

Supremacy 1321

Chapter 1321 The War For The Universe. V

In the past two hours, the SGAlliance troops managed to evacuate all the citizens in the Revia N1 system.

It wasn't easy in the slightest when the mothership had fallen under Lucifer's control and his subordinates.

Fortunately, Lucifer didn't seem to care so much about killing everyone as he didn't bother to go after the SGAlliance's forces after taking over the mothership.

Though, the remaining demons sure gave the SGAlliance a run for their money, forcing them to leave behind a staggering number of casualties.

When the SGAlliance had made sure that everyone had been evacuated, the leaders had ordered a mass retreat into the depth of the seventh realm, Tartarus.

All of them were ordered to not open wormholes and return to the SGAlliance's territory in fear of Lucifer and his demons invading them.

Unbeknownst to them, Lucifer didn't even need them as the moment he demonized High Chieftain Lokaka, he was capable of opening his own bridges with the chieftains' coordinates.

At least, that was what everyone predicted after finding out about the peculiar red wormhole.

"This Lucifer is an enemy way above our league. We can handle the demons just fine, but we can't do anything against someone with the strength of a primogenitor and true immortality." Queen Alfreda said with a serious tone, "We have to bring this matter to the primogenitors and seek their help to hunt him down."

"I doubt they will help us...After all, we are the ones who brought this to ourselves with our invasion." Emperor Lokhil shook his head.

"Then what else can we do?" Queen Alfreda frowned, "High Chieftain and two clan heads have defected to the other side and somewhat still retain all of their abilities and memories. If we allow this menace to roam freely in our territory, god knows what kind of destruction he will bring."

Everyone knew that when demons get demonized, they lose most of their memories and powers...Especially elemental manipulation as demons were known to manipulate only evil energy.

But, when Lucifer demonized Lokaka and the dragons, they still retained their memories and most shockingly, their elemental manipulations!

The only things that changed were their new devotion to Lucifer and the appearance of their elements as they seem corrupted.

Even their devotion looked out of place as demons supposedly needed to sign soul contracts and they would still not be wholeheartedly loyal to a superior demon.

All of this made the SGAlliance leadership quite worried for their continuity as this enemy was just too overpowered for them.

"King Maxwell, you have been awfully quiet...Do you have any suggestions?" Fishermen Queen Everley asked.

Everyone turned to focus on Felix who had lines on his forehead etched deeper, as if carved by the weight of the universe itself.

It wasn't far-fetched from reality as Felix understood that Lucifer wouldn't harm anyone if he just agreed to have that meeting with him.

"If Lucifer is really roaming in our universe, he is bound to leave a track sooner or later near that wormhole. I suggest we evacuate all nearby planets before he steps foot in them." Felix expressed.

"This is a mere temporary solution to keep our people safe, but we can't keep evacuating planets and making the citizens homeless to avoid him." The Pandion's High Honor Jara said.

"We need to find a way to erase him from existence and remove any chance of him reviving again. Is there a method?" Queen Alfreda asked as she looked at Empress Emily.

"Based on the information in our possession, there is 0% chance of victory against Lucifer even if we used every weapon in our arsenal." Empress Emily stated expressionlessly.

This answer didn't please the leaders in the slightest as it made them return to their original plan, which was beseeching help from the primogenitors.

"King Maxwell, you are pretty close with your masters, is it possible to request a favor from one of them for us all?" Minister Aquiris requested with a deep sigh, "Our ancestors ignore us most of the time and I am certain that we will be ignored again if we made such a request."

No one bothered to even request Felix to fight against Lucifer as they had no intentions to send their grand supreme to his early damnation.

Even though Felix showcased his immense strength, none of them had an ounce of confidence that he would be able to get rid of Lucifer.

The most powerful mortal was still a mortal in front of a deity...

"My apologies, but my masters aren't available at the moment and won't consider helping us." Felix replied.

Lady Sphinx and Fenrir were in Elementals Galaxy while Lord Khaos was a mere spectator.

"Sigh, that's disappointing."

"I guess we are on our own until the situation gets too grave."

Although the primogenitors might seem selfish and uncaring about the SGAlliance's survival, the leaders were sure that their ancestors would make a move to stop Lucifer if it seemed like he was on a path to universal conquest.

After all, they could not give up on the only stable source of entertainment, which was the supremacy games platforms.

So, the SGAlliance leaders could only drop this subject for now and focus on how to deal with their war and minimize Lucifer's domination. In no time, this had turned from a conquest of the other side into a war for the entire universe and the odds didn't look so good for them at all...

****

A couple of days later...

Everyone in the network was awakened to the shocking news of an entire solar system with more than ten civilized planets getting turned into a cesspool of demons...

No matter how much the SGAlliance leaders wanted to keep the news under a tight lid, it was simply impossible with everyone's free access to the network.

Right now, there are thousands of videos, if not more of Lucifer descending into those planets and completely transforming them into a corrupted environment where only demons could live in it.

One could only imagine the shock of the citizens when they noticed that Lucifer was a twin of their grand supreme.

"As expected, it's simply impossible to keep everyone away from him." Felix rubbed his heavy eyelids as he closed the holographic forums that were filled with conspiracies related to him and Lucifer.

"I don't know if he is doing this to bait you out or he simply wants to spread as much chaos as possible, but if no one stops him, you can be certain that the entire universe will belong to the demon race." Asna commented with a deep frown.

As much as she didn't care about the lives of the SGAlliance's citizens, she still preferred the current peaceful era than having demons' domination.

"Whether he is doing it for me or not, I have to respond." Felix said with a stern tone, "I can't let him demonize and ruins any more lives under my rulership. I promised the people good lives and a successful conquest...I refuse to break my word."

"Don't tell me you are planning to ascend to a deity right away?" Asna was startled.

"Is there any other option?" Felix shook his head.

Felix would have preferred remaining in the Elementals Galaxy until he got everything he desired from it, but he could never prioritize his training when his people were getting slaughtered and demonized right and left.

As the grand supreme, he had a responsibility to keep the SGAlliance safe and right now, he was failing it epicly. This was what would be in the minds of the citizens as they didn't care if Lucifer was a deity, immortal, or whatnot.

"Unfortunately, even if you chose a new bloodline and decided to become a deity as fast as possible, you will not be able to eliminate Lucifer." Lady Sphinx had to break his dreams. "You might kill him once, twice, or even a hundred times, but he will always return and you can do nothing about it."

"The only way to truly kill him is by using Lord Shiva's ultimate ability, Totality Collapse. You can't have it without destruction immunity, which means..."

"I must have destruction manipulation at all costs if I want a fair shot at killing Lucifer." Felix said as he covered his face with his hands.

Felix hadn't felt this hopeless in a long time and now even when he desired to let go of the best training opportunity to save his people, he couldn't go for it because of one person.

Lord Shiva.

Knowing Lord Shiva, he wouldn't hand his destruction manipulation to Felix even at the threat of everyone in the universe going extinct.

After all, he was a madman enough to actually seek universal destruction and failed at it, something like this wouldn't tickle his empathy in the slightest.

But still, Felix knew that he had to give it a try.

So, without an ounce of hesitation, Felix descended into his consciousness space and went straight to Lord Shiva.

It was finally time that he addressed the elephant in the room!

Chapter 1322 A Win-Win-Win Situation!

A few moments later...

Felix could be seen standing in front of Lord Shiva who was still sunbathing with sunglasses on and a weird-looking smoothie in his hand.

"No."

"B.."

"The answer is no."

Felix turned to his masters for some help, but all they did was shrug their shoulders and ignore him.

They knew that Lord Shiva was impossible to convince to do anything, don't even mention bestowing his elemental manipulation.

"Move away, you are blocking the sun." Lord Shiva shooed him away.

"No, I am not giving up." Felix said with a firm tone, "I am not leaving until you at least give me either an explanation or a condition to get the manipulation. I know that you couldn't care less about being revived and clearly, we have the same end goal."

If Lord Shiva wanted to be revived, it was more than possible as Lady Sphinx could create a new body for him by using some of his descendants' DNA...Though, his strength wouldn't be on a primogenitor's level anymore since he had a mere wisp of consciousness and a non-deity body.

But still, if he desired to be revived, this wouldn't have stopped him.

Lord Shiva lowered his sunglasses and stared at Felix directly in his eyes with an indifferent expression.

"Same goal? If you truly aim for the same goal, you wouldn't have bothered yourself with those mortals and focused wholeheartedly on getting stronger." Lord Shiva scoffed, "Your judgment and focus can easily be affected by other people's lives, yet you have the audacity to aim for those beings? How foolish."

"In other words, if I was more focused on defeating those beings and ignored everything else, you would bestow your destruction manipulation?" Felix repeated with a stern tone.

"If you are willing enough, why not?" Lord Shiva replied calmly, "I will even help you master your wisdom eye, which will upgrade your comprehension to a godly level."

After Lord Shiva found out that Felix could become much stronger than even primogenitors after hitting the origin realm, the idea of bestowing his manipulation was planted in his head.

Even though he didn't like Felix personally as he found him emotional and just 'human', he still decided to go for it since he was their last bet...Whether he pulled it off or not didn't matter.

He was just waiting for Felix to show him that he was at least attentive and focused on such an overarching goal, but with this new development, he was making it harder for him to accept him.

"I see..." Felix turned around and looked at his masters without saying or even thinking anything.

They just kept looking at each other before Lady Sphinx let out a helpless exhale before waving her hand at him like a mother giving in to her child's cries for candy.

Felix showed her a smile filled with gratitude before turning around to Lord Shiva.

"I will do it." Felix stressed with a determined tone, "I will remain in the Elementals Galaxy until I am satisfied with my training results and would never leave it even if the entire universe fell under the control of demons... Is that enough?"

"What about your people's safety and lives?"

"That's none of your business"

Lord Shiva smiled faintly at his response and said, "I don't care if you break your words with your people, but you better not think for a moment to break it with me."

In another sense, Lord Shiva was warning him about taking his destruction manipulation and straightaway replacing the bloodline before leaving the galaxy.

"I never had such intentions." Felix said calmly.

"We will see about it." Lord Shiva lowered his sunglasses again and said, "Call me when you want to start."

"Preferably now." Felix answered, "I am ready." Felix was worried that Lord Shiva might change his mind later.

Since he had already mastered the third stage of manipulation for each of his elements, there was no need to seal any of his manipulations to not conflict with the new one. So, he was ready to accept the bestowment at any moment.

"As you wish."

Sometime later...

Felix's face was covered in sweat as he lay on his knees with glowing dark red inscriptions written over his entire skin.

The process was as painful as always, but Felix had gone through it multiple times and he had adapted to it.

"Congratulations on your fifth elemental manipulation." Asna clapped with a charming smile.

"Five perfect elemental manipulations...I never thought a small human body could encompass five inscriptions." Elder Kraken said with an intrigued tone, "The question is, can he continue adding more?"

"Well, his skin does seem like it has no more space for additional inscriptions." Carbuncle commented as he studied Felix's skin, "Will those inscriptions ever conflict with each other as long as the third stage was mastered?"

"It seems li..."

"The number is seven... His body can't contain more than seven elemental manipulations." Lady Sphinx answered.

"Seven? How are you so sure?" Asna raised an eyebrow in surprise.

Even Felix was taken aback and felt his pain somewhat going away due to the news.

"Ever since the second inscription was added, I have done limit testing on his perfect clone."

Lady Sphinx narrated calmly, "His body was deemed impossible to contain more than seven manipulations as the eight inscriptions end up being overlapping over them at once until the very first inscription at the bottom goes invisible. It can't be summoned anymore, which means his poison manipulation will be erased."

"So, it's possible to add more elemental manipulation, the only issue is that the first ones will get replaced." Felix said his piece through the pain.

"Indeed."

"Well, I always knew that there must be a limit somehow." Felix wasn't disappointed by the news at all.

After all, he still could obtain two more elemental manipulations, and since they weren't related to bloodlines that much, he could easily obtain them by awakening more primogenitors' wisps as he did with the Kraken's wisp of consciousness.

The only reason he never bothered to go for it was that his bloodline path had yet to reach its end and all the awakened primogenitors besides Lord Shiva were cooperative.

"How about limited manipulations though, do they count as one?" Asna wondered.

"They do count since they also require inscriptions to be written. The only difference is that limited manipulations come from incomplete inscriptions written in the DNA of the owner while perfect manipulation comes from complete inscriptions." Lady Sphinx clarified, "That's one of the reasons we called it perfect elemental manipulation."

"This means after you hit the origin realm and get the last bloodline's limited manipulation, you will be given the choice for one last perfect manipulation." Asna shared.

"That's not perfect, but I can live with that." Felix said with a content tone.

If he was to throw a tantrum because of this, then he really didn't deserve to even have two manipulations.

Seven elemental manipulations was a dream that not even primogenitors dreamed of having, don't even mention mortals.

"Thank you master for making this happen." Felix turned to face Lady Sphinx and promised with a serious tone, "I won't let you down."

"Don't waste your time on such things, I am also curious about Lucifer's unique source of power and he will serve as an excellent new project." Lady Sphinx replied with a glitter of anticipation.

"What are they talking about? Did I miss a scene?" Candace murmured in confusion as she looked around her.

"Big sis is going to hunt down Lucifer and deal with him while Felix is focusing on his training as he promised Lord Shiva." Asna explained it to Candace.

As Felix's lifelong partner and soulmate, she understood exactly what Felix wanted from his masters when he gave them that look before.

He didn't say anything or even thought about it...But Asna and his masters understood that he was pleading with Lady Sphinx to help him protect the SGAlliance from Lucifer's terror while he was away.

In this manner, he would ensure to keep his word with Lord Shiva and receive his manipulation and teachings during his training while simultaneously knowing that Lucifer would have someone making his life hell!

"Sphinx, there is no need for you to make a move personally." Fenrir interjected expressionlessly as he stared at Felix, "If you asked me, I would have done it for you as I still owe you one for rescuing me from the Ice World."

"Elder..." Felix didn't know how to respond.

"Plus, he has given me the perfect opponents for Noah, and on our own turf, it will be a waste to leave them be." Fenrir smiled coldly.

Fenrir always wanted Noah to fight with the demons as they were perfect for his cultivation system due to their immortality.

But because they were located on the other side where the three darkins reside, he didn't want to risk having his student land in their hands.

But now that the demons were invading the SGAlliance's territory, it was a much better opportunity than just killing non-intelligent strong creatures in the Elementals Galaxy.

"But, what about the time difference?"

"What about it?" Fenrir said calmly, "Noah is already near his physical limitation while his ice manipulation talent is already second to none."

While Felix spent merely five hundred years for each element, Noah was putting close to two thousand years on just his ice manipulation...So, his improvement was already noteworthy and it was time for him to unleash it and test it on his enemies.

All in all, Noah could afford to lose the time difference without losing too many advantages, unlike Felix that had so much to master and no time for each one.

"I am still going for that demon." Lady Sphinx added calmly, "The fact that he reached a deity level is already a universal secret that needs exploring."

"Fine, let's do it together then." Fenrir gave in.

"That's more like it."

Felix was left speechless as he already felt that it was too much to send one primogenitor after Lucifer.

But now, two were going after him? He suddenly felt somewhat sympathetic for Lucifer.

Chapter 1323 A Song Of Fire And Ice.

A couple of months later in the outside universe...

Fenrir, Noah, Olivia, Bodidi, and even Selphie decided to leave the Elementals Galaxy after learning more about the demons' invasion.

All of them wanted to offer their assistance in such a difficult time as it was getting harder and harder to contain the demonization in the SGAlliance.

It was like a plague without a cure and most nations could only seek destructive methods to minimize the demonization of their citizens.

Right now, it was believed that there were more than twenty billion lesser demons across the entire universe!

As for the animalistic demons? They were incalculable!

This wasn't done just by Lucifer alone as the remaining princes had sent their subordinates to the other side as well while they remained behind to defend their capitals.

Unbeknownst to them, the SGAlliance couldn't care less anymore about their territories at such harrowing times.

They had ordered most of their armies to return and help with containing the demonization before it goes out of control.

Fortunately, Felix and his void nation were proven to be an excellent shield against the demons due to the void realm being accessible.

This allowed them to use the billions of void creatures' army at their disposal...Since void creatures couldn't be demonized, they were the best counter to demons.

In addition, they also used The World Eaters and The Dreamers to devour any planet that had gone beyond saving.

Felix might not have participated in the war with his main consciousness, but he was sure of commanding the void army to give the demons a hellish time and save as many citizens as possible.

"Demon King, we still found no news about Maxwell's whereabouts. He is in hiding, which is somewhat unexpected due to his status." High Chieftain Lokaka reported with a solemn tone.

He was standing underneath a daunting five meters tall throne, radiating a palpable aura of malevolent authority that could shake the core of the most stalwart individuals.

The seat itself was covered with a dark crimson velvet cushion, giving a deceptive impression of comfort. The velvet, however, had a sinister sheen, and its plush texture felt oddly warm to the touch, almost like living flesh.

Demon King Lucifer was sitting on it with legs folded and hands placed on his kneecaps, seemingly in a meditation session.

This throne was situated in a ruined royal hall that used to belong to a centaur empire...But now? The entire planet was covered in a crimson hue and demons roamed everywhere, seeking whatever remained of purities to feast on.

Lucifer and his subordinates had taken it as a temporary base in the past month.

"I suggest we prioritize demonizing his human race as he will never stand back and watch them suffer." Clan head Ygos suggested with a wicked gaze, "He started an entire war against three races to protect them."

"Seconded." Clan head Azesdirth supported with a cold tone.

Because they had turned to demons, their hatred toward Felix multiplied a hundred folds and they desired his death more than anything.

Lokaka was humiliated during his fight against Felix and while he seemed to have let it go and turned a new page, his demonization had brought those evil thoughts back to the front.

There was no need to mention the clan heads' reasoning as they were still livid by Felix stealing the Elder Dragon's royal gemstone.

"Do it." Lucifer ordered without bothering to open his eyes.

"We won't let you down." High Chieftain Lokaka bowed for a moment before taking his leave with the others through a spatial portal.

'Did I come too hard on him and end up spooking him into hiding forever?' Lucifer knitted his eyebrows, 'It can't be, my other half isn't this cowardly.'

'He will show up sooner or lat...Hmm?'

Lucifer's danger sense tingled, forcing him to open his eyes and stare through the nonexistent ceiling.

From the quietude of the red heavens above, a shimmering, celestial ice dagger plunged earthward!

It was an ice meteor, an icy crystal boulder glimmering with an unearthly, iridescent light, as though a fragment of the aurora borealis had been cast down from the sky!

BOOOOOOOOM!!

In one cataclysmic instant, the ice meteor crashed into the royal hall, the impact resonating with a deafening thunderclap that reverberated throughout the fallen empire.

The already ruined hall exploded into shards and fragments, an eruption of marble and splintered wood, swallowed by an expanding cloud of chilling frost and stinging ice shards!

"Who's there?"

In one piece, Lucifer emerged from underneath the rubble as he was covered in potent evil energy. When it touched the ice meteor, it turned red in color and kept releasing a creepy fog.

"It wasn't easy to track you down."

Fenrir dropped down from the sky in his werewolf form while completely covered in chilling air...He seemed even more menacing than usual.

"Based on your element, werewolf form, and intense aura, you must be the ice primogenitor, Fenrir." Lucifer remarked with an intrigued tone.

"Now that you know, save us the trouble and surrender yourself." Fenrir said expressionlessly, "A friend of mine has prepared some fun time for you."

"I have no idea what you are talking about, but my people have told me that you belong to the same Asgardian faction as my other half. Was he the one sending you?" Lucifer asked.

"I take that as a no."

Straightforward as always, Fenrir didn't bother spending another second talking with Lucifer.

With an icy aura radiating around him, Fenrir stood tall, his figure composed of crystalline blue and white, an entity etched from pure frost...His eyes glowed with a cold, predatory light as they fell upon Lucifer.

When Lucifer saw that look, he understood that their conversation had finished and started emanating ominous energy, causing the air around him to shimmer with heat and palpable malice.

'Does Lucifer even have a shot?' Asna asked with a look of anticipation at the sight of those two primal forces poised for combat.

She was watching it with Felix and the rest of the tenants through Fenrir's consciousness link.

'He has zero chance of defeating Fenrir even if he was given a hundred million years more of training.' Thor smirked, 'When it came to combat, Fenrir had the most experience of us all as he lived his entire life in conflict.'

BOOOOOOOOOM!!!

The moment he finished speaking, Fenrir and Lucifer's confrontation began with the ferocity of a storm!!

Lucifer took the lead, his form streaking across the battlefield like a flaming meteor.

In response, Fenrir growled, his voice echoing through the ruins as he raised his paw, summoning a blizzard of chilling snow!

But Lucifer was prepared. He channeled his demonic energy, corrupting the icy onslaught into a storm of swirling, hellfire... Then, he turned around and sent it toward Fenrir.

The sky burned, and the icy constructs around them seethed with an unholy light, morphing into ghoulish figures of demonic fire, their hissing, and crackling filling the ominous silence.

"Not bad." However, Fenrir was not deterred.

He wielded his ice manipulation, pushing it to the limits. The world around them continued to freeze, a field of pure frost advancing toward Lucifer.

But as it crept closer, Lucifer summoned a vortex of his corrupting energy, directly clashing against Fenrir's onslaught.

A blinding explosion of steam and smoke erupted as the extreme cold met the fiery demonic energy, tearing through the battlefield!

The fight was a cataclysmic dance between fire and ice, time seeming to stop and surge at their will. The demonic empire around them shivered and burned in their wake, succumbing to their immense powers.

Truly, a saga was written in fire and ice amidst the ruins of a once grand royal hall!

"He is really holding up with his peculiar fighting style." Asna commented.

"The ability to turn elements into his own side it's too powerful." Felix nodded with a stern expression.

He could see that Fenrir's most powerful ice abilities kept returning to him in a different color each time.

It was immensely annoying and even though he wasn't the one fighting Lucifer, he could already see that he would make him go through hell.

"He is good for a demon, I give him that. But..." Thor shook his head, "It's not enough to defeat Fenrir."

In the heat of the battle, Fenrir took a step back, his cold, predatory eyes narrowing at Lucifer, who stood proudly amidst the fiery remnants of his demonic power.

"It's been fun while it lasted. It's time to end this."

The air between them crackled with tension as Fenrir raised his head, a chilling howl cutting through the chaos, resonating with an icy threat. "Hmmm?"

Suddenly, the world itself seemed to take a breath, an eerie silence falling over the battlefield as every flame flickered uncertainly.

The crimson sky appeared to dim, as though the sun itself was cowering before the impending power of Fenrir's ultimate ability.

Fenrir drew upon the deepest parts of his essence, the air around him turning so cold it seemed to shimmer.

A whirl of ice and snow, harsher and colder than any earthly winter, swirled around him, the snowflakes hanging still in the air as if time itself had halted... Then, with a final, resounding howl, he unleashed it - The Absolute Zero.

A wave of incomprehensible coldness, a frost unlike any other, erupted from Fenrir. It surged towards Lucifer, engulfing everything in its path! The icy wave froze the fiery battlefield, the demonic flames hissing and sputtering as they were extinguished and entombed in ice.

The once molten, flowing rivers of lava turned into static sculptures of obsidian, encapsulated in a sheen of frost. Even the evil energy in the air seemed to crystallize, the corrupted elements halted in their tracks, succumbing to the freezing cold!

Lucifer barely had a moment to react before the Absolute Zero seized him.

His demonic energy flickered, trying to fight against the tide of frost, but it was too late. His movements slowed, his fiery eyes widened in surprise, then... everything stopped.

Lucifer, the embodiment of fire and malice, was frozen in time, his form encased in a perfect tomb of crystal-clear ice, a statue of stunned defiance under Fenrir's icy dominion.

Even if he wanted to escape, there was nowhere as the world held its breath after Fenrir's ultimate ability froze everything into a timeless state!

The once crimson sky was now a frozen panorama of ice, the demonized empire an icy wasteland.

Every flame, every movement, every flicker of life was caught in an eternal tableau of frost.

Time and life on the planet stood still, held captive under the Absolute Zero, marking Fenrir's icy triumph over Lucifer.

"Dear goodness..." Felix, Asna, and Candace were seen staring with stunned expressions at Fenrir who was the only one moving in this timeless frozen world...

When he reached the frozen Lucifer, he placed him inside an icy blue tomb and threw him in his divine spatial ring.

Then, he took off outside of the planet and sped away, leaving behind him an entire planet halted in its orbit...

Chapter 1324 One Of The Greatest Cheats In The Universe! I

'I got defeated again...Ultimate abilities are really something else. Lucifer thought to himself as he revisited his epic fight with Fenrir. It didn't seem like he was worried in the slightest about being captured and held inside a spatial ring.

It was understandable as he could free himself anytime he wanted by simply giving up on this body and getting born again anywhere with evil energy. He didn't even require DNA presence like the rest of the demons.

'Mother told me that primogenitors won't be easy to handle, but I never thought they would be this overpowered...If I want to defeat them, I need to create my own ultimate ability.' Lucifer sighed, 'If only it was this simple.'

Lucifer had learned from his mother that each primogenitor had taken eons of their time focused on creating their ultimate abilities.

He might have never known about their power before, but now that he experienced two ultimate abilities and didn't survive them, he figured out that it was going to be extremely tough for him to create his own ultimate ability.

'Wait a moment... Hehe, I don't need to waste my time on such a thing when my other half seems to possess multiple ultimate abilities. Lucifer suddenly smiled, 'When I merge with him and become one, I will obtain everything that he owes. With his arsenal of ultimate abilities, my gifts, and the ascension powerup, I will be unstoppable.'

While one would get disheartened by two defeats in a row, Lucifer wasn't bothered that much as he learned from all of his experiences. Such an attitude was born from his immortality as his confidence would never crack even with hundreds of defeats.

'Now, do I escape from this or see through it?' Lucifer's focus returned to his current unfavorable situation...Besides his thoughts, he couldn't move a single thing.

So, the only way for him to escape was by abandoning this body. 'He said he will be taking me to a friend...It might be my other half.'

In the end, Lucifer decided to stay put in captivity in hopes of meeting with Felix.

A couple of days later... Inside one of Lady Sphinx's temporarily movable laboratories.

"Is he still there?" Lady Sphinx asked.

"Yes." Fenrir nodded as he expelled Lucifer from the spatial ring.

He was still in an ice coffin while suffering under absolute zero, making it impossible for him to do anything but watch.

'He isn't here?' When Lucifer looked around him and noticed no presence of Felix, he couldn't help but get displeased.

'Looks like he hoped for Felix to be here!' Lady Sphinx reasoned from reading the emotions in his eyes.

'We don't know if he didn't free himself because he couldn't or he was using this chance to get close to Felix. Whatever it is, you have to be fast.' J??rmungandr warned.

'I know.' Without an ounce of hesitation, Lady Sphinx created a tiny sand needle and decreased its size until it entered the quantum universe.

Then, she gave a slight head nod at Fenrir. Fenrir removed the ice coffin, exposing Lucifer's frozen body in the open... It seemed like the chill radiating from his body was capable of freezing anything near it in time.

However, the sand needle wasn't affected by either the coldness or the time-freezing effect as the laws of physics were different in the quantum universe!

Through using her quantum vision and fine control, Lady Sphinx guided the sand needle within Lucifer's body before enlarging its size until it positioned itself inside the nucleus of one of Lucifer's hundred trillion cells.

Lady Sphinx used the passive, *Senses sharing*, allowing her to transfer her senses to the sand needle and then record all of Lucifer's DNA content.

This was the same passive that Felix unlocked when he was using her bloodline...Though, the utilization was completely different. 'Reading DNA code...Done.'

It took her barely a split second before she recorded everything and pulled back to the real world.

'Did they do something to me?' Lucifer knitted his eyebrows as his guts kept tingling that something wasn't right.

But, he neither saw nor felt anything...The entire process took less than a second and it happened in a totally different world. 'Staying here is a waste of time.'

Knowing that Fenrir would not release him from his captivity, Lucifer found no reason to remain around those two. Under the surprised looks of Fenrir and Lady Sphinx, Lucifer's eyes turned dim all of a sudden.

"Did he give up on this body?" Fenrir asked.

"Must be, I feel no presence of either a consciousness or a soul." Lady Sphinx said, "Let me confirm it first." Lady Sphinx did the same thing with the needle and found out that Lucifer's DNA had collapsed somehow even when it was frozen in it!

This made her understand that if they canceled Fenrir's ultimate ability, Lucifer's body would either disappear or turn into evil energy.

"Cancel it."

Fenrir did as he was told and as she expected, Lucifer's body became a mist of evil energy that rushed in their direction like a ravish dog.

Lady Sphinx waved her hand and contained the evil energy inside a green sand sphere for a few moments until the evil energy was absorbed completely by it.

"Interesting...The more I study him the more I realize that Lucifer's true identity isn't anywhere close to other demons." Lady Sphinx said.

"You mean he isn't really a demon?" Felix raised an eyebrow in surprise as he watched the situation unfold from a consciousness-link mirror.

"On the opposite." Lady Sphinx dropped a bombshell, "I believe that he is the true demon and the rest are nothing but a byproduct."

This left everyone confused as they couldn't imagine those demons being anything more than demons.

"I have a theory that needs testing." Lady Sphinx smiled as her fingers danced on a holographic screen, typing hundreds of code lines that seemed like gibberish in everyone's eyes.

While Felix wasn't too knowledgeable about the subject, he knew that she was actually writing Lucifer's genome by hand!

Just a human genome contained more than three billion letters and to this day and age, no one managed to completely decipher every single letter and its function.

One could only wonder how complex Lucifer's genome would be. 'With this, master can attempt to create a clone of Lucifer and run her experiments on his body to find out the truth.' Felix thought to himself.

'He kept repeating that you are his other half over and over again, do you think it's possible that you guys might share some similarities in your DNA?' Asna wondered.

'He does look like me, so it's not far-fetched.'

"When you manage to create his clone, give me a piece so I can restart my hunt." Fenrir informed before taking off to the sky.

He wasn't tasked to just kill Lucifer once and leave it be, but make his life a living hell until the day Felix finished his training and dealt with him properly.

If only Lucifer was able to bleed, neither Fenrir nor Lady Sphinx would have gone through this much trouble to just get some of his DNA.

But, during his battle, Lucifer either didn't get wounded or when he was injured, he expelled evil energy instead of blood. With Fenrir equipped with a powerful scent of Lucifer, he would be able to track him down through his insane sense of smell as long as they were in the same galaxy.

As a primogenitor from the wolf species, not a single primogenitor could compare to him in this department.

***

While Lady Sphinx and Fenrir were dealing with Lucifer and the SGAlliance taking care of the spreading demonic plague, Felix could be sitting in a mediation position while having more than hundreds of runic pages in front of him written in a hazy transparent glow.

Those were the runic sequence needed to learn and master to activate the infamous lesser time spell, Timeflow Delay! He was staring at those runic letters through none other than his wisdom eyes.

As he stared at them, Selphie's last words before she left the galaxy resounded in his mind.

"Remember, the key to mastering time spells isn't memorization. You might have gone away with it with the space element and other less complex elements, but time spells runes are much more complex, and memorization and repetition will merely help you learn the spell but not master it."

"As much as I hate to admit it, it all depends on your comprehension of runes and if your comprehension is extraordinary, you will be able to create a great connection with the runes and they will respond to you."

"If it's lacking, no amount of hard work will help and my teachings won't be too useful since each one has their own unique comprehension of runes and it can't be copied."

"Runes might seem like nothing but mere letters created out of elemental particles, but I firmly believe that they are alive and you should treat them as such."

This was Selphie's last lesson with Felix after finding out that he had finally decided to give time spells a chance. As she mentioned, her teachings wouldn't really help Felix that much if his comprehension was lacking.

Right now, Felix had proven to have an amazing runic familiarity with time runes, a cheat method to forcefully master spells through repetition and hard work, but his comprehension was always deemed trash compared to even other elves.

This was the reason Felix was delaying learning about time spells as he didn't want to waste his time on something unmasterable. But now?

"This is really one of the greatest cheats I have ever seen..." Felix commented with a wide grin as he used his wisdom eye to simplify the runic sentences, allowing him to comprehend their content on a much easier level.

It was like turning abstract Algebra into solving linear equations in terms of difficulty for a mere high school student.

The student still had to be the one solving the problem, but he would be doing it on a simpler difficulty at his own level!

Chapter 1325 One Of The Greatest Cheats In The Universe! II

Before Lord Shiva taught Felix how to use his wisdom eye, his thoughts were consumed by a labyrinthine web of mysteries and complexities whenever he read the time runes.

He found himself lost in a torrent of contemplation, seeking to unravel the profound implications and hidden truths concealed within these arcane symbols. But now?

He delved deep into the labyrinthine depths of knowledge, unraveling the enigmatic patterns etched upon these ethereal symbols. The whispers of time have permeated his thoughts, guiding him toward a profound revelation that both exhilarated and unnerved him.

'I have no idea how that monster can even begin to understand something like this on her own. Felix thought to himself as he envisioned Selphie.

With each intricate line and intersecting curve, he had come to comprehend the essence of temporal manipulation, the power to reshape history, and the delicate threads that weaved the tapestry of existence.

It was all written in the Runic Codex for everyone to see but no one was capable of extracting such knowledge besides Lady Yggdrasil and Selphie.

The magnitude of this understanding was both awe-inspiring and humbling, for he held within his grasp the key to altering the course of destinies and unlocking the secrets of the universe itself!

But such power did not come without consequence.

As he meticulously deciphered the time runes through his wisdom eye, he witnessed the delicate equilibrium upon which the fabric of time rests.

The very act of tampering with temporal currents could unleash chaos and upheaval, tearing asunder the natural order of events.

The weight of responsibility pressed upon him, urging caution and contemplation in every decision he made.

'It's like a guiding book to use a time spell instead of being merely a sequence to activate it. Felix knitted his eyebrows with a solemn tone, 'Selphie said that the key to mastering time spells is through creating a connection and that connection can't exist without comprehending them first. I realize what she means now!

The complexities Felix had unraveled have revealed the fragile interconnectedness of all moments, the intricate dance of cause and effect that governed his universe.

Such powers could and should never be accessible to the public, which was the reason why mastering. Time spells required a connection with the time runes.

'It's like I have to seek their approval. Felix said, 'The only way for that to happen is to show that I have comprehended the message and will be responsible with every time spell utilized.

If Selphie was right in her assumption that elemental particles were alive and could decide whether to allow one to use them or not, then he had to give it the appropriate approach even when it sounded somewhat mad.

"It's not confirmed and there is no way to confirm it, but her assumption does have some logical premise to it." Lady Sphinx explained, "I believe anyone using the Universal Codex to manipulate elements has absolute control over them whether they were alive or not. But, those using Runic Codex and Divine Codex to manipulate them don't have equal authority. This is the reason why elements such as time, space, void...etc seem to have a massive learning curve compared to other elements. But, this is all nothing but an unconfirmable theory."

"Whether it's true or not, it seems like it's working." Felix commented as he sensed the time runes responding to him after comprehending their message. It was hard to describe the feeling, but he was certain that he had made a massive advancement.

"With my wisdom eyes, I won't even need to use my other cheat method to master those spells at a reasonable duration." Felix smiled widely, "I have a feeling that I can even decipher the runic codex and create new space/time spells."

"Hold your horses and master the already known spells first." Thor said.

"I will, I will." With a faint chuckle, Felix returned to his practice, hoping to master this lesser time spell in a few years at best. He had made a deal with Lord Shiva that he wouldn't come out of the galaxy until the day he was satisfied with his progress.

It might take a decade, century, or even millennia on the outside universe and it was up to Felix to convince him of his results as soon as possible.

'Space/Time spells mixed with wisdom eye, will it be possible for him to create spells on a higher level than Omnipotent spells?' Lord Shiva thought to himself as he watched Felix busting his ass to master the runic sequence. "The future might not be as bleak as I thought.'

****

Six Decades Later in the outside universe...

The once-thriving SGAlliance territory now stood as a haunting testament to the devastating aftermath of a universal demonic invasion.

More than 20% of territories with hundreds of thousands of planets had been transformed into a desolate wasteland, marred by the scars of destruction and chaos.

Ruins stretched as far as the eye could see, a shattered remnant of what were once bustling civilizations. Scorched surfaces stretched out in all directions, bearing the marks of rampant infernal energies that ravaged the land.

The once-vibrant flora now withered and decayed, the once-rich soil tainted by a sickly hue.

Cries of lost souls and distant echoes of battle hung in the air, a haunting reminder of the horrors that unfolded in this once-prosperous domain.

Six decades was a long period of time as it represented six great resets... Felix had missed them all as he was still in seclusion inside the Elementals Galaxy even though more than six thousand years had gone by in there...

"My king, I have just received news that we have lost another solar system inside the Bardot empire...The casualties estimates can reach up to seventy billion citizens." Candace reported with a distressed tone as she stood in front of Felix's clone.

"We lost thirty billion humans in total last year and now we are starting the new year with seventy billion more casualties?" Felix gritted his teeth with a look filled with nothing but absolute hatred, "Is it possible to rescue some of them at least?"

"Our forces are stretched too thin and unlike us, those demons multiply through our own people..." Cadance sighed. She didn't have to say more for Felix to understand that those seventy billion citizens were as good as lost.

The worst part? When turned into demons, it meant there would be more than seventy billion new lesser demons seeking purities to keep their rationality intact.

When they fail to do this because everything and everybody had already been demonized, they would turn into immortal humanoid animalistic demons.

At that point in time, Felix could do nothing but send a world eater or a dreamer void creature to devour their planets and at least end their misery....

It might seem weird that demons were dominating the SGAlliance even with their technological differences, but Lucifer's involvement really changed the entire narrative.

That's because all lesser demons under Lucifer's direct control were capable of keeping their elemental manipulation and memories.

Now, imagine if he had demonized an army of space worms and other powerful races or even utility races such as witches and dwarves.

Space worms could easily create wormholes and portals straight inside the targeted planets and send waves of demons into them, avoiding space battles completely.

It was a known fact that the moment demons stepped foot on a planet, it would belong to them in less than a day if they weren't stopped.

At the very beginning, the SGAlliance and all races were capable of protecting themselves from said invasions, but Lucifer had decided to target the highly profiled targets like race leaders and made them his subordinates.

With such high targets switching to the other side, the invasions kept getting easier and smoother for the demons until the SGAlliance began losing their grip on the war bit by bit.

In fact, there were a few inner-circle races that had fallen almost completely from top to bottom in the past six decades...Such as Orcs, Giants, Ionians, and more!

With such grave losses and the entire SGAlliance seemingly on a path of extinction, most entertainment platforms were shut down including the SGPlatforms.

Because the platforms were shut down, the races' ranks were frozen until the war ended. Though it was still possible to earn SGPoints, and right now, the best method to get them was through slaying demons.

This allowed the players to offer their services to fight off the invasion and get paid for it, which created a new occupation called, Demon Hunters.

Selphie, Bodidi, Olivia, Noah, The Exutioneers, Wowef/Nero, DisfiguredBeauty, and many other names had risen to the occasion and made themselves known universally wide with their hunting records...Especially Noah and Olivia, as those two made everyone question if they were truly human.

While Felix's friends were popping off in a good way, his name on the other hand was being dragged across the mud in the past decades. It was understated as Felix never made a public appearance to promise the end of the invasion or even showed himself to participate personally in helping the people.

If it wasn't for the fact that his void nation was offering the best possible help and considered a true savior, his title as grand supreme would have been denounced by the public a long while ago.

But Felix knew that it wouldn't be long before he lost everyone's trust if he remained hidden for much longer...

Chapter 1326 Wanting To Leave But Forced To Remain.

"Humans are taking the biggest hit because of me." Felix rubbed his tiresome eyelids, "The only way to truly stop all of this madness is through ending that f*cker's reign."

"That sounds all good, but even Fenrir has failed." Asna replied.

"I didn't fail." Fenrir growled in irritation, "He stopped taking my fights and escaped at first sight."

In the past six decades, there were more than fifty battles between Fenrir and Lucifer, and the score was 50-0 in Fenrir's favor.

This made Lucifer take the smart decision of avoiding the battles entirely as the moment Fenrir tracked him down, he escaped through a spatial portal with the help of a demonized space worm. Even when Lady Sphinx made a personal move on Lucifer, it didn't change much.

This was one of the reasons why the demonic invasion was getting harder and harder to contain as with no one holding Lucifer down, he kept jumping from one galaxy to another.

"It's clear that he is getting impatient with you and has gotten much more active." Candace addressed Felix.

"That's why I need to start preparing to replace my bloodline and become a deity." Felix narrowed his eyes coldly.

"Not so fast." Lord Shiva said indifferently. "You leave when I let you."

"I have spent six thousand years on bettering myself in all departments." Felix tightened his fists,

"I have mastered four advanced abilities, three greater spatial spells, and five lesser time spells. I have boosted the elemental range of my first primary elements to ten thousand kilometers and the destruction elemental range to one thousand kilometers. I even have mastered hundreds of destruction and construction abilities in addition to the conversion technique. All of this without mentioning creating new techniques and fighting styles by weaving those abilities and spells together."

"I have grilled myself until my brain was running on nothing but fumes." Felix said with a suppressed tone, "What else do you want?"

"More." Lord Shiva replied expressionlessly, "If you are feeling proud of such small achievements, then you really don't have what it takes."

"I.."

"More."

Felix had never felt the urge to punch off one of his tenants before until this very moment. He was more than livid at Lord Shiva's stubbornness, but at the same time, he couldn't really break the deal between them.

If lives weren't at stake, Felix would have respected his persistence to push him into working harder, but he just couldn't take it anymore. Take the notion that each day going by, millions of innocent lives were being demonized from the elderly to children.

"How about you give him a goal at least." Thor said with a solemn tone, "As much as I want him to train even more, I also understand that this is messing with his mentality and focus. If he can't stay focused on his training, then it's nothing but a meaningless waste of time."

"I think so too." J?rmungandr nodded, "The last thing I want is for him to resent training...This is what's going to happen if his entire race went extinct and he did nothing but watch."

If there wasn't a deal at hand that needed to be respected, his masters would have already bailed Felix out of the Elementals Galaxy against Lord Shiva's will.

'Hmmm, with that boy's emotions being in control of him, I can see this happening.' Lord Shiva frowned. While he didn't care about the humans or anyone's lives for that matter, he knew that it was best to avoid completely cutting off Felix's future.

'Tsk, this is truly irritating.' In the end, Lord Shiva decided to cave in and give Felix some hope...The key term here was 'hope'.

"Fine, you can leave after mastering at least one concept destruction ability." Lord Shiva waved his hand carelessly.

Everyone was left at a loss for words as they stared at the heartless Lord Shiva...Forcing Felix to master concept destruction ability was the same as sealing him for additional millennia if not more!

"I barely managed to master four advanced spells from each element besides the destruction element." Felix gritted his teeth, "I left it out for a reason."

"I don't care about your reason." Lord Shiva replied, "After you replace my bloodline, you will lose concept destruction trident. If you left before mastering a similar ability, god knows how long it will take you in the real universe to pull it off."

***

Felix remained silent as he knew that Lord Shiva's reasoning was correct. Concept destruction trident was one of Felix's greatest abilities as it allowed him to pull off unique utilization. Without it, he wouldn't be able to separate Nimo from his alter ego.

If Lord Shiva's ultimate ability, Totality Collapse wasn't a must-have, he would have chosen to etch the trident. Unfortunately, he couldn't keep both and when he replaced his bloodline, one of them had to go.

However, this didn't mean that it would be easy to master a concept destruction ability as it was considered one of the most difficult advanced abilities!

"Without an elemental helping me enhance my destruction affinity talent, I won't be able to master it even with thousands of years invested solely in it..." Felix covered his face, "By then, more than 40% of the alliance's territory would have fallen to the demonic plague."

40%...That's close to half. Even if Felix returned to the real universe and eliminated Lucifer once and for all, this wouldn't return the hundreds of billions of lives lost or recover the infected planets...

The SGAlliance would live with a constant reminder of the damages done by the demonic invasion for eternity.

"That's not my problem, you want to leave this galaxy? Master a concept destruction ability." Lord Shiva shared calmly, "But don't worry, I am not unreasonable, I will help you master it."

"It's not enough...I am not going to spend more than a millennia here." Felix eyed him with an icy expression.

Felix was grateful for Lord Shiva's gifts and help, but he still harbored a deep sense of resentment toward him. It was understandable as Lord Shiva wasn't considering Felix as his student but as a mere means to fulfill a goal.

It was nothing more than a transactional deal between them.

"What do you have in mind?" Asna asked as she gave Lord Shiva a death glare.

"I need to enhance my destruction affinity talent as I did with the other elements." Felix noted.

If it wasn't for the tribe chiefs' help, Felix wouldn't have reached the ten thousand km range in four of his elements... If he had it for his destruction manipulation, he would have pushed it in a similar fashion too.

"We have talked about this, there is only one destruction elemental in this galaxy and she will never agree to meet you." Thor said.

Thor was so certain that she wouldn't meet with Felix because the destruction elemental was none other than Foremother Siamese herself!

In this galaxy, she was considered the death elemental, life elemental, destruction elemental, and even creation elemental!

As the consciousness of an entire galaxy, she had the freedom to do whatever she desired in her own body, which meant she had control over all elements and laws alike as long as they were in the same matter dimension.

For example, she had no control over the void realm and spirit realm. Since she had the powers of destruction and could erase anything inside her own territory, it would be a walk in the park for her to help Felix enhance his destruction affinity or even his other affinities to a new height.

But, this was Foremother Siamese and one shouldn't forget how she literally gave Felix a favor just to make him stay away from Lord Zurvan and her galaxy.

"I have to give it a try." Felix narrowed his eyes, "Too many lives are at stake to be prideful."

Felix knew that there was more than a 99.99% chance of Foremother Siamese humiliating him before sending him on his merry way, but he still planned on seeking her help.

Without her, it would be impossible for him to master a concept destruction ability in less than a millennia...

****

While Felix was figuring out a method to seek Foremother Siamese's assistance, his friends were in a standalone battle against a demonic army under the leadership of Prince Beelzebub.

They were on a war-torn landscape of a crimson-ruined planet called Merreniz, the once azure sky now roared with an ominous scarlet, setting a chilling tableau of a clash of titanic forces.

The air was heavy with the scent of brimstone, a nauseating reminder of the demonic forces that held sway. Against this apocalyptic backdrop, one colossal figure stood at the forefront of the teeming legion of demons.

Beelzebub, a monstrous form with blackened wings, his every move orchestrated a symphony of death. On the opposing side, a frail yet defiant human force steeled itself for the impending onslaught.

At their helm stood Noah, his usually human features contorted into a werewolf's fierce countenance. His breath crystallized in the sulfurous air, signifying his mastery over the ice element. The chill of his power brought a contrast to the relentless heat of the wasteland.

Beside him, Olivia, her eyes a vivid green that mirrored the life force she commanded. At her behest, vines erupted from the barren soil, thorny tendrils forming a living barrier against the demonic force.

They swayed as if in a breeze, though no wind blew on this forsaken planet, a testament to the power of the plant element she wielded.

Lastly, there was Malak, her eyes flickering with the intensity of a raging bonfire...Around her, spirals of flame danced, painting terrifying shadows upon the crimson ground.

"These two have an extraordinary feel to them...They will serve as excellent subordinates."

Prince Beelzebub licked his lips as he eyed Noah and Olivia.

Chapter 1327 Noah And Olivia Vs Prince Beelzebub!

"Malak, it's best that you take what remained of our army and evacuate the planet." Olivia said with a hardened expression. "They already did more than enough."

"No, I can still fight..." Malak refused with a look filled with hatred directed at Prince Beelzebub and his demon army.

Her hatred was understandable as this planet was her home where her family and friends lived, and where she was born.

Yet, it was turned into a demon fest in less than a week after Prince Beelzebub stepped foot in it with a couple of his subordinates.

If it wasn't for Bodidi, connecting them straight to the planet with a wormhole, not a single soul would have remained.

"Malak, leave." Noah ordered coldly, "You will do nothing but hold us back."

"Noah..." Olivia bit her tongue to refrain from saying more.

As much as Noah's statement sounded cocky and insulting to Malak's pride, she knew that he was right. Malak wasn't an origin realm bloodliner and even though she had abilities belonging to the fire primogenitor, it wouldn't be enough against Prince Beelzebub.

She could easily take care of some lesser demons as her sacred fire was capable of burning anything, but the moment Prince Beelzebub realized her importance to Noah and Olivia, he could easily threaten to kill her with merely his spiritual pressure.

That was the real definition of being a burden.

"I understand...Please be careful."

As much as it pained her, Malak was rational enough to keep her emotions to herself and try to leave the battlefield with the rest of their army.

Alas, Prince Beelzebub hadn't given her his approval.

"The only way anyone is leaving here is either as a demon or as food." Prince Beelzebub sneered as he ordered his demon army, "Catch them all."

ROOARRRR!!! THUD!! THUD!! THUD!!

As the ground quaked under the demonic charge, Olivia and Noah stood side by side, resolute against the tide of monstrous forms before them.

Prince Beelzebub towered above his infernal army, his presence corrosive darkness that tainted the very air around him.

"Olivia."

"On it."

Summoning the forces of nature, Olivia extended her hand, a tiny, luminescent seed resting in her palm.

"Seed of Life!"

With a determined cry, she thrust it into the ground. Almost instantly, the earth pulsed with life, a vast tree erupting forth, its branches piercing the crimson sky!!!

The tree shimmered with vitality, its leaves a vibrant hue of emerald green that contrasted starkly against the sanguine terrain!

From its branches fell dozens of seeds, each giving birth to a variety of plant creatures.

Venus flytrap-like beasts snapped at the demons with sharp, thorny jaws. Creepers slithered along the ground like serpents, ensnaring and constricting the infernal soldiers.

Massive ents, the guardians of the tree of life, lumbered forward, their bark-covered fists smashing through the demon ranks with earth-shaking force!

Roar!! Roar!!!

It was a never ending army of alive plant creatures, rushing to protect their nature goddess!

"The hell? How can a human possess such a divine ability?"

Prince Beelzebub was startled as he lifted his head to the limit and he still wasn't able to see the true height of the ever growing tree!

"Master, this must be the infamous demon slayer, Worldtree Princess!"

His subordinate gulped a mouthful as he had read too many stories about Olivia against the demon invasion.

The signature move that earned her that dignified nickname was Lady Yggdrasil's ultimate ability...Seed of Life!

Usually, the seed of life should give birth to a perfect clone of Lady Yggdrasil, but that's only if her wisp of consciousness was implanted in the seed beforehand... Either this or leave it to grow until Lady Yggdrasil's consciousness gets born on its own.

Olivia was using the seed of life to create the real- world tree and control all of its powers since there was no wisp of consciousness to control it!

Lady Yggdrasil gave her permission to use her ultimate ability under one condition...Never let it grow bigger than a planet.

Olivia has been respecting this condition ever since.freewebnovel.com

"So that's her? I have heard that she doesn't move alone and is always accompanied by a much scarier monster." Prince Beelzebub remarked with a curious tone as he eyed Noah, "It must be him."

"It's him...Hailstorm Harbinger." His subordinate nodded with an edgy look like he was trying to find a way to escape as quickly as possible.

"You dare be afraid while being in my presence?" Prince Beelzebub glared at him.

"Master, those two are different..." His subordinate proclaimed with a fearful tone as he watched his demon army getting absolutely wrecked by the plant army, "They are capable of killing us for real!"

The moment he said so, Prince Beelzebub's eyes widened a bit in surprise at the sight of his demon army getting reduced in numbers at a noticeable speed! When he studied the battlefield a bit more, he realized that his demons were being killed through an overdose of purities!!!

The World Tree was one of the purest objects in the entire universe as it was brimming with a seemingly never ending source of life!

The demons had never fought against someone capable of using pure energy as a weapon!

It was already a tested fact that evil energy's opposite force was pure energy and when taken in great quantities, it does more harm than good as it overwhelmed it completely.

This was exactly what was happening on the battlefield as the plant creatures were weaponized with pure energy, which stripped the evil energy from the demons, and without evil energy around, the demons could neither fight nor revive!

In other words, Olivia was one the best counters to demons, which was the original reason for her fame to spread far and wide in the past six decades.

"I have to cut down that tree before I lose my entire army." Prince Beelzebub's expression turned cold as he stared at Olivia who was floating above a green leaf.

"But first, I have to get rid of her bodyguard."

Prince Beelzebub knew that he couldn't get close to Olivia while Noah was standing in front of the world tree with intense cold air swirling around him.

Noah realized that Prince Beelzebub was about to make his move, which created a palpable tension hung in the sulfurous air.

"Let's see if you are truly worthy of your nickname, the Hailstorm Harbinger."

Whoosh!!

The first move was made by Beelzebub... With a sweeping gesture, he invoked a whirlwind of corrupted energy.

The force twisted and turned, an embodiment of raw destructive power. The demonic tornado tore through the barren land, racing towards Noah!

Noah reacted quickly.

With a powerful swing of his hand, he summoned a barrage of sharp icicles, each glowing with a chilling light.

They soared into the maelstrom, freezing and slowing its spin.

BOOOM!

Using a smaller burst of frost, Noah disrupted the whirlwind, causing it to scatter, its dark energy dissipating into harmless wisps!

Unperturbed, Beelzebub summoned a dark lance, a condensation of his corrupting energy!

With veins protruding from his arm, he hurled it toward Noah!

In response, Noah formed a thick shield of frost, the lance embedding itself in the barrier before disintegrating, its destructive power nullified!

Though, it didn't leave peacefully as the evil energy managed to corrupt the ice shield.

"Die...huh?"

However, just as Prince Beelzebub planned to manifest corrupted ice spikes from the shield and penetrate Noah's entire body, the corruption faded away from the ice shield, returning it to normal!

All of this because of the pure energy potency around Noah that was being emitted from the World Tree!

"My turn."

Noah wasn't only about defense.

The ground beneath his feet froze as he rushed towards Beelzebub. His path was a trail of ice, shards of frost spreading out around him, threatening to ensnare the demon prince. Beelzebub countered with a shockwave of corrupting energy, shattering the frost!

Yet Noah was relentless. He channeled his energy, surrounding himself with a frosty aura, turning himself into a living blizzard!

Ice shards spun around him, cold winds intensified his speed as he charged Beelzebub, landing a series of blows on the demon prince!

Beelzebub retaliated with a roiling surge of his dark energy, trying to corrupt Noah's icy armor...Yet Noah, focusing his inner chill, solidified his defenses, freezing the corruption before it could take hold!

He turned Beelzebub's strength against him, the once-corruptive energy now frozen spikes that erupted back towards the demon prince.

"Irritating little sh*t!"

Bellowing in anger, Beelzebub launched himself into the air, seeking a reprieve from Noah's relentless assault...He rained down spheres of dark energy, trying to corrupt the field to his advantage.

However, Noah retaliated with a flurry of icy gusts, transforming the spheres into harmless sleet before they could impact the ground!

An icy faint smile crept upon Noah's face as he defended himself against Beelzebub's relentless barrage.

'It's time...Absolute Zero.'

He called in his mind the instant he noticed that Beelzebub had lost his cool and was fighting with negative emotions at the helm.

As a demon prince to be unable to kill a mere human in front of his subordinates and demon army was extremely humiliating.

Soon, he would be put in a much more humiliating situation as a wave of frost erupted from Noah, consuming everything in its path!!

The temperature plummeted, reality seeming to distort under the immense cold... The wave reached Beelzebub in his airborne state, and everything stopped.

Beelzebub was frozen mid-flight, his monstrous features locked in a surprised snarl.

Time around him came to a standstill, the prince trapped within an eternal block of ice...His corruptive energy was silenced, the chilling peace of Absolute Zero prevailing.

Noah stood amidst the quiet, breathing heavily... His fierce eyes never left Beelzebub's frozen form.

While the end result was similar to Fenrir's utilization, its range was nowhere close as Noah barely managed to cover a few kilometers in absolute zero and his energy was plummeting at a crazy speed!

He never used it before in his demon hunt for this sole reason, which worked perfectly as it caught Prince Beelzebub completely off guard!

"What the hell did he do...!"

Prince Beelzebub's thoughts were thrown in disarray as his frozen eyes roamed around him, showing him the uncanny sight of the battlefield being frozen in time.

Noah made sure to control his absolute zero frost wave to cover only the battlefield in front of him, which left Olivia, the World Tree, Malak, and the stunned human army outside of his ability's range.

'Olivia, finish him off.' Noah said expressionlessly.

'Right away.' Olivia smiled coldly while pointing her tiny fair finger at Prince Beelzebub.

Prince Beelzebub felt chills course down his spine the moment his eyes came in contact with the finger.

He didn't know what she was going to do, but his instincts screamed at him to run away.

Alas, when even Lucifer was incapable of breaking past absolute zero's freeze, he could only watch with wide-open eyes as Olivia's finger began to illuminate with green light...

Chapter 1328 Attempting To Reverse The Demonization Process.

With eyes closed, Olivia channeled infinite pure life force energy from the World Tree into a single point at the tip of her finger.

And then, she unleashed it.

A vivid beam of brilliant green light lanced from her outstretched hand, a stream of pure, raw lifeforce!

It was the first breath of spring, the resounding crash of a waterfall, the silent, peaceful growth of the smallest sprout breaking through the soil after a long winter!

The sight was almost too much to bear-something so raw, pure, and potent that it commanded reverence and awe from all who beheld it!

'Oh no!!'

Beelzebub, the embodiment of corruption and decay, realized right away that this beam was going to end him!

"Time is frozen around me, it's impossible for it to hit me!"

Just as this thought came into his mind, Prince Beelzebub noticed that the chilling wave of absolute zero had retracted the area around him, but it wasn't removed from him!

'Bastard!'

This made him understand that Noah was capable of controlling the range as he pleased even after utilization!

The moment Noah saw that the beam had landed on Prince Beelzebub, he canceled his ultimate ability, freeing his enemy from its clutches.

But, it didn't matter anymore as there was no way Prince Beelzebub could survive the intensity of the beam as it burned through the toxic fumes and corrosive energies that protected him!

"AAAAAAA!!!"

He roared, a horrifying, guttural sound that reverberated through the land. But his demonic power could not match the primal potency of life.

The green light engulfed him, scorching his form, sizzling and crackling against his charred flesh. His skeletal frame began to crumble, his once formidable strength faltering. His roar became a whimper, his icy gaze melted into fear.

As the beam subsided, what remained of Beelzebub was a pitiful, waning shadow, his form barely clinging to existence.

Finally, weakened and crippled, the demon prince fell, succumbing to the immense power of life that had overwhelmed him.

As Beelzebub's form collapsed, disintegrating into the charred ground, the sight of Olivia standing tall; her silhouette against the backdrop of his demise, was met by a moment of stunned silence.

Then, as if a dam had broken, a cacophony of cheers and cries erupted from the human army!

Woaaah!!! Woaaah!!!...

Warriors, faces streaked with the grime of battle but eyes alight with relief and victory, raised their weapons high, their thunderous roars echoing through the battlefield.

Men and women embraced, tears streaming freely, mixing with the dirt on their cheeks. The very air vibrated with the power of their exultation, their voices a mighty hymn of triumph against the backdrop of the fallen demon prince!

The relief and joyous disbelief surged like a tidal wave through their ranks, their hearts unburdened from the dread that had once shackled them.

Although Prince Beelzebub merely spent a week on this planet, he put everyone through a hell that seemed to last for an eternity.

"Good work Olivia, please finish off the rest." Noah stated expressionlessly as he walked away, "We have to keep moving."

"No, I wanna give it another try." Olivia shook her head as she eyed the army of humanoid lesser demons, trying their best to escape from the clutches of the World Tree's creatures.

With the death of Prince Beelzebub, any intelligent lesser demon realized that only damnation awaited them on this battlefield...Unlike him, they couldn't be revived after losing connection with evil energy.

"Again?" Noah frowned, "We can't be wasting our time with this. You have tried it more than I can remember in the past six decades and failed each time. It's time to let it go."

"No! Elder Yggdrasil has told me that it's achievable and it depends on my control." Olivia said with a firm tone, "I will never forgive myself for giving up halfway, especially when I have nothing to lose."

"Olivia, each second wasted translated to thousands of more lives lost somewhere else...Lives that can be saved if we got there in time." Noah shook his head, "We have too much to lose."

"Lives are lost each moment during this wicked invasion...If I manage to succeed in this, I will actually start saving real lives."

"Sigh...Fine."

Seeing that Olivia wasn't budging in her decision, Noah could only drop the subject and provide some assistance.

He did so by casting his spiritual pressure across the battlefield, which caused the majority of escaping demons to drop to the ground and remain frozen with frightened expressions.

"You only have two minutes." Noah stated with a deep frown.

Since spiritual pressure consumed mental energy, it would be impossible for Noah to keep everyone under his influence forever.

"It's enough." Olivia murmured as she closed her eyes again and sat on the giant green leaf.

She resembled a goddess of nature with her flowery hair and a botanical wonder of a dress, artfully crafted from a myriad of vibrant blooms, each petal seamlessly intertwined to form a flowing silhouette that gave the impression of a walking garden in perpetual spring.

'I can do this.'

After a few moments of concentration, Olivia stood steadfast, her arms extended towards the sky as if reaching for the divine.

She invoked the World Tree's power, her words stirring the ancient energy within its heartwood...As her command echoed through the world, the tree responded.

Its colossal branches swayed, leaves shimmering with an otherworldly light, their verdant hue casting an emerald glow over the tainted land.

With a sweeping gesture from Olivia, the branches stretched out, their gnarled forms bending and contorting, seeking the captive souls within the throngs of demons.

'No!! Please!'

'Save mee!!!'

'LET ME GO YOU B*TCH!!!'

Leaves enveloped the tormented demons, forming cocoons of verdant life around their grotesque forms.

The air filled with a deep hum, a resonating vibration that signaled the beginning of an extraordinary transformation.

"What is she doing? Why isn't she killing them?" One of the soldiers asked with a deep sense of hatred as he stared at cocooned demons.

The rest of the soldiers also started getting rowdy as they anticipated that Olivia would end the demons' lives, not seal them inside weird cocoons.

Their planet was ruined, their cities were uprooted, and their families were ripped apart.

If those soldiers weren't trained to keep their emotions under control, they would have ignored Noah's orders and fought the demon army even if it meant meeting their maker.

"She is doing something a million times better than killing those demons." Malak stated with a tone filled with hope, "She is attempting to reverse the demonization process."

"Huh?!"

"Impossible!"

"Are you being serious?!"

No one took the news with an open mind as every one of them felt that she was speaking nonsense.

Who could blame them? It was already universally approved that the moment someone became a demon, the transformation was permanent and there was no looking back anymore.

This wasn't a rumor, but a hard-supported fact by the metal race and the rest of the alliance leaders after they had failed to reverse the demonization process through hundreds of utilized methods.

They tried technology, genetic manipulation, curses, cleansing rituals, and the list goes on. Unfortunately, nothing worked as they found out that the evil energy became rooted inside the person's soul, which was the reason demons could get revived infinitely with enough supply of evil energy.

But this also meant that those souls could not live without evil energy and if it was stripped from their souls, they end up dropping dead.

"Well, she has tried to pull it off countless times and failed every time...But, I still have faith in her." Malak murmured as she eyed Olivia.

'I can't suck too much evil energy from their souls as it will collapse before the replacement can occur...I have to be patient and careful.

While everyone was discussing the impossibility of this miracle, under Olivia's guidance, the world tree began to leech the corrupted energy from the ensnared demons.

The dark miasma swirled and dissipated into the tree's leaves, a stark contrast against their radiant green.

The World Tree, a living conduit of life's primal essence, took on the weight of this darkness diluting and neutralizing the malevolent force that had consumed them.

Simultaneously, a warm, golden light pulsed from the tree, imbuing the encapsulated beings with pure, vital energy.

It infiltrated their demonic forms, glowing brighter with every heartbeat, a beacon in the depth of their darkness.

This ethereal energy began to reverse the corruption, washing over the demons like a tide, replacing their monstrous forms with the gentle silhouette of humanity!

No one knew this was happening as the bright cocoon hid those demons completely...Even the demons were in the dark as they were all put into a trance, seemingly enjoying the sensation of evilness getting cleansed from them and replaced with warmth.

Even though the situation seemed under control and looking good, Olivia didn't lose even an ounce of her focus.

'Slowly... Slowly...

As this sacred dance of energy unfolded, each corrupted soul was reborn under the World Tree's nurturing touch.

The grotesque, twisted forms gave way to the soft lines and familiar shapes of men and women, their original forms restored under her grace.

Uncontrollable smiles broke in the faces of those humans and other mixed-in races as they snuggled inside the cocoon, resembling children being embraced by their loving mothers.

"I did it...I did it..." Olivia opened her stunned eyes and stared at the cocoons.

Within the now translucent cocoons, the newly purified humans rested peacefully, their serene faces illuminated by the soft, glowing light as the protective shells gently unfurled, revealing their restored forms in a tableau of rebirth and redemption...

"She succeeded?" Even Noah's cold expression was broken and replaced with a sense of disbelief.

Chapter 1329 Who To Save First?

While the others were stunned by the sight of their people returning to their original forms, he was the only one who had seen the ugly scene of when Olivia failed to make it happen.

He wasn't lying when he said that he couldn't remember how many times Olivia had tried and failed as it was in the thousands if not more!

In all of those failed attempts, the demons end up getting killed permanently because Olivia hadn't reached the perfect equilibrium between sucking off evil energy and replacing it with pure energy inside the soul!

This was the secret to reversing the demonization process and Olivia tried her very best to find this precise balance for more than sixty years, and now that she had finally pulled it off, neither Noah nor she could believe it!

"FATHER!! FATHER!!"

"That's my daug..ther...Sob, my daughter!"

"Captain!"

The moment the soldiers woke up from their daze, their raging emotions at the sight of their serene loved ones made them ignore the orders and rush toward the wide-open cocoons.

Neither Olivia nor Noah stopped them as the threat of the demons in the area was put to rest.

The soldiers, their eyes no longer radiating an infernal crimson but instead shimmering with tears of relief and gratitude, looked upon their families, their comrades, and their lovers.

Men and women who were lost to monstrous transformation had been returned to their human forms, their souls reclaimed from the very precipice of oblivion.

Emotions swelled and voices choked as reunions unfolded, every warm embrace and tear-streaked face a testament to the miraculous feat achieved.

Each reunion was punctuated by a cacophony of relief-laden laughter, gasps of disbelief, and heartfelt sobs.

The air was heavy with the profound weight of redemption and homecoming.

At that moment, under the benevolent shadow of the World Tree, not a single eye was dry, not a a single heart was untouched by the magic of seeing their loved ones restored.

The goddess that made this happen wasn't forgotten as everyone lifted their heads and bowed deeply with an intense sense of appreciation and gratitude that Olivia felt even from kilometers away.

While others would get a kick out of being worshipped as a savior and a hero, Olivia didn't even think about this for a moment.

'I can truly save lives now.

This was the only thing that she cared about and now that she finally managed to find the perfect balance after thousands of failures, she could finally stop killing demons and helping them return to their original lives.

Noah appeared next to Olivia and apologized, "I am sorry for doubting you."

"Don't be, I was doubting myself just as much." Olivia sighed in relief and showed a smile as brilliant as sunshine, "What matters is that it worked."

"This changes everything and we have to let Felix on it." Noah switched to his serious tone.

"Let's report this while we reverse the demonization of everyone on this planet." Olivia said.

"I had the same thought."

While Noah and Olivia had gotten rid of Prince Beelzebub and most of his army on this battlefield, it didn't mean that the entire planet was cleaned from demons.

So, without wasting a moment of their time, Olivia canceled out her world tree and departed with Noah, leaving Malak to handle the muddled undemonized army as it seemed like all of them were having difficulty with their long-term memory.

***

"This is huge! The fact that we can reverse the demonization process means that we won't need to give up on our people." Felix expressed with a delighted tone as he watched a live stream of Olivia and Noah using the same method with another group of demons.

"It's good, but it's not a perfect solution." Asna shook her head, "It consumes too much energy and Olivia can't be everywhere."

As she said, Olivia was already huffing and puffing after the second attempt. It was understandable as she didn't have a conversion technique like Felix, which meant she had to take breaks to refill her energy through elemental stones.

"It's not efficient, I agree with that." Felix said, "But, it's all that we have at the moment."

"I think it's best to give Olivia a powerful team made out of the best of the best and assist her with gathering as many demons as possible before starting the process." Candace suggested.

"That will indeed make sure that we reverse the demonization of as many demons as possible while leaving Olivia to maintain her energy for the process solely." Felix nodded in support.

He knew that using the ultimate ability was the biggest consumption of energy instead of reversing the demonization.

This meant that it was possible for Olivia to handle billions of demons stacked up in one simultaneously as long as she had protection and those demons weren't causing trouble.

"If we told the universe about this, I believe most of the lesser demons would come voluntarily to reverse the demonization process as they still maintained their rationality."

While demons acted upon their evil thoughts after their demonization, they still were rational enough to understand that their demonization came with more negatives than positives.

The threat of losing their rationality if not fed with enough purities would push them to seek out reversing the demonization process if it was truly proven to work.

"True, but we can't risk having the news getting public so soon." Felix narrowed his eyes coldly, "The demon princes and even Lucifer might make his move personally on her... It's too risky."

"I can be her bodyguard." Fenrir proposed expressionlessly.

"Huh, you will do that?" Felix and the others were surprised.

As a primogenitor, they felt that it was beneath him to act as a bodyguard to a mortal, no matter how important she was.

"Protecting her is a mere bonus." Fenrir disclosed calmly, "If she made enough noise through her reverse demonization, Lucifer might make a move on her and I will be waiting for him."

"So, you are planning to wait for him to come on his own." Felix smiled, "It's really a good method."

With Fenrir being around Olivia, whether Lucifer made his move on Olivia or not, it wouldn't matter as they would be the ones winning this struggle.

Without further ado, Felix shared the news with Olivia and Noah.

Next, he commenced an emergency inner circle meeting to report the news as he knew that the SGAlliance needed a win badly.

After spending ten minutes updating them on the situation, most of the leaders' faces seemed to have brightened up.

"The situation in my galaxy is too dire, I request to have it prioritized." Emperor Lokhil stated with a solemn tone.

"The situation is dire in all places." Queen Allura retorted, "But if there is a race that needs prioritization, it's definitely the humans."

As much as Emperor Lokhil wanted to fight this, he knew that the evidence wasn't on his side. The humans were really taking the worst beating as the demons prioritized everyone else.

Everyone knew the reason as Lucifer had long since brought the matter to the public about Felix's meeting.

He told everyone that he would pause the demonic invasion if Felix decided to meet with him personally for a negotiation.

Everyone thought that Felix would have accepted it in a heartbeat due to his grand supreme title, but to everyone's surprise, he never bothered to reply to him.

This resulted in Felix's reputation taking even a bigger hit...

Chapter 1330 A Ludicrous Plan!

In another sense, humans were already finding it difficult to resist the invasion even when they were at their strongest, which meant that even if tens of billions of humans were saved, they still wouldn't be able to defend themselves again.

"You think I didn't think of that and came up with a method to handle it?" Felix stated calmly before anyone could open their mouth to support Emperor Runnonth.

"What's your plan, exactly?"

"You don't have to worry about that. All you have to know is that no one will get demonized twice under my watch."

"No! With this method, we can finally reverse the demonization of my husband and the rest of the high-profile figures. We must focus on them!" High Chieftain Lokaka's wife Shaman Noballi suggested with an agitated tone after seeing that everyone was caving in to Felix's decision.

She had taken control after her husband switched to the other side and now that she found hope of him returning to her side, she would be a fool to give up on it.

"You know we can't do that since the chieftain is now considered Lucifer's second hand and helper in his travels." Queen Alfrada shook her head.

"The same applies to other higher profile targets as it would be much more difficult to reverse the demonization when they are displaying such an abnormal level of loyalty to Lucifer. We aren't in a place of wasting time convincing loyal subjects to turn when we have billions of willing subjects."

With that being said, Felix left the meeting under Shaman Noballi's hateful look, knowing that he had the votes on his side in this matter and she could do nothing to change it.

...

"You're crazy! But, why do I think it will work?" Asna reacted after hearing about Felix's plan in more detail.

Felix really didn't bluff the alliance's leaders and had thought of a method to ensure that those humans would not get demonized again.

It was actually through using the unique void creatures, Gelatinous Cubes!

"I always had in mind of using the Gelatinous Cubes to devour planets and everyone on it to keep them protected. Sure, their dreams will be devoured, but they won't be harmed physically and mentally even with centuries passing by" Felix stated "With Nimo's unquestionable authority, he could easily order the Gelatinous Cubes to expel the planets back to the universe after we end the war without a single fault in them."

If this plan was ever presented to the alliance leaders, they would have questioned Felix's sanity!

Who could blame them? Felix was literally attempting to imprison hundreds of billions of people if not more inside the stomach of nightmarish monsters!

As much as Ludacris sounded, Asna, Candace, and the rest of the tenants found it quite a genius move.

"You never bothered to mention it before since you know that no sane human will agree to it and you can't force them against their will." Candace smiled, "But, if we told the recently saved people about it, they will most definitely agree to it if it meant escaping from the horror of being demonized again."

"It's the same as choosing a lesser evil." Felix nodded. "Only, this strategy will actually help us keep a significant amount of humans safe without worrying for a second about them."

Felix was sure about this since the Gelatinous Cubes were immune to evil energy and not even Lucifer could do anything to them.

In addition, most of the Gelatinous Cubes across the entire universe were busy getting guided to devour fallen planets under the demonic rulership. This meant, there must be hundreds of planets inside of them with an unfathomable number of slumbering demons!

With Olivia's assistance, they could reverse the demonization process and help them...In other words, this plan was already in full gear before Felix even proposed it!

"For this plan to work, we need to minimize the movement of the Gelatinous Cubes, which means we must prioritize planets with the most significant casualties." Felix addressed.

Even with the void realm involved, the Gelatinous Cubes were still too slow and Felix didn't want to keep hundreds of void citizens accompanying it all the time to open void rifts big enough for its size.

"I am ready." Candace asked, "What do you need me to do?"

"Take me to the nearest Gelatinous Cube." Felix disclosed, "We need to clean it up first."

...

Since Felix's clone was already in the Milky Way Galaxy as he was also providing help through commanding large armies of void creatures, it took him a couple of days to reach his destination.

What came into his sight was a Gelatinous Cube in the process of devouring a planet.

The spectacle was oddly hypnotic, akin to an undersea creature consuming its prey.

The planet was steadily absorbed, gradually losing its colors as the cube's body slowly took it in.

The devouring was silent yet dramatic, the cube's insides dancing with the final embers of a once vibrant world.

As it floated through the cosmos, the humongous Dreamer offered a chilling reminder of the unknown threats that lurked in the vast expanse of the universe, its dark beauty a symbol of the uncanny and terrifying wonders hidden in the cosmos.

This magnificent creature was under Felix's control, which was really hard to believe even for him.

After waiting a couple of hours until the planet was completely within the Dreamer's body, Felix requested Nimo with a serious tone, "Order him to expel all the ruined celestial bodies to save up some space. Also, make sure to not damage the latest devoured planets."

Eee Eee!

Nimo swiftly jumped inside the void realm and appeared right next to the Dreamer...With the size difference between them, the scene looked like a raccoon was floating in the atmosphere of a planet.

Still, the moment Nimo's eyes turned red, the Dreamer seemed to freeze in its place. In a few moments at best, the Dreamer restarted its movement.

Within its spectral form, most of the absorbed celestial bodies began to shift and roil. The gelatinous mass shimmered and convulsed, undulating with strange cosmic energies.

Suddenly, with a silent, otherworldly energy, the spectral cube contracted, and in a cascade of luminous, iridescent jelly, it expelled the ruined celestial bodies!

They emerged, twisted and broken, fragments of once majestic worlds and dying stars, tumbling back into the endless void of space.

The visual was hauntingly beautiful, a celestial elegy for the devoured, their remains expelled in a silent funeral procession across the star-studded expanse.

"Good work."

When Felix saw that the newest absorbed planets weren't touched or affected by the process, he couldn't help but sigh in relief.

The Wrathful Creators, The World Eaters, and Gelatinous Cubes might not possess the same intelligence as their peers, but they were still capable of understanding the simplest orders as long as they came from a source of authority.

In this universe, there were only three sources of authority...Nimo, his alter ego, and the Paragon of Sins.

"Candace, choose the planet with the highest number of demons and take it there."
Felix ordered, "I will meet you there with Olivia and Noah."

Felix had to oversee the plan personally since Nimo was a must to command the cube and avoid having him devour the planet and cause it to clash with the others.

Although the chance was minimal, it was best to make sure that it wouldn't happen.

...

A few more days later...

Felix, Olivia, and Noah had arrived at the latest invaded solar system within the Bardot Empire.

Fenrir was outside of the galaxy, so it was going to take him a while to arrive even with Bodidi as his personal space worm and a void citizen at his disposal.

Felix assigned Bodidi to help out Fenrir since he had improved immensely in the Elemental Galaxy and even surpassed many senior space worms in his race.

Right now, he was helping only Felix's loved ones like Fenrir, Selphie, Olivia, and Noah during their travels.

his role was more important than anyone could anticipate.

In those hard times, the space worm race had retracted most of their citizens inside new hidden dimensional pockets to avoid High Chieftain Lokaka from finding and demonizing them.

Because of this, most of the express wormholes were left without anyone to fuel them and caused a universal wide shutdown of the wormhole network.

This was one of the reasons why the SGAlliance was falling much harder as without a wormhole network, they couldn't send reinforcements in time even if they wanted!
