stop us if we decide to conquer anyone!]

There were some mixed opinions here and there of very concerned citizens, but the majority were on a high dosage of excitement about the future.

They understood that the other side must be filled with either untouched resources and treasures or new races.

In both scenarios, the alliance would benefit greatly from the exploration as even if those races owed such said resources, it wasn't hard to get them to join the alliance and share them.

If they rejected their peace offering? It was even better as it had been a while since the alliance went to war against outsiders!

"I know that some of you must be feeling worried and troubled about the unknown."

Felix faced the camera again with an aura that exuded an overbearing amount of confidence and pride. Then, he uttered a statement that made everyone feel goosebumps, "For I'm The Grand Supreme and as long as I live, the alliance will remain standing tall and upright.

"You have my word."

Creators' Thoughts With that we conclude, the Fifteen Volume: The Grand Supreme.

This volume can be considered as the end of the games arcs in the novel as from now on ward, the plot will keep progressing until the novel's conclusion.

I know that the novel's name is supremacy games, but it is still a sci-fi cultivation novel at heart.

I hope you have enjoyed this volume and all the games that I have written before it as from now onward, it's going to get real heated!

Chapter 1270 His First Decision As The Grand Supreme.

A few days after the ceremony concluded, Felix could be seen sitting on the highest platform in the ten rulers' assembly...All of his peers were there but King Mahit.

"The final tests of the device have been completed in the UVR. Now, we just need to do a live trial with one exploration squad, Empress Emily shared.

"That's good to hear." Queen Alfreda nodded.

"When will we carry on the test?" Emperor Lokhil inquired.

"I suggest in two months." Queen Allura said, "It's enough time to prepare for the test as well as give a proper period for everyone to attend the live test."

Everyone was in favor of her suggestion as it made the most sense.

"For the first trial squad, I believe the team should have space worms and void citizens aboard in case we failed." Minister Aquiris suggested as he eyed Felix, "What do you think, King Maxwell?"

"Makes sense, Felix approved, knowing that a combination of those two races would make crossing the great void easier in case the squad got lost in the middle.

"This is all in today's meeting, have a nice day."

Seeing that everyone was on the same page, Queen Alfreda attempted to excuse herself as she was clearly busy with other matters related to her elvish realms.

"Wait."

Felix stopped her with a polite tone.

"Is there something else?" Emperor Lokhil asked in intrigue.

Felix ignored him and kept tapping his finger on the armchair as he looked underneath him, where millions of desperate people were trying their best to climb the staircase and reach them for a mere wish.

After a few seconds of awkward silence, Felix said with a flat tone, "I want to abolish this Stairway to Heaven.. It shouldn't be a thing in the first place."

Ever since Felix stepped into the ten rulers assembly, he was always irked at the notion that there were millions of desperate people across the entire alliance being left with no other choice but to climb those impossible stairs for the sake of fixing their broken lives.

Sure there were many people giving this heinous system a try for the fun of it, but the majority really had some serious unsolvable problems that could get wiped out with a mere wave of a hand with one of the ten rulers' involvement.

"Is it bugging you?" Emperor Lokhil frowned, "I think it should stay as we are giving our citizens a chance to fix their lives as long as they are willing to show their absolute determination in doing so. The staircase is the best way to filter the ones that truly are desperate for our help and the ones merely seeking freebies from us."

"Answer me this then." Felix looked at him calmly and asked, "When was the last time someone reached the assembly and you fulfilled his wish?"

Emperor Lokhil wasn't able to answer the question as he knew that it was a very, very, long time ago.

Unfortunately for him, Empress Emily didn't care about how it would look like as she gave Felix the exact date with even seconds included.

"More than two thousand years ago." Felix stressed calmly, "Possibly 99% of all the people that tried to waste their time on this hail-mary attempt must have already dropped dead. The number should be in the tens of billions."

"Yet, here you are telling me that this system is necessary when it merely saved one person from tens of billions in more than two millennia. I don't know if you are lying to yourself or you just enjoy the ego boost from seeing millions of desperate people crawling towards you for a second of your time."

"This.." Emperor Lokhil's cheek turned somewhat red in shame and embarrassment as he had nothing to defend himself.

In truth, his ego wasn't involved in the slightest as he honestly just didn't care about those people.

In his eyes, his time was too precious to be wasted on even his own empire's administration matters.

He was purely passionate about forging the best artifacts and this made him view the world with his eyes closed.

"I know that this system isn't really working, but I am certain that abolishing it will cause us more backlash than leaving it as it is." Queen Alfreda mentioned.

"She is right." Minister Aquiris shook his head, "It's been here for a very long time, and as much as it wasn't really efficient in helping people, at least it gives them hope. Plus, there are many citizens' jobs rely on it."

"Elder, it's not giving them hope, but a false one. If it was the only thing we can offer, it might not be a bad thing...But, I just feel we can do much more than this." Felix snickered, "As for the citizens' jobs? I have seen them firsthand. They are just a bunch of scammers prying on people's desperation."

"Also, I am not planning to abolish it and leave those people with nothing. I think investing at least 0.5% of the alliance's streaming revenue each year in a nonprofit department will be much better than this useless staircase."

Felix wasn't really suggesting anything new or mindblowing...His solution was simple and easy to implement as with Queen Ai's involvement and some resources from the alliance, it wasn't hard to filter people with genuine unsolvable problems from irresponsible idiots.

There were already many nonprofit organizations across the universe, but there wasn't a single one that was related to the alliance's name...Which was just wrong on so many levels.

Felix wasn't obviously talking about donating money, clothes, or such...But actually helping people with their serious problems to send them back to society without needing to rely on anyone ever again.

"I honestly don't care if you abolish it or donate money...I don't have time for this. Just consider me abstaining my vote."

High Chieftain Lokaka said nonchalantly before departing from the meeting.

"Likewise. Empress Scarlet excused herself too with a gentle smile.

Both of their races never use this staircase as one had a united front and the other had all of its people rich to the core as it was impossible for space worms to not get a job.

The same applied to the witches, dwarves, droids, and high elves...Only the less fortunate races had portions of their populations struggling to get by in life.

Felix felt that as a human and someone with a shitty previous life, it was his duty to at least fight for them when he had finally reached this authoritative position.

Plus, his guilt of getting tens of billions of earthlings killed was also playing a part in this..

"Anyone else cool with this?"

Felix looked at the others as he asked.

"You have my support." Queen Allura was the first to back him up with her vote.

"Hmm." Queen Alfreda supported him as well.

"I guess it's done then." Felix smiled as he requested Queen Ai's attendance, not bothering to waste his time on the others' votes.

Two had abstained, King Mahit wasn't even involved, and the dragons had yet to crown a new leader to represent them.

With Felix possessing two votes and receiving the support of both queens, it meant he had four votes, which was the majority even if Empress Emily, Emperor Lokhil, and Minister Aquiries voted against it!

"Queen, please abolish the stairways to heaven system and make an alliance's wide announcement about it." Felix requested.

"Are you sure?"

Felix gave one last look at the seemingly infinite stairways and the millions of struggling people that looked like ants...Then, he confirmed it with a firm tone, "Most definitely."

A moment later, Felix and the others watched the stairways, breaking into light particles from the top into the bottom.

This sight froze all the climbers in their position as their brains couldn't process the notion that this eternal staircase was disappearing before them!

Before they could wake up from the daze, they found themselves teleported back to their homes or the streets against their will.

The first thing they heard after opening their eyes was

-The Stairways to Heavens has been abolished under the order of the ten rulers.-

A universal notification that everyone received either straight in their minds or on their bracelet's screens.

Without a shred of doubt, every single person knew immediately that this was Felix's doing.

[He merely got into office for three days and has already abolished one of the oldest traditions in the alliance...Tsk, talk about powerplay.]

[What the hell! Those almighty bastards already never bothered to help us with anything! Now, they even took the one thing that gave us hope?]

[Honestly, this is for the best..I have spent more than five years holed up in the UVR to climb the staircase and receive a wish. In the end, I found out that I barely climbed 20% of the distance...]

While there were mixed views about this decision in the network, the majority felt that it was a bad one...In their eyes, even if the stairways were a scam, at least they had something.

It was the perfect case of having a shitty option was better than none.

It was the perfect case of having a shitty option was better than none.

However, all of those negative remarks and opinions went completely radio silent after another notification resounded across the entire alliance.

-SGAlliance Red Cross Department has been established. 0.5% of all game streaming revenue will be dedicated to helping the less fortunate.
